Our objection to the money trust is that it doesn't trust us.

The auto is making this a happier world—except for pedestrians.

Common sense among the common people is essential to a republic.

However, as for hobble skirted woman, how can she expect to "win in a walk?"

That Boston girl who has never been kissed is probably her own explanation.

Riceless weddings are the proper caper. This makes it more enjoyable to get married.

The world is divided into two classes—those who have automobiles and those who wish them.

Says an exchange: "Moon songs are still popular." Yes, they're a light subject for the composers.

It is a queer commentary on these days of peace that famous battleships need protection from assaults.

New Haven is to have a $2,000,000 postoffice, suggesting that Yale students must be great letter writers.

Whatever else may be said, it must be admitted that the new nickel has more than 5 cents' worth of art on it.

When a man drinks too much he is in a state of "psychic consciousness," says a scientist. Why not say plain "soused."

Our college athletes must forego their summer visits to Europe. Shipping live cattle from the port of Boston is prohibited.

An eastern actress who admitted that she got married "just to kill time" now finds that getting a divorce also helps to kill time.

When he goes to the auto show the mere pedestrian must feel ashamed of himself and seriously question his right to live.

Mother Hubbard, who went to the cupboard, found things in the same condition as the treasury of a Central American republic after a new revolution.

Cavalieri, denying a rumor that she has wed, says that husbands are a joke. Probably they are; and in Cavalieri's case, an expensive joke—for the husbands.

A German scientist says that tightening one's belt is the best way to alleviate hunger. Evidently he has had no experience with a slim waisted chorus girl in a Broadway cafe.

A humane legislature in New York has introduced a bill providing for an official handshaker for the governor. Politicians see possibilities in this measure if it becomes a success.

Persons who live in a flat can sympathize with the East St. Louis man who is suing his wife for divorce because she insisted on playing the piano until 2 o'clock in the morning.

An occupational census of Chicago would show that there has been no great falling off in the number of burglars, pickpockets, and holdup men as compared with previous estimates.

The coal man likes winter for the business he gets and is in love with summer for the rest he enjoys.

It is reported from Stockholm that a Swedish soldier shot in the head has recovered and is working with half a brain. At that, he's probably blessed with lots more than many people.

A returned traveler says he found a model kind of home life in the heart of the Desert of Sahara. Perhaps that was the reason it was model, having no chance for its members to make it otherwise.

"A gown that a woman cannot get into without assistance is a crime," says a modiste. Why this rudimentary idea has so long eluded the feminine mind few husbands will be able to explain.

Not all the wild marksmen are found in the woods during the hunting season. A shooting gallery attendant in Chicago was killed the other day, a patron of the place making the mistake.

Now a Georgia woman sues for divorce because a kiss a year is not enough. And there was that other one who said she had never been kissed at all. What is the right proportion, anyhow?

A Boston woman has aroused her sex by proposing that bachelor maids be taxed $5 a year. The justice of the proposition, many of them seem to think, hangs upon the point of whether their single blessedness is a luxury or a necessity.

WORK DONE BY STATE EXAMINERS

RECORD MADE BY BOARD DURING THE PRESENT ADMINISTRATION.

FOUND HALF MILLION DUE

Both the State and County Have Profited Through Their Activities.

Montgomery.—Nearly a half million dollars due the state and counties has been discovered, it is said, by state examiners of accounts during the present state administration. Reports to Governor O'Neal is now being prepared under the supervision of Examiner McCall, covering the work of the board during the past two years. Figures have not been made public yet, but it is stated the examiners have disclosed about $450,000 due the state and county treasuries during their present term.

Actual collection of more than $90,000 has been made by the state treasurer as a result of their work, and the counties have collected an amount almost as large. Suits are pending in the supreme court for other large sums; other cases have been compromised and final details are yet to be added to other cases. However, the amount paid into the state treasury is already more than twice as great as the total salary and expenses of the examiners for the two-year period.

Of the 67 counties in the state, books of all but four have been examined, and in only two cases, it is stated, were books pronounced entirely correct. In many cases, shortages were found to be purely technical. Books of more than a score of the counties had not been examined in the last quadrennium. More than 1,000 sets of books have been examined in the period covered by the report to be made.

Besides the work in the counties, work has been done in state departments, including the military, educational and convict departments.

Outline of the work accomplished by the examiners during his administration will be incorporated, it is understood, by the governor in his statement to the public regarding the convict bureau and the scandal in that department. This will be but a part of the executive's defense of his administration.

The statements will go into every detail, including his reasons for the appointment of James G. Oakley as President of the convict bureau, the time when he first became suspicious of the administration of the affairs of that board, what he did to remedy lax management, the Alamo Gas and Oil probe and many other affairs connected directly or indirectly with the convict scandals.

The governor, it is stated, will endeavor to show by actual figures that he has been more active than any of his predecessors in probing the affairs of state and county officers, and will point out the net result in dollars and cents, as well as in improved business methods and the installation of better system all over the state.

SUMTER COUNTY CATTLE TICK.

Sanitary Board Will Discuss Question in Birmingham April 15.

Montgomery.—The sanitary board of the State of Alabama will meet in Birmingham April 15 to discuss presence of cattle ticks in the state and particularly in Sumter county. The call for the meeting has been issued by Capt. Reuben F. Kolb. The board now consists of Captain Kolb, as ex-officio; Prof. C. A. Cary and Prof. Jasse Jones of Auburn.

Attending this meeting will be prominent citizens of Sumter county who are divided on the question of how the tick should be eradicated. The pestiferous parasite has, it is stated, been made a political issue in Sumter and the sanitary board will endetavor to act as a sort of arbitration board.

RAILROAD COMMISSION MEETS.

Petiiton of Alabama Great Southern To Advance Rates Heard

Montgomery.—Petition of the Alabama Great Southern railroad to advance its rates on rails and fastenings from the Gadsden group to Birmingham was heard by the state railroad commission at the April session, which began April 7.

Rates on this product from Birmingham to Gadsden are not the same as the rates from Gadsden to Birmingham.

CULLMAN PRISON CROWDED.

Only 12 Prisoners May Be Kept in Cullman Jail, Declares Dr. Oates.

Montgomery.—Only 112 prisoners, six white and six blacks, can be kept in the county jail at Cullman. Dr W. H. Oates, state prison inspector has ordered the removal of seven negro prisoners to Limestone county because there is only one compartment and it can accommodate only six.

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY COUNCIL.

Birmingham.—Delegates from Brazil, Cuba, Kora, China, Mexico and Japan are in Birmingham attending a meeting of the Woman's Missionary Council of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, which promises to be the greatest religious gathering ever brought together in the Magic City.

Sessions began April 9 at the First Methodist church and will last through April 16.

Supreme importance is attached to this meeting by all concerned. As evidence of this is the fact that the delegates are those prominent in Methodist councils.

The officers of the council who will be present throughout the convention are as follows:

President, Miss Belle Bennett, Richmond, Ky.; vice presidents, Mrs. T. G. Ratcliffe, St. Louis; Mrs. J. W. Perry, St. Louis; Mrs. J. E. Grubbs, Winchester, Ky.; Mrs. J. W. Perry, St. Elmo, Tenn.; Mrs. Archibald Trawick of Nashville; corresponding secretaries, Mrs. J. B. Cobb, foreign department, Nashville; Mrs. R. W. MacDonald, home department, Nashville; treasurer, Mrs. F. H. Ross, Nashville; educational secretary, Miss Mabel Head, Nashville; editorial secretary, Mrs. A. L. Marshall, Nashville; field secretary, Miss Daisy Davies, East Point, Ga.; recording secretaries, Mrs. Frank Siler, Gainesville, Ga.; Mrs. F. S. Parker, Nashville; managers, Miss Belle H. Bennett, Richmond, Ky.; Miss Maria L. Gibson, Kansas City; Mrs. L. P. Smith, Henrietta, Tex.; Mrs. L. G. Johnson, Gainesville, Ga.; Mrs. K. F. Barnum, Fort Worth, Tex.; Mrs. E. B. Chappell, Nashville; Miss Daisy Davies, East Point, Ga.; Mrs. H. R. Steele, Nashville; Miss Mary N. Moore, Athens; Mrs. Lee Britt, Suffold, Va.

FIVE HANGED FOR MURDER.

Three White Men and Two Negroes All Met Death Bravely.

Montgomery.—Walter Jones, Arnold Gilmer, John Adams and Coleman German, the latter two negroes, all murderers, were hanged in the Montgomery county jail.

The murderers went to their death with remarkable fortitude. All of them faced death without a quiver

C. Walter Jones, murderer of Sloan Rowan, was the first hanged and he died a horrible death. The knot of the rope slipped to his chin, his feet touched the floor and he strangled to death after 34 minutes of agony. Gilmer, second on the gallows, died more quickly, although it is doubtful if his neck was broken.

Birmingham. — Walter Jones was hung here in the county jail yard for the murder of Lawrence B. Evans.

"We were led astray and gotten into all this by older men who have betrayed us to save themselves," declared Walter Jones just before his execution. "I was young and easily influenced. I had confidence in these older men and Arthur and I let them get us into trouble. We looked up to them. They have betrayed us and saved themselves."

PRESIDENT OF CONVICT BOARD.

Governor Appoints Hartwell Douglass To Succeed Oakley.

Montgomery.—Governor O'Neal appointed Hartwell Douglass of Montgomery permanent president of the state board of convict inspectors to succeed James G. Oakley, who was removed from office following certain disclosures in the convict department probe.

During the past two weeks the affairs of the convict bureau have been administered by M. B. Wellborn of Anniston, whom the governor appointed temporary president pending his final selection.

Mr. Douglass, the new head of the state convict bureau, is one of the best known business men of Montgomery. Those acquainted with Mr. Douglass declare that Governor O'Neal has been fortunate in inducing him to take the office.

TOWNES PREPARING REPORT.

Will Show Result of Checking Government Property.

Montgomery—Examiner Townes has been instructed by Governor O'Neal to check up all government property now stored in the rooms in the basement of the capitol and in the armories in Montgomery. Reports are now being prepared by the examiner showing the result of his checking of the property allotted to the various military companies of the Alabama National Guard.

NEW BARGE LINE.

Will Operate From New Orleans To Tuscaloosa.

Mobile.—Announcement was made here by Donaldson, traffic manager of the Alabama-New wOrleans Transportation company, recently organized at New Orleans, that the first barge which it is proposed to operate from New Orleans to Tuscaloosa via Mobile will leave the Crescent City on June 1. It will arrive in Mobile on the morning of June 2.

TRADE OUTLOOK IS SATISFACTORY

Normal Activity Will Follow Floods. Operations Active.

New York.—Dunn's Review of Trade says:

The general trade outlook is satisfactory, although conservatism in all branches is manifest. The disastrous floods of last week caused more or less interruption to transportation and distribution agencies but as these are restored a return to full normal activity is expected. Fortunately the flood damage, while great, was by no means as large as first reports indicated.

March bank clearings were 2.4 per cent less than last year, though 5.1 per cent larger than in 1911. Railroad earnings in the four weeks of March, on the other hand, made the important gain of 7 per cent.

While the iron and steel industry was disorganized by the floods, mills and furnaces are rapidly resuming work and fundamental conditions remain distinctly favorable. Reports from textile trades indicate a healthy demand. With the advantage of settled weather, retail and wholesale domestic trade is expected to expand greatly. Building operations are generally active. Winter wheat conditions are excellent. The balance of merchandise exports over imports in eight months amounted to $474,000,000 and the favorable foreign trade situation continues.

New York.—Bradstreet's Weekly Review of Trade says:

Irregularity with a tendency toward more or less depression is the chief characteristic of trade advices.

Retail trade has improved somewhat and returns fro mthe northwest generally and parts of the southwest show activity, but on the other hand conditions in the south, as well as in other areas, is such as to curtail buying while in the east there is a disposition to mark time.

In fact, it is possible there is a general desire to go slow especially as tariff matters are well to the front while money and credit matters demand attention.

As expected by those having advices from the flooded and storm swept sections of Ohio and adjoining valleys the loss of life and property has been rather less than earlier feared.

Still the toll has been heavy, especialy in Ohio.

Business failures for the week ending April 3 were 237, which compares with 261 in the like week of 1912.

There were 27 failures in Canada.

Wheat, including flour, exports from the United States and Canada for the week ending April 3 aggregate 4,081,478 bushels, against 4,231,542 bushels this week last year.

NEWS BREVITIES.

Washington.—The interstate commerce commission announced the appointment of Fred W. Sweeney as chief examiner of carriers' accounts, succeeding Charles A. Lutz, resigned.

Hamilton, O.—The city has offered a reward of $10 for each body recovered from the debris left by the flood. So far 71 bodies have been recovered. Canvasses of the city place Hamilton's death list at 150.

Dayton.—Accompanied by members of the Ohio flood relief commission, Governor Cox thoroughly inspected his flood stricken home city.

Washington.—Two or three revenue cutters will for ma federal escort of honor at the Commodore Perry celebration at Put in Bay, on Lake Erie, in July and August. Acting Secretary Williams of the treasury department has assured the Perry Memorial commission, headed by Lieut. Gen. Nelson A. Miles, that the cutters would participate.

New York.—George E. Kendall, president of the New York Banknote company, has turned over to the attorney general documentary evidence which Kendall says will prove that State Senator Stephen J. Stilwell tried to induce him to offer a bribe of $3,500 to have certain stock exchange bills reported out of legislative committees.

Boston, Mass.—Governor Foss thinks Massachusetts interests are menaced by what he believes to be the democratic plan of tariff revision. In a long special message he urged the legislature to memorialize Congress in favor of reciprocity as the basis of tariff changes.

New York.—Hunting trips, private cars, palatial residences and ornate office buildings are luxuries which directors of the St. Joseph Lead company, a $20,000,000 corporation, enjoyed at the stockholders' expense in the course of an alleged mismanagement of the company's affairs, according to the plaintiffs in a suit filed in the supreme court.

Washington.—Charges that Miss Zelie Emerson, the American militant suffragette now in prison for window smashing, has been subjected to "cruel and unusual treatment" are unfounded, according to a report to the state department from Irwin B. Laughlin, charge of the American embassy at London.

St. Louis.—Mrs. Jeannett O. Ferris of Michigan, told the Mississippi Valley Suffragette Conference here that woman suffrage was counted out fraudulently in the November election in her state

CONGRESS GETS WILSON MESSAGE

Brief Document Tells Purpose of Extra Session.

MUST ALTER TARIFF DUTIES

Lawmakers Asked to Square the Schedules With the Actual Facts of Industrial and Commercial Life.

Washington, April 8. — President Wilson's message, read today to the senate and house at the beginning of the extra session, was a brief, pointed document setting forth in general terms what congress is expected to do in the matter of tariff revision. The message was as follows:

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

I have called the congress together in extraordinary session because a duty was laid upon the party now in power at the recent elections which it ought to perform promptly, in order that the burden carried by the people under existing law may be lightened as soon as possible and in order, also, that the business interests of the country may not be kept too long in suspense as to what the fiscal changes are to be to which they will be required to adjust themselves. It is clear to the whole country that the tariff duties must be altered. They must be changed to meet the radical alteration in the conditions of our ecnomic life which the country has witnessed within the last generation.

While the whole face and method of our industrial and commercial life were being changed beyond recognition the tariff schedules have remained what they were before the change began, or have moved in the direction they were given when no large circumstance of our industrial development was what it is today. Our task is to square them with the actual facts. The sooner that is done the sooner we shall escape from suffering from the facts and the sooner our men of business will be free to thrive by the law of nature (the nature of free business) instead of by the law of legislation and artificial arrangement.

Business Not Normal.

We have seen tariff legislation wander very far afield in our day—very far indeed from the field in which our prosperity might have had a normal growth and stimulation. No one who looks the facts squarely in the face or knows anything that lies beneath the surface of action can fail to perceive the principles upon which recent tariff legislation has been based. We long ago passed beyond the modest notion of "protecting" the industries of the country and moved boldly forward to the idea that they were entitled to the direct patronage of the government. For a long time—a time so long that the men now active in public policy hardly remember the conditions that preceded it—we have sought in our tariff schedules to give each group of manufacturers or producers what they themselves thought that they needed in order to maintain a practically exclusive market as against the rest of the world. Consciously or unconsciously, we have built up a set of privileges and exemptions from competition behind which it was easy by any, even the crudest, forms of combination to organize monopoly; until at last nothing is normal, nothing is obliged to stand the tests of efficiency and economy, in our world of big business, but everything thrives by concerted arrangement. Only new principles of action will save us from a final hard crystallization of monopoly and a complete loss of the influences that quicken enterprise and keep independent energy alive.

It is plain what those principles must be. We must abolish everything that bears even the semblance of privilege or of any kind of artificial advantage, and put our business men and producers under the stimulation of a constant necessity to be efficient, economical, and enterprising, masters of competitive supremacy, better workers and merchants than any in the world. Aside from the duties laid upon articles which we do not, and probably cannot, produce, therefore, and the duties laid upon luxuries and merely for the sake of the revenues they yield, the object of the tariff duties henceforth laid must be effective competition, the whetting of American wits by contest with the wits of the rest of the world.

Development, Not Revolution.

It would be unwise to move toward this end headlong, with reckless haste, or with strokes that cut at the very roots of what has grown up amongst us by long process and at our own invitation. It does not alter a thing to upset it and break it and deprive it of a chance to change. It destroys it. We must make changes in our fiscal laws, in our fiscal system, whose object is development, a more free and wholesome development, not revolution or upset or confusion. We must build up trade, especially foreign trade. We need the outlet and the enlarged field of energy more than we ever did before. We must build up industry as well and must adopt freedom in the place of artificial stimulation only so far as it will build, not pull down. In dealing with the tariff the method by which this may be done will be a matter of judgment, exercised item by item.

To some not accustomed to the excitements and responsibilities of greater freedom our methods may in some respects and at some points seem heroic, but remedies may be heroic and yet be remedies. It is our business to make sure that they are genuine remedies. Our object is clear. If our motive is above just challenge and only an occasional error of judgment is chargeable against us, we shall be fortunate.

We are called upon to render the country a great service in more matters than one. Our responsibility should be met and our methods should be thorough, as thorough as moderate and well considered, based upon the facts as they are, and not worked out as if we were beginners. We are to deal with the facts of our own day, with the facts of no other, and to make laws which square with those facts. It is best, indeed it is necessary, to begin with the tariff. I will urge nothing upon you now at the opening of your session which can obscure that first object or divert our energies from that clearly defined duty. At a later time I may take the liberty of calling your attention to reforms which should press close upon the heels of the tariff changes, if not accompany them, of which the chief is the reform of our banking and currency laws; but just now I refrain. For the present, I put these matters on one side and think only of this one thing—of the changes in our fiscal system which may best serve to open once more the free channels of prosperity to a great people whom we would serve to the utmost and throughout both rank and file.

WOMEN KNOWN BY JEWELS

Each Article of Adornment Is Observed and Carefully Catalogued by Society.

A woman frequently changes her face and always her gown, while to change her jewels is an event calling for chronicle, Richard Barry writes in the New York Times.

"Is that Mrs. So-and-So in box —?" I heard one woman ask another the other night.

"Let me see," replied her companion, seizing the glasses. "No. Mrs. So-and-So has sapphires surrounding a pearl in her pendant. That has emeralds. It is Mrs. If-and-But."

"Who is that next to her?"

"With the cross of diamonds and the jade stomacher?"

"No. With the oval brooch set with opals."

"Oh! That is Mrs. Or-to-Be's brooch, but it doesn't look like her daughter, only she never will let any one wear her opals; 'lucky for her, unlucky for another' is her idea. What has she done to her face?"

These women, their dependents and their intimates hold their jewels in the affectionate regard that another group of women might hold their children. The entrance to the circle of each new piece of jewelry is noted and commented on carefully. It undergoes jealous observation at first. Then, if deserving it, it achieves a place and is duly catalogued.

"Look! There is that little Miss Pretty. It's her first night. She's barely eighteen, and see that string of diamonds. I do think that is rushing it a bit, don't you? They might wait till the second year, at least, for a necklace like that. However, give me your glasses; they are better than mine."

After a moment she releases the glasses with a satisfied smile. "At any rate," she observes, "they are perfectly matched and just the right size."

So it goes. Jewels the center of attention; jewels which mark the distinctive elements of personality. From the tiny necklace, which is the joy of the newest debutante, to the sturdy stomacher which is the consolation of the oldest dowager, jewels proclaim, define, limit, differentiate vitalize and devitalize society.

Sunshine, Plants—and Girls.

Sunlight is so important to life that it is little wonder that sun worshipers prevailed in primitive days. Plant a potato in your cellar, and if there is a little light the potato will sprout and try to grow. Surround it with the best fertilizer, water it, and do the best you can for it except that you keep it in the dark, and it cannot digest and grow. See how slender and pale it is! The process of digestion, the great function of assimilation, cannot go on without sunshine. Nature's laws are the same in the animal world. It is just as true that the only girls with red cheeks and sweet breaths, the only girls who become fully ripe and sweet, are those who baptize themselves fully in glorious sunshine. The many pale girls who are to be seen with a bloodless, half-baked sort of face, whose walk, whose voice and whose whole expression is devoid of spirit, are not half ripe.

The Queen and Gambling.

Though the queen is to accompany the king to the grand national next month, she retains her dislike for gambling. But some years ago when the royal party was traveling down by rail for the derby, the late King Edward proposed a half crown sweepstake on the race, and Princess Mary drew a horse that had a fine chance. Prince Arthur of Connaught having drawn his usual blank, suggested he should buy it from her present majesty for five shillings. She declined, and held to her chances, which romped home an easy winner. "For any one who does not like gambling," remarks H. R. H., when retailing this yarn, "I never saw any one collect her winning more quickly."—London Opinion.

GAUNTLET THROWN TO SIX BIG POWERS

MONTENEGRO DECLINES THE ORDER THAT SHE CEASE ATTEMPT TO TAKE SCUTARI.

LITTLE KINGDOM IS DEFIANT

Austrian Army Also Maneuvering Near Montenegrin Frontier. Crisis in Balkins.

Cettinje.—The little kingdom of Montenegro has thrown down the gauntlet to the six great powers. She declines to yield to the demand of the powers to abandon her attempts to gain possession of Scutari and has officially announced that "there will be no departure from an attitude which conforms to the necessities of the state of war existing between the allies and Turkey.

An international fleet, comprising warships of Austria Hugary, France, Germany and Great Britain, is now blockading the Montenegrin port of Antivari. These include four Austrian warships, the British cruisers Yarmouth, Inflexible and Gloucester; the German cruiser Breslau, Italian cruiser Pisa and the French cruiser Edgar Quinet. Russia is not represented by a warship, but has acquiesced in the naval demonstration.

The British admiral sent the following message to the Montenegrin premier, Dr. L. Tomanovice.

"I have the honor to inform you that the international fleet is assembled in Montenegrin waters as a protest against the non-fulfillment of the wishes of the great powers. I desire to call your excellency's attention to the presence of the fleet as a proof that the great powers are acting in concert and request that their wishes be fulfilled without further delay. Please inform me immediately that your government is ready to carry out the wishes of the great powers."

To this the Montenegrin premier replied in a note expressing regret at the presence of the fleet, which he considered a violation of the neutrality proclaimed by the powers at the beginning of the war and to the detriment of Montenegro. The premier continued:

"Despite the pressure which the presence of the fleet implies, there will be no departure from an attitude which conforms to the necessities of the state of war existing between the allies and Turkey."

A brigade of Austrian troops from Catttaro has been maneuvering near he Montenegrin boundary. The customary notice has not been given the Montenegrin government and Austria's action is considered unfriendly and menacing.

CUBAN KILLS AN AMERICAN

Rudolph Warren, Son of Rich Planter, Shot to Death at Havana.

Havana, Cuba.—Rudolph Warren, son of Jere Warren, prominent American sugar planter, died in a hospital here from a pistol wound in the abdomen, which he received in a duel with Hannibal Mesa, a member of a wealthy Cuban family.

The two young men recently had several physical encounters and were reputed to be rivals for a woman's affections.

The duel was at thirty-five paces. Warren fell at the first fire. Mesa was not harmed.

Warren made a statement to the police that he had accidentally shot himself. Immediately after the duel Mesa sailed for New York on the steamer Havana. The utmost reticence is being maintained on all sides regarding the affair.

Boys Shot to Death.

Greenville, S. C.—Upon breaking into the basement of a fashionable dry goods store, Leonard Smith, 17 years old, son of a prominent and wealthy family, and his 20-year-old companion, Rowity Martin, engaged in a pistol battle with three policemen, who had concealed themselves in the store in anticipation of a burglary, with the result that the young men were shot to death, and one of the policemen severely wounded.

Two Men Are Killed by Auto.

Jacksonville, Fla.—In an automobile accident on the Atlantic boulevard, Harry Stahl, 21 years of age, was instantly killed and Joseph B. Sloan of this city was so badly injured that he died a few hours later at a hospital. Sloan, with Stahl as a companion, went to the beach to witness a life-saving exhibition and on returning at a fast rate of speed, turned out in order to pass a car. In turning out the wheels struck soft earth the car swerved, the right front wheel striking the big car.

Mammoth Cave Found.

Ogden, Utah. —With what appears to be pre-historic hieroglyphics carved on its walls, a mammoth cave, rivaling the famous caves of Kentucky, was discovered in this vicinity. Thomas Whitaker, a rancher, made the discovery. He will head a party of University of Utah professors on a tour of investigation. The cave is located in the mountains near Promontory Point, 13 miles from Ogden, and has probably never been visited by white men, as the surrounding country is a bleak desert.

TURKEY ACCEPTS TERMS

PORTE AGREES TO ABIDE UNRESERVEDLY BY DECISION OF THE POWERS.

Terms of the Mediation Offered by European Powers to the Balkan Allies.

Constantinople.—The Turkish government declared that it unreservedly accepted the terms of peace proposed by the European powers.

The foreign office handed the Ottoman's acceptance to the dean of the diplomatic corps accompanied by an expression of thanks to the powers for their mediation.

The terms of mediation offered by the European powers to Turkey and the Balkan allies were:

"1. The frontier of the Ottoman empire in Europe shall start at Enos and following the course of the Matriza river and then that of the Ergene shall end at Midie. All territories situated west of this line shall be ceded by Turkey to the allied states with the exception of Albania, the delimitation of which shall be fixed by the powers.

"2. The question of the Aegean Islands shall be settled by the powers.

"3. Turkey shall abandon all claim to Crete.

"4. The powers cannot favorably entertain the demand for indemnity, but will admit the allies to participate in the discussions of the international commission in Paris for an equitable settlement of their participation in the Ottoman debt and in the financial charges of the district to be handed over to them. FEDERAL LOAN FOR DAYTON

Proposed to Ask for $20,000,000 to $40,000,000 for Restoring City.

Dayton, Ohio.—"Dayton is facing one of the gravest problems that any city of the world ever faces and we want the world to know we need money and food for our stricken people," said John H. Patterson, president of the relief committee, after he returned, in company with H. E. Talbott, chief engineer, from a tour of the sections of Dayton swept by the flood.

In speaking of a tenttative plan to ask the federal government for a loan of from $20,000,000 to $40,000,000 to be used in reconstruction work, Mr. Patterson said:

"At a meeting of bankers and officials of the building associations, it was decided to make an appeal for federal aid. The banks and building associations have $60,000,000 worth of assets which they will put up as collateral. It may be deemed advisable to ask the government to give us some financial assistance. We feel that the disaster is an emergency which would justify extraordinary action on the part of congress."

Express Companies Hit Hard.

Washington.—Express companies of the coutnry have been hit hard by the operation of the new parcel post system, according to a statement submitted to the interstate commerce commission by counsel for the companies in their final arguments against the reduction in express rates proposed by the commission. It was declared that the companies have suffered a loss approximating 25 per cent. in small package business—a loss which amounts to about 6 per cent. of the gross revenues.

Committed Suicide 600 Feet in Air.

London.—Lieutenant Perlovsky of the Russian army, committed suicide at Warsaw on by deliberately shutting off the motor of an aeroplane in which he was flying and dropping from a height of 600 feet to the ground. The tragedy was believed to have been an accident until a letter, written not before the fatal flight was found. In it Lieutenant Perlovsky expressed his intention of committing suicide in midair and gave as a reason that he had been the victim of many intrigues.

22 MEN LOSE LIVES ON SHIP

GERMAN SHIP TURNS TURTLE WHILE WRECKING CREW IS ON BOARD.

Ship Had Been on Rocks for Two Month and Was Not Seriously Injured.

Bay City, Ore.——Twenty-two men, including the ship's captain, the president of a wrecking company of Portland and the representative of the Marine Underwriters, were trapped in the hold of the German ship Mimi, which capsized off the beach here after having been hauled off a reef on which she had been fast two months.

A heavy sea was pounding the wreck and life-savers refused to attempt a rescue. They said no boat could be launched and refused to let volunteers take their boat.

The Mimi, in ballast for Valparaiso from Astoria, piled up on the reef February 13 last. She was not seriously injured and the underwriters contracted with Charles S. Fisher of a Portland construction company to float her. Fisher, his secretary and seven riggers, Capt. W. E. Crowe, representative of the underwriters; Captain Westfall of the Mimi and eleven of his men were aboard the ship when she capsized. All were below deck when she turned over.

The Mimi was hauled off the rocks at high tide. It was determined to take her to deep water at once, and she was at anchor off the beach when the rising wind and sea whirled her over.

Life-savers fought all day to reach her without successs. After they had given it up and as dark was falling the men on the wreck's bottom appeared.

Seas are sweeping the wreck. The wreckage was seen and it was feared she was breaking up. Whether the men aboard can hold on until the sea abates and the savers reach them is a problem. The hull is low in the water and may sink from sight when the tide rises.

FAREWELL IS GIVEN MORGAN

Eternal City Starts Body of Great Financier on Journey Home.

Rome, Italy.—The Eternal City gave its last farewell to J. Pierpont Morgan, whose body was conveyed from the Grand hotel to the railway station and there placed aboard a train for Havre. It will be transported to the United States by a steamer, The France, sailing for New York.

"Accept the expression of my sincerest sympathy in your great bereavement. Your husband's death is a loss not only for you, your family and your country, but his many friends in all parts of the world shall never forget him."

The funeral procession to the depot was impressive in its simplicity. The hearse was followed by carriages in which rode Mr. and Mrs. Herbert J. Satterlee, the American ambassador, Thomas J. O'Brien; tht staff of the embassy, the attending physicians, Doctor Nelson of the American church and a few friends. Platoons of municpal guards acted as an escort. The people in the streets raised their hats as the cortege passed.

Governor Witness in Murder Trial.

Montgomery, Ala.—Governor O'Neal appeared as a witness for the state in the trial of Henry F. Vandiver, a former member of the executive's staff, who is accused of complicity in the murder of Sloan Rowan. His evidence was damaging to the accused man. It was brought out by the state in rebuttal after the defense had rested. The governor testified that Vandiver was formerly on his staff, ranking as colonel, and that he accompanied him to the Auburn commencement last June.

Just One More State Needed.

Harrisburg, Pa.—Pennsylvania has joined the ranks of the states that have ratified the proposed amendment to the Federal Constitution providing for the direct election of United States senators, making the thirty-fifth to fall in line. The joint resolution ratifying the proposed amendment which previously passed the house, was passed by the senate unanimously. The vote of only one more state is needed to make the amendment effective.

GIRL SUFFERED TERRIBLY

At Regular Intervals—Says Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound completely cured her.

Adrian, Texas.—"I take pleasure in adding my testimonial to the great list and hope that it will be of interest to suffering women. For four years I suffered untold agonies at regular intervals. Such pains and cramps, severe chills and sickness at stomach, then finally hemorrhages until I would be nearly blind. I had five doctors and none of them could do more than relieve me for a time.

"I saw your advertisement in a paper and decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took seven boxes of it and used two bottles of the Sanative Wash, and I am completely cured of my trouble. When I began taking the Compound I only weighed ninety-six pounds and now I weigh one hundred and twenty-six pounds. If anyone wishes to address me in person I will cheerfully answer all letters, as I cannot speak too highly of the Pinkham remedies."—Miss JESSIE MARSH, Adrian, Texas.

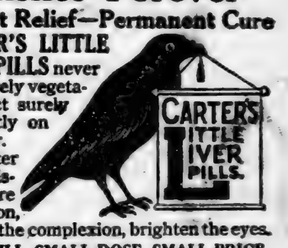
Hundreds of such letters expressing gratitude for the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished are constantly being received, proving the reliability of this grand old remedy.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

RESINOL RELIEVED ITCHING INSTANTLY

And Completely Cured Skin Humor.

If you have eczema or any other itching, burning skin trouble, the best evidence of what Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment can do for you is the word of one who was cured by them after weeks of suffering. Adolph Schoen, 742 Shepherd Ave., Brooklyn, writes:



Nov. 1, 1912.—"At first little red spots were seen on my arms and body, which I noticed were getting larger every day. They itched me so much that I scratched myself until I bled. There were times when I stood up all night and scratched. I was troubled about three weeks, during which time I used ——, which seemed to do me no good whatever. Then, finally, I thought of trying Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment. As soon as I applied Resinol Ointment I felt much relief. After using it a few times, I noticed the sore spots slowly fading away, and in about a month I was cured completely."

The soothing, healing balsams in Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap, penetrate every tiny pore of the skin, clearing it of all impurities, driving away eczema, rashes, ringworm, psoriasis, and other eruptions, and making pimples and blackheads impossible. Prescribed by physicians for eighteen years. For free samples write to Dept. 2-K, Resinol, Baltimore, Md. Every druggist sells Resinol Ointment (50c) and Resinol Soap (25c), or sent by parcel post on receipt of price.

He espied a figure resplendent rass buttons vigorously swing- a club, as though he were cticing for some approaching test.

On the other hand a matter vitally concern- ing every man present.

SAD, SOLEMN MARCH.

Sadly and solemnly the silent march to the bastile was begun. The town marshal, with his force (ful) club led the procession of downcast heads and heavy hearts. Soon the grim walls of the county stronghold loomed up in the distance no less terryfying than the Tower of London appeared to Mary Queen of Scots, when she was hustled thither in the days of her decline.

Suddenly the officer of the law halted. He lifted his service hat and mopped his brow. He glanced at the jail and then at Bruce Kennedy, now a figure of despair and unlike the jubilant secretary of committee meeting and commercial dreams. Evidently his heart was softening.

SOMEWHAT THIRSTY HIMSELF

"Gentlemen," he said, "I am a thirsty man myself. Is that brand of 'bottled in bond' a good one? If it is then I am on for a high-ball and you can go free. Hang working these hot days anyhow."

Such was the reception of the Business Men's League "boosters" in the municipality of Clanton.

The town marshal was not the only one who wanted to test the quality of the drinks. There were others too.

Mayor Matthews, W. I. Mullins and other leading lights of the community did their best to extend the glad hand and they and others did it well.

GOT ACQUAINTED FOR FAIR

After this the visitors were carried for a tour of the town and every store and mercantile establishment was taken in en route. The guests and hosts were getting acquainted for fair. At 6 o'clock everybody was corralled at the Hotel Palmer, where a delicious course dinner was served by the business men. At 8 o'clock the grand mass meeting of the occasion opened at the court house.

Addresses of welcome were delivered by Judge L. H. Reynolds and Hon. J. O. Middleton. Responses were made by President Salter and S. J. Winter, the former repsesenting the Business Men's League and the latter the Credit Men's Association. Following this, addresses were delivered by W. I. Mullins and Mayor Matthews, of Clanton, and Alex Rice, Bernard Frank, T. L. Hackett, A. H. Rawlings, C. B. Tallman, Louis Steiner, T. T. Griel and J. M. Kennedy.

The final speech was that of Bruce Kennedy, secretary of the Business Men's League, who closed his remarks after a few brief words in order to devote the larger portion of his period to a reception, in which he saw to it that every visitor and host became acquainted.

During the meeting an excellent program of musical numbers was rendered by a lady orchestra and several soloists. These included Miss Marguerite Chappelle, Miss Elna Sartor, Miss Beverley Hester, Miss Glennie Evans, Miss Mayme Foshee, Miss Willie Reynolds, Miss Alice Stanfield, Mrs. J. H. Middleton and Mr. Newton Aldridge.

Following the court house meeting the visitors entertained at their cars, where sandwiches and other good things were served.—Montgomery Journal.

THE TRUE RING

SOUND LOGIC.

Mr. Editor:—

There is a great deal of discussion going the rounds about issuing bonds to build roads. Now, every one agrees that we need better roads, and the argument comes up as to the best method of obtaining them. Anyone can readily see that it is impossible to build a good road with our present plan. Why? Because we haven't the men, nor stock and tools at our command to do the work. Take for instance the Randolph road from Pleasant Grove to Jemison, which is 4 1-2 miles; there is something like 25 feeder roads leading into it and a daily average of 50 vehicles over it per day; I will ask all fair minded men is it right to make a few men keep up that piece of road when half the people of two beats use it? Don't you think it only just that the patrons of the road, and not the few that happen to live along the road, should help in the upkeep? If you do, what other plan have you except to issue bonds and build roads? Under our present plan we depend on a few men to do the work and the result is we can hardly get over the Randolph road into Jemison except in the dry times when we need to be in our fields, and you will find practically all the roads leading into the same fix. I don't see any difference in selling bonds and building roads and mortgaging what we have to buy supplies with, and better stock, tools and so on; and, if you had been forced to pay cash for your farms half of the landholders of Chilton county would still be tenants. If we had good roads our stock would last one-third longer, our vehicles would last as long again, and we would save the cost of the roads every five years on that item alone. Take the smooth level places in the roads and a pair of mules can carry three tons with all ease; but you go just a little further along and you strike a muddy, sticky hill and it is all a pair of mules can do to to get up it with one ton, and that is the places you have to load for. With good roads the farmer would save the price of the road every five years on that alone. I have heard men say that we must not issue bonds, for our boys will have them to pay after we are dead and gone, and we have no right to saddle a debt on our children. Suppose we stop and see if our forefathers had any such consideration for us; prior to 1776 the men of that day considered that England was unjustly taxing them, and they decided to put a stop to it. They declared their independence and had to fight the old mother country; established a government of their own (and never once stopped to see what the boy thought about it) and we have been singing their praises ever since (and yet they left a debt for the boy to pay) and what did the men of 1861 do? When the U. S. government said the negro must be freed, they thought they had been unjustly treated and went to war and fought for their rights, and the boy, you and I, have been paying a heavy Federal pension roll ever since until now it reaches the sum total of over $180,000,000 per year and you never hear a kick about what they did, but instead we love those old heroes and think them the greatest men that ever lived.

Mr. Farmer, suppose we declare war on old King Mud? For he is imposing one of the heaviest taxes on us that a ruler ever imposed on a willing set of subjects. The longer we allow fold King Mud to rule, the harder he will tax us, and the higher we will to show your manhood and rebel against the unjust tax that old King Mud has placed upon us. Get out from under the fear of what the boy will say and issue bonds and build roads and make old Chilton one of the best counties in the State. Every one should take pride in their county and do everything they can to push it to the front, and one of the surest signs of a live, up-to-date county is good roads, and if you judge the future by the past, we can't hope for any better roads than we have at the present time, if as good, because the tonnage is increasing every year and the more you use a road the harder it is to keep up. We must have money to build roads. If we don't borrow it, where are we going to get it? Suppose we have a little road tax money, we haven't enough to patch up the mud holes, and if we use it to patch up with we will never have anything but a bad road and still use all the money we get from taxes too. We will be like the man paying rent, we will never own a home. And what about the government aid? Are we going to let it slip? The government is not going to pay us rent on something we haven't got. Still we will have to pay our share of government tax, and if we don't get it the more progressive counties will and we will be paying for their roads and not get any benefit, just as we are paying other taxes and letting some one else get the benefit because we are so slow and backward about demanding what is justly ours. So just let our county officials know what we want, and then demand that they give it to us. Go to work on men and strike a blow against old King Mud by voting for a bond issue.

Respectfully yours,

MOUNTAIN CREEK NEWS

Large quantities of fertilizer have been received here during last few weeks and the farmers are using it freely. Mr. Emmett Thornton sells to the farmers here.

G. W. Cobern says that, judging from from the liberal buying by farmers, he thinks that people are "better fixed" than they were last year, and owing to this, larger crops will be made.

Postmaster Gray says the parcel post business is increasing every week, so much so, that the rural route men are crowded.

Crops are looking fine; small garden stuff seems to be "racing" in order to see whose "crate"—for shipment—will be filled first.

ARE GETTING READY FOR SECOND COUNT

MAY 13TH.

The Clanton Press's great piano voting contest is reaching normal proportions now. It has come to where you can't tell who is leading. So many have brought in subscriptions and receive their votes, and some have so many that no one can even guess which one has the most. There is quite a demand for merchants' coupons, too. These are the little jokers that will probably tell the story in the end. And this is the way our readers can help. It does not cost you a cent when you buy groceries, dry goods, hardware, clothing, furniture, drugs, or whatever the advertisers in the contest have to offer, and then as the contestant comes to you, you will have a pleasant little surprise for her; that will prove you a person who thinks of others, and it will make her pleased with you.

Every one of the ladies who is out for that piano wants, and they are honestly trying in every honorable way to come in possession of it. It is simply a question of which one you like best. Of course you like them all, and Clanton and vicinity have nothing nicer than these contestants, and what is nicer for a lady, whether old or young, and her family and circle of friends, than a nice piano—and such a one for instance, as the Press is going to give to the lady that the people of Clanton and vicinity like the best.

Bear in mind that the ballot box is closed for the second count at 6:00 p.m. on May 13. Be sure to have your votes all in by that time so that you will have a fair chance to show what your standing is.

For every seven yearly new subscriptions we will give 10,000 extra votes, making a total of 14,200 votes.

For every seven renewal subscriptions, 8,000 extra, making a total of 11,500 votes.

For every seven back subscriptions, 6,000 extra, a total of 8,800 votes.

For every 40 merchants' coupons brought to this office and counted by the publisher or his assistants, a bonus of 500 votes will be given, a total of 1500 in all.

To the lady having the most votes on May 13, (not including the vote heretofore received) a prize of $10.00 in gold will be given.

These coupons may be collected from all merchants who are in the contest.

Remember and have your friends trade with the merchants who are giving the coupons. They are as follows:

Gamble Hardware Co.
L. Block Millinery Co.
W. D. Spigener.
Potts & Nix.
J. M. Potts Grocery Co.
J. V. Higgins.
Bryant McKee.

IN MEMORY

Of Brother E. J. Hayes, the deceased, who departed this life on April 15, 1913; he died at his home to the regret of his multitude of friends and relatives. Bro. Hayes was born in Chilton county April 1854, and lived to the age of 59 years. Reared in our community; became a Christian in early manhood, spending nearly thirty years of his life as a devoted Christian and was clerk of his church at the time of his death. During his life of Christian work he had accumulated a vast number of friends.

He was elected County Commissioner of the Second Commissioners district and contracted his death discharging his duty as an official. Several days ago he was called upon to attend a special meeting of the Commissioners Court; he walked from his home to Clanton to occupy his seat in the Court. After that he was never well again, having contracted a severe case of pneumonia which terminated in his death.

The funeral services were conducted by Bro. P. G. Maness at his home church on Wednesday, the 16th inst., the interment being at Mulberry cemetery.

Bro. Hayes leaves a wife and three little boys to mourn his untimely taking away and to them in this hour of bereavement we extend our sympathies and prayers.

Written this 19th day of April, 1913, by order of the church.

City Marshal Hayes made a very important arrest last Saturday night, when he captured a horse within the city limits. The genial horseman was carried to Montgomery on the Sunday afternoon train.

Mrs. M. L. White is visiting relatives in Montgomery.

THE HOOKWORM

Mr. Editor: If you will give me a small space, I desire to say a few words through your paper in regard to the hookworm campaign now on in Chilton county.

I am greatly surprised at the general public's lack of information regarding this disease, as well as the carelessness with which we all treat a subject of such vital importance. Besides those who are very much incapacitated, there are hundreds of people in our county suffering only slight infection, but heavily enough infected to be a menace to the public and an injury to themselves, without suspecting that they are the host of these parasites.

Hookworm is one of the most common infections in the South and is one of the easiest diseases transmitted when no effort is made to avoid infection, yet one of the easiest to avoid if we know how.

Dr. Grote will be with us several weeks and will give free demonstrated lectures, and examine and treat patients free of all charges. Now, do not delay but come to see and hear the Doctor; bring a specimen to his dispensary and know whether you are carrying the infection.

Dr. Grote is in position to make this work entirely free. He is employed by the Hookworm Commission as well as the State and county and is here to do much good if our people will avail themselves of this opportunity now offered.

Watch our county papers, keep up with his dispensary days, and be on hand.

V. J. Gragg,
County Health Officer.

WEST PLANTERSVILLE

Mr. J. W. Gay made a business trip to Selma Wednesday.

Mrs. Frank Harris has been suffering from neuralgia for several days.

We are glad to say that we have new neighbors in our neighborhood, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Gay.

A number of friends enjoyed the entertainment at Mr. John Cook's Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Batton and Mr. J. W. Gay and family spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Gay last Sunday.

Messrs. Oliver and Luther Gay and Misses Lillie Moore and Leona Johnson made a flying trip to Stanton Sunday afternoon.

The farmers are progressing nicely with their work; most all the corn has been planted, and some cotton also. Gardens are real nice, but need rain badly.

Does Backache Worry You?

Many who suffer with backache and weak kidneys are unnaturally irritable and fretful. Bad kidneys fail to eliminate all the uric acid from the system, keeping you "on edge" and causing rheumatic, neuralgia pains.

When your back aches, and you notice signs of bladder irregularities, suspect your kidneys and begin using Doan's Kidney Pills, the best recommended special kidney remedy.

A Tennessee Case

Mrs. Baylus Marshall, Fayetteville, Tenn., says: "I was treated by the best physicians in this locality but nothing helped me and I steadily ran down until I weighed but 85 pounds. My back ached terribly, kidney secretions were irregular and I felt all worn out. I steadily improved under the use of Doan's Kidney Pills, however, and when I had used 6 boxes, was entirely cured. I now weigh 125 pounds and enjoy the best of health."

His Business.

"There is one man who can be safe always in taking his customers at their face value."

"Who might he be?"

"The beauty doctor."

Both True.

"I heard quite a paradoxical remark the other day."

"What was it?"

"That though there is no excuse for crime, there is generally a warrant for it."

Cook and the Cuckoo.

Mistress—Bridget, what ails the cuckoo clock? I haven't heard it today.

Bridget—Well, mum, there do be a strange cat around the kitchen an' likely the poor bur'd's afeared to come out.

Who's Doing the Talking?

"A business man should never take his stenographer out to lunch."

"Why not?"

"Oh, it causes talk."

"Of course it causes talk, but if the business man will abstain from cocktails, he won't talk to her half as much as he might."

The Right of the Strong.

Three-year-old George and his sister, slightly older, were having a tete-a-tete luncheon. "Why," she demanded, "do you take the last ginger-snap, when you've had two and I haven't had any?" The young philosopher pondered for a moment, then condescended to elucidate.

"Because," he said, kindly, "I'm a boy and you're a girl."

All He Wanted.

A Boston man tells of a certain irrepressible bore who always made use of a formula when anyone sought to put him off and thus spare the objects of his attention the annoyance of an interview with him. This formula was: "But I assure you I want but one word with him—only one word!"

On one occasion he sought out a noted lawyer. The latter's clerk met him very solemnly with: "Why, haven't you heard? Mr. Blank died last night."

The words were scarcely out of the clerk's mouth when the applicant was saying, conciliatingly: "But I assure you I want but one word with him—only one word!"

O'NEAL REVIEWS STATE'S FINANCES

GENERAL IMPROVEMENT IS CLAIMED OVER PREVIOUS ADMINISTRATION

EXPENSES ARE CUT DOWN

Attention Called to Large Amounts Not Heretofore Collected by the State.

Montgomery.—Deficits have been reduced, expenses have been cut down and general financial improvement has been shown during the O'Neal administration over the previous administration, according to a financial statement issued by Governor O'Neal. In this statement the executive declares that he entered upon the discharge of his duties burdened with the debts incurred during previous administrations and an additional burden in the shape of a large amount of appropriated money which was set aside by the last legislature.

Attention is called by Governor O'Neal to the large amount of money that has been collected during his administration that has never been collected heretofore by other administrations. He also points out the improvements that have been made in various parts of the state, to the better public schools, the improvements in roads and the raising of the standard of conducting the cotton mills and prisons.

FEED FUND USED UP

Auditor Notifies Sheriff to Send in Accounts Which Will be Paid Oct. 1.

Montgomery.—State Auditor C. Brooks Smith has sent out circular letters to the sheriff of each county in the state, informing him that the appropriation for feeding prisoners for the year 1912-13 has been exhausted, and that warrants for the remainder of the fiscal year cannot be drawn until October 1, 1913, at which time the next appropriation will come in.

The amount fixed by statute for the feeding of prisoners is $130,000, and each year the appropriation becomes exhausted several months ahead of time. The demands upon the feeding account have been unusually heavy this year, and the fund became exhausted earlier than it did last year.

The sheriffs are asked to send their bills for feeding the prisoners in to the chief clerk of the auditor's office in order that these bills may be checked over and kept on file until October 1, when warrants will be drawn for their payment.

"If all of you hold your feed bills back," Auditor Smith declared, "it will take quite a time to check them over, and you will be delayed in getting your money."

ALLACE ASKED TO SPEAK W

Will Explain to Florida Lawmakers the Workings of Alabama's Game Laws.

Montgomery.—A signal honor has been paid John H. Wallace, Jr., state game and fish commissioner, by the passage of a resolution by the legislature of Florida, inviting Mr. Wallace to address the Florida lawmakers along the line of legislation for the protection of game and fish.

Mr. Wallace stated that he will accept the invitation.

REWEIGH CARLOAD SHIPMENTS

Roads Summoned Before the Railroad Commission.

Montgomery.—All railroads operating in Alabama have been summoned to appear before the state railroad commission at its next regular term, May 5, and show cause why the commission should not promulgate an order requiring the reweighing of all carload shipments on intrastate business.

The order which the commission is contemplating putting into effect provides that consignees of carload shipments may request the reweighing of cars, provided the request is made according to the storage rules. "If the net weight thus ascertained shall differ from the billed weight by more than 1 per cent. of the latter, subject to a minimum of 500 pounds, the billing shall be corrected to the reweight."

The consignee requesting the reweight will be required to pay $2 for each car to be reweighed.

The citation of the railroad commission has been issued to the railroads of the state as a result of numerous appeals which have been made by the business interests of Alabama for the promulgation of such an order. General dissatisfaction has prevailed throughout the state on account of the difficulty which merchants have experienced in having cars reweighed, and on account of this dissatisfaction the railroad commission has summoned the railroads to appear and show cause why cars shall not be reweighed.

REPUBLICANS STAY IN

G. O. P. Leaders in Alabama Will Not Be Disturbed.

Montgomery.—The announcement that the democratic administration is going to continue in office the republicans who are now holding office until their terms shall have expired, insures that many of the most lucrative positions in Alabama will be held by republicans for the next two and perhaps three years.

For instance, the terms of the postmasters of the largest cities in Alabama do not expire before two or three years. Under this ruling Postmaster T. H. Aldrich, of Birmingham, will have until December, 1915.

The term of Postmaster P. D. Barker will not expire until January, 1914, and the term of Postmaster J. P. Dimmick will not expire until June, 1914.

Oliver D. Street, United States district attorney for the northern district of Alabama, will have until July, 1916, to hold his office. In the event a democrat should be appointed as his successor at the end of his term and the republicans or progressives were to win out in the national campaign of 1916, the democrat would have about six months to serve, should any democrat be found who would accept such a short term of service.

The term of United States Marshal Pope Long, of the Northern Alabama district, will expire in January, 1914. The term of B. E. Walker, United States marshal of the middle Alabama district, will expire in January, 1914 while the term of United States Attorney Warren Reese, of the middle district, will expire in April, 1914.

The terms of four important federal office holders of Alabama have already expired, but their successors have not been named. These officials are J. B. Sloan, United States attorney, of the southern Alabama district, and G. B. Deans, United States marshal of the southern district of Alabama.

The terms of the receiver of public monies, which office is now held by Judge John Steele, and the register of the land office now being held by Nathan Alexander, colored, have expired, but their successors have not yet been named. The term of Gordon Ashley, collector of the port of Mobile, will expire in September, 1913.

The Alabama delegation has appointed a special committee consisting of Senators Bankhead and Johnston, and Congressmen Clayton and Taylor to confer with the president to ascertain the attitude of the president with reference to the patronage question. However, as it is fairly well understood that no republicans are to be turned out except for cause, it is expected that there is to be a decided lull in activities of the office seekers during the next year or two at least.

TRAWICK CHIEF CLERK

Douglass Appoints Him to Succeed Lacy, Who Disappeared With Funds

Montgomery.—Dan G. Trawick was appointed chief clerk of the state convict department by Hartwell Douglass, president of the board of convict inspectors, to succeed Theodore Lacy, who disappeared March 12 with $92,000 of state's funds. Miss Alma Hertz is to succeed Trawick as assistant clerk and another will be selected to fill Miss Hertz's position as clerk.

Mr. Trawick has been connected with the convict department for seven years, having been chief clerk during the administration of J. Craig Smith and assistant clerk since James G. Oakley was appointed president of the convict board. Miss Hertz has been a clerk in the office for several years.

Reprieve for Choctaw Negro.

Montgomery.—Upon the recommendation of the solicitor and trial judge, Governor O'Neal granted a reprieve until May 18 to Steve Cheney, a Choctaw county negro who was sentenced to be hanged for the murder of a white man named Bush. The stay of sentence was granted by the governor pending an effort to secure additional information from the negro relative to the assassination. It is understood that others may be implicated in the crime with which the negro Cheney is charged.

Lacy Destroyed Books.

Montgomery. — Before taking "French leave" with $90,000 of the state's money in his possession, Theo Lacy might have destroyed two old shipping and invoice books of the Speigner's cotton mill to keep examiners from discovering his discrepancies. The books were turned over to the convict department about 18 months ago by H. H. Stewart, manager of the mill. They cannot be found, although a vigorous search has been made for them.

Suits Against Churches.

Montgomery.—Suits for amounts aggregating $11,338.89 have been entered against Montgomery churches and the Montgomery Journal by the city of Montgomery to procure money spent in the construction of sidewalks and improvements of street. The improvements were made several years ago. The churches have not paid, and the city has claimed principal and interest from the time paving bonds were issued. The building now owned by the Montgomery Journal was formerly the Central Presbyterian church.

REBELS GAINING IN MEXICAN REPUBLIC

THE REGIME OF PRESIDENT HUERTA VERGES ON COLLAPSE.

MANY FOREIGNERS LEAVING

Prediction Throughout Republic That He Will Be Deposed—Rebels Very Active.

Mexico City.—Undisguised pessimism is manifested in the capital as to the future of the Huerta government. In neither official nor unofficial circles are the statements of General Obregon, commander of the Sonora insurgents, and Venustiano Carrana, ex-governor of Coahuila, of the probable overthrow of Huerta longer derided.

Without exception, the newspapers aver that the only hope of salvation lies in the flotation of a loan. Practically all of them admit that non-recognition of the present administration makes this very doubtful.

The banks continue to reflect the government's financial difficulties, and refuse to sell exchange except at exorbitant rates, while merchants are raising their prices to balance the difference betwen Mexican and foreign currency. There is no fixed rate of exchange. The bankers are buyers as low as 230, while demanding from heavier purchasers as high as 250.

That the rebels in the north are rapidly extending their lines is indicated by the isolation of Monterey and Saltillo, the capitals, respectively of Neuvo Leon and Coahuila, by the cutting of the railroad at Linaras, between Monterey and Tampico and the main line of the National railroad between San Luis Potosi and Saltillo. Linares is reported to be occupied by the rebels.

The suspension of railway traffic has deflected the passenger business for abroad to Vera Cruz and Tampico, chiefly to the former. The Mexican railway is running trains in two sections to accommodate traffic.

Outgoing steamers are crowded. Some of the wealthy travelers content themselves with quarters on the floor of smoking rooms, while others are accommodated in the second cabin, although paying first class passage. Many foreigners are leaving the country in fear that anarchy will follow the revolution.

MANY HURT IN TRAIN WRECK

Central of Georgia Passenger Train Hits Obstruction.

Atlanta, Ga.—While running forty-five miles an hour down grade just east of Lovejoy, Ga., the Central of Georgia passenger train No. 15, from Macon to Atlanta, struck some obstruction, and the four rear cars then jumped the track.

There is a suspicion among officials of the road that the accident was the result of trainwreckers.

Capt. Andy J. Floyd, the conductor, had his back and right leg seriously sprained. B. M. Gordon of Macon, a news butcher, was badly injured, and Mrs. J. T. Matthews of Butler, a tubercular patient, who was riding in the baggage car on a stretcher, coming to Atlanta for medical aid, was seriously injured, but did not lose consciousness.

Many others were injured. While the four rear coaches jumped the track and fell over against the left embankment, practically demolishing them, neither the engine nor baggage car was dferailed. Immediately after the accident occurred, Captain Floyd, notwithstanding that his injuries were serious, insisted on walking to the station at Lovejoy, about a half mile away, and telephoning the dispatcher

Mrs. Story Heads Daughters.

Washington.—Mrs. William Cummings Story of New York, head of the conservative faction, was elected president-general of the society of the Daughters of the American Revolution defeating Mrs. John Miller Horton of Buffalo, the administration candidate, on the third ballot. The vote stood: Mrs. Story 600, Mrs. Horton 449. Seven vice presidents-general also were elected to complete the complement of new general officers.

Bryan and Clark Bury Hatchet.

Washington. — Speaker Champ Clark and Secretary William Jennings Bryan met at a private luncheon here, shook hands and issued public statements declaring they had buried the hatchet and put the personalities of the Baltimore convention with the by-gones. The luncheon was arranged by Theodore A. Bell of California, temporary chairman of the Denver convention in 1908, and chairman of the California delegation supporting Speaker Clark at Baltimore, and was given by Ira E. Bennett.

$5,000 Disappears; Paper Substituted.

Atlanta, Ga.—When a package supposed to contain $5,000 sent to the Central Bank and Trust corporation of Atlanta from the Brunswick Bank and Trust company of Brunswick, Ga., by the Southern Express company, was received in the offices of the Atlanta concern, it was found to contain nothing but blank paper. While detectives of Atlanta, Brunswick and the Southern Express company are scouring the state for some clew which might lead to the arrest of the robber, no clew has been found.

NURSE HELPS YOUNG GIRLS

She Knew From Experience Just What Was Needed. Describes One Remarkable Case.

Watonga, Okla.—Mrs. Ida Bollinger of this town, makes the following interesting statements for publication:

"I suffered for 20 years, with womanly troubles, and in this time, tried several different treatments, but got no better.

I finally got hold of a Ladies' Birthday Almanac, and read about Cardui, the woman's tonic.

I had not taken very much of it, before I was entirely well.

I do some nursing, and have given Cardui, the woman's tonic, to lots of women, with good results.

I use this medicine a great deal in treating young girls. A young girl came to my house one day last summer. She had taken cold at the wrong time, and was in a terrible condition. I went to the druggist, bought her a bottle of Cardui, and the third dose she took did the work.

She is now entirely well.

You may use my name in any way you desire, as I am anxious to do anything I can to help suffering women."

For more than 50 years, Cardui has been in widely extended use, by women of all ages, and has given perfect satisfaction, as a remedy for helping rebuild womanly strength and health.

Try Cardui yourself. It will help you. Your druggist sells it.

"It is a big fire, my son."

"And what do they call a little fire?"

"There is no special name for a little fire. Oh, they sometimes call it an incipient fire and—let's see—well, it is sometimes called an inconsiderable fire. Why?"

"Well, I see your coat-tail is on fire, and I was wondering whether it was a conflagration or an incipient fire."

In a few minutes the young man had reason to think it was a conflagration.

CALIFORNIA SOLONS ARE DETERMINED

ADMINISTRATION IS WORRIED

Determination of Legislative Leaders to Pass Bill Discriminating Against Japanese Is Disappointing.

Washington.—News of the determination of the legislative leaders in Sacramento to frame and pass an alein land owning bill, directly discriminating against the Japanese, unofficially conveyed to the White House and state department was received with grave concern and disappointment. Such a development had not been expected in view of the first favorable comments in California upon the president's suggestion that regard be had for preservation of the friendly relations between this country and the Oriental nations.

With exact knowledge of the form discrimination will take in the new bill, officials here assume that it will resemble the so-called assembly measure, which proposed to bar from land holding persons ineligible to citizenship which covers only the Chinese and Japanese.

The administration is not yet at the end of its resources and will continue its efforts to ameliorate harsh features of the projected legislation until the measure is beyond reach of amendment in that direction.

While the president has in his message to Governor Johnson transmitted through Secretary Bryan recognized the right of the people of California to legislate according to their judgment on the subject of land tenure, he is also under the obligation of guarding against encroachment by state legislation upon that part of the field of international relations reserved by the constitution to the national government. Therefore, in the event the California legislation takes the form of direct discrimination against the Japanese in violation of what the administration itself regards as their treaty rights the national government itself might enter the lists against the state of California, before the judicial tribunals of the land.

It does not follow that the United States government would take the initiative in the judicial proceedings intended to test the legality of the state's action in the ordinary course the initial step would be taken by Japanese individuals or corporations in California, whose lands are sought to be escheated. But it is fully expected that the department of justice would come forward as an intervener, throwing the weight of the United States government into the scale in defense of the treaty rights of the Japanese. If the state courts should uphold such a statute the case would be appealed to the United States circuit court and almost certainly, by one party or the other taken to the United Staes supreme court, which tribunal has never yet passed upon the Japanese claim of their right of naturalization in the United States.

LEVEE BREAK ENDANGERS LIVES

Much Land in Two Counties Inundates as Result of the Crevasse.

Vicksburg, Miss.—The first serious break in the main levees of the Mississippi river occurred when the Woodlawn levee, just north of Mayersville, Miss., went out. Within a few minutes the crevasse was 200 feet wide.

Parts of four Mississippi counties will be flooded and the property damage which will result is estimated at more than half a million dollars. Practically all of Issaquena county, two-thirds of Sharkey county and part of Warren and Washington counties will suffer heavily from the overflow. The main line of the Mississippi Valley railroad and its Greenville branch will be inundated and the following towns will be covered with water: Mayersville, Rolling Fork, Grace, Blanton, Cary, Smedes, Valley Park, Kelso, Floweree and as far north on th Kelso branch as Potosi. Immediately upon information of the break Captain W. B. Baker, U. S. A., who was stationed here, sent out the steamer Nakomis in charge of Lieutenant Blaine. This steamer will operate both in rescue and relief work and the gasoline boat Kate was chartered to go up Steele and Bayou rivers to offer relief and rescue work.

MAY ABROGATE CANAL TREATY

Chamberlain's Resolution Brings New Light on Canal Controversy.

Washington.—A demand for abrogation of two treaties with Great Britain bearing upon isthmian canal rights, presented to the senate in a resolution by Senator Chamberlain, brought a new element into the canal controversy now in progress between this country and Great Britain over the right of the United States to exempt American coastwise ships from the payment of tolls.

ODD DISPLAY OF ART

Collection of Native Handicraft From Madagascar Island.

Exhibition Shown in New York Doubly Interesting Because Art Is Passing Away With Influx of Cheap Foreign Goods.

New York.—There has recently been placed on exhibition in the Commercial museum, 34th street below Spruce, an important collection showing the native handicraft of the island of Madagascar. Not only is it a representative display of a high form of primitive art, but it is doubly interesting because under the recent French occupation of that great island the native arts are steadily passing away before the great influx of cheap foreign-made goods. Madagascar is known to Americans principally as the largest producer of raffia fiber, which is in such general use by florists and agriculturists and for basket weaving, etc. The raffia as it comes to our market is in the form of long, thin strips. These are obtained by the natives peeling off the outer skin from the leaves of the palm tree. These soft strips are then carefully dried, made up into hanks and wrapped in bales. The palm tree producing them grows wild in great abundance throughout Madagascar, especially in the moist valleys of the interior. It has a short stem and a crown of enormous leaves; the separate leaves are often as large as 45 feet long and each leaflet 2 to 5 feet in length.

In Madagascar itself raffia is used for many other purposes than in this country. The natives weave from it very beautiful cloths in long, narrow strips, which they call rabannas and use for clothing. The cloth is not cut and made up into garments, but is used in the strip, being wrapped around the body and fastened more or less in the same way as the Roman toga. Sometimes both raffia and cotton fiber are used in making this cloth. It is made up on the primitive hand looms used by the Madagascar natives in very narrow strips, and where greater widths is desired the strips are sewed together lengthwise. Some of the rabannas exhibited at the Commercial Museum are exquisitely fine, showing more than 50 threads to the inch. They are colored with vegetable dyes, principally in dull shades of green, red and brown, which harmonize beautifully with the skins of the natives, which are of a yellowish tint. The collection in the Commercial Museum shows not only these cloths, but the looms on which they are made.

Another class of fabric of even greater beauty than the rabannas are the lambas, made of silk, both in the natural tint and in various colors, and showing designs of striking historical interest. These silk garments are naturally more expensive than the rabannas, are worn by well-to-do persons and are especially treasured for burial garments. Those displayed in the Commercial Museum average rather more than seven feet in length and from five feet to six feet in width.

TO HANDLE LARGE CROWDS

Railroad Entering Chattanooga Complete Arrangements for Handling Reunion Visitors.

Chattanooga, Tenn.—Officials of the Southern railway Company and the Queen and Crescent Route expect to handle the great crowds that will visit Chattanooga for the reunion of the United Confederate Veterans, May 27-29, with the same dispatch that the normal travel through the Chattanooga Terminal station is handled as the result of arrangements made at a conference of transportation, mechanical and passenger representatives of these lines at which it was decided to form for this ocassion a special organization similar to that which accomplished such splendid results for the Southern railway at Macon during the reunion of 1912.

Experienced ticket sellers and baggage checkers will be brought from other points special temperory facilities, and ample police protection will be provided, and a large number of expert passenger men will be on hand to assist the veterans and their friends in making arrangements for side and return trips, while special operating and mechanical forces will be detailed to assure the prompt movement of trains.

Especial attention has been given to the arrangements for furnishing information as to the movement of trains. For occasion the Southern and the Queen and Cresent will draw on their large organization covering a great part of the United States, and will bring to the service of reunion visitors the full benefit of the experience gained in handling the crowds on otther similar occasions.

REALLY A SOUND INVESTMENT

Sanatorium Where Tuberculosis May Be Cured Is Worth Much to Any State or City.

Dr. H. L. Barnes, superintendent of the Rhode Island State Sanatorium, has recently demonstrated by some interesting studies of patients discharged as "apparently cured" from that institution that a sanatorium is a sound investment for any state or city. The gross earnings of 170 ex-patients obtained in 1911 amounted to $102,752, and those of 211 cases in 1912 to $112,021. By applying the same average earning to all ex-patients of the sanatorium living in 1911 and 1912, Dr. Barnes concludes that their income in these two years was $551,000. This sum is more than three times the cost of maintenance of the sanatorium including interest at 4 per cent. on the original investment and depreciation charges. Dr. Barnes concludes, however; "While institutions for the cure of tuberculosis are good investments, there is good reason for thinking that institutions for the isolation of far advanced cases would be still better investments."

ITCHING, BURNING ECZEMA

317 S. Wolfe St., Baltimore, Md.—"My trouble was caused by a severe sprained ankle; the bruised blood not having been drawn off caused a skin affection which the doctors pronounced eczema. It first started with an itching and burning, with very dry skin. Constant scratching, especially during the night finally broke the skin, and during the day the watery fluid that came from it would dry and peel off like fish scales. My stocking would stick to my ankle as if it were glued. I also had it on my fingers.

"I was treated without getting any benefit. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment as directed and then applied the Cuticura Ointment and bound the ankle with a soft bandage, after bathing it with Cuticura Soap. They cured me in about two months." (Signed) T. W. Henderson, Dec. 2, '11.

Alarmed for His Mother.

Little Harry, hanging about the kitchen, saw a stuffed fowl sewed up before roasting. He was much impressed by the sight. A few nights later his mother, hastily dressing to go out, found that a new frock had been sent home without the proper allowance of hooks and eyes. Summoning aid, her sister basted the frock together up the back.

"Grandma," said Harry, seeking the source of perennial sympathy and comprehension, "come and see what auntie's doing to mamma. I think she's going to roast her, for she's sewing her all up."

Scissors for Memorial Wreaths.

The police of Berlin applied the censorship of the scissors to a recent demonstration at the cemetery where are buried the socialists and anarchists who fell in the revolution in Berlin March 18, 1848. Hundreds of visitors brought wreaths, the socialists red and the anarchists black, to lay on the graves. The police, with scissors, stood at the entrance to the cemetery. Every wreath was submitted to them, and the sentiments on the ribbons had to undergo the censorship of the scissors.

HAS A PETRIFIED WATERFALL

One of the Natural Wonders of the World That Is Located In Country of Algeria.

With all the beauty of a cataract of living water, there is in Algeria a remarkable petrified waterfall which recently has been engaging the attention of scientists. This is the Hammam-Meskhutin, which means "The bath of the damned," and is located 62 miles from Constantine. This solidified cascade is the production of calcareous deposits from sulphurous and ferruginous mineral springs, issuing from the depths of the earth at a temperature of 95 degrees centigrade.

"The bath of the damned," even from a near viewpoint, looks for all the world like a great wall of water dashing into a swirling pool at its foot, yet its glowing, graceful curves and the apparently swirling eddies at its base are as fixed and immovable as if carved from the face of a granite cliff.

Many centuries have, of course, gone to the making of the deposits, and the springs were well known to the ancient Romans. The name Hammam-Meskhutin was given to the stone cataract in an allusion to a legend that the waterfall was petrified by Allah, punishing the impiety of unbelievers by turning all the members of the tribe into stone. At night, so the story runs, its stone dwellers of the remote ages are freed from their strange fetters, come to life and resume their normal shapes.

Kaiser's Long Pedigree.

Among the curiosities of the New Palace, Potsdam, which has been the scene of a fire, is a genealogical tree showing the name of King David engrossed at the root of it, with that of the kaiser at the top; the descent being traced through his mother's family.

According to this genealogy the reigning house of Great Britain is descended from David through the eldest daughter of Zedekiah, who fled to Ireland in charge of the Prophet Jeremiah, and eventually married Heremon, king of Ulster. Apparently the kaiser is fond of gazing upon this proof of his ancient lineage, for it occupies a conspicuous position in his study.

How Long Will the Women Stand 'Em?

"I am a mean man," confessed the Erratic Thinker. "My father bore the same unenviable reputation, and I had an uncle who served a term in the penitentiary and was twice mentioned for the legislature. So no one need be surprised when I remark that perusal of the dry goods advertisements causes me to wonder how soon corsets will become so long that their wearers will be obliged to roll them up around the ankles to keep from treading on them?"—Kansas City Star.

Valued Patron.

"Confound it," said the uptown druggist, "that woman took all the change I had in the drawer."

"Why didn't you tell her you couldn't break her $10 bill?"

"No, no; she's one of our most regular patrons. Why, I've known that woman to buy as high as eleven one-cent postage stamps in a week."

WHY SUPERIOR?

BOND'S LIVER PILLS are far superior to the ordinary purgative medicine on the market.
Because the dose is small. ONE SMALL PILL at bedtime.
Because they NEVER GRIPE or act violently in appropriate doses. You never feel them!
Because they act directly on the liver, stimulating it to perform its functions in a natural and GENTLE way.
Because they tone up the muscular coat of the bowels and induce the natural "peristaltic" motion without so much direct "purgative force."
Because they regulate the ENTIRE SYSTEM.
If your druggist cannot supply you send to us—Bond's Pharmacy Co., Little Rock, Ark. Adv.

Nothing to Fear.

"George, dear," said the girl, "did you ever drink anything?"

"Yes, occasionally," George reluctantly admitted.

"But, dear," she went on anxiously "what do you suppose papa would say if he should discover that the future husband of his only daughter drank?"

"He discovered it this morning."

"Oh, George, and what did he say?"

"He said: 'Well, George, my boy, I don't care if I do.'"

The only people who have no regret for anything they ever said are those have who never said anything of importance.

Women of Middle Age

From 40 to 50 Woman's Critical Period.

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, severe headaches, melancholia, dread of impending evil, palpitation of the heart, irregularity, constipation and dizziness are promptly treated by intelligent women who are approaching the period of life.

This is the most critical period of woman's life and she who neglects the care of her health at this time invites incurable disease and pain. Why not be guided by the experience of others and take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? It is an indisputable fact that this grand old remedy has helped thousands of women to pass through this trying period with comfort and safety. Thousands of genuine and honest testimonials support this fact.

From Mrs. HENRY HEAVILIN, Cadiz, Ohio.

Fort Worth, Texas.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and derived great benefit from its use. It carried me safely through the Change of Life when I was in bad health. I had that all gone feeling most of the time, and headache constantly, I was very nervous and the hot flashes were very bad. I had tried other remedies and doctors, but did not improve until I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It has now been sometime since I took the Compound and I have had no return of my old complaints. I always praise your remedies to weak women."—Mrs. HENRY HEAVILIN, R. F. D. No. 5, Cadiz, Ohio.

From Mrs. EDWARD B. HILBERT, Fleetwood, Pa.

Fleetwood, Pa.—"During the Change of Life I was hardly able to be around at all. I always had a headache and I was so dizzy and nervous that I had no rest at night. The flashes of heat were so bad sometimes that I did not know what to do.

"One day a friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it made me a strong, well woman. I am very thankful that I followed my friend's advice, and I shall recommend it as long as I live. Before I took the Compound I was always sickly and now I have not had medicine from a doctor for years. You may publish my letter."—Mrs. EDWARD B. HILBERT, Fleetwood, Pa.

From Mrs. F. P. MULLENDORE, Munford, Ala.

Munford, Ala.—"I was so weak and nervous while passing through the Change of Life that I could hardly live. My husband had to nail rubber on all the gates for I could not stand to have a gate slam.

"I also had backache and a fullness in my stomach. I noticed that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was advertised for such cases and I sent and got a bottle. It did me so much good that I kept on taking it and found it to be all you claim. I recommend it to all women afflicted as I was."—Mrs. F. P. MULLENDORE, Munford, Ala.

Would it not be well to have that old "water-wagon" trimmed up a little so that six or eight mules could pull it and then get it in readiness to sprinkle the streets?

Tomorrow will be observed by the Daughters of the Confederacy in Clanton as Memorial day; let all who can lend assistance in making the day a memorable one.

We had hoped this week to print the speech of Congressman Blackmon, defining his position on the Webb bill, but it was forced out, much to our regret. However, Congressman Blackmon will suffer none because of his stand on this particular bill. Time will prove the wisdom of his position.

A letter from Congressman Hobson announces that he has forwarded to the editor a sack of cotton seed for gratuitious distribution, has been received with much pleasure. Mr. Hobson seems to remember the farmers at all times and trusts his friends to assist him in assisting them. The seed received were distributed with much pleasure among those who desired them.

If the movement inaugurated at the court house Tuesday night receives the proper endorsement of the people of Clanton and the residents along the road proposed to be established it will, in a large measure, settle for the general good, the road agitation in this county.

The act of Gov. Johnson of California in persisting in his effort to pass the alien land law for his state may yet bring about unpleasant relations between this government and Japan; however, Gov. Johnson's effort is confined to petit politics in trying to bring about unpleasant relations between Woodrow Wilson and the people of this government, in which effort he will make a miserable failure when the people understand the animus that actuates the effort.

WALTER KNIGHT IN THE TOILS

RETURNED BY HIS BONDSMEN.

Some two years or more ago Walter Knight, together with a brother and his father, engaged in a difficulty with Mr. Gray, a brother-in-law, in which the latter was painfully and seriously cut. Walter succeeded in making good his escape. He went to Marshall county, where he was located among relatives, who made bond for his appearance at the following term of the Circuit Court; but when Court convened Walter had gone to parts unknown and Judge Pearson took steps to know why the bondsmen failed to have him in Court at the appointed time. Last Saturday the ex-Sheriff of Marshall county brought the aforesaid Walter to Clanton and consigned him to Chilton officials. He was caught at or near Lumberton, Miss., whither he had gone presumably to escape arrest. His father was recently paroled by the Governor from the State prison for his part in the affray.

For Dyspepsia

If you suffer Stomach Trouble, and you try our remedy, it won't cost you a cent if it fails.

To prove to you that indigestion and dyspepsia can be thoroughly relieved and that Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets will do it, we will furnish the medicine absolutely free if it fails to give you satisfaction.

The remarkable success of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets is due to the high degree of scientific skill used in devising their formula as well as to the care exercised in their manufacture, whereby the well-known properties of Bismuth Subnitrate and Pepsin have been properly combined with Carminatives and other agents.

Bismuth-Subnitrate and Pepsin are constantly employed and recognized by the entire medical profession as invaluable in the treatment of indigestion and dyspepsia. Their proper combination makes a remedy invaluable for stomach relief.

We are so certain that there is nothing so good for stomach ills as Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets that we urge you to try them at our risk. Three sizes, 25 cents, 50 cents, and $1.00.

ENTHUSIASTIC GOOD ROADS MEETING

WORK ACTUALLY BEGUN.

Tuesday night about forty enthusiastic good roads advocates met at the Court house to perfect the organization heretofore begun, and to undertake steps for the accomplishment of actualities.

On motion of Judge Reynolds Mr. W. W. Fox was made chairman and Mr. B. M. Roberts Secretary.

Quite a number of speeches were made, voicing the sentiments of the individuals and of the community generally. Particularly were the remarks of Judge Reynolds and Judge Deason appropriate to the occasion.

Each stated that the work to be undertaken should be undertaken by Clanton as the town was to be largely the recipient of good; those along the proposed route were, of course, expected to help generously, and have signified their intentions to do so.

It is proposed to have the route surveyed at once—a fifty foot road to be secured over the most practical route from Clanton to Lock Twelve, after which, when the stumps and other obstructions are removed by the citizens, the county will undertake to grade the road and put it in first class shape. A surveyor has already been engaged to do the necessary work and a committee appointed to secure all necessary rights of way and to do such other and further things as are necessary to the speedy completion of the road.

Messrs W. W. Fox, C. B. Cox and W. H. Sartor were appointed as finance committee to secure the necessary funds which, we understand, have been pledged by the citizens of Clanton, or enough to insure the completion of the work. When this road is surveyed, graded and graveled it will be an object lesson to the people of the county and, will go a long way toward converting the doubtful Thomases as to the ability of this county to secure good roads. This particular road is, perhaps, the most traveled of any road in the county just now, and while there should be no complaint if the county decided to spend a few dollars on securing a first class thoroughfare, still there is certainly no reasonable grounds for complaint since almost the entire work is to be done by individual subscriptions.

The meeting Tuesday night was a most enthusiastic one and will result in much good to Clanton and the county generally and if, with united effort and spirit, we foster and encourage the movement so auspiciously begun, it will be the forerunner of more good roads in the county within a reasonably short time.

The meeting Tuesday night, in addition to the committees already mentioned. elected Messrs W. W. Fox as permanent Chairman, B. M. Roberts, permanent Secretary and W. H. Sartor, permanent Treasurer.

Provision was made, by motion, for the collection and disbursing of the funds to be secured.

The meeting adjourned, subject to the order of the chairman.

Mr. Scott E. Chesnutt of Birmingham spent last Thursday night in Clanton.

Workmen are busily engaged in concreting the floor in the private office of the Probate Judge, preparatory to placing the fire-proof steel furniture recently ordered for the protection of the county records.

What Three Bushels More to the Acre Means

EIGHT years ago the farmers in a central state averaged crops that ran three bushels less to the acre than they now get. Suppose each acre of farm land in the country were so tended that it produced an increase equal to that of this state. How much more money would you have with which to buy the luxuries of life that you earn and deserve? Your share in this prosperity depends entirely upon yourself. The first step is to fertilize your land properly with manure spread by an

I H C Manure Spreader

The spreader that does its work as it should must have many excellent mechanical features. The apron should move without jerking; the beater should meet the load at exactly the right point to pulverize the manure without too greatly increasing the draft of the machine; the speed changes of the apron should be positive. All these features are provided for in the construction of I H C spreaders.

I H C spreaders are made in low styles which are not too low for use in deep mud or snow, narrow and wide, with both reverse and endless aprons, for use under all conditions. The rear axle is located well under the box, instead of at the rear. Placed in that position (under the box) it carries over 70 per cent of the load and insures ample tractive power.

OPERATING A RAILROAD

This is a day of specializing in practically every line of human endeavor. With aggressive competition on all sides there is little chance for the Jack-of-all-trades. The wise man decides on his life work and shapes his training and education to develop the highest efficiency of which he is capable.

This is a principle recognized in nature. The great cotton belt of the fertile South permits of maximum yield of the fleecy staple at minimum cost of production. Millions of dollars may be spent on soil unsuited to the cultivation of cotton, and the yield would be insignificant.

Coal and iron deposits are found in soil little adapted to agricultural production. Fish abound in the waters, while fowls of the air have wings with which to fly.

You go to a railroad for transportation, just as you go to a doctor when you are ill or to a lawyer when you are in a legal tangle. The L. & N. has made a specialty of operating a railroad and is capable of supplying THE BEST in its specialized line.

We try to understand the needs of the traveler and shipper. We endeavor at all times to supply the best possible service to meet those needs. We purchase the best equipment and develop our organization to its highest efficiency. While the L. & N. benefits in the same proportion that our efforts are successful, the public also gets the benefit of a highly specialized, efficient service, unexcelled by any railroad system on earth.

WHOSE LETTER?

TO WHOM ADDRESSED?

Some days since Postmaster Dudley nd in the box arranged for the re- tion of mail, a letter without an ad- ss. It was dropped into this recep e on April 2, and as there was no y to ascertain by whom it was writ- or for whom it was intended, Mr. dley properly forwarded it the "Dead tter Department" at Washington Upon opening the letter, by proper icials there, it was ascertained t the letter was dated March 24, 3, and was superscribed "Dollie ar;" it was signed "Mama." There s nothing to indicate where "Mama" ed or in what city or village "Dollie ar" resided. The government offi- ls notified Mr. Dudley to ascertain, possible, the name of the writer and urn the letter to her. There is but e way to determine the person who ote the letter. It contained a certain n of our currency (the amount is not en here for obvious reasons) and s addressed as indicated above. If e person who wrote the letter wishes secure it and will prove to the post- ster that she is the rightful owner or iter of the letter, by describing the velope, the contents of the letter and ming the amount of currency enclos- , there will be no difficulty in having with full contents returned.

"Dollie Dear" is no doubt waiting tiently for that long looked for letter d "Mama" is wondering why "Dollie ar" does not write home to thank lama" for her precious letter and its ntents.

Describe the letter, tell who "Dollie ar" is, and name the amount con- ned in the letter and it is yours; then rite Dolly Dear and tell her why Mama s seemingly been forgetful of her eet child.

Tell this to the postmaster!

MUCH ABUSED NEGRO

LANGUISHING IN JAIL WITH DANGEROUS WOUNDS

Last Saturday the Sheriff's force was summoned to the River camp, where it was reported that a murder had taken place among the negro employees.

Deputy Smitherman went out immediately and was informed that a certain negro languishing in one of the negro camp houses was the guilty party. Deputy Smitherman says the negroes were highly wrought up and were acting so badly that he was glad to get away with his man alive. After he had reached the jail it was discovered that his prisoner was himself badly wounded and that in reality he was guilty of no crime but that the crime was charged to him in order to give those actually guilty of murder a chance to escape.

It was also ascertained that the negro had been badly beaten and severely cut in several places. He is now in jail and there is practically no hope for his recovery; however. the jail authorities are doing everything in their power to relieve the suffering of the poor fellow.

MONTGOMERY ENJOYS CLANTON'S HOSPITALITY

Montgomery, Ala., April 21

Hon. Louis H. Reynolds,
Clanton, Ala.

Dear Judge Reynolds: At a meeting of the merchants and manufacturers who visited Clanton last Thursday, resolutions were passed directing me to express through you to the people of Clanton the deep appreciation of this party for the many courtesies shown us. We are especially grateful for the kind treatment shown the party by the gracious women of Clanton and I trust you will express this appreciation to them.

In my humble judgment a great deal of good was accomplished by the fraternal feeling brought out at the meeting and I am sure that both communities will profit.

With all good wishes and again assuring you of my personal appreciation of the many kindnesses shown us, I am,

Cordially yours,
Bruce Kennedy,
General Secretary.

MULBERRY ITEMS

The beautiful weather is greatly enjoyed by the farmers of this community as it has been a great favor to them. The farms which a few days ago sent out their fragrant odors from the blossoms growing therein are now all practically turned into seed beds. Some of the farmers are beginning to plant cotton. All are in a rush to get their farming up.

Bro. Connell filled his regular appointment at this place Saturday, the 19th, and Sunday following, delivering an excellent sermon both days. The church received for membership Bro. M. B. Manning and family of Coosa county and Bro. and Sister R. J.R. Moore, of Ebenezer church, who were all extended a hearty welcome.

The Sunday school at this place is still increasing and becoming more and more interesting. The health is fairly good and all are at peace one with the other.

Master William Speer has returned home from school and is meeting with many smiles.

Mr. W. G. Deshazo is at his home now.

Mr. John Deshazo has purchased a mule and will have to raise more of Conway's corn and a good deal more of Hastings' cotton to keep him busy.

Mr. J. E. Fox has as his guests this week a number of relatives from north Alabama.

Mr. Howard Oden and wife visited the parents of the latter Sunday.

Miss Gladys Parnell and Mrs. Freeman, of Thorsby, visited Mrs. Maud Veazy.

Our community will now try to improve their roads as the county has furnished us a little machine to work them with.

ATTORNEY J. O. MIDDLETON TESTIFIES FOR DR. J. V. HIGGINS

When last Friday at 11:20 a.m. Mr. Middleton called in Dr. Higgins' office and stated as follows: "Well, I believe in giving the devil his dues. Those glasses you fitted for me fit me better than any I ever had, and I have been wearing glasses for the last 15 years. They feel better to my eyes every day I wear them."

I only ask Mr. Middleton to please accept my sincere thanks for having had respectable manhood enough to step to the front and speak for my work before the good citizens of Clanton and Chilton county. "There is a reason." Why? Because Dr. Higgins has made a special study of the human eye.

CHRONIC CONSTIPATION YIELDS READILY TO "BEARLAX"

Bearlax, unlike calomel and other purgatives or laxatives, is not a mere TEMPORARY stimulant to liver and bowels. Bearlax produces immediate action of the liver and other internal organs, thus affording quick relief to the constipated or bilious, and the after effects of the splendid vegetable remedies contained in Bearlax act as a tonic to the weakened, or overworked liver, bowels and stomach, and restore to them the health and activity that nature intended them to have. Take the full dose at first, and then you can continually DECREASE the dose as the tonic properties of the remedy gradually strengthen and upbuild liver and bowel activity.

Mr. Ben T. Brooks, of Columbus, Ga., says: "I have received more benefits from 'BEARLAX' than any other medicine of its kind. It is far superior to any medicine of its kind I have ever used. It is pleasant to take and no bad effects in ANY WAY from same."

Buy a bottle of BEARLAX to-day, and if it does not give YOU the results you EXPECTED, your money will be returned. Price, 50 cents, everywhere.

NATIONAL GOOD ROADS FEDERATION MEET

REPRESENTATIVE BODY OF MEN HOLD CONVENTION IN BIRMINGHAM

MANY STATES REPRESENTED

Practically Every Good Roads Organization in the Country Was Represented.

Birmingham.—The National Good Roads Federation, as its name denotes, a national organization, convened in Birmigham for a session of two days.

Perhaps never in the history of the Magic City has it entertained a more representative body of men than those gathered together here in attendance upon the National Good Roads Convention. Men in various walks of life attended. Delegates from practically every state in the Union were present.

The federation met in the Jefferson theater on the morning of April 24, at 10 o'clock. The registration of delegates, organizing of convention, the addresses of welcome and the appointment of committees and the address of Senator John H. Bankhead, occupied the morning session.

The afternoon session convened at 1:30. Reports from various roads associations and state delegations were made at this session.

One of the objects of the committee in charge of the convention was to obtain the co-operation of as many of the national good roads organizations as possible, in this it did not fail, as practically every organization of this kind in the country was represented by its president or some other high official, as a list of representatives from the following organizations will show:

Charles Henry Davis, of Cambridge, Mass., president National Highways association; John A. Stewart, of New York City, president International League for Highway Improvement; Samuel H. Lea, of Pierre, S. D., president Meridian Road Gulf Highway association; S M. Johnston, of Roswell, N. M., general organizer Southern Highway association; Howard P. Hadley, of Prattsburg, N. Y., president Quebec-Miami International Highway association; A. G. Batcheldder, of New York, chairman executive committee of American Automobile association good roads board; J. M. Lowe, president National Old Trains Ocean-to-Ocean Highway association; Leonard Tufts, president Capitol-to-Capitol Highway association, Pinehurst, N. C.; Southern Appalachian Good Roads association, by representative or president, J. Hyde Pratt.

Following is in part a list of speakers scheduled to talk before the good roads federation. The speeches were in the most part brief. This was done in order that the delegates could have as much time as possible for discussion:

E. J. Watson, commissioner of agriculture of South Carolina; H. E. Blakeslee, commissioner of agriculture of Mississippi; E. O. Bruner, commissioner of agriculture of Louisiana; Congressman C. B. Slemp, of Virginia; Senator John H. Bankhead, of Alabama; E. R. Kone, commissioner of agriculture of Texas; T. T. Peck, commissioner of agriculture of Tennessee; Joe M. Long, editor Road Maker, Des Moines, Ia.; Thomas L. Cannon, of St. Louis, Mo.; Benjamin F. Hennessy, chairman of board of agriculture of Oklahoma; Congressman R. P. Hobson, of Alabama; T. T. Fauntleroy, of St. Louis; John H. Page, commissioner of manufactures, mines and agriculture of Arkansas; James R. Marker, state highway engineer of Ohio; State Senator H. B. Terrell, of Texas.

The following is the official program as previously announced:

WOMEN STONED BY BRITISH MOBS

SUFFRAGETTES HANDLED IN LONDON, BRIGHTON AND OTHER PLACES.

POLICE CHARGE ON CROWDS

The British Public Seems Tired of the Militancy and Only the Police Save Women From Mob

London, England.—The suffragettes had plenty of evidence that the public has tired of militancy and only the protection afforded by large bodies of police saved the women from the hands of angry mobs. At Brighton the suffragettes were chased off the esplanade and took refuge in a neighboring house. This was surrounded by howling thousands who bombarded the place with stones and smashed every window. In defiance of the ban on meetings in Hyde Park, the Womens' Social and Political Union attempted to carry on its propaganda there.

London had anticipated that such attempts would be made and 20,000 persons assembled at the customary meeting place.

No sooner had a suffragette mounted the box and unfurled the militants' flag than the police interfered. There were a few cries of "Free speech!" "Are we in Russia?" But these were drowned by hostile yells. Turf and stones were thrown and then strong rushes were made toward the women, but a large force of mounted and foot police surrounded them and keut the mob in check.

No sooner had the police escorted one group of women to a place of safety than others appeared from another quarter. It took the police three hours finally to restore order.

Similar scenes were witnessed at Wimbledon and Hampstead Heath.

An infernel machine was discovered by a policeman in the doorway of the Yorkshire Herald office at York. The wrapping inscribed "Votes for Women" indicated its origin.

J. PIERPONT MORGAN'S WILL

New York.—"I commit my soul into the hands of my Savior, in full confidence that having redeemed it and washed it in His most precious blood He will present it faultless before the throne of my heavenly Father; and I entrust my children to maintain and defend, at all hazard and at any cost of personal sacrifice, the atonement from sin through the blood of Jesus Christ, once offered and through this alone."

This is the extraordinary and striking utterance which begins the last will and testament of John Pierpont Morgan, who died at Rome on March 31 last, whose body, heaped over with flowers from the crowned heads of Europe, was, a fortnight later, brought back to his own land and was borne to its last resting place at Hartford.

As to the amount of the estate, which is one of the first questions the public naurally is asking, there is nothing in hte will to give any accurate idea, and the executors declare that no announcement will be made on this point until the apraisal has been made for determining the state inheritance tax.

The amount of bequests and trusts, named by specific sums, is under $20,000,000, but the entire residue of the estate is left to J. P. Morgan, Jr., who is designated by his father to become the chief heir not only to his fortune, but to his many charitable and artistic activities.

Wilson Allays Ire of Japan.

Tokio.—The announcement that President Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan are making efforts to bring about a compromise in the proposed California legislation with reject to the alien land ownership bill and that Governor Hiram Johnson is oposing the bill, has softened Japanese ire and public opinion has now become more optimistic. The alleged unwillingness of the American missionaries to assist in resisting the bill is the subject of harsh criticism in the Japanese papers.

Alleged Swindlers Are Jailed.

New York.—After pursuing them for five months through several states in this country and a part of Canada, central office detectives arrived here from Charleston, S. C., with Frank R. Tarbaux and Albert A. Carter, who are accused of having swindled G. M. Jones of Pittsburg out of $20,000 and E. J. Pendleton of Washington out of $55,000. After the arrest of the men in Charleston, they were ordered released on a writ of habeas corpus, but Blease ignored the court order and honored extradition papers.

Three Men Held for Murder.

Augusta, Ga.—Chief of Police Elliott sprang a sensation here by committing to jail W. E., alias "Bud" Kennedy, Ed Coursey and W. E. Trammler, charging them with being principals in the famous "street car murder mystery." In January, after working on the case several months, the Burns detective agency had a man by the name of W. E. Kennedy, not the same man arrested by the chief; J. Gary Johnson and Lester R. Young arrested on the charge of murder, as perpetrators of the murder.

VIEWS OF LEGISLATORS ON EXTRA SESSION

FORTY-ONE FAVOR EXTRA SESSION OF LEGISLATURE; NINETEEN OPPOSE IT

FOUR ARE NON-COMMITTAL

State Solons Give Their Views Why Legislature Should Convene.

Birmingham.—Of 64 members of the state legislature who have expressed themselves, 41 favor an extra session, 19 oppose an extra session, and four are noncommittal. Jefferson county representatives are not included in the calculation.

This information in Age-Herald is gathered from the files of John John W. Altman, chairman of the Birmingham citizens' committee appointed for the purpose of securing an extra session in that the new amendment eliminating the fee system in Jefferson county might be put into operation. The chairman, some time ago, mailed letters to all members of the legislature living out of the bounds of Jefferson, requesting them to aid this county in making a quick riddance of the fee system. He has so far received 64 replies.

The petition bearing the forty-odd signatures will be presented to the governor in the immediate future. It is the hope of the committee that he will issue a call for an extra session.

The four gentlemen who are noncommittal in reference to the extra session openly confess their antipathy to the fee system.

Senator Godbold writes that he would be in favor of an extra session but for fear lest other legislation would be attempted. This fear is shared by Mr. Rylance, of Tallapoosa.

Mr. Johnston, of Clarke, states that inasmuch as he has always been one of the minority in the present legislature, he does not feel disposed to ask the governor to call the extra session. Mr. Darden, Blount's representative, writes that he is heartily opposed to the fee system, but that he could not consistently urge the governor to call the lawmakers together.

The majority of those who favor an extra session simply authorized the committee to use their names. Some, however, explained themselves at more or less length. Those who oppose the extra session gave almost invariably reasons for their positions.

Senator Curry, of Chilton, prefers to leave the necessity of an extra session to the governor. Senator Crumpton, of Conecuh, declares that the anti-fee amendment is not of sufficient importance to warrant the governor in calling an extra session. Senator Merrill, of Cleburne, considers the plea for an extra session unwise. He takes occasion, however, to register himself in favor of taking the convicts out of the mines. Senator Justice of Elmore considers a demand for an extra session inexpedient. Senator Atkins of Dallas holds that the governor should be given time to clear up the embarrassing affairs of the state.

Senator Stevens of Mobile opposes the extra session because of his opinion that it would bring about a renewal of the fight in regard to local option. He declares the recent disclosures in the convict department to be a reason why there should not be an extra session, rather than a reason why one should be called. He concludes his letter: "I am so thoroughly convinced that an extra session would be hurtful that I think I would resign were one to be called."

The following are among other reasons advanced against the expediency of calling the legislature together:

Dr. Huddleston of Elmore relies on the intelligence and patriotism of the governor of Alabama; Dr. Quinn of DeKalb also relies on the judgment of the governor; Mr. Bell of Autauga thinks that the call should come directly and voluntarily from the governor; Mr. Twombly of Lowndes "because all they would do would be to create new offices and raise salaries;" Mr. Richeson of Franklin would favor an extra session if he had "assurances that he could get a few local bills through for his county," but he would not force the governor to issue a call; Mr. Whatley of Houston "because the session would be an incubator for state politics;" Mr. Hood of Etowah fears disturbances to business; Mr. Lavender of Bibb thinks the extra session is not needed and would not be desired; Mr. Stollenwerck of Montgomery is unable to see the advisability of the extra session; Mr. Waddell of Russell is very much opposed, and states that the governor knows his views in regard to the extra session; Mr. Jenkins of Bullock opposed because it would force the farmers to leave their fields at the time when their attention is most required.

Mr. Paige of Conecuh, in opposing the extra session, writes: "It is too late to lock the stable after the horse has gone."

That it is the imperative duty of Governor O'Neal, especially in the light of recent disclosures as an arm of the state government, to call an extra session of the legislature, is the opinion of Senator Sherrod of Lawrence, Mr. Bell of Pickens, Mr. Lawson of Talladega and Mr. Avery of Randolph. These gentlemen express themselves very candidly.

Senator Moody of Tuscaloosa and Mr. Mathews of Clarke trust that the extra session if called will be called for a time in which the farmers can leave their crops to the least disadvantage.

Other needs for an extra session are expressed as follows:

Mr. Helms of Crenshaw would put all county officials throughout the state on a salary basis; Mr. Johnston of Elmore would abolish the jail inspector, discharge unnecessary and high salaried clerks, and cut down the annual county high school appropriation from $3,000 to $2,000; Mr. Jones of Monroe would make the new amendment apply to every county of the state; Mr. Cranford would return to the custom of biennial sessions of the legislature.

WOULD INVESTIGATE THE STATE CONVICT DEPARTMENT

Mr. Fuquay of Tallapoosa favors giving the administration a chance to make a thorough investigation of the convict department, from which department he states, have emanated the "most foul odors to every honest citizen." He refers to the recent disclosures as proof of "wanton rascality," to which "the graft in the New York police force scarcely compares," etc.

Senator Plowman of Talladega is of the opinion that while the cost of an extra session would probably amount to $25,000, the state from an extra session would reap a benefit far more valuable than that sum of money.

Mr. Letson of Marion makes the only sensational statement. He expresses himself as favoring the extra session, but as having no hope that one will be called on account of "certain influences" which he declares to be opposed to the extra session.

CLANTON PRESS

PUBLISHED IN THE INTEREST OF CHILTON COUNTY AND HER PEOPLE

VOL 1. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY MAY 1, 1913 NO. 4

EXCELLENT STEREOPTICAN VIEWS

HOOK-WORM LECTURE FINELY ILLUSTRATED. DR. GROTE MAKING HEADWAY.

Dr. Carl A. Grote, who is connected with the Rockefeller Hookworm investigation and is assigned to duty in Alabama, has been laboring in Chilton county for the past two or three weeks in the interests of the people of the county in trying to eradicate the deadly hook-worm from our midst.

So little is known of the evils of the disease brought on by this little parasite that many think those only who show a pallid-facial expression or swollen limbs are infected. The experience of Dr. Grote, and many other experts, goes to show that more than fifty per cent of the younger generation are infected, regardless of their social or financial standing. Dr. Grote, on last Friday night at the court house, delivered a most interesting lecture on the subject, profusely illustrated with stereoptican views taken from actual life. Some of these views were appalling, others, while more or less repulsive, were actual scenes and should appeal to all who saw them to become active workers for better sanitation.

Chilton county is co-operating heartily with Dr. Grote and the medical society of the county, to end the dreadful ravages of hookworm in this county and their enterprise and magninimity of spirit should be commended by all. There is no reason why any one within the county should be infected after Dr. Grote shall have completed his stay in this county. Some look upon it as a disgrace to be infected with hook-worm, while others feel that their rank or station in life makes them immune; this is not by any manner or means the facts. Any one, however lowly or high born, is subject to the disease and should not hesitate to be examined, not only with a view to eradicating the disease from their own system but in order to save others from infection.

Four free dispensaries will be established in the county so that those who are infected may receive free treatment, medicine included; however, those who desire to be examined and treated by their family physician are not prohibited from doing so.

The lecture Friday night was not as largely attended as it should have been, but perhaps the inclement weather had much to do with the attendance.

On Saturday Dr. Grote was kept rather busy in his office (the second floor of the Smith building opposite the court house) examining those who desired to know if in reality they were infected; more than forty residents of Clanton (among them some of our foremost citizens) visited his offices and were examined.

We were reliably informed by the doctors that a large percentage of those examined (greatly more than half) showed positive signs of hook-worms.

While in his office the Press man was shown quite a number of specimens sent in from other places by patients whom he was treating; it was an interesting study but at the same time a sad reflection that so many of our people have for so long a time been suffering from a disease about which they seemingly knew nothing. If you have not already been examined do not let false pride keep you back, but attend to this important matter at once.

Free dispensaries and clynics will be opened at the following places and on the following dates:

Maplesville, Tuesdays, April 29, May 6, 13, 20.

Jemison, Thursdays, May 1, 8, 15, 22.

Verbena, Fridays, May 2, 9, 16, 23.

Clanton, Saturdays, May 3, 10, 17, 24.

SATURDAY A FIELD DAY

CAREFUL CANVASS BRINGS MANY VOTES; GROWS IN INTEREST WITH EACH SETTING SUN.

Last Saturday was a genuine field day with the vote getters in the Press piano contest; as the days go by the interest and activity of the young ladies grows apace. each one was on the qui-vive; each was vieing in friendly rivalry with the other to deposit the largest number of votes, and to announce just which one secured the largest number would prove a difficult task unless the ballot box was opened, which is strictly against the rules, and the vote counted. However, there was a large number of votes deposited; some brought in new subscriptions, others had renewals, and yet others brought in a few sheckles garnered from subscribers who were in arrears; but this was not all; every one had merchants tickets galore. It demonstrated the fact that the merchants had been doing a lively cash business and that they were profiting by the contest; it also demonstrated that, even though the friends of the candidates forgot to ask for coupons, they themselves are not forgetful of these little jokers which, in the end, are going to be the final tribunals befor whom the contest is to be decided.

There was one surprise, however; only those who were far in the lead, as announced at the first count, seemed to be actively engaged; the others seemed to have been discouraged and dropped out of the race. This should not be; the final count may reverse entirely the first count and the stone which the builders rejected may become the head of the corner in the final analysis. Get into the race with the determination to secure one of the valuable merchant prizes, even though you should fail to win the piano; the satisfaction of being ranked among the winners would fully compensate for the little time and energy required to be announced as one of the winners.

Do not let the fact that you are now a little behind discourage you; remember that the race is not always to the swift but rather to those who keep constantly at it Recall the fable of the tortoise and the hare and take courage.

May 13th will soon be here; look at the list of excellent prizes offered by the merchants then consider the number of bonus votes you receive as an extra inducement and you will readily admit that the labor of securing one of these prizes is not to be compared with the pleasure to be derived or with the profit to be gained.

Below, we again give the list of extra votes for renewals, back and new subscriptions together with the clubbing of merchants coupons. Surely if there ever was a fair offer and a great inducement it is offered in this contest.

Always be sure to ask for the merchant's coupons; after all is told, they are the grand arbiters—get as many on your side as possible.

For every seven yearly new subscriptions we will give 10,000 extra votes, making a total of 14,200 votes.

For every seven renewal subscriptions 8,000 extra, making a total of 11,500 votes.

For every seven back subscriptions, 6,000 extra, making a total of 8,800 votes.

For every forty merchant's coupons brought to this office and counted by the publisher or his assistants, a bonus of 500 votes will be given, making a total of 1,500 votes.

To the lady having the most votes on May 13, (not including the vote heretofore received), a $10.00 in gold will be given.

THE DAM ROAD ASSURED!

WORK ALREADY BEGUN; HURRAH FOR GOOD ROADS!

The Press man once heard of a man who owned a large bunch of cattle; among them was a large crumple horned bull and every time the owner attempted to drive his cattle home this old crumple horned rascal would take his stand in a small gap in the road and molest every other animal that tried to pass; he was always kicking up trouble and making things unpleasant generally.

Now that little narative may or may not need explanation, but we are going to venture to remark as follows:

One of the best engineers obtainable has been secured by those citizens who are interested in building a model road from Clanton to the Coosa river; he is instructed to survey the best possible route from Clanton to the river and the citizens committee has in hand sufficient funds to remove from this surveyed route all the obstructions, so that the county can at once put the road machine to work and before the time for hauling crops to town, the road running east from Clanton will be the best in the county unless some fellow objects to the route surveyed and fails to give right of way, or puts such a high price upon his land that it will be impossible for the right of way to be secured; if some one gets in the gap and obstructs progress, of course, the surveyor will will have to change his route, but we do not believe that any one along the proposed route will do this; every one, we understand, has signified a willingness to contribute liberally to the road and this is the first contribution that will be necessary.

The route surveyed may not suit every one in every particular, but it will be for the best general interests, and that, by the way, is the rule of life—the greatest good to the greatest number.

The road will be built largely by private subscription; Clanton's foremost business men are behind it. They have disregarded religious or political affiliations and have gone actively to work to make a road of which the county may be proud.

Now let there be no crumpled horns along the route; give the engineer encouragement, the citizens committee the right of way and all will be well.

It might be well to say in this connection that the road which is proposed to be surveyed will be fifty feet wide and will not change the rural route in any respect; some few boxes may be placed, say three hundred feet further from the road than they are now, but what difference would that make? So little that even the mail carrier himself would almost be willing to dismount and bring your mail to your very door in order to secure a better road.

There is much to be said on this subject, but so obvious are the reasons for the building and so inconsiderable are the reasons for its not being built that we close with the remark that we believe no one along the route is going to prove himself a crumple-horn.

The committee has no desire, of course, to antagonize any one; on the other hand all are to be consulted, and, as far as possible, all are to be entirely satisfied; but, while that is the case, if your views do not meet altogether with those of the larger number, do not antagonize the movement; remember that some one, somewhere, must give in just a little in order to make the road building a success; if it falls to your lot to stand a little inconvenience do so gracefully, do not be a crumple-horn.

MURDER TRIALS

Before Judge Deason last Monday was heard the preliminary trial of Scrap Agee, Lee Kitchen and Alf Walker, all charged with the murder of another negro out near the dam, some days since. The application for bail was denied Scrap Agee and Lee Kitchen, both of whom were remanded to jail to await the action of the Grand Jury, but Alf Walker was discharged from custody, it being shown that he was in no wise connected with the homicide.

Another murder trial is set for next Tuesday before Judge Deason, when two more negroes will apply for bail.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

Probate Judge Deason has been doing quite a rushing business for the past few weeks in the marriage license business There is scarcely a Sunday these days that he is not called upon to perform the marriage ceremony for some couple from the lower part of the county. Last Sunday two couples applied for license, but one had to be refused for sufficient reason. The other couple, however, were made happy by having the marriage knot tied in short order in the presence of more than fifty witnesses.

The following licenses have been issued this week:

Mr. Hezzie Boozier to Miss Ruth Headley,

Mr. R. H. Osteen to Miss Claudia Little,

Mr. C. P. Jones to Miss Bessie Carter,

Mr. Jas. F. Parrish to Miss Dollie Kelley,

Mr. R. E. Tucker to Miss Saderia J. Glasscock,

Mr. Thos, Lucien McCumber to Miss Myrtle Lamberson.

NOTICE

The Chilton County Singing Convention will meet in a special called session with Collins' Chapel church, two miles east of Thorsby on the First Sunday in May, (the 4th.) beginning at 9 a.m.

All singers and others interested in better music are urged to attend this meeting.

Help to keep the couny in the line of progress along all lines.

CANE CREEK

Dear Editor:

Please allow me a few words in your paper to ask the people for heir support in the Press piano contest. I am very thankful to my friends for what they have already done for me in the contest and I can assure them that no one could appreciate their support more than I do. With best wishes I remain, (Miss) Rosie Lambert.

DENT PAYS TRIBUTE TO FRED BLACKMON

Representative Hugh Dent received a telegram last night calling him to Washington on important business and will leave for the Capital City on the first train today. The extra session of Congrees opens April 7 and of course Mr. Dent will not again be in Montgomery before that time.

"I have noticed in recent weeks that a number of newspapers in this state were talking about my colleague, Fred Blackmon, Representative from the Fourth District, in connection with the race for Governor," said Mr. Dent last night in talking with a number ot personal friends.

"If Blackmon should enter the race for Governor, it would afford me pleasure to vote for him. Although a close personal friend of his, I do not know what his intentions are, with respect to the Governorship. But, while I think he would make a great Governor, and would reflect credit upon the state, I trust he will not yield to the wishes of his friends and enter the race. I should regret to see him relinquish his seat in Congress from the Fourth District. Blackmon is young, energetic and able; he is tremendously popular in Washington and is now qualified to be of great service to the party and his State. I think he would make a mistake to leave Congress.

"He is at present a member of the Postoffice Committee of the House, and the representative of the House on the Commission appointed to examine the pneumatic tube invention now under consideration. The fact that Blackmon is the only member of the House on this commission is a compliment to him. He is growing in popularity in Washington every day and he ought to stay there."

The above article, clipped from the Montgomery Advertiser of some days since, shows the esteem in which our genial Congressman is held by his colleagues and colaborers. Mr. Blackmon was prominently mentioned as a possible candidate for governor, but we understand he did not authorize the use of his name and has since stated that he would in no wise enter the race. The fact is Mr. Blackmon is too valuable a man as a congressman to think of changing offices even if he were unanimously tendered the office of governor. He is on several of the most important committees in the House and to sever those relations now would mean a distinct loss to the people whom he is now serving so faithfully.

Fred Blackmon does not play to the galleries with a flare of trumpets, nor is he given to bouquet hunting; he works in a quiet way to accomplish good for his district, and he succeeds because he has the interests of his constituents at heart His associates know that he is sterling and they readily accord to him whatever he demands because they realize that he makes no demand which will not be of benefit to his constituents.

We Southern people are too much given to turning men out of office because they are faithful officials; we want a change for the sake of a change rather than for the sake of efficiency; we like to "rotate" in office as a compliment, frequently to want of worth rather than to ability. Whenever we secure a good public servant the services of that servant should be retained. It requires one or two terms for a congressman to adjust his "harness" for active work and just about the time he gets in "apple pie order" we seek to displace him by some inexperienced man who must consume one or two terms to adjust his "harness.'

Congressman Dent's estimate of Mr. Blackmon's worth is not overdrawn, and the voters of the Fourth District should realize that fact. It should not be a matter of trying to displace him with another but, on the contrary, an effort to induce him to remain where he now is—the representative in Congress of the best district in the state of Alabama.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL CAMPAIGN.

The most thorough County Sunday School Campaign ever planned by the Alabama Sunday School Association was arranged Wednesday, April 23rd, 1913, at a conference between General Secretary Palmer of the State Association, and E. L. Thornton and Miss Mary Carr Gibson, President and Secretary respectively of the Chilton County Sunday School Association. The conference was held at Verbena and resulted in a plan providing for a nine days campaign with four workers (two from the State Association and two from the County Association.) Beginning at one corner of the county and sweeping around in a circle, with from two to six meetings in each of the six districts of the county.

In this way every section of the county will be touched, and it is hoped that as nearly as possible every one of the sixty-three Sunday schools of all denominations in the county will be reached and helped.

The campaign will begin on Sunday, May 11, and close on Monday, May 19. The widest publicity will be given throughout the county, every Sunday school of every denomination invited to attend. The speakers will be Leon C Palmer, General Secretary, and Miss Myra Batchelder, Field Secretary and Elementary Superintendent of the Alabama Sunday School Association, from Montgomery, and E. L. Thornton of Mountain Creek and Miss Mary Carr Gibson of Verbena, President and Secretory respectively of the Chilton County Sunday School Association. The meetings will be held as District Sunday School Conventions and the topics discussed will be strictly of a practical nature, designed to help in the actual working of the Sunday school.

The itinerary is as follows: Sunday, May 11, New Cedron; Monday, May 12th, Stanton; Tuesday, May 13th, Mt. Nebo; Wednesday, May 14th, Mulberry church; Thursday, May 15th, Macedonia; Friday, May 16th, Jemison; Saturday, May 17th, Liberty Hill; Sunday, May 18th, Clanton; Monday, May 19th, Salem (morning) and Coopers (night.)

AL DEMAREE IS BEST OF YOUNG GIANTS

Pitcher Al Demaree.

(This is the way the baseball expert of the Cincinnati Times-Star sizes up the net results of the 1913 training trips in the National league, so far as the recruits are concerned.)

"Many are called, but few are chosen," is a motto which always verifies itself so far as the bush recruits are concerned—and the old adage seems to be given special verification this particular season. Out of the vast herd drafted last fall, only a few survive, and most of these are pitchers. Very few infield or outfield sluggers have materialized, and very few star catchers. Even of the youngsters who will be there on April 10, 60 per cent. will fall by the wayside ere June 1 arrives.

Cincinnati—It looks as if the Red percentage of wins has been unusually large. Of the autumn drafts, or absolutely new men, McManus, Smith and Dahlgren seem to be valuable. Packard, Kyle and Blackburn, of course, were with the team at the close of 1912, and cannot be counted as brand new.

Boston—It is possible that the Boston Nationals have dug up some good young pitchers, but nothing is yet assured in this particular. Metz, first baseman, who can hit 'em hard, appears to have caught on. Maranville, the shortstop, who was tried out last fall, has made good and will remain.

Brooklyn — May — possibly — have landed two live outfielders, Callahan and Myers, and may likewise have a kid pitcher or two worth retaining. Stengel of the 1912 reinforcements looked good in September and bids fair to keep his place.

Chicago—There seem to be no real prizes among the Cub drafts—not a single one. Berghammer isn't "so worse," but there were too many veterans ahead of him. Pierce, who is pitching nicely, was tried last season, and Powell is a veteran now, coming back after a season in the bush, so that these fellows cannot be classified as novices.

New York—Demaree, the best of the young Giants, was added last fall and was in a game or two at that period. McGraw thinks he has—maybe and perhaps—a good outfielder named Cooper. Back, back to the jungle with nearly all the rest.

Philadelphia—If Philadelphia has any real reinforcements, they are as yet modest, blushing violets, and probably not over one or two debutantes will appear in Boom's bester after the season is well started.

Pittsburgh—Has nothing in the brand-new line, a couple of newsmen who look good, being really call-backs from the farm.

St. Louis—Miller Huggins thinks he has actually bagged a fine infielder named Whalen. If so, he has about the only big infield prize secured by the entire National league. The rest of Hug's new birds all had a trial last fall, excepting a catcher named Hildebrand, just picked up and looking quite capable. In 115 games last year this Hildebrand had 161 assists—some thrower. Batting record, .252. Fielding, .972.

Out of all the novices who had their first glimpse of big league doings in the March training camps, the National league seems to have landed just about one first baseman, one general infielder, one catcher, two outfielders, and maybe ten pitchers. The rest are going back to the crossroads, disappointed. Few, indeed, were chosen this particular year.

STORIES OF THE DIAMOND

They say Frank Schulte, the heavy-hitting outfielder of the Cubs, breaks fifty bats a year.

McGraw has pledged himself to follow a hands-off policy in regard to umpires again this year.

Gonzales, the Cuban catcher, will catch probably a third of the Boston Nationals' games this year.

President Farrell's praise of Chance and his work is of the unstinted variety and pleasing to the fans.

"The Browns will finish in the first or second divisions sure," is the opinion of a well-known sport writer.

Catcher Tony James, who was the only hold-out on the Kansas City roster, was sold to the St. Paul club.

Ray Keating, the $5,000 beauty secured from Lawrence by New York, has struck his gait and is showing a lot of stuff.

Do you know that the greatest number of stolen bases was made by Harry Stovey? While playing with the Athletics back in 1888 Harry pilfered 156 sacks.

Charley Comiskey killed a canard with these words: "I'll release Fournier to Sacramento the same day I sell Ed Walsh to another minor league club."

Acosta and Calyo, the Cubans with Clark Griffith's team, are remarkable judges of balls and strikes, and have not been known to offer at a ball one cent's joining the Senators.

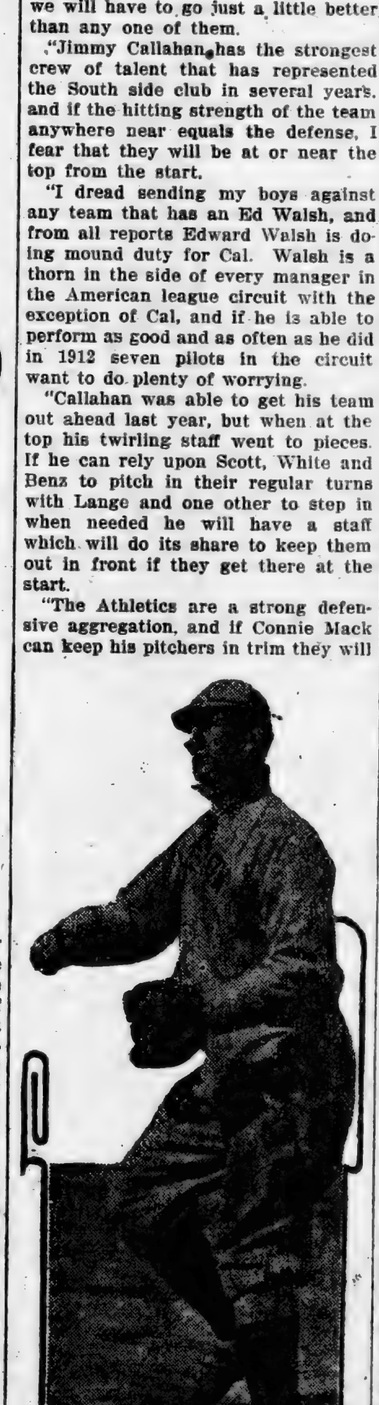
HOT RACE PREDICTED

Stahl Does Not Claim Flag for Champion Red Sox.

Prepared for Hard Fight Which Is Sure to Come in the American League—Praises Callahan and Frank Chance.

Chicago entertained J. Garland Stahl and his world champions for a little over an hour the other day while they were changing trains on their way back to Boston.

"We are not claiming a world's championship nor even a league flag at this time," said Stahl. "This is not the time for claiming championships, but the time to prepare for the fight which is sure to come in the American league this year. We are ready for the opening, and I have cut the team down below the limit.



"In my opinion the coming struggle will be the hardest in the history of our organization. Looking over the field that is entered in the American League derby, I figure that to win a pennant we will have the most strenuous struggle with the White Sox, Athletics and the senators. Any one of those three teams are pennant contenders, and I realize that to repeat our performance of last season we will have to go just a little better than any one of them.

"Jimmy Callahan has the strongest crew of talent that has represented the South side club in several years, and if the hitting strength of the team anywhere near equals the defense, I fear that they will be at or near the top from the start.

"I dread sending my boys against any team that has an Ed Walsh, and from all reports Edward Walsh is doing mound duty for Cal. Walsh is a thorn in the side of every manager in the American league circuit with the exception of Cal, and if he is able to perform as good and as often as he did in 1912 seven pilots in the circuit want to do plenty of worrying.

"Callahan was able to get his team out ahead last year, but when at the top his twirling staff went to pieces. If he can rely upon Scott, White and Benz to pitch in their regular turns with Lange and one other to step in when needed he will have a staff which will do its share to keep them out in front if they get there at the start.

"The Athletics are a strong defensive aggregation, and if Connie Mack can keep his pitchers in trim they will give us a great deal of trouble. Clark Griffith can always be counted upon to put nine men on the field who will fight until the last out in the ninth. His pitching crew, led by Johnson, is one of the best in the organization.

"Although I do not think that the New York team can be counted in the first division at the end of the season, I do expect that they will not receive callers in the cellar. Frank Chance will bring the Highlanders to the top of the second division. From all that I have been able to learn Chance has succeeded in injecting a fair amount of 'pep' into the team, and a New York team will be seen in eight cities this year.

"The fans may think that it sounds funny for me to be predicting such pleasing things for Chicago, Philadelphia, Washington and New York, but I do not want them to gain the opinion that we expect to walk away with the league flag. Boston will be fighting from the start. Last year we did not take the lead at the beginning, but made an uphill fight to obtain the honors. This season I think that my boys will get out ahead at the getaway, and if we get the break of luck that we are entitled to we will stay right around the place where all teams like to rest at the end of the struggle."

Steinfeldt With Lynchburg.

Harry Steinfeldt, once the pride of the west side, has signed to play third and captain the Lynchburg (Va.) United States league team.

PUBLIC HIGHWAYS

GOOD COUNTRY ROADS

Narrow-Tired Wagon Is Most Destructive Agent.

Highways Also Have Been Ruined by Wrong Method of Working—Different System of Supervision Is Advocated.

Good country roads are ruined in many ways, some of which must be laid at the doors of the officials in charge, and some we can only hold the farmers themselves responsible for. Good roads are ruined by weather, water and wanton neglect. Man is the chief destructive agent and we must pay some attention to him and his ways, says the Western Farmer.

Any good dirt road can be ruined in a short time by hauling heavy loads over it in narrow tired wagons. The common one and three-fourth-inch tire does more harm to country roads than any other destructive agent. We wonder why the farmers will continue buying these wheels when a broad tire—say four-inch—will make rather than destroy good roads. The broad tired wagon pulls easier and that should be sufficient reason why the change should be made.

It seems a waste of money to make a dirt road hard and smooth, dragged at the proper time and all that, and then have a lot of men haul big loads of grain, hay, wood or what not over it just after a rain and their narrow tires cutting away in. Of course they all keep in the one track so each succeeding tire cuts a little deeper. If another rain comes before the ruts are dragged full then the whole road goes to pieces. There should be a tax or some legal penalty against the narrow tired wagon. We are not pleading for low wheels, though we believe in them, too, but we do urge every one to buy wide tires. The old wheels can be made over and wide tires put on at a slight cost.

Roads have been ruined by the mile by the wrong method of working. The old system of working out the road tax under a supervisor or road boss is wrong. It never yet has made a good stretch of road. It never will. The practice of tearing up the road in the fall after harvest—because that's the only time he can get farmers to work—plowing the sodded sides up and scalping the whole conglomeration of sods, stones and clods into the middle of the road is the worst system that ever can be practiced. The season is wrong, the system is wrong and the road is bad all winter and next spring.

Who has not seen brush piled in soft places, gravel dumped in mud holes, and even sand put in chuck holes by these road bosses? It's a sure way to make a bad road worse. Who has not seen dense groves of tall willows pile the road full of snow which made a mud hole exist there for weeks after the rest of the road was dry? What is the remedy? A different system of road supervision. Remove the office from politics, get men who have studied or will study road building and keep them as long as they are efficient. Pay road tax in cash and let this skilled road boss hire his men. He should keep the same men all the time. They become more efficient all the time.

FOR MORE IMPROVED ROADS

Much Valuable Assistance Rendered by Office of Public Roads—Perishable Products Wasted.

Many of the model highway laws in various states have been prepared under the advice of the road experts of the department of agriculture, and all the data and statistics of the office of public roads are at the disposal of the legislatures.

In the last bulletin of the office of public roads it was stated that at the close of 1909, 8.66 per cent of the roads in the United States were improved. This represents a gain in the total road mileage improved for the five-year period, 1904-1909, of 1.52 per cent., or, in other words, the percentage of improved roads has increased during this period from 7.14 to 8.66 per cent.

In the three years that have elapsed since then, it is roughly estimated that the percentage of improved roads has gone well beyond 9 per cent., and possibly close to 10 per cent. It is estimated that if 20 per cent. of the public highways were improved—each highway being selected and improved with a view to the proportionate traffic upon it—a high degree of efficiency in highway transportation would be reached. It is figured that millions of dollars would be saved annually in the transportation of crops, the wear and tear on horses and vehicles, and in the minimizing of the waste in truck farming. Where roads are bad, the farmers frequently find it impossible to get their products to the shipping points and thus perishable products are wasted, perceptibly increasing the cost of living.

NOW TIME FOR ACTION

DELAY IN PASSAGE OF TARIFF BILL NOT TO BE TOLERATED.

American Electorate Has Declared Emphatically for Revision Downward and Placed Democratic Party in Power to Carry It Out.

The tariff bill now before congress should be passed without delay. Six weeks at most should see it on the statute books.

Congress has assembled in extra session, not to try a case, but to put in effect a judgment already rendered by the American people. The Aldrich tariff was condemned last fall by unanimous vote. Not one of the three leading parties dared defend that monstrosity in platform or on the stump. By an enormous pulrality, the American electorate declared for the Democratic plan of tariff revision. That plan, as stated in the present bill, should go into effect at once.

The demand for prompt action can not be objected to as "haste." It is more than four years since Mr. Taft was elected on a pledge of "downward revision of the tariff." It is nearly three years since the country rang with denunciation of Mr. Taft for breaking that pledge by signing the Aldrich bill.

It is more than two years since the people committed to a Democratic congress the work which the Republican party had refused to do; and five months have passed since final judgment was rendered last November. It is time, high time, to put that judgment into effect.

President Wilson and Democratic leaders in congress are trying to lift the burden of government from the tired backs of the poor, and transfer it to the shoulders of the rich. Standpatters can hold back this beneficent work if they will—but they must do it in the open, and bear full responsibility for every hour of delay.

Tariff Must Come First.

The Railway Business association is demanding that congress take up the question of railroad strikes at the extra session, and pass compulsory arbitration laws.

Every tariff grafter in the land would rejoice if this demand were granted.

The business of the extra session is to revise the tariff. This is a hard task, even when freed from entanglements. It would be an impossible task if tariff revision were mixed up with a subject like compulsory arbitration on railways.

American consumers have paid tribute to tariff grafters long enough. Their right to relief must not wait on even so important a matter as industrial peace on railroads.

Matter With the Currency.

"The present banking and currency system was invented during the Civil war. As with the Monitor, it was a case of necessity being the mother of invention," writes John D. Lamson, in Harper's Weekly. "The Monitor did good work in '64. But times change. Ericson's invention was a wonder at the time, but you would hardly expect the old Monitor to go up against a modern battleship. No more can we expect to get today's business properly done with the help of the old currency system. In fact, between the old cheesebox-on-a-raft and the modern dreadnought there is less difference than between business conditions in 1864 and business conditions at present."

President Wilson and Congress.

President Wilson may have made no more congressional converts by delivering his message by word of mouth to the two houses than he would by transmitting it by messenger for the cursory notice of indifferent statesmen, but he has selected the most effective and what seems the proper method of addressing congress.

It has dignity and impressiveness. It conforms to the oldest precedent. It gives physical emphasis to the proper correlation of administrative and legislative branches. It presents a government as a unity.

We can't honestly ask what we are not willing to extend to others. In the general reduction of duties that will soon be made it is nothing but proper that Florida products should share with other products in the reduction.—Birmingham (Ala.) Age-Herald.

No lawsuit instituted by the government can wipe out the effects of monopoly as speedily as competition can accomplish the work. Placing needed commodities on the free list should assure competition.

As a tariff revisionist, the colonel is manfully repressing his enthusiasm over the prospect that the Payne-Aldrich duties are to be reduced. His silence is so non-partisan as to excite doubts.

Friendly Warning.

The Democrats last year diagnosed the case as too much protection, they pronounced against protection and promised tariff revision on revenue lines. Let them keep their promise now. Haggermugger wins, when at all, but temporarily. They played that game twenty years ago, and lost by it. Better lose, if lose is to come, by a square redemption of a square promise, than by a tricky compromise. A compromise is necessary, but a tricky one will be disastrous.—Washington Star (Ind.)

RINGWORM SPREAD ON FACE

Campbell, Va.—"I have been troubled with ringworm on the right side of my face for six or eight years. It began with just very small pimples in spots and continued to spread more every year until it covered the right side of my face. It was red, rough and in circles, and itched and burned very much. It was sore when I scratched my face and it worried me so much I couldn't keep from scratching. It looked very bad; I would hate to go out while it was on my face. Every one noticed it and some would ask what it was.

COULDN'T EXPLAIN TERRIBLE ORDEAL

Through Which She Had to Go. Everyone Who Saw Her Thought She Had No Chance.

Carrsville, Ky.—In advices from this town, Mrs. Hattie Cain says: "For 15 years, I was a great sufferer from womanly trouble, and would have to send for a doctor about every three months, and sometimes oftener.

I cannot explain to you how dreadfully I suffered at these times. I would have convulsions, and it seemed that I would die.

Everyone who saw me, thought there wasn't any chance for my recovery.

The doctor said he thought I should have an operation, but I couldn't consent to that, so he said for me to try Cardui, the woman's tonic, as maybe it would help me.

I began taking Cardui, and Oh! Such a surprise it was to me! The first bottle I took, I knew it was the medicine for me, for I began to mend right away.

After taking nine bottles, my condition was perfect.

It has now been seven years since I was in such wretched health, and I can do more work, can walk and go where I please, and it doesn't hurt me.

I owe all of this to Cardui.

"Now, what are you feeling bad about?"

"Oh, I'm utterly wretched! He doesn't love me as I love him!"

"How do you know?"

"Why, we discovered last evening that the day we have fixed for our wedding day is the day of the opening of the cricket season, and also there's a bargain sale on at one of the big shops."

"And he wanted to change the date of the wedding?"

"We both wanted to change it. He couldn't miss the opening game, and I couldn't dream of missing those bargains."

"Well, then, I——"

"But he wanted to have the wedding a day later, while it was I who suggested having it a day sooner."

A Hundred Years Ago.

There were strong indications that Europe would become involved in a disastrous war.

It was feared by some people that the government at Washington was going to wreck things beyond the possibility of repair.

Hetty Green hadn't saved a cent.

Indiana had less than twenty successful authors.

It was generally believed that the rich were getting richer and the poor poorer.

Old inhabitants were insisting that the climate had changed for the worse since they were boys.

No Englishman had considered it necessary to write his impressions of the United States.

May Have Cure for Neuralgia.

One never gets much sympathy for neuralgia—nor seasickness, presumably because they do not kill. But people have died from the results of seasickness and the list of those who have been driven to suicide by neuralgia would be a startling one. Now comes Dr. Rudolph Matas of New Orleans with a statement that neuralgia may be cured by injections of alcohol into the nerve ganglions at the base of the skull. This gratifying discovery justifies the hope that the triumphant progress of medical science will presently enable our physicians to alleviate headaches and colds.

Clumsy Enough.

MONEY HIS SECOND THOUGHT

Artist Accepted Destitution in Preference to Sale of His Precious Works of Art.

Destitute in a house full of masterpieces, penniless and unknown, an old man who began life as a chimney sweep and eventually became a sculptor, has died in a sordid lodging at Ivry, a Paris suburb. "Father Fraissard," as he was familiarly known, was born in Savoy and as a boy was employed as a sweep. Later he was apprenticed to a mason in Paris. His genius manifested itself and he became a sculptor. If he had consented to sell his works of art he would have been a rich man, but he would not part with them and died destitute. His two humble rooms were full of examples of exquisite workmanship. One, a table in black marble, has on it a chess board in African onyx, and half a dozen cups and glasses, all beautifully carved. M. Fraissard was eight years in executing this piece of work. But his greatest triumph took him twenty-two years to finish. It is a black marble table, inlaid with squares of lighter colored marble, and is covered with the accessories of various games. In the center is a chessboard; to the right and left are cards arranged in the shape of a fan. In the corners are dominoes and the cigars and cigarettes of the players, with several gold and silver coins. The materials used are porphyry, agate, onyx, malachite and lapis lazuli, and the combination of rich tones—red, black, orange, white and azure blue—produces a delightful effect. Ninety different kinds of marble were employed.

Good Evidence.

Katherine had been brought up to believe that tale-bearing was despicable, but there were times when her greedy twin strained her principles to the snapping point.

"Katherine," said her mother one day, "is it possible that you and Howard have eaten that whole bag of peppermints that I meant to take to grandmother, just because I left the bag on the table?"

"I didn't take one of them, mother," said Katherine, indignantly, "but Howard—well, I sha'n't tell tales, but you just smell him!"—Youth's Companion.

WOMAN SUFFERED TEN YEARS

From Nervousness Caused by Female Ills—Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Auburn, N. Y.—"I suffered from nervousness for ten years, and had such organic pains that sometimes I would lie in bed four days at a time, could not eat or sleep and did not want anyone to talk to me or bother me at all. Sometimes I would suffer for seven hours at a time. Different doctors did the best they could for me until four months ago I began giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and now I am in good health."—Mrs. WILLIAM H. GILL, 18 Pleasant Street, Auburn, New York.

RESINOL CURED AWFUL PIMPLES

Whole Face Covered, Now Clear.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Oct. 9, 1912. "I was troubled with two or three pimples coming out on my chin. In a week or so my whole face was covered with them. Friends advised me to use different lotions and salves. I tried them, but they did me little good, if any. I finally washed the pimples with Resinol Soap and applied Resinol Ointment before going to bed. In the morning I found the swelling gone down, and the inflammation gone from the pimples. I tried this treatment for about a week, and found that most of the pimples had disappeared. I kept the treatment up for about a month, and then my face was clear of all pimples. I have used Resinol Soap since and find that the pimples do not come back." (Signed) Walter A. Stenstrum, 54 Willoughby Ave.

If you are suffering from itching, burning skin troubles, pimples, blackheads, dandruff, stubborn sores or piles, it will cost you nothing to try Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap. Just send to Dept. 12-K, Resinol, Baltimore, Md., for a free sample of each. Every druggist sells Resinol.

That water wagon. Where is it, anyway?

These be the days when the disciples of Ike Walton are reveling in glory.

Fish bait and angle worms command a high price now; in keeping with the other commodities and necessities. But, high as they are, they must be had.

We wish it distinctly understood that Mr. Francis G. Caffey, who has recently been appointed as prosecuting attorney for the national pure food bureau, is not only an Alabama boy but a Chilton county boy. His venerable father, Dr. H. W. Caffey, being one of the most prominent citizens of this county at this time.

Now that work has actually begun on the road to Coosa river would it not be a good idea for those along the proposed route to set a day on which to meet and remove all the obstructions so that the road machine may be put to work at the earliest possible date? What say those who live along the route?

Not only should those living along the route lend prompt assistance, but all who use the road, however far removed from it they may be, should be willing to assist in the work.

When this road is completed it will give an impetus to road building in the county which nothing else could do—provided, of course, that it properly built.

It seems that the Press was somewhat mistaken in its statement last week that the election of senators by direct vote had never been legally adopted by three-fourths of the state, but if we were incorrect how is the Governor going to avoid the calling of an extra session of the legislature however much he may dislike to do so? If the law is to become operative immediately after its promulgation, then Alabama's next senator will have to be elected by direct vote and the state laws as they now stand do not provide for such an election, hence it will be necessary for the enactment of such necessary laws or else the appointment of a senator will rest with the governor, a contingency, viewed in the light of many other appointments made by him, which the people of the state will not relish.

TRICKS IN ALL TRADES

There was once a young carpenter who gave vent to the following expression: "There's tricks in all trades except ours and pa, he drives screws with a hammer." Well, that old carpenter wasn't in it with a certain young lady in the Press piano contest. To use a Yankee expression—"You'd have ought ter seen 'er." She's been keeping counsel with herself and yesterday she brought in just one bushel basket full of coupons.

Heretofore her name has not been mentioned even as a probable winner of the piano, but she made things fairly hum around the Press offices yesterday. Of course we cannot give names, but you just watch that count on May 13th and perhaps you can figure it all out for yourself.

We give this information, however, for the good of the other young ladies who are working for the grand prize: You musn't let any grass grow. The new comer has announced that she has blood in her eye. She has been holding back and yesterday she came forward—not first, if you please, or even second, but she stated that she was just getting ready to begin to start.

Judge W. W. Pearson of Montgomery was in Clanton Wednesday circulating among his many friends.

HAS BIGGEST SEISMOGRAPH

United ... Installs a Delicately Adjusted Instrument at New York Museum.

New York.—The largest and most delicately adjusted seismograph in the United States has just been installed in the museum of natural history here. The instrument was made in Germany and presented to the New York Academy of Science by its president, Emerson McMillan. The needle is so sensitive that blasting operations in some parts of New York city have affected it in marked fashion, while one interesting series of undulations is believed to have been caused by sea waves striking on the rocky coast of Rhode Island and Massachusetts.

IF YOU ARE CONSTIPATED, EDUCATE YOUR BOWELS WITH BEARLAX

You can form a habit of moving the bowels at a certain time, just as surely as you can form other habits, but you can't do it with calomel. It requires the help of BEARLAX, that splendid liquid laxative, to form this regular "habit" of bowel movement. Unlike other laxatives, BEARLAX itself does NOT become a habit.

BEARLAX contains no calomel, but is better than calomel in every respect. Its action is gentle but SURE. It has a pleasant aromatic taste, and every dose stimulates and tones the liver, stomach and bowels without making you sick or tying your insides into knots.

BEARLAX is as good for the young child as it is for the grandparent—and for either it is without an equal as a pleasant, gentle, beneficial liver, stomach and bowel regulator. BEARLAX is fully guaranteed. Purchase a bottle from your dealer, and, if after trying it, you are not fully satisfied, your dealer will cheerfully refund your money. Price, 50 cents, everywhere.

These Pictures Show What Relief From Hookworm Disease Meant to One Family

From squalor and wretchedness to health, comfort and happiness in a few months.

THE tumbledown shack is where they all lived in misery, not knowing what was their trouble.

They were illiterate, for in four generations not one of their ancestors had ever gone to school. There were the father and mother and five children. The mother had never known a well day. The father was doing about half work, the eldest boy almost none.

The neat two story house is where they all lived fifteen months after they were treated for hookworm disease. They were so restored in health and vigor that they set to work to make enough money to better themselves in every possible way.

The little white schoolhouse is where the children are now going to school to learn to read and write things that were beyond the power and knowledge of their father and mother, their grandfathers and grandmothers, their great-grandfathers and great-grandmothers.

The sturdy, healthy boy at the fence is one of the lads who are using their muscle and energy to bring the family into a prosperity never known before. He is industrious and capable now, but he was an invalid until he was relieved of hookworm disease.

Is it any wonder that this family is doing what it can to prevent the further spread of the disease? Is it any wonder that the father has built a sanitary privy and is observing those simple rules of sanitation that if generally lived up to would completely banish hookworm disease from the country?

The other picture shows the family as it now is, well and happy and full of the new cheerfulness of clean and industrious living.

THINGS ALL OUGHT TO KNOW

As Christian Bible Students—The Satisfactory Proof of "Why God Permits Evil."

One of the questions which comes to nearly every thinking mind today is, "Why does God permit evil?" As we look about us in the world we observe that it is filled with sorrow and trouble, sickness and pain and every trial we could enumerate, and we cannot help wondering WHY GOD ALLOWS IT. We realize that He is almighty and that He could prevent it if He wished. We read in His Word that He is more willing to do for His children than are earthly parents for theirs, and we know how much that means; yet oftentimes it seems that those who try to do and live right have the most trouble. This question is made very clear in a book entitled, "The Divine Plan of the Ages." Every statement is backed by Scripture, and shows that while God does not sanction evil HE HAS HAD A PURPOSE IN ALLOWING SIN AND DEATH TO REIGN THESE SIX THOUSAND YEARS. This and many other subjects of deep interest to all of God's people are discussed fully and in language easy of comprehension.

The Rapid Vacuum Washer

The Perfect Washing Machine

Perfect in Merits, Perfect in Price

This Machine is guaranteed to give as good satisfaction as any hand power machine on the market regardless of price. Delivered at your door for $2.27, Parcel postage prepaid.

This cut shows the washer complete ready to be attached to any tub or wash boiler. It is beyond all question the greatest success of any invention in the form of washing machines. With this washer the work is done by vacuum waterforce—the water and soap being forced through the goods by compressed air and suction.

This machine does the work in less time than the most expensive machine on the market—is easier operated and costs but one-fourth that of average machines. The Vacuum Washer can be attached to any tub or wash boiler in an instant—no screws to tighten—nothing to adjust—a child can operate it.

AUTOMATIC AIR VALVE

It will wash a tub of clothes in from five to ten minutes, and with this machine your clothes are not subjected to the wear that is caused by the beating and batting process used by other makers. With the Rapid Vacuum it is the soap and water that does the work. It is simple in construction, but mighty in effect. Lace curtains or the most delicate fabrics can be cleaned without the slightest damage, and this is absolutely the only process by which bed-quilts can be washed without wadding the batting or breaking the stitches.

The plunger can easily be detached from lever and used in a pail or other small vessel for washing small articles. The entire weight of the washer is four pounds, and it can be easily folded up and put out of the way when not in use.

FOR BETTER ARMY GARRISON PLEADS

URGES THE ASSEMBLY OF BRIGADES AND DIVISIONS PERIODICALLY.

CHANGES RECOMMENDED

Secretary Says There Are Too Many Posts, and Not the Proper Training for War.

Washington.—In a statement Secretary Garrison, pointing to the American army scattered in small units throughout the country, impossible to coalescence for practical instruction in the larger tactical measures of battle, urged the importance of assembling brigades and divisions periodically and temporarily in times of peace for war training, pending the adoption of a governmental policy for the adequate distribution of the army.

Epitomizing his idea, the secretary said:

"I hope that war may never come, but in the present stage of civilization we must recognize the possibility; and it is with this idea in mind that I say I believe it will be well for the country, if our legislators would make provision for the annual assembling of at least one division as a school, wherein our officers might be given that practical training which is so necessary to develop educated generals and staff officers. We may not need a large army, but it should be one which in organization and training is as nearly perfect as it is possible to make it. Otherwise, whatever is spent is not bringing its full efficient return. And this applies to thought, skill and training, as well as to money."

Discussing the question of a future military policy for the United States, Secretary Garrison said it seemed to be agreed that there were entirely too many army posts at the present time, and that many of them were not where they were useful or desirable under existing conditions:

"Whether this situation should be remedied," he continued, "by concentrating the army into a few quiet, large posts or into only as many as would permit a regiment at least to be quartered in each, I have not as yet formed any definite conclusion in my own mind. Much may be said effectively upon each side of this question. I hope, when I get the time, to give this matter my most earnest consideration, with a desire to reach a conclusion that is best for the army, which, of course, will be that which is best for the country."

REBELS GAIN OVER HUERTA

Rebels Doing as They Please in All Parts of Mexico.

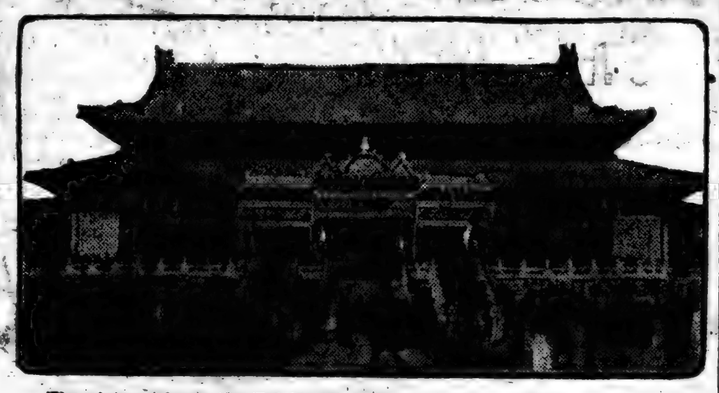
Mexico City.—Further evidence of the aggressiveness of the Northern rebels was given when several hundred of them, well armed and mounted, captured the town of Venegas, on the National railway, in the state of San Luis Potosi. They cut the railway to the north and they moved over to Matchuala, a mining town and smelting center.

The rebels continue to cover new teritrtory and cripple transportation facilities. More than 2,500 miles of the National railway system are out of commission. To this is added a long stretch of the Southern Pacific south of Guaymas and other short independent lines.

The inability up to date of the government to float a loan is a serious handicap, but notwithstanding this, President Huerta is doggedly forcing the campaign. The recent announcement that the pay in the army will be a peso and a half a day has been followed by fresh efforts to augment the ranks. Volunteers, for the most part, by conscription, are being obtained here at the rate of one hundred a day. However, the government's campaign appears to be largely defensive.

Man Impaled to Stake.

Grafton, W. Va.—While a bundle of 2x4 timber was being lowered into the shaft of the Sterling Coal company at Independence, a sharp-pointed stake slipped from the bundle and impaled Watt Lawrence of Newburg, who was at work in the shaft 185 feet below.



Flew Across Isthmus.

Colon.—Robert G. Fowler, the American aviator, made a flight across the Isthmus in a hydro-aeroplane with a passenger. Fowler left Panama beach at 9:45 a. m. He circled over Panama City and the entrance to the canal for more than half an hour, ascending to a considerable altitude, and then turned in the direction of Colon. He met strong wind currents over Culebra, but in spite of this was able to carry out various evolutions. Low clouds occasionally hid the earth from view.

Levee Breaks and Floods Towns.

Natchez, Miss.—The long-threatened break in the main line Mississippi river levees along the west bank in upper Louisiana came when the Lake St. John levee, 12 miles north of Ferriday, La., went out, turning the flood waters loose upon the fine farming lands and villages of lower Tensas and Concordia parishes. The flood waters from the break will cover the lower end of Tensas parish, practically all of Concordia and a part of Catahoula and Franklin parishes. The water will turn back to the Mississippi.

500,000 WORKERS WIN VOTE

BELGIAN GOVERNMENT ACCEPTS A RESOLUTION WHICH PROVIDES FOR SETTLEMENT.

Victory of Strikers Means Abolition of Plural Voting in Belgium.

Brussels, Belgium.—Owing in great part to the advice of the king, the government accepted the compromise proposed by the Liberal leader, F. Masson, and the great strike for manhood suffrage, which on account of the remarkable discipline maintained, the solidarity of those who joined in the movement and skillful organization, is unique in history, will be called off.

"No government could yield to a strike of this nature. To yield would be to abdicate."

Nevertheless the strike of 500,000 workers seems to have made sufficient impression on the government to induce it to unbend from its uncompromising attitude far enough to insure the termination of a situation which has already cost the country more than $14,000,000 and is daily driving away from manufacturers customers they may never win back.

The leaders of the Sociaalist trades-unions and their followers gained their point, which was to make the government take up for consideration a change of the Belgian parliamentary franchise with its hated system of plural votes for the wealthier and more educated classes.

TO FIGHT OVER THE SPOILS

Greece and Bulgaria Rapidly Drifting to War.

London, England.—Bulgaria and Greece are rapidly drifting towards war over the possession of Saloniki, The Greeks have mobilized every available soldier and concentrated one army in the neighborhood of Saloniki, while another is being landed at Orfani, in the Gulf of Orfani, to watch movements of Bulgarians at Drama and Kavala. The victorious Epirus army from Janina is being distributed along the new strategical front from Saloniki to Orfani.

In the meantime the Bulgarians have suspended passenger traffic between Dedeagatch and Saloniki and are utilizing the railway for concentration of troops in the neighborhood of Drama close to the Greek position. They have now brought one division each from Adrianople, Tchatlja and Bulair, and it is estimated that the Bulgars now have 90,000 soldiers facing the Greeks and a Servian force, supporting the Greeks, which is assembling along the railway

Bryan Ordered to California.

Washington.—President Wilson directed Secretary of State Bryan to proceed to Sacramento to co-operate with Governor Johnson and the members of the California legislature in framing a law regarding the ownership of land by aliens that would not conflict with the treaty obligations of the United States, particularly with Japan. "I am going in the hope that we may be able to find the best solution of the difficulty," said Secretary Bryan to the press. "I feel sure that they in California will enter upon work with the same spirit of co-operation as the president and I do. I am hopeful, indeed, that we will be able to arrive at the wisest solution."

For Reform of Currency.

Washington.—Chairman Owen of the senate banking and currency committee, called its members together, and advised them of results of informadl conferences with President Wilson, Secretary McAdoo and Chairman Glass of the house banking committee on the subject of currency reform. Working informally, obtaining the views of the president and his advisers, Senator Owen and Representative Glass have been looked upon as the men who will frame a measure to be known as the Owen-Glass bill.

Bees Create Panic in Macon.

Macon, Ga.—A swarm of bees created a panic on Cherry street between Second and Third and for more than an hour people on that popular thoroughfare were kept dodging. A number of people were stung. The bees were scattered over an entir block until a ngro man began tapping on a water main and then they swarmed under an automobile. The negro decided he would like to have them for his use and promptly secured a dry goods box and in a few minutes had the entire swarm safely housed.

MANY KILLED IN EXPLOSION

BODIES OF MANY OF THE VICTIMS HAVE BEEN RECOVERED.

Those Who Escaped Crawled on Their Hands and Knees Out of the Deadly Fumes.

Pittsburg, Pa.—The lives of 100 miners, possibly more, paid the toll of a disastrous explosion in the Cincinanti mine of the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke company at Finleyville, Pa.

Over three-score of workmen in the mine made thrilling escapes, crawling most of the time on their hands and knees through deadly gas fumes and over debris.

Many bodies were located by rescuing squads of the United States bureau of mines, the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke company and of the Pittsburg Coal company. As the rescuers found bodies they were carried to the entries.

The rescue work was hampered by afterdamp. Fire which followed the explosion has been completely subdued. Three entries of the mine are entirely choked with debris.

The force of the explosion was terrific. A fifteen-ton motor was turned over. Many feet of mine track were twisted and ripped from the ties.

Only a few of the miners who reached the surface could talk. Suffering from burns or fright, the miners only knew that an explosion had occurred, and that the large number of men are either killed by the explosion or asphyxiated by the afterdamp.

FORTRESS OF SCUTARI FALLS

Action of Montenegro in Defying the Powers Causes Critical Situation.

London.—News of the fall of Scutari to the Montenegrin army has been received with extraordinary demonstrations in all the allied capitals, notably Belgrade and the Bulgarian premier has sent effusive congratulations to the Montenegrin premier.

The first effect of the fall of the fortress has been the extension of the international naval blockade to Durazzo, but what will be the next step of the powers in facing the new situation it is difficult to foretell. According to the view prevailing at St. Petersburg, the coercion of Montenegro would not be an easy matter.

Belgrade.—Not even Servian victories during the war caused anything like the scenes of enthusiasm which were witnessed here over the taking of Scutari by Montenegrins. Business was at a standstill, while the whole population gave itself over to rejoicing. Lawyers, merchants, soldiers and workmen danced in the streets to the strains of music. Wine may almost be said to have been flowing in the gutters, for everywhere barrels were broached, and all were free to drink to the victory of the Montenegrins and the glory of "Greater Servia."

95-Year-Old Frigate Saved.

New York.—The 95-year-old frigate Granite State, the largest wooden vessel ever built for the United States navy, which seemed doomed by fire which broke out on board her, was saved from destruction, but not before serious damage had been done throughout her fore part. The frigate formerly was known as the Alabama and the New Hampshire. Roofed over like a mammoth houseboat, the old warship has rested for the past forty years at a permanent anchorage off Sixty-ninth street.

Owner of Titanic Loses in Court.

New York.—The federal district court dismissed the petition of the Oceanic Steam Navigation company, limited, as owner of the White Star liner Titanic, for a limitation of liability resulting from the loss of the Titanic. The court held that the company's liability is to be determined by the law of Great Britain, which would make the owners of the Titanic liable for about $2,000,000. The Oceanic Steam Navigation company sought to have its liability fixed by the laws of the United States.

More Pay Given Firemen.

New York.—Eastern railroad firemen are granted an increase of pay estimated at from 10 to 12 per cent. by the award of the Erdman act arbitration board in their case. Other claims of the firemen are allowed, but the demand for two firemen on large locomotives is denied, except in case of necessity. Another request for which the firemen fought, namely, the standardization of wages, based on the weight of locomotives on drivers, was granted.

SOCIOLOGISTS ARE IN ANNUAL SESSION

SOCIAL WORKERS POURED INTO ATLANTA FROM ALL SECTIONS OF THE SOUTH.

DELEGATES ARE WELCOMED

Chancellor Kirkland, of Vanderbilt Made the Response—Governor Hooper Not Present.

Atlanta, Ga.—"Night breaks to morning," when we have such men as have spoken tonight," said Mrs. Anna Russell Cole, founder of the Southern Sociological Congress, after the first meeting of that body in the Wesley Memorial church, surrounded by hundreds of members of the congress.

From thirty-two states men journeyed to be present at the opening of the second congress founded through the munificence of one who has been called "the first lady of the south."

One thousand men and women—educators, churchmen, laymen and sociological experts from every corner of the union—were gathered in the historic building when the second congress opened. These same thousand rose and sung "America" with all the zest that they could sing.

The church had been appropriately decorated for such an occasion—an occasion which brings forth the best of the nation, to promote national health and righteousness. The American flag, the American eagle and the American shield were everywhere to be seen. Draped in graceful folds over the speaker's stand—hung from the balconies, suspended from the walls—the red, white and the blue; signifying a united nation, banded together for common good and progress.

Gov. Joe Brown of Georgia, in his happiest mood, and at the conclusion of a graceful speech, said: "I earnestly hope that the grace of God will be with you—that his spirit will be with you in all your undertakings.

Mayor Woodward was roundly applauded at the conclusion of his address of welcome when he said: "I hope that you will deal with the problems which confront you with good, old-fashioned common sense. Fanaticism has no room here. Reason must guide your footsteps."

Chancellor Kirkland of Tennessee said, in part:

"We must never forget that all of the work is to be done in one spirit—in the spirit of justice and of love, of human suffering and of human affection.

MRS. APPELBAUM LIBERATED

Jury Gives Her Freedom After Being Out for Just Thirty-Six Minutes.

Atlanta, Ga.—Freedom came to Mrs. Carrie Scott Appelbaum when the jury had been out but 36 minutes before clearing her of the crime of murdering Jerome A. Appelbaum, her husband. With the verdict of acquittal came a collapse that stopped her as she was shaking hands with the jurors and sent her to the Baptist Tabernacle infirmary for a complete rest from the terrific strain of two months in jail and three days in the crowded courtroom listening to the awful details of the shooting and the accusations flung at her.

She had fainted previously during the trial, but she held up through her recital to the jury in which she declared that she had known nothing from 2 o'clock on the morning of the tragedy, when her husband placed his pistol at her side and threatened to kill her if she did not give him her jewels, until she awoke in another room at the Dakota hotel and found herself termed a murderess.

20 Years Given Yeggmen.

Dahlonega, Ga.—Convictions and sentences of twenty years each were secured by the state against the four men whom it is alleged broke into the Lumpkin County Bank on February 14 and were frightened off just after they exploded the safe. The jury which convicted them recommended that the offense which was technically that of burglary, be treated as a misdemeanor, but Judge J. B. Jones, presiding, stated that he could not follow the recommendation.

Bryce Bids America Goodbye.

New York.—James Bryce, on the eve of his departure for home, after six years as ambassador to the United States from England said his farewell to the American people in an address here before the Pilgrim's Society of the United States. He referred with feeling to his cordial relations with the three presidents who had been in office during his service in Washington, and said he had no words to convey his sense of kindness which he had received in America.

Country Within Rights.

Washington.—Divergent views regarding the right of the United States to exempt its coastwise vessels from the payment of Panama canal tolls were expressed in papers read before the seventh annual meeting of the American Society of International Law. Most of the principal speakers agreed, however, with Richard Olney, former secretary of state, who held this country was entirely within its rights, as the owner of the canal, to make whatever rules are desired regarding the canal.

BRYAN APPEARS IN SACRAMENT

PRESENTS VIEWS OF WILSON ALIEN LAND LAWS TO LEGISLATURE

STATE'S RIGHT ADMITT

But Passage of a Rigid Land Would Be Against Wishes of National Administration.

Sacramento, Cal.—California in fullness of her right as a state, enact a rigid land law barring Or tals from ownership, but such act would be against the earnest wi of the national administration.

This is the substance of the sage William Jennings Bryan, se tary of state, and personal represe tive of President Wilson, delivered a secret conference attended only Governor Johnson, Lieutenant Go nor Wallace and the 120 members the California legislature.

Secretary Bryan arrived in Sac mento early and with his conf plans were laid for an immediate ing. Until the doors of the assem chamber were closed and locked, S retary Bryan refused to give an ling of his message to any one even at the conference he spoke after legislators had explained the public demand for alien land islation that brought about the p ent situation.

Those who expected Secretary B an to expound a new theory of stat rights were disappointed, as w those who expected predictions war. Advice in the name of Presid Wilson was all Mr. Bryan had to fer and the paramount question h is whether such advice w overcome the previous determinat of the progressive-republican ma ity to enact an anti-alien land h ing law along lines already agre upon.

Secretary Bryan reaffirmed t state's right to act in a manner it fit, but suggested several alternati to the passage of a bill restrict aliens "ineligible to citizenship," ing his reasons on the broad foun tion of public policy.

Briefly, these alternatives in the der in which they were suggested, as follows:

1. Delay immediate action and low the state department to try accomplish the ends desired by mea of a new treaty with Japan.

2. Delay immediate action and point a commission to investigate t subject of alien land ownership act in conjunction with the presid in securing relief.

3. Enact a law similar to the ute in Illinois, which permits alie to hold land for a period not exce ing six years and applies alike to aliens.

4. Enact a law similar to the f eral statute governing land owners in the District of Columbia, which a general law applying to all aliens

Of these alternatives, it may safely said, according to leaders the legislature that the last two out of the question. Many democ favor turning the matter over to state department, while the progress republican majority apparently mains unchanged in its support of bill that would apply its restrictions Orientals alone.

The conference with Secretary Br an served to show the breadth of sentiment in favor of an alien la law that shall be effective in che ing the Japanese and Chinese imm gration. A dozen or more senato and assemblymen declared the peop of the state were almost a unit in d manding such a law, and it was thr ened that unless the legislature act this time, the matter would be take up through the initiative and pass by the people themselves.

FEDERAL TROOPS MUTINY

Ex-Rebel Mexican Troops Refuse Proceed in Campaign Against Constitutionalists of Chihuahua.

El Paso, Tex.—Rebel troops un Gen. Jose Inez Salazar mutinied Casas Grandes, refusing to proce against the constitutionalists of C huahua state.

Salazar, with his staff officers, reported to have been made prison by his own men.

The troops, whose leader had ac cepted the Huerta national gover ment, were ordered to proceed to C huahua to enter the active campa against the insurgents, threatening state capital from the south. The o der when given by Salazar met wi refusal by a majority of the men, vate advices relate.

Earthquake Is Felt in Canada.

Montreal.—A slight earthqua shock was experienced here, but damage is reported from any sectio though the inmates of a hospital in west end of the city where the m ment was most pronounced were c siderably excited.

Ottawa, Ont.—An earthquake sh was felt here. Houses were be shaken, but no on was killed or jured, according to reports.

DIFFICULT TASK GIVEN TO BROOKE

PURGING PENSION ROLLS NOT AT ALL A PLEASANT DUTY FOR EXAMINER

BUT WORK MUST BE DONE

It is Claimed That for Years the State Has Paid Thousands to Unworthy Pensioners.

Montgomery.—Examiner of Public Accounts H. Y. Brooke has a hard task to perform, and although he has not said so, it is doubtful if he takes very much pleasure in the work in which he is at present engaged. Examiner Brooke may be said to relish any work that enables him to disclose the transactions of a dishonest official, for in doing this he is performing a service to the state and is discharging the duty incumbent upon every loyal and patriotic citizen.

But coming directly to the point, Examiner Brooke has a hard task to perform in purging the pension rolls of the state, and he declares that he will be glad when he has finished. Of course, he admits the necessity of purging the pension roll and he believes that much money can be saved the state by cutting down the list of pensioners to those who are really eligible and qualified to receive assistance from the great state of Alabama.

Still, the task is a hard one. Veterans of all degrees, widows of veterans and other beneficiaries of the state's munificence are unwilling to admit that the pension rolls should be purged, and, impelled by patriotic motives, declare that the list contains few unworthy members, and that the state could better conserve its interests by looking for revenue from other sources.

Governor O'Neal does not agree with this theory and neither does Exemaner Brooke. In fact, it is doubtful if any official of the state holds a contrary opinion on the subject. For years it is claimed, the state has paid out thousands of dollars to undesirable and unworthy pensioners, has paid out money to men and women who were able to take care of themselves, has maintained inmates at the insane hospital that could well afford to provide for themselves.

And so the pension list is being purged. It has been the idea of the governor during the two years that he has been in office and now he is putting it into execution. H. Y. Brooke has been selected for the undertaking, and Mr. Brooke is hard at work. Probably he may be engaged in the work for the next few weeks, or even longer, but he is undeterred by the fact that in certain quarters he is likely to bring upon himself the displeasure of certain persons. The governor has ordered him to perform the task and he is bending every energy toward the accomplishment of it.

ACCOUNTS SENT TO CAPITAL

Request is Made in Interest of Economy.

Montgomery.—Charles L. Townes, state examiner of public accounts, has filed with Governor O'Neal a report of his examination of the books and accounts of the Ninth District Agricultural school of Blountsville, and the Fifth District Agricultural School of Wetumpka. Conditions at both institutions were found to be in splendid condition.

W. B. Crumpton is president of the Blountsville school, and A. S. Ford is at the head of the Wetumpka school. Mr. Townes has now completed an examination of the accounts of five of the nine agricultural schools. He is in Hamilton, where he will examine the books of the Sixth District Agricultural school and of the officials of Marion county.

Books of the other schools will be examined in Montgomery.

This plan will save the state the money which would be paid out for the expenses of an examiner were he compelled to visit the places where the schools are located.

Two Contracts Let.

Montgomery.—W. S. Keller, state highway engineer, has let the contract for two state aid roads in Marshall county. One of these will run from Boaz to Albertville, while the other will be started at Guntersville, on the Warrenton road.

Papers of Incorporation Filed.

Montgomery.—Papers have been filed in the office of Secretary of State Cyrus B. Brown reporting the incorporation of the Alabama Company of Jefferson County.

The capital stock of the Alabama Company is given in the papers of incorporation at $4,100,000, of which amount $600,000 is first preferred stock; $1,500,000 is second preferred, and $2,000,000 is common stock. The fee to the state for filing the papers was $2,069.

The formal transfer of the deed for the property of the Alabama Consolidated Coal and Iron Company took place in Birmingham, and the papers of the new company were sent immediately to the Secretary of State to be filed in his office.

SUITS SUIT AGAINST BANKS

State Will Make Effort to Collect Money Alleged to Have Been Misspent.

Montgomery.—Suits aggregating $242,817.50 were entered by the state of Alabama against Alabama banks in an effort to collect part or all of the money misspent by James G. Oakley, president, and Theodore Lacy, chief clerk of the convict department.

A separate complaint was made against each of six banks, but each alleges that the money was converted to the use of the banks and transferred from the hands of the state.

The state's suits are based on a section of the state code which requires that all state, county and district officers require banks to furnish sufficient security before making deposits, the allegation being that the banks should have furnished the security although they were not requested to do so by either Oakley or Lacy.

The defendants and the amount asked of each are: Montgomery Savings bank, $100,000; Montgomery Bank and Trust company, $75,000; Bibb County Banking and Trust company of Centerville, $35,000; Exchange National Bank of Montgomery, $27,500; American Trust and Savings Bank of Birmingham, $5,000, and Fourth National Bank of Montgomery, $317.50.

Before Lacy disappeared he checked $90,000 from the Montgomery Savings bank, a small institution, and the bank was forced to call on its correspondent, the Montgomery Bank and Trust company, for part of the money, thus causing the suits.

Officials of the four Montgomery banks that have been sued by the state expressed great confidence that the state has no foundation for the alleged claims. They assert that for three weeks past they have had eminent counsel examining the law covering the matters in litigation and their opinion has been given that the state cannot recover one cent from Montgomery that has been embezzled.

HOME MISSIONS INCREASE

Dr. W. B. Crumpton, of Baptist Board, Prepares His Report to Headquarters.

Montgomery.—With the closing of the fiscal year of the state Baptist mission board, Dr. W. B. Crumpton, recording secretary, reported that the receipts received for home mission work had reached a total of $14,221 and that foreign mission receipts amounted to $20,035. The home mission receipts show an increase over those of the present date last year of approximately $2,000, the amount April 23, 1912, being $12,718.

This is practically evened up by a decrease of a like amount in the foreign mission receipts as compared with those of this time last year which were $22,961. The year closed April 30, at which time Dr. Crumpton wired the total amounts received to headquarters at Richmond, Va., and Atlanta. Home mission headquarters are located at Atlanta and foreign mission headquarters at Richmond.

INVOLUNTARY BANKRUPTCY

Entered in Montgomery Against the Bankers' Bond and Finance Co.

Montgomery.—Involuntary bankruptcy proceedings have been entered in the federal court against the Bankers' Bond and Finance company of Montgomery. L. E. Aymard, general manager of the corporation, is in jail in Atlanta on a charge of embezzlement and Robert C. Howard, secretary and treasurer, is a fugitive from justice.

Aymard is under indictment in Atlanta on a charge of embezzling about $18,000 from the Owners' Supply company, of which he was purchasing agent until he came to Montgomery to organize the bond and finance company.

SCALE INSPECTORS NAMED

Will Make a Thorough Investigation of the System at Banner Mines.

Montgomery.—Professors of engineering at the University of Alabama and Alabama Polytechnic institution have been appointed members of a committee to make a thorough inspection of the scales and weighing system at Banner mines. They were appointed by Governor O'Neal and instructed to name a third person.

When the inspection is made a report will be given to Governor O'Neal.

Ganey's Accounts Correct.

Montgomery.—Report of an examination of the books and accounts of Joseph S. Ganey, president of the Fourth District Agricultural School of Sylacauga, was filed with Governor O'Neal by Charles L. Townes, state examiner of public accounts. All items credited on the books have been properly reported by the president, and no errors have been discovered, the report says. Expenditures for the year amounted to $7,138; the receipts were $7,147.

Eighth District School Dilapidated.

Montgomery.—Repairs are badly needed on the main building of the Eighth District Agricultural school of Athens and the money now in the treasury of that institution should be used for improving the condition of this building, according to a report filed with Governor O'Neal by Charles L. Townes, examiner of public accounts. Books and accounts of J. M. Atkinson, president of the school, are in splendid condition, according to Mr. Townes.

6. INSTRUCTIONS.—Results as to standing of votes will be issued after 30 days. No votes accepted at less than regular price of paper concerned in this contest. No one connected with the paper will be allowed to become a candidate in this contest or work for contestants.

Votes after being counted cannot be transferred to another. Be sure to know whom you are going to vote for before coming to the ballot box, as the editor or anyone will positively not give any information on the subject. The keys to the government ballot box shall be in possession of the awarding committee during the contest.

For the first thirty days the paper will run a 25 vote coupon which can be voted free for any lady contestant.

Contest to run not less than 60 days. Closing of contest will be announced 25 days in advance of closing. The right to postpone date of closing is reserved, if sufficient cause should occur.

The contest shall close on a day which will be announced later. 10 days prior to closing of contest, the judges will carefully lock or seal ballot box and take same to the Clanton Bank, where the same will be in a place where the voting can be done during business hours and locked in a vault at night until close of contest, when the judges will take charge and count same and announce the young ladies winning in their turn.

The last ten days all the voting must be done in a sealed box at the bank. If you do not wish anyone to know whom you are voting for, place your cash for subscriptions, together with your coupons, in a sealed envelope which will be furnished you and put same in ballot box. This will give everyone a fair and square deal.

PUBLISHED IN THE INTEREST OF CHILTON COUNTY AND HER PEOPLE

VOL 4. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY MAY 8, 1913 NO. 5

PIANO ARRIVES

BATTLE OF BALLOTS GROWS

The Press' contest piano arrived in Clanton Monday and during the afternoon was placed on exhibition at the L. Block Millinery establishment, where it was examined by quite a few of Clanton's musicians. Each and every one pronounced it a beauty, both in tone and finish, and the young ladies who are interested in the contest grew more enthusiastic than ever over their profitable chances of winning the capital prize.

Monday was a veritable "land office" business with the Press force; the editor was kept busy entering new subscriptions and counting merchant's coupons, while the mechanical force were scampering around the office till late in the evening preparing merchant's coupons to be placed with the several merchants who are interested in the contest.

By the way, Mr. W. I. Mullins who, for a short while, retired from the contest, is now right in the middle of the stream again an is dishing out coupons to cash purchasers just as fast as they pay in their shining shekels to this enterprising house. Call for them when you go into his place and see that bland smile of his spread over his handsome countenance like a ripple on a purling brook.

The success of the contest is now assured; one lady who entered the race Monday has created quite a scare among the others, she having deposited a large number of votes at the very beginning; but that should not discourage anyone for there is yet time for each candidate to more than overtake any lead secured by another.

The next count will be on Tuesday, May 13th; if you should happen to be a little in arrears on that count do not become discouraged; the final count is the one which tells the tale and there is much time from now till then to secure new subscriptions and merchant's coupons which, after all, is the deciding factor in the winning of a handsome piano.

Call by Mrs. Clara Mullins' and examine the piano; look it over well and determine that you are going to secure it for a place in your parlor.

Remember that the merchants are all giving out coupons—that is those whose advertisements appear in connection with the contest; it is not their business to give out coupons unless purchasers ask for them; hence, it is necessary for contestants to post their friends; tell them not to fail to call for coupons when making cash purchases; tell them also to trade with those merchants who are offering coupons in the Press contest and insist that they make CASH purchases, otherwise no coupons will be given.

The next thirty days will tell the tale; therefore, get busy and have your friends to get busy—EXTREMELY BUSY—that's the word

DEBARDELEBEN WINS STATE ORATORICAL

Wins By a Liberal Margin; Is Strong In Delivery. Creighton Is Second, Omaha Third.

Wesleyan was again singularly fortunate this past week in capturing first honors in another State Oratorical contest. The winner was Arthur DeBardeleben, who won out in the Peace oratorical which was staged at Omaha a week ago tonight. A large audience gathered at the Immanuel Baptist church to witness third annual contest. Three colleges were represented. Creighton, by Paul Harrington, who spoke on "The United States and World Peace;" Mebane Ramsey spoke for the University of Omaha, while Wesleyan's reputation for oratory was sustained by J. Arthur DeBardeleben with his oration, "America's Obligation."

Mr. DeBardeleben showed that America was the culminative product of the age, and as such, she had a definite duty to mankind. She must lead the World to peace. Peace could only be attained thro' the arbitration of all international difficulties. Then the next practical step for the United States was to submit to the Hague Tribunal the Panama toll question. The speaker's manner was pleasing but forceful, and showed splendid self-control. Both the Omaha speakers had all the advantage in voice but DeBardeleben's superior forcefulness, coherence, logic and the practical nature of his address, made him an easy victor.

Besides winning the prize of $75.00, Mr. DeBardeleben earned the honor of reprssenting the State of Nebraska in the oratorical contest, to be held in connection with the St. Louis Peace Congress, on May second. There he will compete with representative orators from South Dakota, Illinois, Iowa, Arkansas and Texas. At this 4th American Peace Congress, delegates will be present from twenty other American republics and Canada. Secretary of State Bryan and Andrew Carnegie will deliver addresses.

The above clipping, taken from The Wesleyan, of University Place Nebraska, will convey gratifying news to young Mr. DeBardeleben's many friends. Mr. DeBardeleben is a brother of Mrs. E. M. Pinckard, of Clanton, and has many friends here who will remember him pleasantly. The honor he has won is one which carries with it great possibilities, as he will now have an opportunity to display his oratorical ability before one of the most notable assemblies.

MULBERRY

Please allow me space in your paper to say a few words in regard to the events of our community.

The farmers are moving along nicely and everyone is kept busy with farm work.

We are glad to see the boys of this community so much interested in the debating society recently organiced.

The society will have a meeting at the schoolhouse on Saturday night next, at which time they will discuss the subject;—"Resolved that the negro was treated with more cruelty than the Indian." The speakers for the affirmative are: Messrs Clifford Mullins, Willie Martin and Wilber Speer. Negative; Messrs. Tom Mosely Oscar Davenport and Curtis Grooms. The public are cordially invited to attend this meeting and encourage the young men.

Mr. Spurgeon Williams has returned home from Africa.

The Sunday school has taken on new life; the "Busy Workers" class, under the able management of Mrs. M. Manning, is doing some very effective work.

BAKER SCOOOL HOUSE

The Webasterian Literary Society will meet at this place Saturday night, May 10, for the purpose of debating the following subject:—

Resolved: "That the Tariff Should Be Lowered" Affirmative: E. V. Mareus and Roy Oden. Negative: J. D. Welden and J. V. Best.

You are all invited to come out and hear this important subject discussed by these GOOD SPEAKERS.

Jas. Bailey, Fletcher Peterson and Sterling Lyon were all held [illegible]

OTHER COURT NEWS

The following persons are now held in jail charged either with murder in the first degree or with assault with intent to murder:

From the above it will be observed that there are now reposing behind a prison's fetid walls eight persons charged directly with having taken human life or else with an assault with intent to do so.

This does not make such a good showing for our county and it is to be sincerely hoped that the next term of court will impose such punishment upon offenders as will have a tendency to decrease crime to a large extent.

MEDICAL SOCIETY MEETS

The Chilton County Medical Society met at Soldiers Home, Mountain Creek, Tuesday, May 6. After the regular routine of business several good and instructive talks were made by the doctors present. At 1:30 the meeting adjourned and was invited to the dining hall of the Soldiers Home where a bounteous repast was served.

The Society extends thanks to Commandant Simpson and the Mountain Creek doctors for the courtesy shown and all expressed themselves as having spent both a profitable and happy day.

The Society meets again June 3, at 8 p.m., in Clanton.

T. J. Marcus, Sec'y.

HANDSOME PIANO IS NOW ON EXHIBITION

First Prize in Popular Voting Contest May be Seen at L. Block Millinery Co. Worth Working For.

Have you seen the beautiful piano which is on exhibition at the store of L. Block Millinery Co? If you have not, be sure to step in and see it. The piano arrived this week and is worth making a special trip to see.

The handsome piano is going to become the property of some young lady in the Press popular prize voting contest.

Any contestant has a good chance to win the instrument as no matter what her standing was at the last count, a few thousand votes will put her well to the head of the list. Some consistent work getting votes subscriptions for the Press and soliciting coupons by each its sure for you the merchants' coupons is the way to get the rest, and results are what every contestant is after in this contest. Although your standing may appear hopeless, a little effort on your part may place you right up at the head; and who knows that you may be the winner of the $10 IN GOLD on Tuesday, May 13. Urge your friends to assist you, to vote for you, to tell others to vote for you and at every opportunity offered make it known that you do not only want to win the grand prize piano, but also that you want the $15 in gold. Remember all the votes you are getting count on the piano, but that the more you get in before May 13th the better chance you will have to win the special prize of $15. The seven-year subscriptions need not be seven different parties, it can be seven years for one person or three years each for two persons and one single year—any way to make up the seven years so they are all the same kind.

Remember to have your friends trade with the merchants who are giving coupons.

For every seven new yearly subscriptions we will give 10,000 extra votes, making a total of 14,200.

For every seven yearly renewal subscriptions 8,000 extra votes, making a total of 11,500.

For every seven yearly back subscriptions 6,000 extra votes, making a total of 8,800 votes.

WILL OF T. U. CRUMPTON

LONG DOCUMENT ADMITTED TO PROBATE.

On April 28th, in the Probate Court an instrument in writing purporting to be the last will and testament of the late T. U. Crumpton, of Maplesville was proven by witnesses to be his will and was accordingly admitted to probate as such.

The will covers thirteen closely written legal cap pages and is witnessed by Messrs. T. C. Perry, C. M. Fushee and M. L. Martin.

It is dated December 28, 1905, and by the terms of the will Mr. Crumpton leaves his entire estate to his widow, Mrs. Ursula A. Crumpton, in trust for herself and her three children; she is also made sole executrix and is expressly exempted from giving bond or accounting to any court. By the terms of the will the entire estate except personal property, is to be kept intact till the youngest child becomes of age, at which time the estate is to be divided.

The will gives no schedule of the property owned by the testator, but it is known that Mr. Crumpton was a diligent

SINGING CONVENTION.

As announced, the Chilton County Singing Convention met in special session at Collins Chapel church, Sunday, May 4.

The Convention was opened with song by the President and prayer by Prof. M. C. Crumpton.

After which a program committee, consisting of Messrs. E. G. Cofer, J. D. Collins and Jim Mims, was appointed for the day.

The committee arranged the following program for the forenoon: James Franklin 15 minutes, Miss Eva Franklin organist; J. L. Gore 15 minutes, W. G. Culp, organist; W. G. Culp 15 minutes, Mrs. J. L. Gore organist; J. L. Harris 15 minutes, Miss Genie Collins, organist.

A quartet was then rendered by the Sunny South Quartet Band, composed of Messrs. M. C. Crumpton, James Franklin, Walter Littleton and C. Littleton.

After a lesson by M. C. Crumpton, with Miss Lizzie Oden as organist, the Convention enjoyed more than an hour in a noon recess, and most of all for the bountiful dinner which was spread by the good ladies of that community.

For the afternoon session the following program was rendered: James Franklin 15 minutes, Miss Eva Franklin organist; S. M. Yates 15 minutes, Lee Grant, organist; a quartet by the Sunny South Quartet Band; Miss Carrie Dorminy 15 minutes, W. G. Culp organist.

M. C. Crumpton was then requested to sing No. 177 in "Songs and Hymns," after which a recess of 15 minutes was enjoyed.

A quartet was then rendered by the Quartet Band composed of Messrs. J. W. Lowery, R. A. Smith, E. E. Smith and C. N. Oden; after which R. A. Smith directed a lesson of 15 minutes with Lee Grant as organist.

After song No. 320 in "S. and H," the Convention was dismissed with prayer by H. H. Mullins.

The following resolutions by the committee on resolutions, composed of Messrs. R. A. Smith, M. C. Crumpton, and T. J. Littlejohn was adopted:

1st. The Convention desires to thank the people of Collins Chapel community for their kindness and hospitality shown us during the day.

2nd. We also desire to thank the singers and visitors from other communities for their help and co-operation.

3rd. We also ask your prayers in this great cause that it may grow and prosper.

This was far the best spread session we have ever held, notwithstanding the number of gatherings same day.

Several new members were enrolled. All this goes to show the interest manifested in our Convention.

Let us say here that every singer of the county and all others interested in music should [illegible] Convention, and help in the fight for more and better music.

It has already been said by those in a position to know, that the county, from a musical standpoint, stands second to none in the State.

The county should feel very proud of this record, and strive for more, for a better musical education for the county.

Don't fail to attend the next Convention of this county in July. Also [illegible] by your work.

HUSBAND NAILED RUBBER ON GATES

Wife so Weak and Nervous Could Not Stand Least Noise—How Cured.

Munford, Ala.—"I was so weak and nervous while passing through the Change of Life that I could hardly live. My husband had to nail rubber on all the gates for I could not stand it to have a gate slam.

"I also had backache and a fullness in my stomach. I noticed that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was advertised for such cases and I sent and got a bottle. It did me so much good that I kept on taking it and found it to be all you claim. I recommend your Compound to all women afflicted as I was."—Mrs. F. P. MULLENDORE, Munford, Alabama.

An Honest Dependable Medicine

is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. A Root and Herb medicine originated nearly forty years ago by Lydia E. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass., for controlling female ills.

Its wonderful success in this line has made it the safest and most dependable medicine of the age for women and no woman suffering from female ills does herself justice who does not give it a trial.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

ECZEMA 25 YEARS FACE A MASS OF IT

Says "Resinol Cured Me of One of the Worst Cases Anybody Ever Saw."

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 20, 1912.—"I had eczema for the last twenty-five years, and have been afflicted so badly that for weeks I could not go outside the door. My face was one mass of pimples, and not only the looks of it but the itching and burning pains I experienced were just dreadful. I lost a great deal of sleep and had to keep dampened cloths on my face all night to relieve the pain. I had become disgusted with trying different things.

"One day I made up my mind to try Resinol, and after using one jar of Resinol Ointment, and one cake of Resinol Soap, I saw the difference, and now my face is as clear as anybody's, and I certainly don't need to be ashamed to go out. Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment cured me of one of the worst cases of eczema, I guess, that anybody ever saw." (Signed) Mrs. C. Hellmuth, 5611 Appletree Street.

Nothing we can say of Resinol equals what others, such as Mrs. Hellmuth, say of it. If you are suffering from itching, burning skin troubles, pimples, blackheads, dandruff, chapped face and hands, ulcers, boils, stubborn sores, or piles, it will cost you nothing to try Resinol Ointment and Soap. Just send to Dept. 11-K, Resinol Chem. Co., Baltimore, Md., for a free sample of each. Sold by all druggists.

Real Merit Has Made Bond's Liver Pills

MONTENEGRO BOWS TO WILL OF POWERS

KING NICHOLAS AND GENERALS HAVE DECIDED TO EVACUATE SCUTARI.

CABINET QUITS AS PROTEST

Montenegro's Cabinet Resigns as a Protest Against Giving Up the Fortress.

Cettings.—A royal decress summons a special meeting in the Skupstina to deal with the difficult foreign situation. King Nicholas summoned all his generals into a council of war. The majority decided in favor of the evacuation of Scutari. Therefore, the prospect of a peaceful solution is brighter.

London.—A Cettinje dispatch to a London news agency says that the Montenegrin cabinet has resigned as a protest against the policy of evacuating Scutari.

It is difficult to ascertain what is happening in Montenegro and Albania. A censorship seems to be imposed at Cettinje. Delayed dispatches, however, say a council of Montenegrin generals decided upon the evacuation of Scutari. It is stated that the Montenegrin ministry resigned on this account, although this has no official confirmation.

The occupation of Albania by Austria and Italy is becoming more and more probable each day. It is reported that the Italian minister of war has already ordered an expedition to be prepared. The prospect is regarded with the greatest uneasiness in Austria and Russia, owing to the possible effect on the Slav populations, Russia will use the utmost pressure to prevent such operations. Russia will also, according to a reliable statement published in Sofia, undertake the role of arbirator between Servia and Bulgaria.

SUNDAY SCHOOL RECORD SET

Procession 7,000 Strong Marches to Auditorium.

Atlanta, Ga.—Atlanta set a record for the world when the combined hosts of the First Christian and the Second Baptist Sunday schools gathered at the state capitol and moved in one gigantic procession, 7,000 strong, across the Washington street viaduct to the Auditorium-Armory for one of the most historic meetings in the history of America.

Such a display of fellowship by a vast concourse of people belonging to two hotly contesting churches of two separate denominations, is unparalleled. But in addition to this, living up to her record for the pinnacle of success in everything undertaken, Atlanta broke the world's Sunday school attendance record. There were 4,129 souls present at the roll call in the First Christian Sunday school by careful detailed count. This is pronounced the "biggest Sunday school in the world," experts declaring that the previous record, of about 2,800, was held by Glasgow, Scotland.

Huerta to Sweep Mexico.

Mexico City.—Assurances were given at the national palace that before the end of the week the defensive attitude thus far maintained by the government will be abandoned and that within thirty days anything having the appearance of a rebel organization will be broken. It was admitted that there will remain the task of running down isolated bands. President Huerta and the war minister, General Mondragon, as well as their counsellors, seemed confident that the forces of Venustiano Carranza, the rebel governor of Coahuila, and the rebel forces of Senora will be rendered practically harmless.

Sympathizers Charged by Police.

Asheville, N. C.—Following comparatively quiet day in the strike situation a mob of three or four hundred men and boys attacked the barns of the Asheville Power and Light company, whose motormen and conductors went on strike for an advance in wages of 3 cents an hour. Several windows were broken by volleys of bricks and stones. The police charged the crowd on several occasions.

Women Charged by Mounted Men.

London.—Wild scenes of disorder occurred at the demonstration in Trafalager square under the auspices of the free speech defense committee. The police tried to prevent speeches from the Whitehall side of the Plinth of the Nelson column and only the intervention of James Kair Hardie, socialist and independent labor member of the house of commons, who was chairman of the meeting, prevented a serious riot. As it was, the disorders, many times culminating in fisticuffs between the crowd and the police.

Chief Prison Clerk Defaults.

Jackson, Miss.—Lawrence Yerger, clerk of the board of prison trustees, was arrested charged with being a defaulter in the sum of $14,627. Yerger is said to have acknowledged to Governor Brewer that he was short in his accounts. An affidavit was filed against Yerger by Attorney General Ross A. Collins, alleging Yerger had, by making erasure and otherwise defacing his books, covered up receipts that had been turned into the prison office and appropriated the money to his own use.

BANKS TO PAY INTEREST

ALL DEPOSITARIES, BEGINNING JUNE 1, MUST PAY 2 PER CENT PER ANNUM.

WILL INCREASE CIRCULATION

McAdoo Says With Banks Paying Interest Government Deposits Will Be Increased

Washington.—The fiscal system of the United States governing deposits of federal funds in national banks was revolutionized by Secretary McAdoo, of the treasury department, with an announcement that all government depositaries, whether active or inactive, would be required to pay interest at the rate of 2 per cent per annum beginning June 1 upon deposits of the government.

Simultaneously with this action the secretary authorized an immediate increase of $10,000,000 in government deposits in the national banks, making the totad $52,649,964, from which the federal treasuhy will earn, under the new interest order, $1,053,000 annually. There are indications that Secretary McAdoo intends to release still more surplus money from the treasury vaults and place it in general circulation through increased deposits with the national banks.

In a statement Secretary McAdoo said:

"With the banks paying interest on government deposits the secretary may be justified in keeping larger balances in the national banks, thereby increasing the volume of money in circulation and to that extent reducing the amount locked up in the treasury."

GREAT FLOODS IN LOUISIANA

Many Towns Are Being Inundated and Much Suffering

Vidalia, La.—Flood water from the crevasse near Gibson's Landing has covered Harrisburg, a town of 500 inhabitants, but the rise is slow. The gap is now 2,500 feet wide, according to a report by Capt. C. O. Sherrill, United States engineer, who inspected the break.

Government tugs, barges and the New Orleans and Northwestern railroad took hundreds of refugees to Natchez. The United States tugs Harengo and Tunica alone transported 750 persons and 1,500 head of stock.

Americans Forced to Pay Ransom.

Washington.—Mexican constitutionalists at San Dimas have forced Americans there to pay ransoms of 18,000 Mexican dollars and have confiscated their arms. Official reports from Mazatlan say great unrest prevails among American residents there, as the Hureta forces are said to be insufficient to protect property. Foreign merchants in Piedras Negras are alarmed over a proclamation by Governor Carranza, chief of the state troops, authorizing an interior debt of 5,000,000 pesos.

LAND SUIT WON BY U. S.

LAND WORTH MILLIONS OF DOLLARS IS WON BY THE GOVERNMENT

Southern Pacific Ordered to Return Property Valued at $60,000,000 to United States

Portland, Ore.—Land stipulated to be worth $30,000,000 and estimated by experts to have a value of $40,000,000 to $60,000,000, was ordered taken from the Southern Pacific Railroad company and returned to the federal government by Judge C. E. Wolverton in the United States district court.

The Oregon-California land grant case, involving more than 2,300,000 acres, will be carried to the circuit court of appeals, sitting at San Francisco, and later to the United States Supreme court for final adjudication.

The case was submitted without argument after an agreement of counsel out of court.

This case was instituted in 1908. Early in the history of the case, A. W. Lafferty filed about sixty private suits for men induced to locate on the lands. The main case, demanding forfeiture of 2,300,000 acres remaining unsold, then was filed.

In the decree authorized, the Lafferty and all other intervening cases were ordered dismissed and the government's main contention for forfeiture was declared the final verdict of the lower court.

A total of 320,000 acres of the land has been sold, some of it as high as $40 an acre.

Mother Throws Sons Into Stream.

Logansport, Ind.—Mrs. Nellie Paugh, 36 years old, threw her two sons, Donald, 12, and Delbert, 6, from a bridge into Deer creek and jumped into the stream. The mother and the younger boy were drowned, but Donald swam ashore. Before throwing the boys off the bridge the mother told them she was doing so because no one loved them.

Father of 50 Children.

Walnut, Ark.—A table of "Uncle Tom" Ellison's progeny, recast after the birth of a child to one of his granddaughters, showed a surprising record. Ellison, 93 years old, has been married three times. The table showed that he was the father of fifty children; grandfather of 125 children; great-grandfather of 60 children; great-great-father of 27 children.

Surgeons to Change Man's Face.

Los Angeles, Cal.—Ortie E. McManigal, confessed dynamiter, plans to have his appearance altered by surgery when he is released. It is reported his release from the county jail may be granted at any time, and McManigal hopes to so change himself that no one will know him as the man whose testimony sent the McNamara brothers and more than a score of labor union officials to prison. Detectives say the time of release will be kept secret, to aid him, according to a statement published here

Nearly 3,000 Patches in Quilt.

Senoia, Ga.—Mrs. W. C. Wollerweider, who resides near Senoia, has a quilt with 5,500 patches or scraps, which she made in 1898. The scraps are, perhaps, the smallest ever put together in a quilt. Another unique relic in this community is a plush pocketbook owned by Frank Pope. The plush is covered with beads worked into leaves, fourteen colors of beads being used. The pocketbook was made by the Indians and presented to Mrs. Cobb before they left this county more than 100 years ago.

CALIFORNIA PASSES THE ANTI-ALIEN BILL

SENATE REFUSES TO PASS RESOLUTION DEFERRING TO PRESIDENT'S WISHES.

OBJECTIONAL PART CUT OUT

Amendment Adopted Permitting Ineligible Aliens to Lease Lands for Not Exceeding Three Years

Measure Passed by 36 Votes to 2.

The administration anti-alien holding bill, drawn by Attorney general Webb passed the senate by a vote of 30 to 2, after nearly ten hours of debate.

The only negative votes were cast by Senator Cartwright, Democrat, and Senator Wright, Republican.

Governor Johnson will sign the alien bill as soon as it comes to him, reserving a "reasonable time" in which to listen to protests.

"I have assured Mr. Bryan," he said, "that when the bill comes to me from the legislature I will wait a reasonable time for his protests. I cannot say how long."

Sacramento, Cal.—The California senate showed a resolute determination to put aside the recommendations of President Wilson and his envoy, Secretary Bryan, and pass an act prohibiting Japanese and other aliens ineligible to citizenship from holding land by purchase or by lease for more than three years.

In phraseology, the bill as redrafted by Attorney General Webb after many conferences with Governor Johnson and the administration floor leaders, omitted the words "ineligible to citizenship" which are offensive to Japan, but those in charge of the bill repeatedly admitted in debate that the end sought was the same.

Democratic opposition was purely tactical. The minority confessed its sympathy with the ends sought and freely criticised the bill, not as too drastic, but as too weak. Where the minority differed was in its judgment of the means wisest to employ. This attitude found its expression in a resolution offered by Senator Curtin and defeated by a vote of 10 ayes to 26 noes. The administration majority for the bill was solid with a single exception. In opposition were eight out of ten Democrats, one progressive and Senator Wright, of San Diego, the lone Taft Republican in the chamber.

RESCUE STEAMER SINKS

Two Whites and Eleven Negroes Lose Lives When Boat Sinks.

Natchez, Miss.—The steamer Concordia, of Natchez, which was engaged in rescue work in the flooded sections of Tensas and Concordia parishes, struck the iron railroad bridge at Clayton, La., and sank.

Eleven Negro refugees who were aboard the steamer were drowned when the boat went down.

The Concordia probably will be a total loss, as she was badly wrecked by the collision with the bridge and is submerged in about 25 feet of water in the Tensas river. The steamer had about 130 Negroes on board when she went down.

The Concordia was bringing to Natchez flood refugees rescued from housetops and second stories of buildings just above Clayton, which is several miles inland from the river.

The steamer has been navigating crevasse water ranging from 8 to 15 feet deep where less than a week ago there were fine farms and prosperous villages.

Four-Year-Old Child Sets Barn Afire.

Elberton, Ga.—The 4-year-old Child of G. L. Wallace, Bowman, in this county, crawled into a barn next to the warehouse in Bowman, set fire in some way to the building and was cremated. Until its crisp body was found it was not known the child was in the barn.

Bandit Raids Train.

Robbery of the Joplin millionaire was the primary object of the giant bandit who held up a Kansas City Southern passenger train in the Kansas City suburbs, According to the police theory. After a pistol fight with Mr. Short in the Pullman, the robber fell off the train wounded, carrying $1,000 of Short's money. The mine owner was left dying in his berth with three bullets in his body. Physicians say Short will recover. The total amount obtained was $1,100 in money and a diamond.

Auto Slayer is Given 14 Years.

Chicago.—Lawrence Lindbloom, a chauffeur, who in 1910 ran over and killed Joseph Weise, was found guilty of murder and sentenced to fourteen years' imprisonment. The evidence showed he was driving about 35 miles an hour when the car struck Weise. In instructing the jury Judge Cooper said if it had been shown that Lindbloom was driving his machine in such a manner as to endanger human life they should find him guilty whether the killing was accidental or intentional.

COULDN'T SIT COULDN'T STAND

But Now Rides Horseback, Walks Two Miles Without Tiring, and Has Red, Rosy Cheeks.

Tullahoma, Tenn.—"I am ever ready to praise Cardui, the woman's tonic," writes Mrs. Mary Carroll, of this place, "as it has done wonders for me.

I suffered so from womanly trouble I could not stand on my feet long enough at a time to do anything, and I could not even sit down, I was in such misery. The pains in my head were terrible.

After taking only two bottles of Cardui, the woman's tonic, I felt much relieved.

I have now taken five bottles, and feel like my old self again. I can go where I please, ride horse-back, and even walk as much as two miles, without feeling tired, and I don't have those terrible pains in my head any more.

I look young again, and have red, rosy cheeks, like I had in my girlhood days.

Now I weigh 137 pounds.

I want you to use this letter in any way you see fit, as it may be the means of helping other suffering women."

Nothing Doing for Him.

A well known but broken-down Detroit newspaper man, who had been a power in his day, approached an old friend the other day and said: "What do you think? I have just received the prize insult of my life. A paper down in Muncie, Ind., offered me a job." "Do you call that an insult?" "Not the job, but the salary. They offered me twelve dollars a week." "Well," said the friend, "twelve dollars a week is better than nothing." "Twelve dollars a week—thunder!" exclaimed the old scribe. "I can borrow more than that right here in Detroit."

MORE THAN EVER

Increased Capacity for Mental Labor Since Leaving Off Coffee.

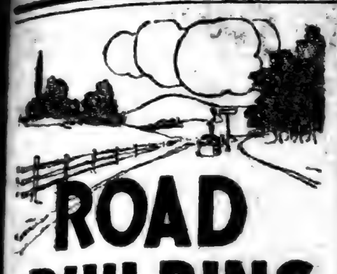
Many former coffee drinkers who have mental work to perform, day after day, have found a better capacity and greater endurance by using Postum instead of coffee. An Ills. Woman writes:

"I had drank coffee for about twenty years, and finally had what the doctor called 'coffee heart.' I was nervous and extremely despondent; had little mental or physical strength left, had kidney trouble and constipation.

"The first noticeable benefit derived from the change from coffee to Postum was the natural action of the kidneys and bowels. In two weeks my heart action was greatly improved and my nerves steady.

"Then I became less despondent, and the desire to be active again showed proof of renewed physical and mental strength.

"I am steadily gaining in physical strength and brain power. I formerly did mental work and had to give it up on account of coffee, but since using Postum I am doing hard mental labor with less fatigue than ever before."



Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Postum now comes in new concentrated form called Instant Postum. It is regular Postum, so processed at the factory that only the soluble portions are retained.

A spoonful of Instant Postum with hot water, and sugar and cream to taste, produce instantly a delicious beverage.

ROAD BUILDING

URGE NATIONAL GOOD ROADS

Recent Convention Adopts Resolution Proposing Highways From Washington to Capitals.

That national roads be built connecting Washington with the capitals of every state in the Union was the tenor of a resolution unanimously adopted by the national good roads federal aid convention at a session recently held in Washington. The resolution further advocated the creation, wherever they do not now exist, of "effective state departments in every state" for the construction and maintenance of good roads.

A proposition, made by William T. Page on behalf of Representative Slemp of Virginia, urging the appointment of a committee in the house of representatives to look after legislation affecting good roads, was heartily indorsed, although no formal action was taken.

Representative Moss of West Virginia criticised the tendency which, he said, seemed to characterize some of the speakers, to encourage class distinctions and similar "factionalism." His remarks followed addresses by several speakers who said the farmers were holding back the good roads projects because they believed them to be only "automobile roads."

"I believe the farmer is entitled to consideration," said Mr. Moss. "I think reckless drivers should have their licenses taken away from them. But I am also against the farmer who believes he has the exclusive right to the roads. The roads are for all the people, rich and poor. We should all stand shoulder to shoulder in this proposition and not encourage any factionalism."

Other speakers included Representative Kinkaid of Nebraska, Judge J. M. Lowe of Kansas City, Mo.; Pendleton

Judge Lowe in his address declared that congress should not hesitate to appropriate money for good roads, as it has appropriated enough for rivers and harbors.

Aided Good Roads.

The inauguration of the parcel post did more for the good roads movement than any sigle action of the government in many years. The constitution specifically provides for the construction of post roads. That the parcel post cannot be successful unless the government exercises its power in imporving the highways is accepted as a fact.

Good Roads in Texas.

The citizens of Montgomery county, Texas, recently voted bonds to the amount of $250,000 to be used in constructing good roads in this county. Work will begin at the earliest possible date.

No Encouragement.

In considering roads remember that there are few towns that look so good to the farmer that he will kill his horse to get there.

Bad Roads a Tax.

Bad roads are a tax and a fearful limitation upon the business and social life of country people.

IS WISE LEGISLATION

WORKING OF UNDERWOOD TARIFF WILL BENEFIT COUNTRY.

American Manufacturers, Second to None, Are Sure to Rise to the Occasion and Maintain the Nation's Supremacy.

That the American manufacturer, spurred by a competitive tariff to greater activity to retain control of his home market, will increase his efficiency to such an extent that he will make new trade conquests abroad, is the prediction of the Democratic members of the house ways and means committee who framed the Underwood tariff bill.

The report signed by the fourteen Democratic members of the committee has been presented to the house. They estimate that for the first fiscal year following the passage of the bill the receipts of the government will be less than the disbursements by $68,790,000. To meet this deficit the income tax has been framed and it is estimated the revenue from this tax will be $70,125,000.

According to the committee's estimates, the customs revenue from the Underwood bill will be $37,896,000 less than the customs receipts from the Payne law in 1912.

It is estimated that the chemical schedule of the new bill will produce $12,986,000 as against $12,239,742 in the Payne law, the earthenware schedule, $9,497,000 as against $11,156,221; metal schedule, $15,549,000 as against $17,346,221; wood schedule, $898,000 as against $3,042,834; sugar schedule, $40,196,000 as against $50,951,000; tobacco schedule, $26,002,000 as against $25,571,000; agricultural schedule, $21,567,000 as against $34,146,000; spirits, $21,987,000 as against $17,409,000; cotton, $11,257,000 as against $11,085,000; flax, hemp and jute, $15,977,000 as against $49,062,000; wool, $12,744,000 as against $27,072,000; silk, $16,212,000 as against $13,695,000; pulp and paper, $2,957,000 as against $4,836,000; sundries, $59,952,000 as against $26,931,000.

Chemicals from 25 to 10 per cent.; earthenware, 50 to 33; metals, 34 to 20; wood, 12 to 3; sugar, 48 to 35; agricultural, 29 to 16; spirits, 83.9 to 83.30; cotton, 45 to 30; flax, 45 to 20; wool, 55 to 18; silks, 51 to 44; pulp and paper, 21 to 11. Increases: Tobacco, 82 to 85; sundries, 24 to 33.

It is estimated the amount of dutiable importations under the bill would increase in value from $759,209,915 to $798,956,000. The average duty under the Payne law is 40.12 per cent., as against an estimated average duty under the Underwood bill of 29.60 per cent.

Under the income tax law it is estimated that 425,000 incomes, including corporations as well as individuals, will be taxable. The greatest amount of revenue, according to the calculations, will be derived from incomes within the range from $25,000 to $100,000. Over 100 incomes taxable at 1 per cent., as well as 1, 2 and 3 per cent. surtaxes, are included in the reckoning.

The income from the tax on these immense incomes will bring in all told, $5,826,000. The committee estimates that 126,000 incomes between $4,000 and $5,000 will be subject to the 1 per cent. tax, yielding $530,000. According to the estimates, however, the greatest number of taxable incomes will be in the range of $5,000 to $10,000. These will yield to the government, if the expectations of the committee's calculators are borne out by experience, $5,340,000.

Do Away With Monopoly.

There is no question that in the past there has been an undue protection which has fostered monopoly, and that there have been instances of favoritism which were almost criminal. If the Democratic leaders, in their rearrangement of the tariff schedules, go no further than to make an equitable distribution of the burden of taxation and abolish extortionate duties, thus relieving the people without closing any factory doors, the distress of 1893 will not be repeated, and the Democratic party can remain in power indefinitely.

Protected Workmen Not Afraid.

While the unbridged and perhaps unbridgable gap between Republicans and Progressives is the obvious primary cause of the Democratic victory in the thirteenth Massachusetts congress district, it is right for President Wilson to congratulate and to be congratulated on that triumph. It shows that his popular mandate is as strong as ever. It shows that the old protection bugbears cannot frighten the workmen in certain protected industries whose protection is cut off or cut down by the Democratic tariff bill of 1913.

Why, Indeed?

If the American manufacturers can compete with Englishmen in England, and Germans in Germany, and Frenchmen in France, and Italians in Italy, why cannot they compete with any of them in this country? Why do they have to be "protected" here?—Baltimore Sun.

"Every Picture Tells a Story"

Housework is hard enough for a healthy woman. The wife who has a bad back, who is weak or tired all the time, finds her duties a heavy burden. Thousands of nervous, discouraged, sickly women have traced their troubles to sick kidneys — have found quick and thorough relief through using Doan's Kidney Pills.

A North Carolina Case

Mrs. J. W. Wilkinson, Statesville, N. C., says: "I suffered severely from bladder inflammation and almost total suppression of kidney secretions. My usual weight was 140 lbs., but I had run down to 98. Doctors said an operation was my only hope, but I would not consent and was given up to die. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me completely."

There With the "Nerve."

The conversation led to the beauty of having abundant nerve the other evening, when Senator Clapp of Minnesota told of a man who went into a fashionable restaurant, accompanied by a couple of children, and after ordering a lemon soda, asked the waiter to bring him three plates. This, according to Senator Clapp, the waiter did, but when he saw the man take some sandwiches from his pocket, put them on the plates, and pass them around to the kids, he reported the matter to the boss. "What are you doing?" indignantly cried the manager, rushing over to the sandwich party. "Don't you know that this isn't a free picnic ground, where you bring your own food?" "Is that so?" was the calm rejoinder of the man, passing along another sandwich. "Who are you?" "I am the manager," blustered the boss, with rising heat. "I—" "Just the very person that I have been looking for," interjected the imperturbed party. "Why isn't the orchestra playing?"

AWFUL ECZEMA ON FACE

Freeland, Md.—"Baby's eczema started in little spots and would burst and run all over his face and wherever the water would touch his face, it would make another sore. Pimples would break out and make his face sore and inflamed, and he was very cross and fretful. It was awful. He suffered tortures from it, and we had to tie mittens on his hands to keep him from scratching. A friend of mine told me of the Cuticura Soap and Ointment and I went to a drug store and bought them.

"When we would bathe his face with the Cuticura Soap and apply the Cuticura Ointment, he would be much better. He would wake up in the nights and cry with his face and we would put on some of the Cuticura Ointment and then he would rest all night. They have cured him completely of the eczema." Introducing Breakfast Foods.

Until recently there were hardly any kinds of breakfast foods on sale in the Amsterdam grocery stores. But now several dealers are handling them. The Dutch do not, as a rule, serve a warm meat breakfast, but almost universally take a cold, light meal, consisting of bread, cheese, cold meats, milk and tea or coffee.

MOVEMENT THAT WAS FATAL

Sitter at a Loss to Understand Why Temporary Absence Should Have Spoiled the Plate.

Chairman Underwood of the ways and means committee was talking, at a luncheon in Washington, about tariff revision.

"We must obey the country's mandate," he said. "If we don't, our tariff revision will be disastrous. We'll fail as lamentably as the sitter for the wet-plate photograph.

"When photography first began, you know, they used wet plates, and a sitter required eight or nine minutes. Well, a man once went to be taken, and the photographer put in his wet plate, demanded perfect immobility, and took off the cap.

"During the long exposure, the photographer left the room a moment. On his return everything seemed to be going all right, but when the exposure ended, and he rushed to his closet to develop the wet plate, there was nothing on it but a blur.

"Very much disgusted, he showed this blur to the sitter.

"'You must have moved,' he said.

"The sitter looked at the spoiled plate and laughed in amazement.

"'Well, I declare!' he said. 'Who'd have thought that just running over to the window for a minute to see a drunken man would have done all that? I sat right down again.'"

Even in Death.

"Of course these dancers were all right," he said, "and they got off. Their arrest was dictated by prudery. Such prudery reminds me of a hospital I know.

"In the building of this hospital a cold storage chamber for the accommodation of dead bodies was included. One of the hospital doctors, in going through this cold storage chamber, found that a partition divided it in two.

"'What's this partition for?' he

"'Oh, sir,' said the foreman primly, 'that's to keep the sexes apart.'"

May Revive Old Law.

An old, forgotten law, enacted in Kansas at a time of great need and never used, is to be called into action after lying dormant in the statute books more than a third of a century. It is the old "warning out" law, made to fight the grasshoppers after the disastrous raids of the locusts in the early seventies. There never has been a time when it was needed heretofore, but Gov. George H. Hodges has been petitioned to invoke its use in central Kansas to fight the chinch bugs, which threatened to do great damage to growing crops this year.

Over-Night Relief for Constipation

A Small Dose on Retiring and You Are Well and Happy by Morning

Mr. A. B. Danner.

It is only natural that the simplest of ailments should be the most general, and so we have a whole nation suffering from constipation and indigestion, for they are closely allied. But common as constipation is many people do not seem to know they have it. They will complain of headache, drowsiness or biliousness, all unconscious of the cause of the trouble.

You should have a full and free movement at least once a day. If you pass a day you are constipated, and the result will be that you will catch a cold easily or have a more serious ailment. To cure the constipation and forestall still graver trouble take a dose of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at night before retiring and by morning relief will come, without disturbance from sleep or any inconvenience.

Legions of people use it regularly in such emergencies, some of them formerly chronic invalids who have suffered from constipation all their lives. Mr. A. B. Danner, 326 Riley St., Harrisburg, Pa., says: "Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin gave me almost instant relief from stomach and bowel trouble. I now eat anything I want, and sleep well." Many others will tell you that they have tried most things recommended for this purpose but have found Syrup Pepsin the only one always reliable. A bottle can be obtained at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar, the latter size being bought by families already familiar with its merits.

Syrup Pepsin is mild, pleasant-tasting, and non-griping. Mothers give it to tiny infants, and yet it is effective in grown-ups. It is for everyone who suffers from any form of stomach, liver or bowel trouble, constipation dyspepsia, biliousness, etc. Its action will so delight you that you will forever avoid harsh cathartics, purgatives, pills and salts.

If no member of your family has ever used Syrup Pepsin and you would like to make a personal trial of it before buying it in the regular way of a druggist, send your address—a postal will do—to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 208 Washington St., Monticello, Ill., and a free sample bottle will be mailed you.

Poor little Montenegro. She put up a valiant fight, was brilliantly successful and then her big brothers came along like vultures and despoiled her of the fruits of her victory!

The anti-alien land law in California seems not to have been such a big bug-a-boo after all, but you watch our good friend Hobson pull several vote-getting stunts out of it.

We do not claim to be a prophet but we predict that when Jas. G. Oakley decides to open his mouth and say something, he's going to say "a God's plenty." Lots of things some other officials will not like to be made public.

It seems rather strange that Gov. O'Neal should have waited so long before deciding to oust his two secretaries and his stenographer. If the reason assigned by him as the cause—that the two secretaries were candidates for public office—why should he have waited so long?

It has been well known for many months that Jim Nunnelee, his recording secretary, was a candidate for Secretary of State. It has also been conceded that McNeel was seeking an appointment at the hands of President Wilson, with fair chance of success. This has been known since the election last November. Why then should he bave waited so long to sever their connection with his office if in reality he did so for the reasons assigned by him?

Then too, why did he overlook Mr. H. Y. Brooke, one of the public examiners, an appointee of the Governor, when he was traveling all over the State campaigning for Congressman at large? The fact that he was on leave of absence makes no particular difference—in fact it makes it rather worse for he was on leave of absence with full pay, while the two gentlemen recently discharged were rendering faithful service to the State for the pay they were receiving.

Is it unlawful for a subordinate under an official to aspire to office? Consistency, thou art a jewel!

DEATH OF MRS. B. F. HIGGINS, SR.

VENERABLE MOTHER IN ISRAEL PASSES AWAY.

In Clanton on last Sunday occurred the death of Mrs. B. F. Higgins, Sr., who for more than sixty-seven years walked righteously before her God and won the respect and esteem of every one with whom she came in contact, Mrs. Higgins, before her marriage to B. F. Higgins, Sr., in 1865 was Miss Josaphene Smith of Coosa county, a young lady beloved by all her acquaintances.

The death of this greatly beloved mother, while not unexpected, was a severe stroke to the three affectionate children who survive her and whose hearts are now bowed in grief at the loss of an affectionate mother and friend.

Mrs. Higgins survived her husband somewhat less than a year, he having died in August of last year.

The funeral services were held Monday at the old family burial ground in the eastern part of Chilton county and was attended by many of the friends of the family.

L&N

PERSISTENT DEVELOPMENT

In the operation of the Agricultural Department of the Immigration and Industrial Bureau, the L. & N. is not satisfied with merely locating settlers along its line, but is continually seeking ways and means of being of assistance to them.

The L. & N. furthers the work of the experimenters by placing at the service of the farmer experts to show them how they can apply the results of the study of the scientists in a manner that will work for his good. In other words the L. & N. endeavors to harness theory and practice together, believing that a team can pull a load that neither working singly can budge.

Thus the railroad has become an agronomist, a horticulturist, an entomologist, an animal husbandman and a dairy expert. Being continually called upon to analyze various minerals, it is also chemist, assayer and geologist.

One of the most valuable features of this work is the plan to take the knowledge gleaned in these various fields of research direct to the farmer through the medium of special trains, bulletins and personal visitation by experienced and sympathetic men equipped both theoretically and practically to preach Better Farming.

This work will be carried forward intelligently, sympathetically, persistently. Its object is to more rapidly develop the rich natural resources of the matchless territory along the lines of the L. & N. The service is free to those living along the lines of the L. & N. who make application to Mr. G. A. Park, General Immigration and Industrial Agent, Louisville, Ky.

The service will not be offered or urged on any individual farmer, but the hope is expressed that those engaged in agricultural pursuits will feel free to avail themselves of the facilities built up and retained by the L. & N. for the co-operative development of the territory to its highest and most economical efficiency.

"Clincher" Paint

We know a paint which holds to the wood like a driven nail. Seasoned lumber is porous. The pores are the empty sap-cells. White lead paint, which dries on the wood in the form of a solid, elastic film, fastens into these pores, and the whole coat of paint is actually riveted like armor-plate to the surface it decorates and protects.

Collier White Lead

Fighting Hookworm Disease

Nearly a Quarter of a Million People Have Been Treated For This Scourge of All Warm Climates—States and Counties Co-operating

THE fight against the ravages of hookworm disease in the United States is one of the most inspiring and hopeful events ever recorded in the age long history of man's struggle against ailments that sap his strength and weaken him in body and mind.

It is a fight against an enemy of mankind that infests every country in the world that is blessed with a warm climate, and therefore is found in this country in our southern states.

It is an inspiring fight to the victim of the disease, for it brings him relief from pain and illness, restores him to healthful vigor, makes life again worth living and lifts him to a higher plane of usefulness to himself and to his community.

It is an inspiring flight to the patriotic lover of America, for it shows how when philanthropist and scientist furnish the means and the knowledge how quickly American people, through their state and county government and by their individual efforts, will help to solve certainly a problem that was for centuries deemed unsolvable.

For so long a time that the memory of man runneth not to the contrary people living in warm climates have suffered from thin bloodedness, from lassitude, from inability to work with either mind or body in a fashion happily unknown to people in the colder latitudes. Many names were given to these diseases and many cures were suggested, but the great majority of the sufferers never found relief in all their blighted lives.

Then came the scientist and his microscope and found that the trouble was that tiny worms, too small for the eye to see, abounded in polluted soil, and that they worked their way in through the skin of a person's feet and found their way into his bowels, there to grow larger and to fasten themselves in the wall of the bowels and suck the blood of the luckless victim. And more, there to lay eggs to pollute the soil that an endless chain of suffering might be kept up. When the microscope found how these worms were sucking people's blood, then the chemist found that a certain drug would kill them and not hurt the person who took it. Thus science laid the foundation for this great fight.

The health agents started in to do their work, teaching the people not only how to be cured of the disease, but how to prevent it in the future. Soon they had obtained the hearty co-operation of county and school district governments, of physicians and of citizens generally—not least to be mentioned that of the victims of the disease, who came for miles and miles to the dispensaries to be treated.

That is how the fight was organized. Here is how it has been carried on. Up until June 30, 1912, a total of 221,368 persons had been treated in the several states as follows:

Alabama	28,693
Arkansas	1,944
Georgia	13,618
Kentucky	367
Louisiana	22,039
Mississippi	45,111
North Carolina	78,668
South Carolina	19,811
Tennessee	5,735
Virginia	10,392
	221,368

How rapidly the work is going forward is shown by the fact that of this number 80,990 were treated in the first six months of the current year. Indeed, half the work in Louisiana, three-fourths of that in South Carolina and all of that in Kentucky has been done since the first of last January.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL CAMPAIGN.

The most thorough County Sunday School Campaign ever planned by the Alabama Sunday School Association was arranged Wednesday, April 23rd, 1913, at a conference between General Secretary Palmer of the State Association, and E. L. Thornton and Miss Mary Carr Gibson, President and Secretary respectively of the Chilton County Sunday School Association. The conference was held at Verbena and resulted in a plan providing for a nine days campaign with four workers (two from the State Association and two from the County Association.) Beginning at one corner of the county and sweeping around in a circle, with from two to six meetings in each of the six districts of the county.

In this way every section of the county will be touched, and it is hoped that as nearly as possible every one of the sixty-three Sunday schools of all denominations in the county will be reached and helped.

The campaign will begin on Sunday, May 11, and close on Monday, May 19. The widest publicity will be given throughout the county, every Sunday school of every denomination invited to attend. The speakers will be Leon C Palmer, General Secretary, and Miss Myra Batchelder, Field Secretary and Elementary Superintendent of the Alabama Sunday School Association, from Montgomery, and E. L. Thornton of Mountain Creek and Miss Mary Carr Gibson of Verbena, President and Secretory respectively of the Chilton County Sunday School Association. The meetings will be held as District Sunday School Conventions and the topics discussed will be strictly of a practical nature, designed to help in the actual working of the Sunday school.

The itinerary is as follows: Sunday, May 11, New Cedron; Monday, May 12th, Stanton; Tuesday, May 13th, Mt. Nebo; Wednesday, May 14th, Mulberry church; Thursday, May 15th, Macedonia; Friday, May 16th, Jemison; Saturday, May 17th, Liberty Hill; Sunday, May 18th, Clanton; Monday, May 19th, Salem (morning) and Coopers (night.)

CLOSE OF SCHOOL.

Editor Press:—Please allow me space in your valuable paper to say a few words in regard to our school, which closed on April 30 taught by Prof. L. A. Popwell.

The pupils all recited several interesting pieces, and we had a lot of visitors. The music played on the graphaphone by Miss Dona Maddox was enjoyed by all who were present. Mr. Popwell has taught a seven-months school and all the pupils were very sorry to see him leave, but we hope to have him with us again.

Mr. O. B. Thompson has returned from Atlanta, Ga., where he has been standing examination for an appointment.

What Three Bushels More to the Acre Means

EIGHT years ago the farmers in a central state averaged crops that ran three bushels less to the acre than they now get. Suppose each acre of farm land in the country were so tended that it produced an increase equal to that of this state. How much more money would you have with which to buy the luxuries of life that you earn and deserve? Your share in this prosperity depends entirely upon yourself. The first step is to fertilize your land properly with manure spread by an

The spreader that does its work as it should must have many excellent mechanical features. The apron should move without jerking; the beater should meet the load at exactly the right point to pulverize the manure without too greatly increasing the draft of the machine; the speed changes of the apron should be positive. All these features are provided for in the construction of I H C spreaders.

I H C spreaders are made in low styles which are not too low for use in deep mud or snow, narrow and wide, with both reverse and endless aprons, for use under all conditions. The rear axle is located well under the box, instead of at the rear. Placed in that position (under the box) it carries over 70 per cent of the load and insures ample tractive power.

CASES OF THE THIRD DIVISION

Supreme Court Will Wrestle With Cases the Greater Part of Week.

Montgomery.—The supreme court took up the call of the Third judicial division one of the heaviest divisions in the state. This division includes the counties of Montgomery, Autauga, Butler, Escambia, Conecuh and Lowndes.

The court will probably be busy with cases from the Third division the greater part of the week, as the Montgomery docket is usually very heavy. No capital cases are to be submitted to the court from Montgomery county at this term of court. At the last call of the Third division four capital cases were appealed to the court from Montgomery county. These were Walter Jones and Arnold Gilmer, white, and John Adams and Coleman German, negroes, all of whom were executed in the early part of last month.

THREE STATE OFFICIALS RESIGN

Nunnelee, Simpson and McNeel Tender Their Resignations.

Montgomery.—Governor O'Neal requested and immediately received the resignation of John D. McNeel, his private secretary, James H. Nunnelee, his recording secretary, and D. T. Simpson, a stenographer in his office.

The resignation of Mr. McNeel was sought on the ground that he is an applicant for a federal appointment, while Mr. Nunnelee was asked to discontinue his services in the executive offices by reason of the fact that he is a candidate for the office of secretary of state. No reason was assigned by the governor in asking for the resignation of Mr. Simpson.

Simultaneous with his request asking for the resignation of Mr. McNeel the governor announced the appointment of Daniel W. Troy, of Montgomery, to the position of private secretary. Mr. Troy has been for the past two years employed as special counsel to compel foreign corporations to comply with the state laws relative to registering to do business in Alabama and designating an authorized agent. It was stated that Mr. Troy will only serve temporarily.

The request for the resignation of three of the attaches of the executive offices came as one of the biggest surprises in official circles at the capitol in several weeks. It was known that Mr. McNeel would probably resign as secretary to the governor within the near future, but there had been no intimation in official circles that Recording Secretary J. H. Nunnelee would for any reason discontinue his services in the executive department.

In his letter requesting the resignation of Mr. Nunnelee, Governor O'Neal declared that he had been subjected to criticism by reason of the fact that he (Nunnelee) was seeking an important public office while holding a position of trust in his office.

"You will readily understand that while personally your friend, I cannot consent that any prestige or influence which your position may carry should be used, or appear to be used, in aid of your candidacy," said the governor. "I never object to criticism unless in my judgment that criticism is just. Believing in this case that criticism is well founded, it does not seem to me that there is any alternative for me to take except to suggest that your connection with me officially should cease. I am constrained, for these reasons, to ask you for your resignation. I wish to express to you my gratitude for the loyal and efficient service you have rendered while you have been connected with my administration, and to assure you of my best wishes."

Immediately after receiving the governor's letter requesting his resignation, Recording Secretary James H. Nunnelee wrote the governor a very warm letter, thanking him for the many courtesies he had received at the hands of the executive and assuring him that he would be as loyal in the future as he had been in the past.

John Moffatt, of Montgomery, succeeds Mr. Nunnelee.

W. F. FEAGIN' SACCOUNTS O. K.

Montgomery.—The accounts of W. F. Feagin, secretary and treasurer of the nine district agricultural schools, are neatly and accurately kept and proper vouchers have been filed by him for all receipts and expenditures, according to a report filed with Governor O'Neal by Charles L. Townes, examiner of public accounts.

According to the report, the balance on hand March 31, 1912, was $11,553; appropriations by the state amounted to $40,500 and fees aggregated $23,644. Disbursements of $67,568 were made, leaving a balance of $8,129 on hand March 31, 1913.

Books of the Oyster Commission Are Found Correct.

Montgomery.—A clean slate has been given J. A. Joullian, of Coden, secretary and treasurer of the Alabama oyster commission, by State Examiner J. T. Gorman, in a report filed with the governor. The report is for the two years ending last December.

During the period the receipts were $10,171 and disbursements $8,562, leaving a balance of $1,069.

Governor Grants Two Paroles.

Montgomery.—Two paroles were granted by Governor O'Neal to white men of Madison county. The second parole was awarded to William Witt, who was sentenced to serve a term in the penitentiary for bigamy. His parole also was recommended by the board of pardons.

STATE WINS RATE VICTORY OVER L. & N.

GRUBB RULES RAILROAD COMMISSION HAS POWER TO ENFORCE ITS OWN ORDERS.

WAS NOT IN CONTEMPT

Passenger Fares Will Now Drop to Two and a Half Cents Unless Appeal is Taken.

Birmingham.—Another chapter in the long railroad passenger rate litigation was written when a decree was issued by United States Judge W. I. Grubb upholding the order of the state railroad commission that the Louisville & Nashville Railroad company should reduce its passenger rate to 2 1-2 cents a mile.

The order of the railroad commission was attacked by the Louisville & Nashville on the ground that it was in contempt of a former decree issued by United States Judge Thomas G. Jones, of the middle district of Alabama, in which Judge Jones held that a 2 1-2 cent passenger rate law passed by the state legislature was confiscatory.

The gist of Judge Grubb's decision is as follows:

The two and one-half cent rate enjoined by Judge Jones was a statutory rate enacted by the state legislature. The Alabama railroad commission is a rate-making body with jurisdiction to put into effect any rate it deems reasonable. The injunction by Judge Jones was not made against an action that might be taken by the railroad commission, but against the particular law passed by the legislature decreeing a two and one-half cent passenger rate. The railroad's only remedy from the situation would be to enjoin, or attempt to enjoin, the new rate made by the railroad commission, just as it did the old rate made by the legislature. The decision further takes into account that conditions have changed since the passage of the two and one-half cent rate by the legislature, and that these changed conditions might have made it possible for the two and one-half cent rate, formerly enjoined, to now be remunerative.

In the event the Louisville & Nashville seeks to restrain the enforcement of the 2 1-2 cent passenger rate it will be necessary to enjoin the railroad commission from enforcing it.

It was pointed out that when the cases were tried in 1907 one United States judge could enjoin the rate. Now, under an act passed by congress, three United States judges are necessary to obtain an injunction. However, the state law provides that an injunction against the orders of the railroad commission can be obtained in the state courts.

The decision which Judge Grubb handed down will be followed by the railroad commission taking up the 2 1-2 cent petitions now pending against the Central of Georgia and the Western of Alabama railroads.

Petitions asking that the 2 1-2 cent rate be ordered on these two railroads have been pending before the commission for seevral weeks and the hearings have been held up pending a decision by Judge Grubb.

The controversy over the two and one-half cent passenger rate on the railroads of Alabama started in 1907 when the legislature enacted a law making the two and one-half cent passenger rate the legal rate in Alabama. The railroads appealed to Federal Judge Jones, who issued an injunction against the enforcement of the two and one-half cent rate. The state appealed to the United States circuit court of appeals and the injunction was dissolved and the rate ordered put into effect until the case was tried on its merits. On the trial of the case Judge Jones issued a permanent injunction against the enforcement of the two and one-half cent rate.

According to the decision handed down by United States Judge W. I. Grubb, in the Louisville & Nashville passenger rate case the two and one-half cent rate on all of the lines of the Louisville & Nashville between points within Alabama will go into effect on May 20, unless the court enjoins the order of the commission.

Sydney J. Bowie, special counsel for the Louisville & Nashville stated that the railroad would not announce what its further course would be until after a conference between the officials and the legal department of the road.

Gompers' Sentence Is Reduced.

Washington.—Contempt of court judgments against Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell and Frank Morrison, for their violation of a courts' injunction in the noted Buck's stove and range case, were affirmed by the district court of appeals, but the jail sentences imposed were held to have been too severe, so the court reduced Gompers' sentence from one year to 90 days, and decreed that Mitchell and Morrison should merely be fined $500 each.

NEWS and GOSSIP of WASHINGTON

"Canned" Indian Songs to Be Placed in Archives

WASHINGTON.—Geoffrey O'Hara, recently appointed by the interior department at Washington to record the tribal songs and music of all American Indians, began his work in New York city the other day by taking his first phonographic records of the songs of the Blackfeet Indians from Glacier National park, Mont. Secretary of the Interior Lane took advantage of the Blackfeet Indians being in New York. He sent Mr. O'Hara on to New York from Washington to begin his laborious task with these Indians. Mr. O'Hara is having them sing into phonographs and the records will be brought to this city to be put in the government archives, preserving for all time the music of the original Americans.

The Indians have been singing to the phonographs under the direction of Mr. O'Hara. The Indians could hardly grasp the idea at first of how they could sing into a tin horn and thereby record their music. After the first song had been sung, however, the reproduction was given them in a few minutes and the magic of the operation was bewildering to them.

Mr. O'Hara is arranging to visit Glacier National park early this summer and complete his records of the Blackfeet tribe there.

Through the interior department arrangements were made to take these records privately in New York in an out-of-the-way loft. There is one song in particular which the Glacier Park Indians sing, in which musical critics find considerable merit. This is a song descriptive of the Blackfeet Indian's love of his home environment. Big Top, the Indian interpreter, says:

"My people always sing this song, because when they go away from the mountains their hearts are lonely, and it makes them think of home, sweet home."

Defendants in Court "Demonstrate" Innocence

N. C. HARPER, clerk of the police court, reading charges of disorderly conduct to Harry Johnson and Charles O'Connor, knowing that the charge of "cursing and swearing" was generally contained in such information, included these words:

"How do you plead, guilty or not guilty?" Mr. Harper demanded.

No answer.

To facilitate the business of the court, Bailiff Hopkins went close to the men and asked them in a low tone whether they were disorderly or not at the time mentioned in the paper. But he received no answer.

"Are you guilty or not?" Mr. Harper asked, in a polite but somewhat louder tone than he had used before.

Still no answer.

After some confusion, Policeman Brennan, who axrested the men, was called, and explained to the court that the men were both deaf and dumb.

"How could these men be 'cussin' and swearin' if they can't talk?" the court demanded.

"They weren't, your honor," Brennan responded, "but in spite of that they sure were having a hot time up on Seventh street Saturday night. I guess they won't do it any more, though. One of them wrote me a note to that effect."

After Mr. Harper wrote out the charge of disorderly conduct, not including profanity, for them, they both gave a nod, indicating they were guilty. After hearing the testimony, and on the recommendation of the policeman, Judge Pugh took their personal bonds.

This is a legal form which requires that the clerk read a certain formula to the prisoners whose personal bonds are taken, after which he is allowed to go free, and the last check on the laughter of the large Monday crowd in court was removed when the clerk had to conform to this requirement.

Why Mrs. Townsend's Great Dane Was Lonesome

THERE is a splendid great Dane in Washington, who is also a bit distrait, and inclined to be lonesome because he cannot realize the perfectly-at-home feeling, which makes dogs of high and low degree at ease with the world, and utterly content. He belonged to M. Constantin Brun, the minister from Denmark, who presented him to Mrs. Townsend, and the great Dane was introduced to one of the most magnificent homes in Washington, shown every attention, and given every luxury that the most ambitious dog in the world could dream of. But he was not happy, and began calling upon the people across the street, at first only occasionally, and then twice a day, once spending the greater part of the forenoon, and again staying two or three hours in the afternoon. Finally he went back in the evening, and guests arriving for a dinner party at the house across from Mrs. Townsend's found the great Dane at the steps.

One guest, whose dog is a dainty, coquettish Chow, passed an awful moment when she had visions of never getting past the great Dane, who seemed greater and greater as he stood above her, on the topmost step, across the carved walnut doors.

When she finally accomplished it, with the help of the chauffeur and footman, she entered the drawing-room all but breathless.

"Why doesn't that great Dane of Mrs. Townsend's stay at home? He has all of that large garden to wander about in, over there, and—" she stopped, because she was nervous.

"Oh, that dog is simply lonesome," her hostess explained. "You see they only speak French and English to him over there, and he gets so homesick to hear his native tongue that he comes here to visit my Danish butler!"

Daniels Gathers Eggs; Bryan Wants Division

SECRETARY of the Navy Daniels the other day disclosed the fact that he keeps at his country place near Washington some ninety chickens, that yield him every day twenty eggs, and he thereby put himself in line for a lot of trouble.

For when Secretary of State Bryan, who keeps a riding horse by the name of Rex, but who owns no chickens, heard about his colleague's wealth, he made the proposal that Mr. Daniels ought to divide those fresh eggs among the other members of the cabinet. Mr. Daniels has not yet been heard from on the proposal, but the general opinion is that if the secretary of state wants any of the eggs from the Daniels chicken coop, he will have to mount his horse Rex some morning before daybreak and ride out and get them himself.

Secretary Daniels said incidentally that he is opposed to having the clerks of the government departments report at 8 o'clock, because it would necessitate his making his morning rounds to gather eggs at least an hour earlier each day. Mr. Daniels allows himself to be an hour later than the clerks of his department, but makes up for it by staying half an hour later in the afternoon.

Raising babies as a fine art is the latest subject for the output of Uncle Sam's printing office, according to the announcement made by Miss Julia Lathrop, head of the children's bureau of the government.

Work has already been begun, she said, on a series of "infant bulletins."

"These bulletins," said Miss Lathrop, "will be a series of pictures of infant life as we have found it. They will be issued in an effort to disseminate and popularize scientific knowledge of child-beating and raising in a manner that will be understood and appreciated by every mother in all stations of life."

CLANTON PRESS

In Its GREAT PRIZE VOTING CONTEST

The Capital Prize which will be given by

Clanton Press

is to be an

Elegant $400 Obermeyer & Sons Piano

Like the cut shown here

A number of the merchants of Clanton have contributed Valuable Prizes and will give "Press" Prize Vote Coupons with $1.00 cash purchases.

Rules and Regulations Governing the Contest are Mentioned Below

1. ANNOUNCEMENT.—This Piano and Popular Ladies' Voting Contest will be conducted fairly and honestly on business principles, strictly with justice and fairness to all concerned. With the above principles it will be an assured success.

2. PRIZES.—The capital prize will be an Obermeyer & Sons Piano. Also other valuable prizes to the amount of many dollars, which are announced herewith.

3. CANDIDATES.—Ladies in this and adjoining counties are eligible to enter this contest and the party receiving the largest number of votes shall receive the $400 Obermeyer & Sons Piano and other premiums will be distributed in accordance with the contestants standing at the final count.

4. TIE IN VOTES.—Should any of the candidates tie in votes the Publishers' Music Company will award a similar prize, according to standing at final count.

5. VOTES CLASSED.—Votes will be issued in the following denominations:

New subscriptions, 600 votes,	$1.00
Renewals, 500 votes,	1.00
Renewals, more than one year, 600 votes,	$1.00

20 years new subscriptions 30,000 votes,	20.00

6. INSTRUCTIONS.—Results as to standing of votes will be issued after 30 days. No votes accepted at less than regular price of paper concerned in this contest. No one connected with the paper will be allowed to become a candidate in this contest or work for contestants.

Votes after being counted cannot be transferred to another. Be sure to know whom you are going to vote for before coming to the ballot box, as the editor or anyone will positively not give any information on the subject. The keys to the government ballot box shall be in possession of the awarding committee during the contest.

For the first thirty days the paper will run a 25 vote coupon which can be voted free for any lady contestant.

Contest to run not less than 60 days. Closing of contest will be announced 25 days in advance of closing. The right to postpone date of closing is reserved, if sufficient cause should occur.

The contest shall close on a day which will be announced later. 10 days prior to closing of contest, the judges will carefully lock or seal ballot box and take same to the Clanton Bank, where the same will be in a place where the voting can be done during business hours and locked in a vault at night until close of contest, when the judges will take charge and count same and announce the young ladies winning in their turn.

The last ten days all the voting must be done in a sealed box at the bank. If you do not wish anyone to know whom you are voting for, place your cash for subscriptions, together with your coupons, in a sealed envelope which will be furnished you and put same in ballot box. This will give everyone a fair and square deal.

Mr. H. H. Woods, traveling auditor for the Publishers' Music Company of Chicago, arrived in Clanton Tuesday, and after carefully counting the votes which have recently been deposited in the ballot box, declared Miss Boshia McKee the winner of the special prize of Ten Dollars in Gold, she having received the largest number of votes in the Press popular lady and piano contest, since the last count made on the 17th day of April.

The winning of this second prize of $10.00 in gold will in no way have any bearing as to who is to receive the handsome piano at the final count which is to be made on Tuesday, June 10th next, when all the votes will be counted and tabulated and the successful contestants announced.

There were thousands of tickets to be counted this time and Mr. Woods was busy far into the night arriving at results; the great number of tickets clearly shows that the contestants and their friends have been busy securing subscriptions and merchants' coupons. Each of them should be greatly encouraged by the handsome showing made, and should secure the co-operation of all their friends to the end that in the final count they may be well up in the count.

There is now a little less than a month in which to work for the handsome piano and the other valuable prizes to be awarded and the bonus votes offered during the last days of the contest should encourage every contestant. It will not be difficult with a little labor for the contestant with the least number of votes to outstrip those who are standing at the top. It will be necessary for those at the top to keep up the excellent work they have been doing in order to hold their places.

It frequently happens that those who are not thought of in connection with the first prizes are actually the winners; this is because they realize the possibities at the last moment and work hard while those who have a large number of votes feel secure and do not continue the battle with the same vigor as in the beginning. "Sleeping on your oars" frequently works disaster and we wish to suggest to those who have worked so faithfully that during the few remaining work days it will be well to keep extremely busy; to those who are somewhat discouraged we wish to suggest that they look over the list of bonuses offered this week and become encouraged, see how easy it will be to become a "top notcher" by securing one or two five year subscriptions.

I wish also to say to the patrons of the Clanton Press, on behalf of the Publishers Music Company, who are conducting the piano contest in conjunction with the Press, that I did not find an error of any kind, which is an exceedingly remarkable showing in handling such a large number of tickets. I also wish to commend the publisher for the exact fairness with which he is conducting the contest.

To the ladies and their friends who have so gallantly rallied to the support of the Press in this contest so far, we wish to express many sincere thanks, assuring them that the contest will be carried to its conclusion with the same degree of fairness to each and every one. There are not any favorites and shall not be any.

Publishers Music Company,
H. H. Woods,
Traveling Auditor.

BONUS FOR CLOSING COUNT

The following bonuses will be given from now till the close of the contest, which will take place Tuesday, June 10; there are some changes, but they are in the interest of those who really work and should encourage them greatly:

For every seven (7) new subscriptions submitted at one time, 8,000 extra votes, making a total of 12,200.

For every seven (7) renewal subscriptions submitted at one time, 6,000 extra votes, making a total of 9,500.

For every seven (7) back subscriptions submitted at one time, 4,000 extra votes, making a total of 6,800.

For every forty (40) merchant's coupons brought to this office and counted by the publisher, 1,000 extra votes, making a total of 2,000.

EXTRA! EXTRA!! EXTRA!!!

For every three (3) 5 year new or renewal subscriptions, 25,000 extra votes. making a total of 40,000.

For every two (2) 20 year new or renewal subscriptions, 75,000 extra votes, making a total of 135,000.

Received from the Clanton Press TEN DOLLARS IN GOLD as the successful contestant in the second count of the Clanton Press Piano Contest.

I wish to extend to my friends my sincere appreciation of their loyal co-operation in assisting me to win this prize and to assure them that their assistance shall not soon be forgotten.

My ambition now is to win the piano to be awarded June 10, and I am encouraged to ask all my friends to help me to be the successful one; if fortune falls my way, as I hope it will, I shall be glad to reciprocate whenever the time or opportunity presents itself.

I wish also to thank the Press for its courtesies.; though insistent upon compliance with the rules in all particulars, Mr. Wood has shown a disposition to be helpful and at all times obliging.

(Miss) Boshia McKee.

SOME JOY (?) WALK!

We wont say just when it was but it hasn't been quite a week yet when two prominent young men of Clanton took an auto trip out to the dam; they also intended to take an auto trip from the dam back to Clanton and thereby hangs this tale—of woe.

Neither are we calling any names; initials are all that are necessary, and not to be ambiguous we will say that the one with the S. A. L. initials is a prominent young attorney, while he who claims J. P. V., Jr. as his entitlements is engaged in the lumber business, quite extensively.

But, to the joy walk. They started back alright, alright, but, you know that dam road has some stretches of heavy sand and in the wee sma hours of the morning, the car "skidded" through the sand into a ditch nearby; it was impossible, by the light of the stars, to get the aforesaid car "outen" the ditch, so the chauffeur curled up on the seat and one of the young men on another to await the coming of the morn. The other, having no heavy wrapping, and the breezes out eastward blowing uncomfortably, decided he would hike it back to town—a little affair of seven miles. At four twenty—or to be extremely accurate, at four twenty four, he espied the steeple on the court house and his heart gave fourth peans of praise, because he realized that he had "made good" for an early breakfast. Gratitude for having reached home in safety impelled him to send a horse-car out for his slumbering friends, who arrived home shortly after the running of the accommodation. We've been asked not to mention names and as we always like to comply with any reasonable request, we refrain from doing so; but both the young men announce that they have been stung for the last time, and if you should happen to guess who they are, don't rub it in on them; that would be adding cruelty to their already hard lot.

CALLED TO BESSEMER

Last week Rev. L. H. S. Chappelle received a telegram calling him to the bedside of his brother who resides in Bessemer. Mr. Chappelle, though suffering himself with chills and fever, responded immediately to the call and upon arrival at Bessemer, found his brother suffering intensely from a carbunkle on the shoulder. So anxious was the reverend gentleman about the condition and welfare of his brother that he entirely forgot his own illness, and in this forgetfulness, worked almost a complete cure. His brother, however, is reported as still suffering greatly.

DON'T IMPOSE

BE FAIR WITH THE MERCHANTS, THEY WILL BE FAIR WITH YOU.

Quite a number of complaints have come to the Press by merchants giving out Press contest tickets, that their customers ask for tickets upon the payment of accounts, and others state that customers make purchases and leave the store without ever asking for tickets, then after the lapse of several days they return and ask for tickets on former purchases.

Now that is unfair to the merchant; of course it is to our interest to have the merchants give out the tickets—the more the better for us, but we want to be fair with our partners in business and we we insist that if tickets are not demanded at the time purchases are made they cannot be reasonably expected at a later date.

One merchant told us of having loaned a friend one hundred dollars; he charged him one dollar for the use of the money and at the end of a week the one hundred and one dollars was repaid and the borrower asked for two dollars and a half in merchants' coupons. In other words, a demand was made upon the merchant to pay one dollar and a half for the privilege of lending his friend one hundred dollars.

Do not expect tickets unless you pay the SPOT CASH; do not expects unless you ask for them at the time purchases are made.

That is the rule of the contest and the merchants as well as the Press are expected to abide by it. If any of the merchants wish to give out tickets on payment of accounts, or after purchases have been made, it is, of course, their privilege to do so, but if they refuse to do so it is also their privilege.

If our contestants and their friends will abide by these rules there will be no occasion for confusion and the contest will run smoothly.

CLOSING EXERCISES

AN INTERESTING PROGRAM ARRANGED.

Prof. J. J. Pickens, Principal of the Clanton High School, has been extremely busy the past few days arranging for the closing exercises of his school—which, by the way, due largely to his indefatigable labors, has proven a most successful year—and has submitted the following program for the delectation of those who wish to be entertained:

Friday evening, May 23rd, Mrs. J. H. Middleton's musical recital.

Sunday morning, 10:30, sermon by Dr. Chas. H. Webster, of Montgomery.

Monday evening, 8:00 p.m., "A Royal Hash," Academy.

Tuesday evening, 8:00 o'clock, "The Deacon," by High School pupils.

Wednesday evening, 8:00 o'clock, address by Hon. Richmond Pearson Hobson, Court House.

Thursday evening, 8:00 p.m. Musical Recital, Miss Elna Sartor's class.

Our readers will observe that this is a most attractive program and should attend the exercises not only because of the inspiration it will impart to Professor Pickens and his able corps of assistants, but because of the entertainment that will be afforded them. Perhaps it is not necessary to call attention to the fact that the Hon. Richmond Pearson Hobson, the hero of the Merrimac, and one of Alabama's most gifted sons, will be here on Wednesday evening, May 28, and will make an address at the court house, to which all are cordially invited.

RIDERVILLE RIPPLES

Mr. J. B. Rider, after a two months sojourn in the East, has returned to Riderville.

Last Friday the planing mill was discovered to be on fire. The blow pipe exploded, scattering the fire in various directions, and for some time great excitement prevailed. Considerable damage was done before the fire could be extinguished. However, it is not so serious as was first thought.

A terrific hail storm passed through this part of the county [illegible] completely destroying [illegible] great damage to the growing crops. Many farmers will have to replant their cotton.

The young people enjoyed a domino social Thursday evening at the hospitable home of Mr. Moody Rasberry.

The music class of the Stanton Public school gave their final recital Friday evening: Despite the gloomy conditions of the weather, a good crowd greeted them, and each one acquitted themselves with much cleverness.

Mr. P. M. Parker has gone to Hof Springs, Ark., where he will remain a month, for his health.

Grand Jury Investigating Cases
Judge Pearson Delivers Able Charge

The following is a list of those composing the present Grand Jury, who are investigating crime in the county, and who received a forceful charge last Monday morning from Judge W. W. Pearson:

William H. Strock, Foreman
Emmett Christian
John Williamson
W. Fletcher Jones
Luke L. Calfee
Isaac S. Vinson
William Dorminy
Will A. Kemp
Columbus A. Dobbs
George Frith
Geo. W. Mims
John H. Moore
Frank Harris
Flim M. Connell
E. Green Cofer
C. Bruce Armstrong
B. Joseph Goss
Jim C. Sanderson

Monday morning Judge W. W. Pearson organized the Grand Jury, to whom he delivered a most able charge and put them to work investigating the commission of crime in the county, after which he sounded the civil docket and went into the trial of cases. The civil docket at this, the Spring Term, is the heaviest in the history of the county.

Heretofore, so we are informed, seventy-five or eighty cases was considered rather heavy, but at this term there were one hundred and fourteen cases docketed for trial. It is manifestly impossible for us to recite each and every case; besides a large majority of them are minor suits for accounts, in which only the parties to the suits are interested. Most of these cases were settled by consent or otherwise adjusted to the satisfaction of all parties.

The most important case, perhaps, and the one which thus far has attracted most attention, was that of Mr. W. L. Hawkins of Luverne against Dr. E. A. Matthews, in which the plaintiff was suing for twenty-five thousand dollars damages. The entire day of Wednesday was occupied in hearing the case. On Thursday morning the jury returned a sealed verdict in which the jury found a verdict for the defendant.

In the case of G. T. Bowles vs. P. D. Wilson et als, the defendant withdrew the plea heretofore filed and filed a new plea and the plaintiff took a non-suit with bill of exceptions.

Lula Dennis Sanders vs. J. L. Jones; judgment for plaintiff in sum of $100.

J. Wiley Foshee vs. Union State Bank; judgment for plaintiff by default against E. M. McCrary for lands sued for

F. N. Rhodes vs. Frank Jones; defendant disclaims possession of land sued for. Plaintiff takes issue upon the disclaimer. Jury and verdict for the defendant upon his plea of disclaimer.

The cases of the Clanton Bank against J. E. Robinson, Sr., and the Chilton Warehouse and Mfg. Co. were dismissed by the plaintiff.

There were thirty-eight cases in which the plaintiff was suing defendant for various amounts on account, ranging from $50 to $650, in each of which cases the jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff; there were twenty three cases settled out of court between the parties to the suits; eight cases were continued by agreement; eleven cases were dismissed for want of prosecution; in four cases other summons and complaint were filed; three cases were passed for the time being and will doubtless come up at a later date during the present term, while three cases were continued on account of illness.

The docket of the court for criminal week is also extremely heavy, there being at present eight persons confined in the county jail, charged either with murder or assault with intent to murder, and it is more than likely that other cases of a similar nature will be docketed by the Grand Jury before it adjourns.

Saturday morning while in town doing some shopping, Miss Julia Lee Gulledge, the handsome young daughter of 'Squire J. W. E Gulledge, had the misfortune to lose her purse, containing quite a neat sum of money. Miss Gulledge informed a few of her friends of the loss, but did not make it public; after diligent search for the missing purse she decided that it was gone never to return again, but good fortune seems to have been her guardian angel, for on Monday morning she was informed that Mr. Mims had found the purse and was patiently awaiting the coming of the owner. Monday afternoon she drove to Mr. Mims' home and was the happy recipient of her purse with its contents intact.

DISTINGUISHED PHYSICIANS HERE

LECTURE SATURDAY NIGHT ON HOOK WORM.

Drs. W.H. Sanford, State Health Officer, and Dismukes, head of the hook worm investigation in the State, were here Saturday, assisting the two local workers, Drs. Grote and Perdue, in their labors to eradicate the hook worm from this section. All day long streams of infected persons were seeking the offices of the physicians and seemed to be anxious to secure information with reference to the little pests which are daily sapping the life of some of our citizens.

Saturday night a free illustrated lecture was delivered at the Court House which well attended, but not, however, as largely attended as it should have been.

HOME COMPLETELY DESTROYED

RESIDENCE OF SQUIRE MIMS BURNED TO GROUND.

Last Friday afternoon the home of Mr. A. C. Mims, living about eight miles west of Clanton, was completely destroyed and but little, if any, of the contents of the home was saved from the flames.

There was no one at the home when the fire started and just how it originated is not definitely known, but it is supposed that it caught from a defective flue. Mr. Mims and his family were in the fields at the time and when he and his neighbors arrived the fire had gained such headway that it was impossible to save anything.

The loss falls quite heavy upon the Squire, as in his old age he will practically have to begin all over again and furnish himself and family a home.

There is no case on record of a cough, or lung[illegible] developing into bronchitis, pneumonia or consumption after Foley's Honey and Tar Compound has been taken. The guarantee is on every package. Refuse substitutes. [illegible] Drug Co.

ALABAMA STATE CAPITAL NEWS

TO DIRECT WEEVIL FIGHT

President of Alabama Bankers Will Make Canvass of State at Early Date.

Montgomery—After a canvass of the state has been made in interest of the co-operative positions of the farmers and bankers of Alabama in the coming fight against the boll weevil, Michael Cody, president of the Alabama Bankers' association will name a committee to take actual charge of the work and to push the campaign forward in a manner to head off the weevil instead of waiting to face circumstances when the insect comes next fall.

"I will make a canvass of the state myself," said Mr. Cody, "and will appoint men who will know how to do the most effective work for the purpose in view. These men will have actual charge of the co-operative work, although each of the eight groups of the state will be organized in the counties which are their constituents. Each group will study the different kinds of diversified farming best for the community in which it is located and in adition to this will look after the other interests of the farmers during the hardships that will naturally fall upon them during the weevil's existence in this state. The groups, however, will not work apart from the main committee, but will be closer connected with the direct needs of the farmers in their own community.

"Besides the legislative committee, one of the most important of committees that serve the Alabama Bankers' association is the Agricultural committee. At this period it is especially important, and its reports and activities during the year will mean much to Alabama."

RATE MAY BE LOWERED

C. of G. Must Show Cause Why Commission Should Not Fix Reasonable Rate.

Montgomery.—Citation to the Central of Georgia Railroad company to appear before the state railroad commission on Monday, May 19, and show cause why the commission should not fix a reasonable passenger rate on its line in Alabama was issued.

The formal notice of the commission that it would take up the Central of Georgia passenger rate case on the 19th of the present month was similar to the notice served upon the Louisville & Nashville Railroad company and the Western Railway of Alabama. The Central of Georgia is required to send representatives to Montgomery to show cause why the commission should not fix a reasonable passenger rate, and it is probable that the hearing will be along the same lines as that conducted in the other cases.

While the railroad commission has not yet announced its decision in the Western Railway of Alabama passenger rate case, it is expected that it will be given out within the next few days, probably before the hearing of the Central of Georgia case begins. The railroad commission has been at work on the Western Railway case for several weeks, and its decision is expected at an early date.

WARNINGS AGAINST WEEVIL

Mild Winter Causes Pests to Appear Earlier Than Usual.

Montgomery.—Warnings against the boll weevil, caterpillar and boll worm have gone out from the state department of agriculture. The mild winter will cause them to appear earlier than usual and farmers have been advised that now is the time to prepare for a campaign against them.

"Our winter was the mildest in many years," said Capt. Reuben F. Kolb, state commissioner of agriculture, "and it was not cold enough to kill insects. Boll weevils, caterpillar and boll worms will show up in a very short time."

Inquiries about Alabama's cotton crop are coming to the agricultural department, many of them from the New York cotton firms and publications which are interested in the South's product.

Captain Kolb has estimated that about 85 per cent. of the cotton acreage had to be replanted.

Early planting has been advocated as a method of breaking the effect of the boll weevil's invasion, but the necessity of replanting has killed hopes of preventing the spread of the pests by this work.

ATTENDS BOARD MEETING.

Trustees of Talladega Institution Hold Meeting.

Montgomery.—H. J. Willingham, state superintendent of education, made a trip to Ashland and Lineville in Clay county, where he looked into some educational matters which required investigation. After his business in Clay county was finished, Mr. Willingham went to Talladega, where he attended a meeting of the board of trustees of the Alabama Deaf, Dumb and Blind institute.

ADVISED AGAINST CHANGING.

Willingham Does Not Think Much of the Wandering Pedagogue.

Montgomery.—Teachers of Alabama are advised against constantly changing from place to place by H. J. Willingham, state superintendent of education, in a statement issued. This practice of the teachers is one of the vital defects of Alabama's educational system, according to Mr. Willingham. He declares that more than half the teachers of the state changed positions last year.

"Each one ought to try to promote himself by making his work more effective and enlarging his field of usefulness in the same position instead of looking constantly for something better somewhere else," said the superintendent.

Mr. Willingham's statement in part is as follows:

"Most of the schools which make changes in their teachers secure others no better than the ones they had, if as good, and most of the teachers who change places would have done better work by remaining in their former positions. A record of teaching ten years in ten different places is about the poorest record any teacher can make. Most communities would subserve their own interests by keeping their present teachers, 'enduring the ills they have rather than fly to those they know not of.' There are just about as few ideal teachers as there are ideal communities. It is well at this season of the year that educational boards and teachers think seriously of the misfortune, loss of time and loss of influence which always result when new teachers have to come into the community, get acquainted with the pupils, acquainted with the patrons, and adapt themselves to the community life.

"If teachers are faithful and efficient and desire to strengthen their professional records by remaining several years in one place, communities would ofttimes promote their own interests by granting to such faithful teachers a due recognition in the fixing of salaries. By selecting at an early date all the teachers for next year's session, a hurtful unrest on the part of the community and of the teachers will be avoided."

ANNUAL MEETING ODD FELLOWS

About 700 Delegates Present at the Opening.

Birmingham.—The seventy-third annual session of the Grand Lodge of Alabama, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, convened here May 13, with 700 Odd Fellows from all parts of the state attending. The initial session was called to order by Grand Master W. K. McAdory, and the Grand Lodge proceeded at once to business. The morning session of May 13 was taken up with the business of organization and the conferring of the Grand Lodge degrees on new representatives, while in the afternoon routine business was taken up, and at night the first competitive degree work took place. On May 14 competitive work in the first degree was the order, and on May 15 the delegates made a trip to the I. O. O. F. orphans' home at Cullman, Ala.

AFTER UNLICENSED MACHINES

Round-up Started by State Auto Department.

Montgomery.—Automobile owners who have failed to take out licenses for this year are being rounded up by the state automobile department, and prosecutions have been brought in a large number of cases during the last two weeks.

County and city officials have been notified to keep a sharp watch for the violators of the law and they are being discovered singly and in droves by the officials.

BANKING LAW UPHELD.

Petition of Local Bank For Rehearing is Denied.

Montgomery.—Final approval of the state banking law was made by the supreme court when the petition for a rehearing filed by the Montgomery Bank and Trust company in the case of that concern against A. E. Walker was overruled.

Attack was made on the constitutionality of the law creating the state banking department by the Montgomery bank.

TO HOLD TEACHERS' INSTITUTES

Preliminary Preparations Are Now Being Made.

Montgomery.—Preliminary preparations for teachers' institutes to be held in each county of Alabama this summer are being made by Henry J. Willingham, state superintendent of education. Mr. Willingham has before him a list of available institute workers. From this list he will select the workers to have charge of the institutes. Several weeks will be required to make the selections.

Under the law, the institutes cannot be held earlier than July 1, nor later than October 31. The dates are fixed by the county boards of education, but an effort is made to arrange them so that those in the same locality are held about the same time.

Every teacher is required to attend the institutes, except those holding life certificates, and they are urged to attend.

A teacher absent without an excuse, approved by the county superintendent, loses his certificate to teach in this state.

PLAN FOR REFORM CURRENCY SYSTEM

PRESIDENT WILSON, REPRESENTATIVES UNDERWOOD AND GLASS HAVE CONFERENCE

DETAILS TO BE ARRANGED

Country Is to Be Divided Into Fifteen Clearing House Districts.

Washington.—Division of the entire country into fifteen clearing house districts, each district to have its own reserve association or regional bank, is contemplated in the currency reform legislation to be put through the house at the present session. It was learned that President Wilson, Representative Underwood and Representative Carter Glass, who will be chairman of the banking and currency committee of the house, have reached an agreement as to the main features of this proposed legislation. They are to have further conferences to settle these details. In the message to be sent to congress shortly after June 1, there will be outlined the general principles of currency reforms President Wilson will favor, but will not specify details.

No legislation for the federal control of stock exchanges will be sanctioned by the president, although it is known that at least three members of the banking and currency committee will strive to have this reform included in the bill. Glass is opposed to such legislation. The members of the committee who favor federal control of the stock exchange will seek an alliance with radical republicans on this question and force a vote on it. They are believed to be hopelessly in the minority, however. They will rely on the report of the money trust investigating committee to sustain them.

The general reform principles agreed to by Underwood and the president include: Establishment of 15 reserve associations or regional banks, under boards of control, the operation of each association to be under the clearing house system.

Each board of control to consist of nine members, three to be of local selection, three to be designated by the president and three others, one each to represent the attorney general, the secretary of the treasury and the secretary of agriculture.

Each association may transact a general banking business under the supervision of the comptroller of the currency.

Each association to circulate its notes, prescribed conditions the basis for these notes to be commercial securities of a recognized stability as well as government, state and municipal bonds.

All national banks may obtain membership in the associations and such other banks as the secretary of the treasury and the comptroller may prescribe.

The allotment of the territory to each of these associations will be left in the hands of the secretary of the treasury and the comptroller of the currency.

WANT ROOSEVELT VOTERS BACK

Uniting of Parties Not Only Desired But Are Actually Sought.

Chicago.—That a uniting of the progressive party with the republican party is not only desired but actually is sought was the gist of sentiment expressed at the close of a two days' session at which republican leaders outlined plans for re-organizing the party.

Herbert S. Hadley, formerly governor of Missouri, who with Senators Cummins, of Iowa; Borah, of Idaho, and Sherman, of Illinois, led the discussion at the conference, said afterward that the desire to have those back in the party who left it to join the progressive party was "manifest." The coalition, he added was not to be effected by any scheme, such as the passing of resolutions by leaders, "but rather by a remedying of the causes in the republican party which resulted in the separation."

SPARKS FROM THE WIRES

Union Town, Pa.—A searching investigation of the explosion of 500 sticks of dynamite near Mascontown, in which at least two persons were killed, 32 injured and 25 dwelling houses destroyed, was started by Coroner Harry J. Ball.

San Juan Del Sur, Nicaragua.—The Nicaraguan government, it is reported, will take over at an early date the national railroad which was transferred to a group of American bankers last year to guarantee a loan.

SWINDLES SHOWN UP

Some of the "Defects" of Schedule K Made Plain.

Professed Protection to American Labor at American Wages Never More Than a Catch Phrase, as Has Been Proved.

We have an authoritative account of some of the swindles of schedule K in the Century Magazine from Chief Statistician Stone of Mr. Taft's tariff board.

Schedule K as it stands is shown to be a swindle in its "protection" to wool-growers, who were supplying three-fourths of the American wool consumption fifty years ago and are now supplying little more than a half.

It is shown to be a swindle against the carded-wool branch of the manufacture in favor of the combing or worsted wool branch dominated by the Woolen trust.

It is a swindle in its professed protection to American labor at American wages, as is shown in the fact that no other skilled labor is paid so low a wage as that of the wool-manufacturer.

It is again a swindle in presuming that high wage rates mean high cost of production, when the Tariff board found to the contrary.

Mr. Stone directs attention to an iniquity not so well known which doubles up on all the others. This is achieved through "compensatory" duties which on most imported cloth allow a protection of four times per pound the wool duty of 11 cents before the manufacturer begins to collect his net protection of 50 to 55 per cent.

Accordingly as the manufacturer mixes cotton or other cheap substitutes, he adds the "compensatory" duties to his net protection. To the wool-grower he hands a shoddy suit at wool prices while dodging the protected obligation to buy wool from him. To his cheap immigrant labor he passes half-cotton dress goods at protection prices, after denying its share in the wool protection. To American consumers at large he palms off for wool cotton and shoddy clothing and blankets under a sneak protection sometimes as much as 100 per cent.

To its open patronage of delusive and fraudulent protection, schedule K adds this hidden measure of privileged evasion and robbery. Revision on the basis of free wool as in the Underwood bill can alone knock out all this iniquity.

Tariff Hypocrisy.

There is a shoe manufacturing concern in this country which professes to view the Underwood tariff bill with great and unselfish alarm. It has protested that if this bill passes wages in the shoe manufacturing industry in America will drop to the level of "pauper labor" in Europe. In pure philanthropy, in sweet and holy love for its employes, this company implores congress not to cut off the tariff subsidy which incorporated shoemakers now enjoy.

Officers of this corporation have admitted to an investigating committee that they pay five cents for fastening seventy-two shoe tips. The penalty for spoiling a tip is five cents. If a girl makes a single error in her driving work she must sew six dozen tips for nothing.

And this company cries for "protection to American labor!"

Labor and the Tariff.

Tariff barons are at their old game of trying to scare the wage-earner into support of their robbery. "Cut the tariff and we must cut wages!" they cry. "Help us to rob the American public, or we will pocket half the contents of your pay envelope!"

The only effect that the Aldrich tariff has on labor is to increase the cost of everything that labor buys. Labor is on the free list. It is imported, duty free, in enormous quantities every year.

It was estimated that 95 per cent of the striking mill hands at Lawrence were foreign born. The leaders of that strike printed circulars in eight or nine different languages, and made speeches in seventeen.

Delay to Be Avoided.

Mr. Underwood has the best of the argument in insisting that the new tariff shall go into effect the day it is signed by the president, instead of six months or a year hence. The business world can better stand tariff reductions than tariff uncertainties. To be understood the new tariff must be tried out.

There is no tax more easily and cheaply collected than an inheritance tax. There is no other tax which stays with such absolute certainty where it is put. There is no other tax which is so gentle to industry and thrift.

Might Do Some Good.

"Just how a scientific report from a non-partisan tariff board recommending free wool and free sugar could silence the Wyoming sugar planters is a first-class political mystery," says the Springfield Republican. Of course nothing can silence the wail of a tariff beneficiary while being pried loose, but the report of a scientific and non-partisan board might show how much or how little truth there is in the howl which to tell the truth is usually a little threadbare.

Music for the Sunday service will be furnished by the Institute Chorus, and for the Commencement Address by the Thorsby Orchestra.

The new catalogue is being prepared, and will be issued about the time school closes.

STANTON

On Tuesday afternoon, May 6, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harris gave a birthday party to their baby child, Dewey Russel, age five. The home was beautifully decorated with ferns, begonias, geraniums, oranges and lemons; the latter was in bloom and had small fruit on them.

The following were present:—

Mrs. J. W. Letcher and daughters, Misses Maud and Essie, Mrs. Frank Reynolds and little girl, Dorothy, Mrs. Bud Cole and children, Willie May and Ernest, Mrs. J. M. Gay and sons, Robert, Clifford and Howard, Mrs. Shelby Barnes' three children, Millie, Harry and Louis, and Mrs. Minnie J. Gay.

After the children cooled and rested for a few minutes they went and caught the pet goats and calf and drove them, played stealing goods and several other little games.

Then came the happy time with the children, when Mrs. Harris left her company and went to the dining room carrying with her Mrs. Minnie Gay and Miss Maud Letcher help serve and make preparations for the children to be served first. The table was beautifully decorated with three bouquets of flowers and in the center of the table was a large square of drawn work; different kinds of fancy candies and fruits.

Cream and lemonade was placed upon the table and Master Russell invited his eight little friends into the dining room to make merry their hearts. After each child had been placed at the table, all bowed their heads while little Russell returned thanks for the blessing spread before them. While they were eating, laughing and talking about their birthday dinner it only made Russell's father and mother's heart rejoice to see how their little son was enjoying the afternoon. After the little ones were through eating the other visitors and members of the family were served.

I'm sure everyone present enjoyed the afternoon, for Mr. and Mrs. Harris believe in making one enjoy themselves at their home.

One present.

MULBERRY

Dear Editor:—Please allow me a short space in your paper to say a few words for this place.

A good many of our young people went to Macedonia Sunday to memorial services. All report a nice time, especially Messrs. Oscar Davenport and Curtis Grooms, who were with the ladies most of the day. They seem to be very popular with the Macedonia girls.

Our debate which we had Saturday was fine. Both sides were discussed well, but the judges decided in favor of the affirmative. We are glad to see our boys taking so much in the Society. They are very energetic and seem to see the great need of an education.

Our subject for next Saturday night, May 17, is "Resolved, that the Negro Should be Colonized." The speakers for the affirmative are Messrs. Curt Grooms and Oscar Davenport; for the negative, Samuel Jones and Malcolm Manning. Everybody is invited to come.

Mr. Clint Rasberry was at home from Birmingham Sunday visiting his parents.

CANE CREEK

Dear Sir:

Will you please allow me a small space in your paper to say a few words. Health of this community is very good except the wife of Rev. F. A. Ellison, who has been on the sick list for a few days and we are glad to say she is rapidly regaining her accustomed good health. We regret very much to hear of the death of Mr. J. M. Burnett, who passed away from this life to immortal glory May 6; he was laid to rest in Cane Creek cemetery, May 7, to await the resurrection morn. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. W. P. Lowery. We extend our heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved ones in their sadness. Our Sunday school at this place is progressing nicely; come on boys, let's make things better. There was preaching at this place last Sunday by Mr. W. G. Riggins. It was sure fine. Mr. Newton Minor and Miss Lila Gentry visited the former's sister Sunday. There will be preaching at this place next Sunday at eleven o'clock by Rev. Willie Robinson; Sunday school at ten. Everybody invited. There was quite a large crowd from Collins' Chapel went to the river Sunday and report having had a nice time.

CLANTON VS THORSBY

Last Saturday the local base ball club went up to Thorsby and "put one over" the Thorsby club in grand style. Quite an interesting game was played, resulting in favor of the Clanton boys, by a score of 15 to 2.

The features of the game were the fancy "twirling" of Pyron, who succeeded in letting Thorsby down without a hit, and the heavy "slugging" of McDowell, who landed on Thomas for three four-base hits and a number of three base hits.

Ramsey also landed clear of the "bull" for a "four bagger."

Next Saturday the Clanton boys will meet Al. P. Gibb's Ladies' Base Ball Club upon the local diamond.

TWO RETIRE

GEO. DAWSON AND Mc D. RUFFIN ASSIGN

Last Saturday there were two voluntary assignments in Chilton county. George Dawson, conducting a small mercantile business west of Jemison, surrendered his stock of goods, wares and merchandise to Referee in bankruptcy George Stuart, and about the same time Mr. Mc D. Ruffin made an assignment of his goods and book accounts to the same party.

The liabilities of the two were almost identical, so it is reported, being, in each case, something like three thousand dollars; the assets of the former scheduled about four hundred dollars, while the stock, fixtures and accounts of Mr. Ruffin were estimated at something in the neighborhoon of seven hundred dollars.

Would you go out in the pouring rain wearing your best clothes if you had no protection such as an umbrella or raincoat? Not if you could help it, you say.

Yet some people expose expensive material to the elements without adequate protection. The building material in your house is expensive and should be protected. Otherwise it will be ruined as surely as the fine clothes you wouldn't wish to wear out in the rain.

How Hookworm Disease Keeps Students From Doing Good Work

ONE of the many evil effects of hookworm disease is that it reduces mental as well as physical vigor. In schools the students who have the disease are always backward as compared with the healthy students. This has been proved in many instances and may be seen in any school where there are infected pupils.

In a college in Mississippi 625 students were examined microscopically, and the results showed that in every instance the ones infected with hookworms were behind their schoolmates both in their studies and in athletics.

Fifty-six infected men and boys was 86, and of the fifty-five noninfected men and boys it was 84.

The same thing holds true in the case of girls. In one girls' college where all the students were examined many infected persons were found. There were two sisters in the school, one of whom was infected and the other not. The infected sister had a grade of 78, while her sister had a grade of 87. The infected sister is forced to devote two years to each year's course, while her sister goes on.

Fifty-six infected girls in this school had an average grade of 77.75, while

EFFECTS OF THE DISEASE.

The three boys pictured above are of about the same age. The tallest one in the center is seventeen years old and weighs 160 pounds. Although living in a community where many suffered, he had no hookworm infection. The boy in the dark suit is eighteen years old and weighs 120 pounds. He is infected with the disease. The other boy is also eighteen, but he weighs only a hundred pounds and has the appearance of a thirteen-year-old youngster. He is heavily infected with hookworms.

Notice to Seventh Grade Pupils.

We have made arrangements to give a Seventh Grade Examination, such as is given in other counties of this State, at Thorsby Institute on Thursday, May 29. Students who pass this examination will be ready for admission to any County High School. The questions that will be used will be those that are used this year in some other counties in the State. If you would like to find out more about the examination, write to S. H. Herbert, Principal, Thorsby, Ala.

LOCAL & PERSONAL

The following marriage licenses have been issued this week by the Probate Judge:

Mr. Manuel Northcutt to Mrs. Esther Carroll, Mr. Henry Adams to Miss Susie Warren, Mr. C. W. Foshee to Miss Annie May Baker, Mr. J. G. Blankenship to Mrs. Pinkey Knoodle, Mr. M. A. Bates to Miss Mamie Davis.

Mr. Jno. A. Thomas returned Monday from Dothan, whither he had gone to attend the annual meeting of the Alabama Bankers' Association. He reports having had a most excellent time.

The great calamity in Omaha was quickly overshadowed by the terribly disastrous floods in Ohio. Great suffering and sickness from colds and exposure resulted. L. Poole, 2217 California St., Omaha, writes: "My daughter had a very severe cough and cold but Foley's Honey and Tar Compound knocked it out in no time." Refuse substitutes. Alred Drug Co.

Mr. W. H. Conway brought to this office a bunch of crimson clover which may be equalled elsewhere but cannot be surpassed. It was the finest specimen of crimson clover ever shown here.

Our old friend W. O. Perry of Stanton called upon the editor while in Clanton this week and renewed old friendships.

Foley Kidney Pills repay your confidence in their healing and curative qualities. Any kidney or bladder disease not beyond the reach of medicine will yield to their use. Mrs. Cordelia Copeland, Ardeola, Mo., says, "I had kidney and bladder trouble for over a year and 5 bottles of Foley Kidney Pills cured me." It is the same story from every one who uses them. All say, "they cured me." Alred Drug Co.

Mr. Roy Fitts of Stanton drove his handsome five passenger Reo car over during the early part of the week and spent several days with friends.

A slight cold in a child or grown person holds possibilities of a grave nature. Croup may come on suddenly, bronchistis or pneumonia may develop, severe catarrhal troubles and consumption are possible results. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound nips a cold at the outset, cures croup quickly, checks a repeated cough, and heals inflamed membrances. Alred Drug Co.

Mr. Calvin Wilson, now stationed at Russellville, came down Saturday night to spend the week-end with friends here. He returned Monday morning.

Mrs. R. H. Croswell, Jr., of Montgomery, Ala., a former pupil of Emile Winkler, Nashville Conservatory, and late Robert Eilenberg, of Montgomery, will teach piano, using famous "Krauser Method". Term beginning Sept. 1, 1913.

Mr. Edmund W. Pettus, a prominent young attorney of Selma, was in Clanton during the early part of the week on legal business.

Six or eight of Clanton's citizens are preparing to attend the Confederate Veterans Reunion at Chattanooga, which takes place the latter part of this month; among those who propose to attend are Veterans Lee Hayes, W. T. Callen, A. C. Smith and T. A. Curry.

This Interests Every Women

A family doctor said recently that women come to him thinking that they have female trouble, but when he treats them for their kidneys and bladder, they soon recover. This is worth knowing, and also that Foley Kidney Pills are the best and safest medicine at such times. They are tonic in action, quick in results. They will help you. Alred Drug Co.

Clanton was filled to overflowing Saturday with visitors from the country and the merchants did a land office business. The piano contestants were also much in evidence and put in a good day securing votes.

Mr. Alva C. Wade made a business trip to Birmingham Monday.

Attorney Victor J. Heard went to Columbiana last Friday on legal business.

Gamble Hardware Company can supply you with Brick, Lime and Cement.

Mrs. E. P. Stewart and children of Hope, Ark., are visiting her sister, Mrs. Arthur Johnson.

Misses Gertrude Tisdale of Evergreen and Opal Tisdale of Garland two charming young ladies, arrived in Clanton Saturday afternoon to visit their cousins, Mrs. S. J. Watts and Miss Blanche Tisdale. While here they received much social attention and attracted to themselves by their vivacious and captivating manners many friends who hope that they will soon make Clanton another visit.

Mr. Joe Calloway of Maplesville "blew into town" Sunday to spend the day with friends.

The many friends of Mr. J. R. Broadhead were delighted to greet him on the streets again, after having been confined to his home for some days with an attack of appendicitis.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL CAMPAIGN.

The most thorough County Sunday School Campaign ever planned by the Alabama Sunday School Association was arranged Wednesday, April 23rd, 1913, at a conference between General Secretary Palmer of the State Association, and E. L. Thornton and Miss Mary Carr Gibson, President and Secretary respectively of the Chilton County Sunday School Association. The conference was held at Verbena and resulted in a plan providing for a nine days campaign with four workers (two from the State Association and two from the County Association.) Beginning at one corner of the county and sweeping around in a circle, with from two to six meetings in each of the six districts of the county.

In this way every section of the county will be touched, and it is hoped that as nearly as possible every one of the sixty-three Sunday schools of all denominations in the county will be reached and helped.

The campaign will begin on Sunday, May 11, and close on Monday, May 19. The widest publicity will be given throughout the county, every Sunday school of every denomination invited to attend. The speakers will be Leon C. Palmer, General Secretary, and Miss Myra Batchelder, Field Secretary and Elementary Superintendent of the Alabama Sunday School Association, from Montgomery, and E. L. Thornton of Mountain Creek and Miss Mary Carr Gibson of Verbena, President and Secretory respectively of the Chilton County Sunday School Association. The meetings will be held as District Sunday School Conventions and the topics discussed will be strictly of a practical nature, designed to help in the actual working of the Sunday school.

The itinerary is as follows: Sunday, May 11, New Cedron; Monday, May 12th, Stanton; Tuesday, May 13th, Mt. Nebo; Wednesday, May 14th, Mulberry church; Thursday, May 15th, Macedonia; Friday, May 16th, Jemison; Saturday, May 17th, Liberty Hill; Sunday, May 18th, Clanton; Monday, May 19th, Salem (morning) and Coopers (night.)

Mr. W. S. Willis left Tuesday morning for Birmingham to attend the Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows, being the representative of Clanton Lodge No. 304.

Dr. Sam Hopkins spent Sunday in Clanton as the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Hopkins.

The spring months often find a women tired out, with pain in back, hips and head, nervous and sleepless. Foley Kidney Pills will quickly prove their worth and value as a healer of all kidney and bladder ailments and irregularities. They are a splendid remedy for rheumatism, clearing the uric acid from the joints and system. Try them. Alred Drug Co.

Hon. Fritz Thompson, Solicitor for the Thirtieth Judicial Circuit, was in Clanton Tuesday attending court.

Miss Bessie Levy, a most attractive young lady of Rockford, spent the week-end with Miss Ruby Downs.

Hon. D. D. Askew of Wetumpka was in Clanton Monday circulating among his many friends and incidentally taking in the present session of the Circuit Court.

Mr. Lomax Hawkins of Luverne is in Clanton attending the present session of court. He is renewing old acquaintances and making new friends.

Squire J. D. Sims of Mountain Creek paid the Clanton Press offices a pleasant and much appreciated visit Monday.

Messrs. J. P. Gore, G. C., C. E. and Leonard Harris all went up to Birmingham Tuesday night to be in attendance upon the sessions of the Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows.

Mr. Eugene Ballard of Prattville, one of Alabama's brainiest young men, was a visitor to Clanton this week on legal business.

JACKSON'S CHAPEL

There was a box supper given at this place Saturday night for the purpose of improving the school house. A neat little sum of $24.30 was received. It was well attended by a large crowd and every one enjoyed the evening. Good music and recitations made up the program which was very interesting for both old and young.

Mr. Lonnie Parrish is due much credit for the interest he has taken in the upbuilding of this school. The people of this community will long remember him and wish him great success in his future work.

We have a good Sunday school at this place and every one seems to take much interest in the work.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL CAMPAIGN.

The most thorough County Sunday School Campaign ever planned by the Alabama Sunday School Association was arranged Wednesday, April 23rd, 1913, at a conference between General Secretary Palmer of the State Association, and E. L. Thornton and Miss Mary Carr Gibson, President and Secretary respectively of the Chilton County Sunday School Association. The conference was held at Verbena and resulted in a plan providing for a nine days campaign with four workers (two from the State Association and two from the County Association.) Beginning at one corner of the county and sweeping around in a circle, with from two to six meetings in each of the six districts of the county.

In this way every section of the county will be touched, and it is hoped that as nearly as possible every one of the sixty-three Sunday schools of all denominations in the county will be reached and helped.

The campaign will begin on Sunday, May 11, and close on Monday, May 19. The widest publicity will be given throughout the county, every Sunday school of every denomination invited to attend. The speakers will be Leon C. Palmer, General Secretary, and Miss Myra Batchelder, Field Secretary and Elementary Superintendent of the Alabama Sunday School Association, from Montgomery, and E. L. Thornton of Mountain Creek and Miss Mary Carr Gibson of Verbena, President and Secretory respectively of the Chilton County Sunday School Association. The meetings will be held as District Sunday School Conventions and the topics discussed will be strictly of a practical nature, designed to help in the actual working of the Sunday school.

The itinerary is as follows: Sunday, May 11, New Cedron; Monday, May 12th, Stanton; Tuesday, May 13th, Mt. Nebo; Wednesday, May 14th, Mulberry church; Thursday, May 15th, Macedonia; Friday, May 16th, Jemison; Saturday, May 17th, Liberty Hill; Sunday, May 18th, Clanton; Monday, May 19th, Salem (morning) and Coopers (night.)

JACKSON'S CHAPEL

There was a box supper given at this place Saturday night for the purpose of improving the school house. A neat little sum of $24.30 was received. It was well attended by a large crowd and every one enjoyed the evening. Good music and recitations made up the program which was very interesting for both old and young.

Mr. Lonnie Parrish is due much credit for the interest he has taken in the upbuilding of this school. The people of this community will long remember him and wish him great success in his future work.

We have a good Sunday school at this place and every one seems to take much interest in the work.

KANSAS WOMAN WHO SUFFERED

From Headache, Backache, Dizziness and Nervousness, Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Lawrence, Kans.—"A year ago I was suffering from a number of ailments. I always had pain and was irregular. During the delay I suffered a great deal with headache, backache, dizziness, feverish spells, nervousness and bloating. I had been married nearly three years. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I feel better than I have for years. I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all who suffer as I did."—Mrs. M. ZEUNER, 1045 New Jersey Street, Lawrence, Kansas.

Montana Woman's Case.

Burns, Mont.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me of awful backache which I had suffered with for months. I was so weak I could hardly do my work and my head and eyes ached all the time. Your Compound helped me in many ways and is a great strengthener. I always recommend it to my friends and tell them what a grand medicine it is for women. You may use my name for the good of others."—Mrs. JOHN FRANCIS, Burns, Montana.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters as those above—they tell the truth, else they could not have been obtained for love or money. This medicine is no stranger—it has stood the test for years.

DREADNAUGHT FOR THE UNITED STATES

NAVY AND GENERAL BOARD PLANS CONSTRUCTION OF BIG BATTLESHIP IN 1914.

WILL BE LARGEST IN WORLD

Congress Will Be Asked to Appropriate Twenty Million Dollars for One Warship.

Washington.—Congress will be asked next year to appropriate for one battleship, a mammoth dreadnaught displacing 40,000 tons and costing about twenty million dollars, according to tentative plans of the navy general board, made public. This year the navy department asked for three battleships and got one as it did last year when two were asked for.

During the debate on the naval bill this year, members of congress particularly interested in the navy became satisfied that while there were two extreme factions, one advocating appropriations for two or three first class battleships a year and the other overwhelming majority in both houses could be counted upon to vote for a single dreadnaught. This situation has been impressed upon the general board, and as a result the permanent building program may be revised to a one-dreadnaught basis, with provision for adequate colliers, destroyers and other auxiliary craft.

This one battleship, however, will be a monster, if the board's plans materialize. With a displacement of 40,000 tons she would be just about one-fourth larger than any ship yet authorized by congress and could easily rank as the largest and most formidable craft of war in the world. The plans contemplate giving the dreadnaught engines that would drive her through the water at the rate of 25 knots an hour—faster than the unarmored greyhounds of the navy could travel a few years ago—without sacrificing anything in more powerful batteries or seaworthiness. Just what the armament would be has not been announced, but it certainly would be equal to that of the last ship authorized, which is to carry a main battery of twelve 14-inch rifles, mounted in four turrets, three guns to a turret.

TO ORGANIZE G. O. P. PARTY

Republicans Meet in Chicago to Discuss Reorganization.

Chicago, Ill.—Proposals to reorganize the Republican party were discussed at a conference here between six Republican United States senators and 32 other Republican leaders, representing nine states. The immediate subject before the conference was as to what action shall be sought at the meeting of the Republican national committee at Washington on May 24, looking toward "re-organizing the party along progressive lines" and as to whether there shall be a Republican national convention this year.

The conference lasted for more than four hours and was held in a hotel overlooking the lake in a room where the seven governors last year drafted the letter urging Colonel Roosevelt to be a candidate for the presidency. Although the public was not admitted Senator Albert B. Cummins stated: "It was merely an informal talk, a sort of round table discussion of what may be done for the best interests of the party by reorganizing it along progressive lines."

All Nations in War Against Opium.

Washington.—The international opium conference will reassemble at The Hague next month, the exact date to be announced as soon as responses to the invitation have been received from the government of Peru, Turkey, Switzerland and Greece. Working in conjunction with the government of the Netherlands, the state department her has now managed to secure assent to the conference not only from the 12 signatory powers, participants in the original conference, but from a majority of the other 34 nations of the world, regarded as essential to a successful covenant to finally abolish the opium traffic in all but medicinal preparations.

Mexicans Stoned by Americans.

Globe, Ariz.—One man stoned to death and another seriously hurt in a race war at Miami, six miles from Globe, between Americans and Mexicans. A number of Americans were the aggressors, and three of them are in the county jail here. A gang of Americans determined to run the Mexicans out of the town and the first they encountered were Jose Peres and M. Ortez. The Mexicans were chased through the streets until they dropped, owing to injuries. Peres died soon afterwards and Ortez was wounded.

Government Issues Seed Blacklist.

Washington.—The "seed blacklist" of the department of agriculture, published annually in accordance with law, and which always causes indignation from dealers, this year names one dealer whose name has appeared five successive years; twenty that have appeared three years, and eighty who have been caught twice for selling adulterated crop seed. The department will continue to buy samples by mail and in the open market, and will examine, without charge, samples of seed during the coming year.

USUAL SPRING INVASION

50,000 OFFICES TO FILL

PROVIDED THEY CAN WIN IN COMPETITIVE EXAMINATIONS.

Taft's Fourth-Class Postal Order Is Amended by President Wilson.

Washington.—All fourth-class postmasterships, except those paying less than $180 a year, ware thrown open to competitive examinations by an order issued by President Wilson. These positions are retained in the classified service, but about 50,000 incumbents who were "covered" into the classified service by executive orders of previous administrations, will have to meet all comers in competitive examinations to hold their positions with civil service protection.

In a statement making this order public, Postmaster General Burleson announced that it was the purpose of President Wilson and himself to extend the classified service to include presidential postmasters of the second and third-class, probably within a year. This may require legislation by congress, he said. His plan, which will be laid before the president, would provide for a qualification test for incumbents and applicants "in keeping with the importance of the offices."

Under President Taft's order of October 15, 1912, fourth-class postmasters were divided into two classes. Class "A," those drawing more than $500, and Class "B," those drawing less than $500. Competitive examinations were prescribed for future applications for Class "A" appointments, while the Class "B" petitions were to be filed upon recommendations of post-office inspectors.

The order leaves only the offices paying $180 or less to be filled upon inspectors' recommendations.

FOREST RESERVE BOUGHT

Latest Purchase 93,000 Acres in Virginia, Tennessee and N. C.

Washington.—Approximately 93,000 acres of mountain land in Virginia, Tennessee, North Carolina and West Virginia, was approved for purchase by the national forest reserve commission. This will make almost 600,000 acres bought by the government up to date for the Appalachian and White mountains forest reservation.

The largest of the group of tracts comprises 38,400 acres in the Massenuten region in Page, Warren and Shenandoah counties, Virginia, the present purchase practically rounding out what the government needs in that section. In the Potomac purchase area, a group of 32 tracts, totalling 32,660 acres in Frederick and Shenandoah counties, Virginia, and Hardy county, West Virginia, was approved, about half of which adjoin lands already bought. In the Nantahala purchase area in Macon county, North Carolina, 21 tracts, containing 5,465 acres, was approved, filling out tracts previously purahased there.

School Children in Peril.

New Orleans.—Several hundred panic-stricken school children fled from the Amesville school building in a blinding rainstorm when lightning struck an oil tank belonging to the Texas Oil company and set fire to the more than 2,000,000 gallons of crude oil which it contained. There was no explosion, but the flames burst forth in an instant and enormous volumes of black smoke ascended to a height of more than a thousand feet. A half-dozen other large oil tanks near by were endangered by the heat.

Sheriff Shot While Killing Slayer.

Vienna, Ga.—Two men are dead and a third mortally wounded as a result of two pistol battles near here. The first encounter was between Oscar Blow and P. F. Sangester, the latter being killed. When Sheriff Bennett and his deputies cornered Blow he opened fire, shooting the sheriff in the stomach. The officer killed Blow as he fell. The scene of the shooting was near Pittington's Gin, in this county. Blow and Sangester were farmers and neighbors. The bitterness existing between them for some time, it is said, was caused by the killing of Blow's brother by Sangester.

SLAYER OF KING KILLS SELF

King's Assassin Was Being Held in the Police Station in the Capital of Greece.

Athens, Greece.—Aleko Schinas, who assassinated King George of Greece, on March 19 at Saloniki, committed suicide by flinging himself out of a window of the police station in that city.

Schinas was a native of the town of Volo, Thessaly. He killed the king by firing point blank into his back while he was walking along the streets of Saloniki accompanied by an aide.

Schinas gave as an explanation of the crime that in 1911 he had applied for assistance at the king's palace and had ben driven away.

WOMEN ARE REFUSED BALLOT

Measure to Extend Suffrage in Great Britain Beaten by 47 Votes.

London:—The fate of the woman's suffrage bill was sealed by the votes of more than fifty Irish nationalists, who voted against it. The bill, whereb yit was sought to enfranchise 6,000,000 women, was rejected by a majority of 47; the vote stood 266 to 219.

Whether there is any chance that the present parliament will pass a bill of more limited character may be doubted. Possibly the nationalists fear that if they allow a woman's franchise bill to pass the second reading it will lead to a parliamentary struggle, which would not unlikely end in dissolution of parliament before the home rule bill becomes a law. Furthermore, the debate proved that the militant policy of the suffragists has done the cause great harm as far as parliament is concerned. The conciliation bill of last session was rejected by only a small majority compared with the Dickinson bill under discussion.

25 Persons Wounded in Riot!

Syracuse, N. Y.—Determined efforts are being made here to settle the strike of building laborers which developed a series of riots in which twenty-five persons, nine of them policemen, were wounded. The strikers met with Sessare Sconfetti, Italian consular agent at Rochester, who came to Syracuse and appointed a committee to wait on the employers with a view of arbitrating the wage dispute.

U. S. Mail Boat Sinks.

Jacksonville, Fla.—The United States mail boat Laporte, a gasoline launch which carries mail to the St. Johns river towns, sank while off Arlington. The boat was overloaded with mails and parcels post matter besides some cargo and went down in 19 feet of water, 200 feet off shore. Five persons aboard were rescued in a dinghey. A sack for Fulton, Fla., was not recovered.

Slayer of Wife Jailed for Life.

Rome, Ga.—I. W. Williams, 64-year-old slayer of his wife, Mrs. Henriette Williams, was sentenced to life imprisonment at the state farm. The jury bringing in verdict of guilty, with recommendation to mercy after ten minutes deliberation. The defense's plea of insanity and the age of Williams were the contributing factors to the leniency, the defense's attorney admitting in his speech before court that the crime was so "unprovoked that no sane man would have committed it."

HUERTA ANGRY AT PRESIDENT WILSON

SAYS UNITED STATES AMBASSADOR HAS NO STANDING DIPLOMATICALLY.

KEEN INTEREST DISPLAYED

Action of the United States in Consequence of Repudiation of Ambassador Awaited With Interest.

Mexico City.—Keen interest is being displayed by the government and the public generally in what action the United States will take as a consequence of the virtual repudiation of Ambassador Wilson by President Huerta. The president has made no statement either to Ambassador Wilson or to the public qualifying his statement that Mr. Wilson, "diplomatically, has no standing" but foreign. Minister De La Barra displayed an eagerness to minimize the incident. Senor De La Barra said the declaration of President Huerta did not mean the severance of diplomatic relations between Mexico and the United States. He draws a fine distinction between the diplomatic representative who performs the full functions of his office, and one who confines himself to routine matters, and said he apprehended no serious consequences from the incident.

Those close to the administration say they would not be surprised should the United States take Mexico at her word and recall Ambassador Wilson.

That President Huerta during his conference with Mr. Wilson used much emphasis in explaining the position of his government, and that his remarks were characterized by a bitterness and warmth which clearly reflected his deep resentment against what he termed the unreasonableness of the Washington government in withholding recognition of the Mexican government, has been established, though ambassador Wilson has refrained from discussing it.

In the face of the statement of President Huerta that a loan had been arranged through English, Belgian, French and German bankers and was lacking only authorization by congress, there persists the opinion that recognition of the Mexican government by the United States is an essential condition to the consummation of the loan and that this fact was the chief cause for President Huerta's break with Ambassador Wilson.

NEW PEACE PLAN LAUDED

Thinks America Can Best Bring About Cessation of Warfare.

New York.—William Jennings Bryan, speaking at a dinner given in honor of the foreign members of the international conference that is arranging the celebration of 100 years of peace among Englishspeaking peoples, declared that "the new peace plan offered by President Wilson to all nations is the latest and longest step toward peace."

Mr. Bryzan's subject was "Press Toward Peace." He said that the part of the United States in the cause of necessity would be large because "more than any other nation it had a population which is attached by blood to nearly all other nations."

Peace for all time between the United States and Great Britain was the keynote of other addresses of the evening delivered by Lord Weardale, chairman of the English delegation; Sir Edmund Walker, of Canada; Sir George Houstoun Reid, of Australia, and Judge George Gray, of Delaware. The function marked the last of many that have engaged the delegates here.

Labor Unions Exempt.

Washington.—By a vote of 41 to 32 the senate refused to accept an amendment to the sundry civil bill by Senator Gallinger striking out a clause exempting labor and farmers' organizations from prosecution under the anti-trust law with funds appropriated by the bill. Three Republican senators, Jones, Lafolette and Norris, voted with the Democrats against the Gallinger amendment and two Democrats, Pomer and Thomas, joined the Republicans in supporting it. The bill itself, carrying about $117,000,000,

Army Aviator Killed.

Los Angeles, Cal.—Lieutenant J. D. Park, a military aviator, who started from San Diego on a flight to Los Angeles, was killed at Olive, nine miles north of Santa Ana. Lieutenant Park met his death in a fall of less than fifteen feet. He had alighted a quarter of a mile from Olive school house on account of a heavy mist that confused him as to his bearings, and after giving a message to a little girl to telephone to Glenn Martin in Los Angeles, he rose again. Then he swooped over a low hill and crashed into a tree.

Glover Reprimanded Before House.

Washington.—Charles C. Glover, the Washington banker, who recently attacked Representative Sims, of Tennessee, on account of a speech delivered in the house, was brought before the bar of the house and reprimanded by Speaker Clark for violating the privileges of the house. A resolution exonerating the banker's arrest had been adopted with only four dissenting votes. When brought in by the sergeant at arms, Glover read an apology, saying that his act was committed under great stress of feeling.

ALMOST LOST HER REASON

But Thanks To An Old Friend This Terrible Catastrophe Was Avoided.

Tampa, Fla.—Mrs. E. C. Coram of No. 2905 Highland Ave. says: "I was very weak and worn out from womanly troubles. My husband bought me two bottles of Cardui to take as a tonic, and from the first day it seemed to me I felt its good effects.

By the time I had used the two bottles, I felt and looked like a new woman.

Some time later I got my feet wet at the wrong time, and I turned to Cardui to remedy the mischief done.

Before I had taken one bottle it gave me the needed relief.

Again, in later life, when passing over a critical time, I almost lost my reason, but thanks to three or four bottles of Cardui, I did not. That has been 15 years ago. I am now 59 years of age, and feeling fine.

I constantly praise Cardui to all my sick friends.

It is a wonderful remedy."

This earnest letter should take from your mind any doubt you might have as to the merits of Cardui, the woman's tonic. Mrs. Coram is certainly competent to recommend Cardui, since it helped her over three critical stages of life.

Explaining the Game.

"Why does that man behind the batter wear such a big bib?"

More Painful to Many.

"The worst of all isms," said the lecturer, "is pugilism."

"Pardon my, my friend," rejoined a man who had just entered the hall on crutches, "but I know a worse one than that."

"What is it, sir?" queried the lecturer.

"Rheumatism," answered the other.—Stray Stories.

What He Did.

In "Little Humorists at School," Mr. H. J. Barker tells a story of a schoolmistress who asked one of the little girls in her class, the daughter of a man who was not always so sober as he ought to have been: "What is your father?"

"Please, miss," was the prompt reply, "when he's working he's a bricklayer; but when he's out of work he's a teetotaler!"

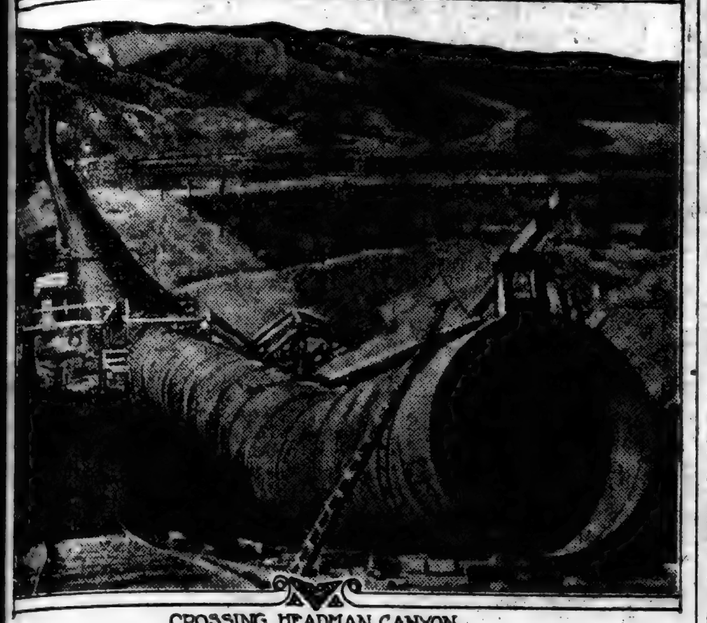
CLEARED AWAY

Proper Food Put the Troubles Away.

Our own troubles always seem more severe than any others. But when a man is unable to eat even a light breakfast, for years, without severe distress, he has trouble enough.

It is small wonder he likes to tell of food which cleared away the troubles.

"I am glad of the opportunity to tell of the good Grape-Nuts has done for me," writes a N. H. man. "For many years I was unable to eat even a light breakfast without great suffering.



"After eating I would suddenly be seized with an attack of colic and vomiting. This would be followed by headache and misery that would sometimes last a week or more, leaving me so weak I could hardly sit up or walk.

"Since I began to eat Grape-Nuts I have been free from the old troubles. I usually eat Grape-Nuts one or more times a day, taking it at the beginning of the meal. Now I can eat almost anything I want without trouble.

"When I began to use Grape-Nuts I was way under my usual weight, now I weigh 30 pounds more than I ever weighed in my life, and I am glad to speak of the food that has worked the change." LONGEST AQUEDUCT IN THE WORLD

CROSSING HEADMAN CANYON

ONE of the largest, and in many respects the most wonderful, waterworks system in the world will be completed and placed in operation in the course of this month by the City of Los Angeles, Cal. The Aqueduct, with its system of five storage reservoirs, is 235 miles in length, and is designed to carry a daily supply of 258,000,000 gallons from the Sierra Nevada mountains southward across the great Mojave desert, under the Sierra Madre range and into the San Fernando valley, twenty-five miles northwest of the city. From here the water needed for domestic consumption will be carried in a six-foot steel pipe into the city's present distribution mains. The system comprises the longest aqueduct in the world.

The project was inaugurated in 1905, and since 1908 an army of 5,000 men have been steadily employed night and day in its construction. On the desolate and sun-scorched desert the summer temperatures have ranged as high as 120 degrees F. In fact, one of the great problems has been to provide the men and animals with food and water and proper accommodations to withstand the climatic conditions.

Of Various Forms.

The Los Angeles Aqueduct, as it is called, is of various forms and designs. The first twenty-two miles is unlined open canal, the following thirty-eight miles is an open ditch, and the remainder is in covered concrete conduit, tunnels, and concrete and riveted steel siphons, the latter being used to carry the water across deep canyons, or valleys. More than fifty-three miles of the aqueduct is composed of tunnels driven through solid granite, the longest being the Elizabeth tunnel, under the Sierra Madre mountains, with a length of five miles. The system of four storage reservoirs provides for the impounding of fifty billion gallons, which, at the rate of the city's present daily consumption, would be sufficient to supply the municipality for three years.

Much of the work has been done from five to thirty-five miles from any railroad. Preliminary to the construction of the aqueduct it was necessary to build 390 miles of roads and trails, four water systems with 190 miles of mains, three hydro-electric power plants, a telephone system 350 miles long, a standard gauge steam railroad 120 miles into the Mojave desert, and a cement mill costing $375,000. With the exception of one small contract for nine miles of conduits and tunnels, the entire work has been done by the city.

The system is a gravity one throughout, the intake being at an elevation of 3,812 feet above sea-level, and the elevation of Los Angeles being on an average only 276 feet. The cost of the work has been $20,000,000, exclusive of any power development. By impounding the flow of the aqueduct at its outlet during the rainy season it will be possible to deliver more than 300,000,000 gallons daily during the dry season—April 15 to October 15—in which no rain falls. This is much more than sufficient to meet the daily requirements of the City of London. As the City of Los Angeles has a present population of only 400,000, and requires but 50,000,000 gallons daily, the surplus aqueduct flow for a long period of years will be devoted to the irrigation of 135,000 acres of orange and lemon lands adjacent to the city.

Chief Features.

One of the chief features of the enterprise is in the generation of hydro-electric energy. There is a fall of 1,500 feet in the aqueduct forty-seven miles from the city, with the possibility of developing 120,000,000 horse-power. Of this amount, 37,500 horse-power are now being developed at a cost of $3,360,000. The power-houses will be ready for operation within several months after the aqueduct is placed in operation, and their output will be devoted to lighting the city's streets and boulevards. The designer and constructor of this great work, which in point of magnitude ranks as the third largest hydraulic work under way in the western hemisphere, is the City's Water Engineer, Mr. William Hulholland.

The accompanying picture gives a good idea of the formidable nature of the enterprise, and the immense scale on which the work has been carried out. It shows how the huge pipe has been carried down one side of the arid Jawbone canyon, across the bottom of the valley and high up on the opposite side to the point where it dives below the surface of the soil, and is continued underground.

The Jawbone siphon alone is 8,000 feet in length—or over one and a half miles—measures from seven feet six inches to ten feet in diameter, and has a total weight of 3,300 tons. The picture is taken looking north, from the south rim of the canyon and 800 feet above the valley floor, and between the bottom of the canyon and the point on its side where the pipe plunges underground the difference in level is 850 feet. At the lowest point the water pressure is enormous—350 pounds to the square inch, which is equivalent to twenty-four atmospheres—and to resist this internal pressure on the pipe the steel here is one and one-quarter inches in thickness, the rivets used in fastening the sections together being seven inches long.

MANY CLIMATES IN ALASKA

But There Is One Island Where Cold Weather Is Absolutely Unknown.

"There isn't a section of the United States, I venture to say, where at some time frost has not been known," remarked Hugh C. Todd of Seattle, chairman of the Democratic state committee of Washington, at the Willard, according to the Washington Post. "But in Alaska, which is looked upon as the coldest country on earth, bar Greenland and the arctic region, there is an island where frost has never been heard of. This is Middleton island, one of the Aleutian group of islands close to the Japan current. There the temperature is always mild. Twenty miles away on the other side of the islands, it is nearly always freezing—in fact, is a country of such varied climate that almost anything can be produced. It is possible to grow strawberries, blackberries and other early summer fruit for the winter market. In the Susitna valley, which is the valley that distributes the waters of the southern slope of the coast range, the weather, I venture, is now warmer and finer than in any part of the United States. That is brought about, of course, by the Japan current."

Mr. Todd is the youngest chairman in the country, it is said. He was a candidate for governor of Washington in the primaries and was defeated by Governor Listen by only 300 votes. Then he turned in and managed Governor Lister's campaign and won a victory.

"Washington state is a commonwealth that is just as widely diversified in her politics as her resources," said Mr. Todd. "We can produce nearly everything, and we raise all kinds of politicians. In the recent election every party, including the woman suffragists, Prohibitionists and Socialists, got some office."

Have to Watch Crops.

Unwelcome visits of predatory bands during the harvest season in China have led to professional "crop watchers" being hired to guard against the larcenists eager to ply their trade in orchard or field. In some districts societies exist whose business it is to furnish watchers whenever required. Almost every field has its watch tower, and these frail tenements are never deserted, night or day, until the crop is gathered. Towers are necessary, as giant millet grows to a height of ten feet, usually, and often reaches fifteen feet. Armed with sharp knives, the thieves enter the fields and cut off the large millet heads.

Following the example of other foreign cities, Paris has seen the light and henceforth the use of muffler cut outs on automobiles in that city will bring retribution in the form of the law. Their use has been made a misdemeanor punishable by fine or imprisonment.

WHERE HER THOUGHTS WERE

Most Married Men Have Had a Similar Experience, If They Will Admit the Truth.

The husband was reading a newspaper account to his wife. Now and then he paused and asked a question. The nature of her replies made him doubt that she was listening closely. He accused her of having thoughts elsewhere, and she indignantly retorted that she had heard every word.

He continued reading for a few minutes and then glanced at her. From the far-away look in her eyes he knew her thoughts were not upon the item he was reading. So, turning the sheet as an excuse for a pause, he continued as follows: apparently reading:

"'Last night, about 2 o'clock in the afternoon, just a few minutes before breakfast, a hungry boy about sixty years old bought an orange for nine pins and threw it through a concrete wall twenty feet thick. With a cry of despair he jumped into a dry mill pond, broke his arm at the knee-joint, and was drowned. It was only ten years later, on the same day and at the same hour, that a goat gave birth to six elephants. A high wind then came up and killed three dead horses and a wooden cigar Indian.' What do you think of that, dear?" he questioned, suddenly.

She gave a little start, smiled, and said:

"I think that's a splendid bargain, Henry. You had better get half a dozen, for your stock of shirts is low."

Young Financier.

Freddie came into the house one day and said that the woman next door had offered him a penny if he would tell what his mother had said about her.

"I'm so glad you didn't tell," remarked his mother. "I wouldn't have her know for anything that I even mention her. You're a wise little boy, my dear."

"You bet, I am," returned Freddie. "When she offered me the penny I told her that what you said was something awful and it was worth half a dollar."

SKIN DISEASE ON FACE

Barthell, Ky.—"I had a skin disease on my face, neck and hands that tormented me all the time and when I would get hot the places would burn so that I had to keep my face wet in cold water. It began as pimples and indeed it was disfiguring, for it would get in spots on my face and hands as large as a quarter of a dollar. It would get into blisters sometimes and I sure did suffer. My face burned all the time. It was this way so bad for about six years and I tried everything that I could hear of, but nothing did any good.

"One day I found the Cuticura Soap and Ointment advertised and ordered some at once. I would wash my face good with the Cuticura Soap and then apply the Cuticura Ointment and they have cured me. It would take half a tablet to tell all I suffered in those six years." (Signed) Mrs. Della Hill, Jan. 3, 1912.

Our Wonderful Energy.

Andre de Fouquieres, whom society lionized during the New York season, praised on his departure for Paris the wonderful energy of the American business man.

"I once asked an American business man," he said:

"'Do you know what leisure means?'

"'Why, to be sure, I do,' the business man replied. 'Leisure is spare time that can be devoted to some fresh job of work.'"

Dr. Gustave A. Eisengraeber, of St. Paul, Minn., says: "I have used your Castoria repeatedly in my practice with good results, and can recommend it as an excellent, mild and harmless remedy for children."

Dr. E. J. Dennis, of St. Louis, Mo., says: "I have used and prescribed your Castoria in my sanitarium and outside practice for a number of years and find it to be an excellent remedy for children."

Dr. S. A. Buchanan, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "I have used your Castoria in the case of my own baby and find it pleasant to take, and have obtained excellent results from its use."

Dr. J. E. Simpson, of Chicago, Ill., says: "I have used your Castoria in cases of colic in children and have found it the best medicine of its kind on the market."

Dr. R. E. Eskildson, of Omaha, Neb., says: "I find your Castoria to be a standard family remedy. It is the best thing for infants and children I have ever known and I recommend it."

Dr. L. R. Robinson, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Your Castoria certainly has merit. Is not its age, its continued use by mothers through all these years, and the many attempts to imitate it, sufficient recommendation? What can a physician add? Leave it to the mothers."

Dr. Edwin F. Pardee, of New York City, says: "For several years I have recommended your Castoria and shall always continue to do so, as it has invariably produced beneficial results."

Dr. N. B. Sizer, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I object to what are called patent medicines, where maker alone knows what ingredients are put in them, but I know the formula of your Castoria and advise its use."

HAVE LONG DURATION OF LIFE

Salt Water Denizens Attain Immense Age, If Scientific Investigations Are Correct.

Water, particularly salt water, seems to conduce to longevity. There are gigantic mussels and oysters whose age is assumed to be comparable only with that of the Cape Verde baobab tree and the big tree of California, which live for 5,000 years. Indeed, there appears no particular reason why mussels should ever die, though it is also true that, considering the sort of life a mussel leads, there seems no particular reason why it should ever have lived.

Sea anemones, again, delicate and sensitive though they look when we see them in the rock pools, may attain great age. Sir John Dalyell, a Scottish naturalist, captured in 1828 a sea anemone of the liver-colored sort so common around our shores. Its age was then estimated at seven years. It flourished in Edinburgh until 1887, and was just attaining a vigorous and sober maturity when, from some unknown cause, it died.—London Mail.

Unnamed Heroine.

The anniversary is responsible for the publication of many reminiscences concerning the sinking of the Titanic. What the survivors and the chroniclers most like to dwell upon is the heroism displayed by passengers and crew aboard the vanished liner. There are tales of Major Butt, the Strausses, First Officer Murdock and many others, who showed fine metal in the hour of disaster. But there goes quite unmentioned, as she went almost unmentioned a year ago, the little English woman who said to the officer who would have thrust her into a lifeboat: "Oh, no, sir, I'm only a stewardess."

Neighborly.

Not long since a man moved into a certain village. After a week of so a friend called on him and asked how he liked his new home.

"Pretty well," he said.

"Have you called on your neighbors yet?"

"No," he replied; "but I'm going to if any more of my wood is missing."

In accord with the eternal fitness of things, a man who stole a watch wound up in jail.

Tact; Son Gets Down to Tacks.

Henry, age five, had two younger brothers. Henry's father had just moved, and was busy laying the kitchen linoleum. In order to facilitate the work he gave Henry the task of furnishing him with tacks. The little fellow worked faithfully for half an hour. Suddenly, however, he turned to his father and said:

"Papa, you like me best, don't you?"

"Oh, I like all my boys," said the father.

"But don't you like me a little bit better than the others?" queried Henry.

"I like all my boys equally well," answered the father.

"Well, papa," said the lad, after a moment of reflection, "what's the use o' my handing you these tacks then?"

Easy.

"I see you have a new cook," said Mrs. Keen, as she smiled at the hostess across the table.

"Yes," replied the hostess. "How did you know?"

"I've been studying the thumb prints on the plates," replied Mrs. Keen.

Begin With It.

"Why are people so much disgusted with any one who informs upon another?"

"Why shouldn't they be?"

"Didn't every mother's son of us begin life as squalers?"

There's many a hitch, likewise, in the business of a teamster.

Love Would Be Short.

"Oh, swear not by the moon, the inconstant moon," said Juliet.

How about the modern maidens who are going to be loved "till the sands of the desert grow cold?"

Don't their physical geographies tell them that the sands of the desert grow cold every night, "owing to the lack of aqueous vapor?" Ours used to.

Quite So.

YOU'LL HAVE TO HUSTLE TO WIN THE PIANO

But 15 Days Remain

IN WHICH TO WORK FOR THE MAGNIFICENT OBERMEYER & SONS PIANO.

Contest Will Close TUESDAY, JUNE TENTH

No use to shout about the virtue of the piano or other prizes. All have become familiar with them. Now is the time for steady determined effort, the kind that wears and tears and makes character in the doing. Every one of these contestants who have been working for the prize will be the better for the effort, even though there is only one piano and only one who can get it.

Who is to be the one? That is to be the momentous question. Do they at times see a vision of the drav stopping in front of their door, the men unload, tramping into the house with the beautiful instrument, the reward of their prowness and endeavor? How much interest did you take in such a dream? Have you not dreams of your own? And how wonld you feel to have them realized? Don't you think you would have the same feeling could you in some way assist, or have assisted, in the realization of some such laudable ambition? Try it and see. Put forth the effort. Bear in mind someone of the contestants whom you would like to see a winner and then go out and work.

Every time you spend a dollar put it some place whers you can get a vote coupon and then turn it over to your chosen candidate. You won't be the only one doing this, and how do you know but what your little help will turn the trick and put the prize where you want it? You people who get out of yourselves once in a while and do something for somebody else, are beginning to learn the true secret of a happy life, and once you get in the way you will keep it up forever—you will speedily see that the millenium is no fickle dream, but a blessed reality, to be brought about by just simple means.

If when you do a kind act you should fatally wait for the gratitude you might therefore miss the opportunity of doing another, and failing to get what you foolishly desired, lose all the jov of life, or, having got it, lose the other chance of being satisfied. Best keep on trying then; what is done for others you have done twice for yourself, for what is your end and object than happiness, which never follows greed?

A piano is never a foolish possession. When one can play it all within its sweet sound are benefitted thereby.

REPORT OF GRAND JURY

State of Alabama, Chilton County.
In the Circuit Court of said County. Spring Term, 1913.

Hon. W. W. Pearson, Judge of the 15th Judicial Circuit:

We, the Grand Jury, duly empaneled and sworn for the Spring Term of 1913, of the Circuit Court of Chilton county, beg leave to submit this our final report. We have investigated 86 alleged violations of law, have returned into your Honor's Court 32 indictments.

As to the bonds of the various county officers, and as to the manner of conducting their several offices, beg to say that the bonds are sufficient, and that all books are properly kept, so far as we have been able to determine. The books of the County Treasurer show that the county has over ten thousand dollars on hand at the present time.

The report of the Treasurer is hereto attached marked Exhibit "A," asked to be taken as a part of this report.

County property: We find that such repairs as are needed on the jail and court house and to which the attention of the County Commissioners has been called by the preceding Grand Jury is receiving attention and the repairs are now being made.

We find that most of the violators of the prohibition laws in the county are being carefully looked after by the county officials, that a number of convictions have taken place in the Court. It is the sense of this Grand Jury that hard labor should be put upon every violator of the prohibition laws of the State where the evidence is clear and convincing and we recommend that for the good of the county that petit juries add a recommendation of hard labor to their verdicts of guilty and the Judge in sentencing see that the hard labor is enforced, as we believe that this is the only way to effectually check this great evil and promoter of crime.

The carrying of concealed weapons seems to be on the increase in the county, and we recommend that hard labor be added to the fine in such cases where the defendant is unable to show any excuse for having a concealed weapons; we believe that the adding of hard labor in cases of this kind will in a large measure stop this evil and be of great benefit to the county.

County roads: We find that the roads throughout the county are as good as weather conditions and the road system will permit. It is the sense of this Grand Jury that every citizen of this county is in favor of better roads, the only point of difference being as to what is the best means of attaining same. It is the sense of this Grand Jury, after making diligent inquiry, in all sections of the county that, if an election on a bond issue for good roads was submitted to the people at the present time it would not carry, but it is also the sense of this Grand Jury that a failure of the people to vote for the bond issue would not be due to the fact that they are prejudiced against a bond issue but would be due to the fact that they do not understand it, fearing do not realize the benefits that accrue from a bond issue for bettering the roads. We firmly believe that if a systematic educational campaign was conducted in Chilton county so that the people would thoroughly understand what a bond issue meant, how it would be carried out, how the money would be secured and handled, kinds of roads that would be built and where they would be located, that the people of Chilton county, irrespective of party affiliation, would vote for a bond issue by a large majority.

County poor. We find that the county poor are being well cared for, that there are eighteen inmates in the poor house, and we heard complaints from only one, which upon investigation we found to be groundless.

We have returned indictments against all parties that we find in jail, except Jesse Heard, Wash Avery and Bud Brown. No true bills having been found against them, we respectfully ask that your Honor instruct the Sheriff to discharge them from custody.

In case No. 86 on the Grand Jury docket, the defendants being Charles Jacob, alias Kid Lou, Sterling Lyon, alias Big Beechy, and Lee Dozier, all charged with murder, many of the witnesses being out of the county, and being unable to get them before the Grand Jury, said cause has been continued on the Grand Jury docket, and we respectfully ask that your Honor make such order as is necessary for the clerk to continue said cause on said Grand Jury docket; and that the witnesses as appearing on said docket be summoned to appear before the next Grand Jury; that the defendants in said cause be held in jail to await the action of the next Grand Jury of Chilton county.

We also ask that a proper order be made continuing case No. 8 on the Grand Jury docket, and that the Clerk be instructed to issue summons in said cause to appear before the next Grand Jury of Chilton county on the first day of its session.

Having completed our labors, we respectfully ask that we be finally discharged.

W. H. Strock, Foreman.

CONGRESSMAN WRITES

Postmaster Dudley is in receipt of a letter from Congressman Blackmon to the effect that he will soon be in Clanton to go over all the rural routes eminating from this place, to investigate certain changes, recommended by the postmaster. The suggestions for changes made by the postmaster relate particularly to routes 1, 4, 7 and 8, which, if carried into effect, will vastly improve the service on those routes and not inconvenience any of the present patrons. Mr. Blackmon intimates that he will, however, go over all the routes with a post office inspector and the postmaster with a view to securing better service for all concerned. Mr. Blackmon has manifested great interest in the mail service of this county as well as in its other material interests, and our people should not soon forget him for his faithfulness.

TAG DAY OBSERVED

Wednesday was observed by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Church in Clanton as "tag day." The object in view was to raise funds for the parsonage in Clanton and that they raised a neat little sum for this purpose goes without saying.

All day long streams of ladies and girls could be seen upon the streets [illegible] upon the each felt able and willing to contribute.

Of course they met with some rebuffs, but in the main everyone smiled sweetly—that is if a man can smile sweetly—went "south," pulled out a coin and wished the workers much success in their noble enterprise. All in all, it was a most successful day and was greatly enjoyed, both by the ladies and the contributors.

DISTRESSING ACCIDENT

Monday afternoon about four o'clock Mr. J. A. Depoister, who occupies a position as conductor on one of the trains of the Alabama Interstate Power Company, happened to a most painful accident which will keep him confined to his bed for some days, perhaps several weeks.

Mr. Depoister was standing near the tank at the dam used for washing rock before they are placed in the walls of the dam; he made a step on one of the large rocks just ready to be washed, and the mud being very thick and slick, Mr. Depoister fell, his body falling between the water tank and the tram-road to the dam.

Mr. Depoister was dragged for ten or fifteen feet between the two, which were not more than fifteen inches apart, and sustained three broken ribs, besides other injuries. He was hastily brought to the Hopkins infirmary where his injuries were dressed and the patient made as comfortable as possible. At this writing he is resting well, though suffering much pain.

Mrs. J. B. Gaines of Montgomery spent last Thursday with Mrs. M. L. White.

CLANTON 25: LADIES 3

The Clanton boys gave the Al G. Gibbs Ladies baseball team a severe and unmerciful drubbing last Saturday afternoon, the final score being 25 to 3. From the time play was called by Umpire Pinckard it was evident that the ladies were not in the home team's class.

The Clanton sluggers simply had on their batting toggery, batting the visiting pitchers to all corners of the field, even Christy Matthewson in his palmiest days could not have stemmed the tide.

"Pal" Pyron was in the box for the home team and with his bewildering speed and quick breaking curve, had the band of Gibbs completely in the hollow of his hand and his team mates gave him gilt edge support.

"Red" Robinson worked behind the bat and caught his usual good game.

The features were the all-round good playing of Clanton, the pitching of Pyron and the heavy hitting of Jim Ramsey, who in six times up put the ball over the fence five times, and Claude Reynolds, who made five hits and four runs.

In a game last Friday the Clantan boys were victorious over the Cooper team, the score being 15 to 0, and letting Coopers down without a hit.

Batteries: Clanton, Reynolds and Palmer; Cooper, Headley and Strock.

Work on the safety record-vault at the court house has been suspended for a few days, pending the termination of court proceedings, as the noise made by the workmen disturbed the orderly proceedings of court.

POLITICS IN STATE IS GETTING LIVELY

FIVE CANDIDATES DEFINITELY COMMITTED TO MAKING RACE FOR GOVERNOR.

OTHERS KEEPING EYES OPEN

Impression in Montgomery Is That Railroad Rates and Prohibition Promise to be Chief Issues.

Montgomery.—With the almost simultaneous announcement of Braxton Bragg Comer and Walter D. Seed for governor, followed by that of Charles Henderson, and with three or four other leading men of the state on the verge of plunging into the arena, the political situation in the state is beginning to assume a number of interesting phases, with every indication that the next campaign for the office of governor will be one of the liveliest witnessed in the state in a number of years.

While the situation is by no means a complex one, it is sufficiently intricate to suggest a number of possibilities to candidates not yet declared, and whether or not these possibilities materialize will depend upon the issues of those candidates who have so far announced for governor.

Up to the present time five candidates have sprung into the political arena—Comer, Seed, Kolb, Wallace and Henderson, and it was predicted that Lee Long may later step into the limelight as a gubernatorial candidate.

And there may be other candidates. Ray Rushton, of Montgomery; W. P. G. Harding, of Birmingham; former Governor W. D. Jelks, of Birmingham; Senator R. E. Spragins, of Huntsville, and others have been mentioned for governor. Altogether, 14 candidates have been suggested.

Neither former Governor Comer nor Mr. Seed have announced their platform formally.

Mr. Henderson stands for economy in state administration, rate regulation and local option.

Mr. Wallace stands for regulation of railroads within "constitutional limitations," for state control of hydro-electric power companies and for a system of rural credits.

Indications are that should the next campaign depend solely upon the time-worn issues of the past six or eight years that other candidates may enter the race.

W. P. G. Harding's suggested candidacy has never been taken seriously here. While Mr. Harding's announcement would be well received by thousands of his friends throughout the state and while he would undoubtedly be regarded as a strong candidate, it is thought that the Birmingham financier has given the subject little consideration in view of his large business interests. Neither is there thought to be any likelihood that Senator Spragins, H. S. D. Mallory, of Selma, or M. B. Welborn, of Anniston, has any intention of entering the race. Former Gov. W. D. Jelks, another proposed candidate, may enter the arena, but it is considered doubtful.

HENDERSON ENTERS RACE

Railroad Regulation and Local Option Two Chief Planks of Platform.

Montgomery.—Charles Henderson, president of the state railroad commission, made formal announcement of his candidacy for governor in the next election.

In making his formal announcement for the office of chief executive, Mr. Henderson makes mention of three leading issues, which he will incorporate in his platform, economy in state government, railroad regulation and local option.

He declares that the increase in taxation in the state during the past five years has been 57 per cent., maintaining that "it is better to practice economy than to rob the citizens by taxation."

WANT ONLY ONE PRIMARY.

Would Nominate State Officers and Congressmen on Same Day.

Montgomery.—Speculation exists in official circles as to the action the state democratic executive committee will take in calling the primaries next year. The majority of officials at the capitol believe that the state committee and the congressional committees should get together and call one primary for both the state and congressional elections. No date has yet been set for any primary.

The last primary for the nomination of state officers was held in May, while the congressional primary was not held until the following August. It is claimed that during the interval the political situation in the state was in very much of a turmoil, consequent upon the bitter campaign for state offices; that candidates for office were put to greater expense by reason of the long interval before the election; and that the state would have been spared much political agitation had the primaries been held at the same time.

FEDERATION OF LABOR MEETS

Representatives From Nearly All Labor Unions in the State Attend

Selma.—The thirteenth annual convention of the Alabama State Federation of Labor met here May 19.

Representatives and delegates from practically every labor union and every labor interest in the state attended. There were present several hundred men and women from Birmingham, Montgomery, Anniston, Mobile and other towns and cities of the state. The country districts, too, were well represented, inasmuch as one of the important features of this year's convention was the anticipated formation of an alliance between the State Farmers' union and the federation. More new trades, it was stated, were represented at this session than ever before in the history of the federation.

During the past six months there has been a tremendous increase in the growth of the labor movement in all quarters of the state. The record is unprecedented.

The last meeting of the state federation occurred May 20, 1912, at Anniston.

It was at this meeting that a semi-monthly pay day was endorsed "for all working men and women in Alabama now receiving monthly pay days." The legislative committee was instructed to use its best efforts to have this enacted into a law at the next session of the legislature.

SEED OUT FOR GOVERNOR

Gubernatorial Contest Is Now On, Though the Election Is Eleven Months Off.

Birmingham.—Lieutenant Governor Walter D. Seed announced himself a candidate for the democratic nomination for governor of Alabama, and at the same time issued a challenge to former Governor B. B. Comer, also an announced candidate, to meet him on the stump at thirty different points in Alabama and discuss the issues of the day.

In a stateemnt given out by the lieutenant governor he says he had hoped it would not be necessary for him to announce so early, but that he was forced to do so in view of the actions of others.

The lieutenant governor says he will acquaint the people with his position on political issues at an early date.

HURTSBORO PETITION IN JUNE.

Commission Will be Asked to Order Union Station.

Montgomery.—Fifty citizens of Hurtsboro will appear before the state railroad commission at its June session and ask that a union railroad station be constructed in that place by the Seaboard Air Line and the Central of Georgia railways. Petition for the station was filed with the commission by W. J. Baldwin, secretary of the board of trade of Hurtsboro.

The station of the Central of Georgia railroad at Hurtsboro was destroyed by fire two months ago and it has not been rebuilt. The board of trade took the matter of a union station up with the railroads, but they refused to act. The case will be docketed by the commission and will come up for hearing at the next regular session.

MOUNDVILLE EXERCISES IN MAY

President B. F. Smith Makes Announcement.

Montgomery.—Commencement exercises at the State Normal school of Moundville will be held May 25 to 28, according to a statement of Prof. F. B. Smith, president of the school, who called on Governor O'Neal.

Rev. H. M. Stevenson, of Birmingham, will deliver the principal address at the school and Rev. Charles Barry of Tuscaloosa, will deliver the commencement sermons.

During the exercises there will be held an art exhibit, a recital and an entertainment by the Model School association.

BIDS ON LANDS RECEIVED

State Land Agent Martin Visits Tuscaloosa.

Montgomery.—W. J. Martin, state land agent, went to Tuscaloosa, where he received bids on 2,000 acres of school lands. These bids will not be passed upon until they have been submitted to Governor O'Neal.

Bids on the Jefferson County school lands were submitted to the governor.

GRUBB RESTRAINS COMMISSION

May 23 is Fixed as Date for Hearing Question of Permanent Injunction by Three Federal Judges.

Huntsville.—Judge W. I. Grubb, of the United States district court issued an order restraining the Alabama railroad commission from compelling the Louisville & Nashville railroad to reduce its passenger fares to two and one-half cents per mile. May 23 was fixed as the date for hearing the question of permanent injunction by three United States judges.

MUST STAND EXAMINATION.

Supreme Court Renders Decision Affecting Mental Healers.

Montgomery.—Persons who heal diseases by "mental suggestion" and similar methods must stand the state medical examination, as required by the code if they receive pay for their service, according to a decision handed down by the court of appeals in the case of J. J. Smith vs. State, appealed from the Bessemer city court.

COULDN'T RAISE HEAD OR HAND

And Had Lost All Hope of Recovery. Now Runs Sewing Machine.

Scottsville, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Miss Jennie Meador writes as follows: "I was in an awful condition, caused from womanly trouble. Was confined to my bed, and couldn't raise my head or hand. In fact, I had lost all hope of ever getting well.

I began taking Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I can now work in the garden, run a sewing machine, have gained 15 pounds, and am as happy as can be.

You may publish this letter if you wish. I wish all ladies suffering from womanly trouble would give Cardui a trial, as I am sure it would help them."

Cardui is a pure vegetable extract, that has no severe medicinal action, but acts mildly and gently, as a medicine should act, and therefore can have no bad after effects.

You can rely on Cardui to help you, just as it has helped so many thousands of other women in the past half-century. It goes to the seat of the trouble and builds up womanly strength where it is most needed.

It is always wise to have a bottle of Cardui on hand, ready for use. Get a bottle today, so that you can take a dose or two whenever you feel you need it. At your drug store.

One of the masterpieces that he received through the mail from one of these boys says:

U. S. REPLIES TO PROTEST OF JAPS

BRYAN HANDS ANSWER OF UNCLE SAM ON ALIEN PROBLEM TO CHINDA

NATURE OF REPLY NOT KNOWN

Bryan and Chinda Confer for Hour Concerning General Aspect of Problem.

Washington.—Secretary Bryan handed Ambassador Chinda the reply of the United States government to the Japanese protest against the California alien land legislation. The ambassador immediately cabled it to Tokio. No intimation as to the nature of reply was given out.

Upon learning through press dispatches that Governor Johnson had signed the Webb land act, Secretary Bryan telephoned Viscount Chinda and invited him to come to the state department to receive the reply, which he had been anxiously awaiting since the presentation of his own note May 9th.

When the answer had been delivered the secretary and the ambassador conferred earnestly for an hour regarding the general aspect of the problem. Of course, the opinions expressed were tentative as for his part the ambassador felt that he must be guided entirely by the directions of the foreign office at Tokio and he could only surmise what might be the attitude of the officials at home. Meanwhile it was understood that both the Japanese protest and the state department's answer would be withheld from publication, for the present at least, on the ground that it would be injudicious to submit the delicate questions at issue to heated discussion in the newspapers and at possible mass meetings. The negotiations between the two governments are expected to proceed in regular fashion, without further reference as to what takes place in California.

ALIEN BILL MADE LAW

Johnson Signs Measure Against Protests of Japan and Representations of President.

Sacramento.—California's alien land bill became the law of the state against protests of Japan and representations of President Wilson and his personal envoy, Secretary of State Bryan, Governor Johnson signed the bill and 90 days after the adjournment of the legislature, or on August 10 the act becomes operative.

STREET CAR STRIKE ENDED.

Men Win Recognition of the Union, But In Return Concede "Open Shop" Principle.

Cincinnati.—The most serious street car strike this city has ever known was ended, when representatives of the Cincinnati Traction company of the street car men's union came to an agreement whereby car service will be resumed.

The men won recognition of their recently formed union, but in return conceded the "open shop" principle. The company also pledges itself to an increase of wages to all union and non-union employes without discrimination. The amount of increase is subject to arbitration.

Employes discharged after the union was formed and before the strike was declared shall be reinstated.

The strike was declared May 9 and has resulted in a complete tie-up of street car transportation and the efforts of the company to move its cars caused serious rioting which resulted in Mayor Hunt making a demand on Governor Cox for troops to restore order. On Governor Cox's refusal to send the troops Mayor Hunt applied for a receivership. This suit was withdrawn.

HIT BY ITS OWN TORPEDO

United States Torpedo Boat Badly Damaged When Practice Torpedo Crashes Into Her Stern.

Newport, R. I.—The torpedo boat Vesuvius was struck by one of its own torpedoes and was beached on Hope Island, Narragansett bay, when the lives of those on board seemed imperilled by the waters which rushed in through a hole astern.

As a practice whitehead torpedo left her side the mechanism went awry in some manner not yet determined. The torpedo turned like a boomerang and crashed into the Vesuvius astern below the water line, gashing a two inch hole. Hammocks, blankets and other material were used in trying to patch up the hole. But the Vesuvius began to settle astern and a call for help was sent out by wireless.

REALISM CARRIED TO EXCESS

Lack of Drapery Would Seem to Have Furnished Excellent Incentive for Maternal Slipper.

A mother in Worcester, Mass., who had orthodox views, had told her children the Garden of Eden story. The children were greatly impressed. One afternoon, returning from town, the mother found the palms and ferns had disappeared from the veranda. Going into the darkened living-room she saw one of the boys, minus clothing, reclining under a big fern, while another, equally clothesless, was standing by a palm. They enlightened her by explaining that they were playing Adam and Eve in the garden.

At that minute her youngest boy, not three, came into the room as nature had first given him to the world, except that he wore a silk hat on his head and carried a cane.

"And pray who are you?" asked the mother.

The little one looked up at her and smiled as he said: "I am the Lord Dod Almighty walking in the darden in the tool of the day."

BREAKING OUT WOULD ITCH AND BURN

Bellton, Ga.—"Some time ago my feet and ears were frost bitten, which troubled me very much every winter. My ears would turn red and swell, with terrible itching and my heel would crack. I had a severe scalp trouble and also a breaking out on my wrists and hands which would itch and burn until I could not sleep of nights. There was an eruption on my scalp with dandruff. I had to keep my hair clipped close to keep down the irritation and itching. I tried several remedies and cream and two treatments of —— remedies which did me no good. Then I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment and I am now cured of all my troubles." (Signed) J. S. Echols, Mar. 12, 1912.

Abridged Bible.

An abridged Bible is being advocated—one that will contain only the vital parts of the great book, and that omits hundreds of pages of matter now not read at all except by students. No doubt such a Bible would become instantly popular, because it would all be interesting and to the point. In this age, none except students will wade through very long books. Everybody wants the truth boiled down to the very shortest space. The great story of the crucifixion is told in very few words, and all the essentials of the Bible for the average person could easily be covered in one-fifth the pages required for the whole work.—Gallipolis Tribune.

UNIQUE CASE OF FILIAL LOVE

To Help His Mother a Penniless Nobleman "Tries" a Clown Act in Paris Theater.

Visitors to Paris who have recently wandered by chance into one of the "cafe concerts," which are mostly frequented by that class who neither toil nor spin, must have been amazed and saddened by a very unusual music hall turn, writes the Paris correspondent of the Brooklyn Eagle. Every night, between the "sentimental tenor" and the "chanteuse legere," a mournful looking young man appears. He is greeted with derisive yells.

He sings, or tries to sing, a sentimental ballad and a comic song. He also imitates animals, the noises of tools and the whistling of locomotives.

The effect is so deplorable that the audience recently insisted on the "noble clown" apologizing for his lack of skill. He humbly advanced to the footlights and bowed to right, left and before him. Then in a voice choked with sobs, he began to express his regret. With pathetic resignation he went down on his knees, offered profuse apologies for his lack of skill and promised to do his best to please them in the future.

Few who have seen this lamentable exhibition know its origin and excuse. This abject buffoonery is inspired by one of the noblest motives—filial love. This descendant of one of the oldest and noblest families in Venice was left alone, when very young, with his infirm and penniless mother. For many years they lived on the charity of friends, but the old woman is now in such health that admission into an almshouse would be the only means of saving her life. But this cannot be obtained without the payment of a certain sum, and her son is now employing the only means of procuring it open to him.

Transmissibility of Genius.

The sale of relics of Robert and Elizabeth Browning by executors of the estate of their son, the late Robert Weidemann Barrett Browning, which began May 1, again calls attention to the fact that the child of a union so richly dowered, from the literary and artistic standpoint, failed to show traces of the genius of either parent. He was an artist, but did nothing extraordinary. It would almost seem that genius not only has a way of sometimes consuming its possessor but also of consuming itself, as far as the immediate offspring are concerned. At any rate, the evidence as to its transmissibility is still lacking although, of course, there are plenty of facts to justify a belief as to the transmissibility of special talents.

Its Origin.

Miss Elsie De Wolfe, in one of the reception rooms of the Colony club, was talking about the new servant trust.

"It originated in the Philippines," she said, "among the army servants there. It traveled west to Honolulu. It is now spreading, they say, on to San Francisco.

"This coming trouble reminds me of a story.

"'Who originated the proverb about a rolling stone gathering no moss?' one man asked another.

"The other man quietly replied:

"'That, my dear fellow, is a quotation from an eloquent but vain appeal to a suburban cook to stay on one month more.'"

Did Not Live Up to It.

Our high appreciations and even our expressed desires are not always indices of our character. "Let me die the death of the righteous," was the prayer of Baalam. And then he went right away and joined himself to the heathen and was slain by a righteous man.

After Long Suffering

Women Are Constantly Being Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"Worth mountains of gold," says one woman. Another says, "I would not give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for all the other medicines for women in the world." Still another writes, "I should like to have the merits of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound thrown on the sky with a searchlight so that all suffering women could read and be convinced that there is a remedy for their ills."

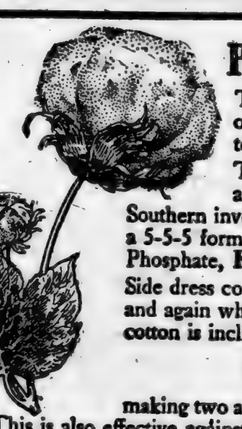
We could fill a newspaper ten times the size of this with such quotations taken from the letters we have received from grateful women whose health has been restored and suffering banished by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Why has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound accomplished such a universal success? Why has it lived and thrived and kept on doing its glorious work among the sick women of the world for more than 30 years?

Simply and surely because of its sterling worth. The reason no other medicine has ever approached its success is plainly and simply because there is no other medicine so good for women's ills.

Here are two letters that just came to the writer's desk—only two of thousands, but both tell a comforting story to every suffering woman who will read them—and be guided by them.

FROM MRS. D. H. BROWN.



Iola, Kansas.—"During the Change of Life I was sick for two years. Before I took your medicine I could not bear the weight of my clothes and was bloated very badly. I doctored with three doctors but they did me no good. They said nature must have its way. My sister advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I purchased a bottle. Before it was gone the bloating left me and I was not so sore. I continued taking it until I had taken 12 bottles. Now I am stronger than I have been for years and can do all my work, even the washing. Your medicine is worth its weight in gold. I cannot praise it enough. If more women would take your medicine there would be more healthy women. You may use this letter for the good of others."—Mrs. D. H. Brown, 809 North Walnut Street, Iola, Kan.

MRS. WILLIAMS SAYS:

Elkhart, Ind.—"I suffered for 14 years from organic inflammation, female weakness, pain and irregularities. The pains in my sides were increased by walking or standing on my feet and I had such awful bearing down feelings, was depressed in spirits and became thin and pale with dull, heavy eyes. I had six doctors from whom I received only temporary relief. I decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial and also the Sanitive Wash. I have now used the remedies for four months and cannot express my thanks for what they have done for me.—Mrs. Sadie Williams, 455 James Street, Elkhart, Indiana.

Let's change that slogan just a little and make it read "Off with the new and on with the old" at the State house.

What has become of O'Neal's investigation anyway? Where is Lacy and the detectives? But most of all, where is that ninety thousand?

Hobson opens his political campaign for the Senatorship at Tuscaloosa next Wednesday and the politicians are awaiting his first utterances bidding for the office with great anticipations—some of coming good, others of evil to arrive.

The entry of Hon. Chas. Henderson into the gubernatorial marathon may cause others to don their race costumes and come scampering down the practice road. In any event John Wallace, Jr. will be sure to announce and there may be others.

Hon. W. D. Seed promises to make it hot for Marse Braxton Bragg; says he will have to explain anyway, whether or no. Well, we love Walter Seed, but we will bet nickels to the hole in the doughnut that Marse Braxton puts up the explanation that will catch the votes.

With Henderson flanking Comer on the one side with the railroad proposition and Seed flanking the other wing with the prohibition question, it seems that Comer is not going to have such easy sailing after all; but time will tell. The people know Comer and they also know O'Neal, hence they want a change.

Anyway it's to be a long drawn out campaign; the democratic primary will probably not be called till late in April of next year. With four candidates already announced for the governship and two for senator, with perhaps as many more for the several other State offices to be filled the "deer peepul" will get their fill of political discussions. But then you must bear in mind what year this is and that is has a thirteen in it.

These short sessions of court are not only expensive to the State and several counties but they work a hardship upon litigants. When the reform comes in legal procedure, please make some provision whereby when a case is called for adjudication it can be completed. The other day a case involving fifty thousand dollars was continued because, forsooth, the time for the civil docket had expired and the day for criminal cases had arrived.

Last year it was the same way; men indicted for murder languished in jail for months because the session of the court had expired by limitation.

Cannot some way be devised by which our courts can grind out justice without going through the formality of waiting for some particular star to be in the ascendancy or the moon to be at a certain phaze?

In that instance we are for the old slogan, "Off with the old and on with the new."

Is there no possible way to abate the fly nuisance? It seems that surely we could rid ourselves of eighteen or twenty billion of these germ bearers if we would but try. Clanton is suffering a greater fly invasion this year than ever heretofore. We have also had several cases of typhoid fever and when it is recalled that the common house fly is the bearer of typhoid germs and that they work while we sleep we should arouse ourselves and make some attempt to secure safety.

Every one knows the common breeding places of the house fly; most of us know how to put a stop to their breeding if we but would.

A little careful use of diluted formaldyhide scattered about these breeding places and a few screens properly placed and adjusted might be a cheap means of saving a number of valuable lives as well as of giving much comfort to those who lives are not in jeopardy.

MRS. PINCKARD ENTERTAINS

Tuesday afternoon last Mrs. Evans Moore Pinckard was hostess at one of the most enjoyable social functions given in Clanton during the season.

The occasion was a tea given in honor of Mrs. Wilber D. Pinckard of Gadsden, the house guest of the lovely hostess, and Mrs. Edward Poe Stewart, of Little Rock, Ark., who is visiting her sister, Mrs. Dr. Arthur Johnson.

There is perhaps no more talented or gracious hostess in all the land than Mrs. Evans Pinckard and to receive an invitation to one of her social affairs is a testimonial to her friendship which is to be highly appreciated.

Those assisting the hostess to receive were Mrs. J. P. Hayes, who graciously welcomed the guests into the spacious reception hall, where delicious tea was served by Mrs. James Hugh Jones, assisted by Miss Willie Reynolds, the beautiful and talented daughter of Judge L. H. Reynolds.

Standing in the receiving party, besides the hostess, were Mrs. Wilbur D. Pinckard, Mrs. Edward Poe Stewart and Mrs. Arthur Johnson.

Receiving in the dining room were Mrs. S. A. Stewart, Mrs. H. F. Chandler, Mrs. John VanDerveer and Misses Downs and Mullins where a tempting salad course was served.

Mrs. Dr. N. S. Johnson, Mrs. J. P. VanDerveer and Miss Thomas served dainty ices in the library.

The Pinckard home, so well adapted to entertainments of this character and always a place of good cheer, was more beautiful than ever on this particular occasion, the entire lower floor being decorated with flowers and potted plants from the gardens of the hostess.

Quite a number of handsomely gowned ladies called during the afternoon. The hostess, a woman of rare charm and regal beauty, was even more charming in black crepe meteor; Mrs. Wilbur D. Pinckard a stately matron, looked handsome indeed in white charmeuse, Mrs. Edward Poe Stewart was beautiful in pink draped chiffon which added grace to her refined beauty, while Mrs. Arthur Johnson, an exquisite beauty, was at her best in pink.

Mrs. W. D. Pinckard has been the honored guest of a number of social affairs during her visit to Clanton, a large bridge party being given in her honor last Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. Arthur Johnson and on Monday evening Mrs. Hugh Jones delightfully entertained at a most enjoyable dinner party.

PROSPERITY TO SHARE

The L. & N. is engaged in the creation and sale of passenger and freight transportation. To secure the maximum results the natural resources of the territory through which the road operates must be developed.

The L. & N. desires to build up the territory in order that more people might reside therein who will raise more products for the railroad to ship away and who will attain such a full share of prosperity that their mode of living will be greatly improved, and with an increased income they will purchase more furniture, clothing, farm tools and other things which the L. & N. will be paid to haul.

The General Industrial and Immigration Bureau is doing much work in its successful efforts to induce farmers living in the far Northwest and West to locate along the lines of the L. & N. Every time an Immigrant is settled, property and taxable values are increased.

The Agricultural Department of the Bureau, conducted by leading experts in their respective lines in the United States, renders service to the farmers living along the line of the L. & N. in the development of the territory.

Fruits, vegetables, cereals, hay, cotton, poultry, live stock, dairying and mineral production receive attention. In fact assistance is rendered to every line of endeavor looking to the successful development of the territory.

Prosperity of the people is ever and always the thought and effort of the officials of the L. & N., because they know that the L. & N. will share in the prosperity of the people, and that the L. & N. will prosper in proportion to the prosperity of the people.

The services of the experts comprising the Agricultural Department are subject to the wishes of the people living along the line of the L. & N. who make application to Mr. G. A. Park, General Immigration and Industrial Agent, Louisville, Ky. The service is free.

Free Dispensaries For Treating Hookworm Disease

THE county dispensaries for the free examination and treatment for hookworm disease have been phenomenally successful. Though they were not established until the spring of 1911 and then in only two states, before the close of that year nine states had them in operation. Entirely new as they were, 87,000 persons were treated through them during the first few months of their establishment in 1911. Twenty-three thousand were treated during the very severe winter months of January, February and March of 1912, and the work is gaining further headway.

More than 100 counties have the small provision of money necessary to have the dispensary campaign. The county authorities make an appropriation to defray the local expenses for drugs, advertising and penses occasioned by a laboratory to assist the physician in charge the dispensary.

Usually five points in a county are lected for the dispensaries, and one is open one day of each week five or six weeks, giving an opportunity to people in all sections of the county to receive successive treatments each week until completely cured.

We are requested to announce the second annual quarterly conference of the Clanton circuit, Methodist church, will be held at Jemison on Saturday, May 31st, and Sunday, June 1st. The regular business meeting of the conference will be held at Jemison on Sunday afternoon so as to permit as many of the officials of the church to attend as possible and they are accordingly requested to be present with reports.

The great calamity in Omaha was quickly overshadowed by the terribly disastrous floods in Ohio. Great suffering and sickness from colds and exposure resulted. L. Poole, 2217 California St., Omaha, writes: "My daughter had a very severe cough and cold but Foley's Honey and Tar Compound knocked it out in no time." Refuse substitutes- Alred Drug Co.

One of the smoothest articles of nerve we have seen displayed recently was pulled off on John Van-Derveer Monday afternoon. A young man purchased a bottle of dope from some store, went into John's place, where he sells all kinds of dope, requested the use of a glass and some ice. They were furnished him and the youngster calmly sat at the dope fount, poured out his beverage and drank it. Who can beat it? Its your go.

A card to the editor from Scott Chesnutt states that he is making good in the Appalatchian league but that he longs to return to Clanton, and will do so in the early future, when he expects to take up the study of law.

Mr. R. H. Gaines, the Nestor of Jemison, was circulating among Clanton friends during the early part of the week.

The spring months often find a women tired out, with pain in back, hips and head, nervous and sleepless. Foley Kidney Pills will quickly prove their worth and value as a healer of all kidney and bladder ailments and irregularities. They are a splendid remedy for rheumatism, clearing the uric acid from the joints and system. Try them. Alred Drug Co.

Dr. Clarence Roper returned last Saturday from Birmingham, where he has been for the past nine months attending the Birmingham Medical College.

Dr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Dennis of Montgomery visited Mr. and Mrs. M. L. White the past week.

Mrs. W. M. McDaniel entertained a few friends at dinner, Monday last, the occasion being her birthday. A most elegant repast was served and the hostess was the recipient of best wishes for many happy returns of her birthday.

A man living in Auburn, New York, had a severe attack of kidney and bladder trouble. Being a working man, not wanting to lose time, he cured himself completely by using Foley Kidney Pills. A year later he says: "It is a pleasure to report that the cure was permanent." His name is J. A. Farmer. Alred Drug Co

On Tuesday afternoon the Circuit court, though having a crowded docket, adjourned for three hours during the funeral services of Mrs. A. C. Smith out of respect to her husband who is a practicing attorney of Clanton, and all court officials and attorneys attended the funeral. A mute testimonial to the love in which the heart broken husband is held by his associates.

Everybody is buying them. Buying what? Singer Machines and Oliver Typewriters from C. Reese Mullins, agent. 5-8-4t

A slight cold in a child or grown person holds possibilities of a grave nature. Croup may come on suddenly, bronchistis or pneumonia may develop, severe catarrhal troubles and consumption are possible results. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound nips a cold at the outset, cures croup quickly, checks a deep seated cough, and heals inflamed membranes. Alred Drug Co.

THREE SAD, SAD DEATHS

Clanton has been called upon within the past week to give up three of her most prominent citizens, and while the death of neither one was altogether unexpected, it casts a pall of gloom over the entire town.

FRANK CRICHTON

was born in London, England, March 9, 1857, and when a youth of sixteen left his home for the sea. After roaming the seas for some years, visiting almost every port in the civilized world, he settled in New York City, where he learned the printers' trade. Leaving New York he located at Birmingham where he followed his adopted profession till 1893, when with T. H. White he came to Clanton and established the Clanton Banner. Two years after its establishment Mr. Crichton became the sole owner of the publication, which for twenty years he managed and controlled with signal success. In 1912 he sold the larger part of his interest in the Banner to a stock company and retired from active life. In April, 1911, he visited the home of his boyhood days, where he spent eleven weeks; upon returning home he was stricken with paralysis from which he never entirely recovered. A second stroke soon followed and his condition was considered desperate, but, to the astonishment of his friends he rallied, and was frequently seen about the streets in his rolling chair. On last Sunday a third stroke was visited upon him and it was then known that the end was near. On Monday morning at three o'clock the death angel visited the home and relieved the patient sufferer of his burden.

The funeral services were conducted from the family residence Monday afternoon and all that was mortal of genial, kindly Frank Crichton was laid to rest in Clanton cemetery, a large concourse of friends being present to pay their last mark of respect to one who had always been faithful to his trust and loyal to his friends.

Mr. Crichton leaves a widow, who before her marriage was Miss Nannie Smith, whose heart is bowed in deathly grief and to whom the sympathy of the entire community is extended in her hour of desolation.

THOMAS S. PHILLIPS

was born at Franklin in Macon county on November 3, 1842. On August 12th, 1869, he was married to Miss Glennie Lamar of Auburn, to whom four children were born, namely: Mrs. J. E. Evans and Mrs. Willie Jones of Clanton, and Mrs. Mae Duke and Mrs. A. L. Duncan, both of Prattville. Mr. Phillips removed to Clanton in November, 1866, where he has since continuously made his home and among whose people he lived and walked, making no enemies and attaching to himself as friends all those with whom he came in contact. For many years Mr. Phillips has suffered with an incurable disease and though realizing that he was beyond the help of medical science he bore his suffering and approaching death with rare fortitude. On Monday, May 19th, he quietly folded his hands in endless sleep and awoke in the city not made with hands eternal in the heavens.

The funeral services were conducted Tuesday morning from the family residence by Rev. L. H. S. Chappelle of the Methodist church and were attended by a large number of friends and relatives. The floral offerings were numerous and beautiful. Thus is Clanton called upon to give up one of her oldest and beloved citizens.

MRS. ALLIE SMITH.

The Grim Reaper, not content with the havoc he had already wrought in the homes of Clanton, again on Monday night visited the home of Mr. A. C. Smith, who to know is to love, and took from that home the bright light which had made life one long sweet song of joy and gladness in the person of Mrs. Smith. Before her marriage Mrs. Smith was Miss Lennie Calloway of Coosa county. She was married to Mr. Smith in November, 1890, and for twenty years lived a devoted wife and mother, loved by all who knew her and the earthly idol of a devoted husband and affectionate children. Mrs. Smith was born in Coosa county in April, 1868, being in the forty-fifth year of her age at the time of her death. She was stricken two weeks ago with typhoid fever and from the beginning her life was in the balance, nevertheless all that tender hands and loving hearts could do to minister unto her was accomplished in the fond hope that health might be restored and that she might again go about ministering unto her loved ones as was her custom and in which duty she found so much pleasure.

She leaves, besides a fond husband, seven children, two boys and five girls to mourn her untimely death, the last being a wee baby girl of nine months. The funeral services were had at Samaria church Tuesday afternoon and were conducted by Rev. L. H. S. Chappelle. The large number of friends attending the services and the great banks of flowers sent to the bereaved home testify to the love and esteem in which this noble woman was held by those who knew her.

MRS. ROSS MULLINS ENTERTAINS

One of the most delightful affairs of the late Spring season was the domino party given by Mrs. Ross Mullins at her attractive home last Thursday morning in honor of Mrs, E. P. Stewart of Arkansas.

The punch table was placed on the spacious veranda which was enclosed by a number of trailing rose bushes.

The effect was wonderfully artistic and beautiful and made ideal setting for the table, which was presided over by Miss Maude Mullins.

The apartments of the home were thrown together, and the abundant use of Spring blossoms and ferns made the scene of the games most beautiful. In the games, Mrs. N. S. Johnson, making the highest score, she was awarded a pair of silk hose. Mrs. S. E. Johnson received the consolation, a large bonquet of American beauty roses.

At the conclusion of the games a delightful buffet luncheon was served.

Mrs. Ross Mullins looked unusually well in white lingerie. Mrs. Stewart, the honoree, in tan linen with lace garnitures, was very attractive.

Mrs. N. S. Johnson was also very pretty; her gown was a white embroidered linen, and her hat a burnt orange with an aigrette poised in the back. Miss Bettie Mullins wore a pretty white gown, straight and simple as to its lines, and with she had donned a small chapeau in the tan shade. Miss Lurline Harper wore a black and white costume made with a blouse coat. Mrs. P. I. Hopkins wore one of the smart black gowns in which she is exceptionally stunning, and a large picture hat completed with a large melrose plume. Mrs. Upchurch never looked prettier, her tan gown being most becoming, and the blue hat with its different colored flowers giving that lively note of brilliance and color which makes the spring fashions so fascinating. Mrs. Arthur Johnson was wearing one of the smart morning gowns. Mrs. S. E. Johnson looked very handsome in her Balkan suit and smart French hat. Mrs. Gamma Anderson was wearing one of the smart tailored costumes and a quaint hat with black ribbon about the crown.

A number of others composed the especially interesting party, who enjoyed the lunchen and the games.

MOUNTAIN CREEK.

Miss Lilla Thornton has returned from a pleasure trip to Boston. She said: Oh, yes, I had a splendid time, and, do you know that I think some of the people are just fine, don't you.

The veterans at Soldiers' Home intend to observe Jefferson Davis birthday, June 3d.

Samuel Andress, Thomas Morehead and W. P. Thompson leave here for Chattanooga on Monday.

Dr. P. I. Hopkins went up to Birmingham Tuesday morning on professional business, returning in the afternoon.

South's Veterans to Meet on Famous Battlefields

(By CAPT. JAMES JOLK SMARTT, Historian of the Chattanooga-Chickamauga National Park Commission.)

ENTRANCE TO THE NATIONAL CEMETERY, CHATTANOOGA

KENTUCKY MONUMENT

MARYLAND MONUMENT

GEORGIA MONUMENT

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn.—The annual reunion of the United Confederate Veterans will be held here May 27-29 inclusive. On the same dates, also, the Sons of Confederate Veterans meet here in annual reunion.

Two of the heaviest battles of the Civil war were fought on territory now practically included in the city of Chattanooga, or as suburbs. These were the terrible battle of Chickamauga, in which more blood flowed than on any other field, not excepting European countries, and the battle of Missionary Ridge, the result of which broke the hold of the Confederates upon the Chattanooga valley and turned the territory over to the Union army. These battles were fought just fifty years ago, and this year is, therefore, their semi-centennial.

The battle of Chickamauga was fought September 19 and 20, 1863. The battle of Missionary Ridge was fought two months later, or, to be exact, on November 25, 1863. Two less important battles, however, were fought here. These were the battle of Lookout Mountain, November 24, and the battle of Orchard Knob, November 23. These three engagements constitute the battle of Chattanooga, Missionary Ridge being the climax in the series of battles.

About 50,000 men were killed, wounded and missing in the fighting around Chattanooga. The engagement at Chickamauga furnished about 35,000 of the total casualties.

To commemorate and memorialize these battlefields, the national government and states have spent large sums of money. There are about 2,000 memorials of all kinds and descriptions on the battlefields here. These memorials consist of marble and bronze monuments, mounted cannon, historical tablets, distance tablets, and observation towers.

The government has converted Chickamauga into a national military park. It contains about 6,500 acres of land, and this will be largely increased in the near future through additional purchases. Fort Oglethorpe, a brigade army post, the largest in the United States, has been established at Chickamauga park, and is now occupied by the Eleventh cavalry. The roads in Chickamauga park have been preserved in practically the same topographical form as they were before the great battle. The government, however, has covered all of them with macadam, giving the tourist a continuous journey of about 110 miles over the government boulevards and battlefield roads.

The federal government has erected on these fields nine handsome granite monuments to regular troops, and twenty-three shell monuments. It has also erected five iron and steel observation towers seventy feet high. Wilder's observation tower is 85 feet high. There have been placed on these fields 700 historical tablets, and 860 distance and locality tablets.

The northern states have spent a large amount of money on the Chattanooga battlefields, New York leading in the total expenditure. That state has spent about $100,000 for a considerable group of monuments scattered over the fields. The most imposing New York monument is on Lookout Mountain in Point Park.

Ohio has a group of monuments here that cost about $130,000, including the expense of markers and tablets. The states of Pennsylvania, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin are liberally represented by monuments, as are a number of other northern states.

The southern states have spent a great deal of money here also in erecting monuments, tablets and markers. Tennessee has four monuments and forty-seven markers at Chickamauga. South Carolina has one monument and ten markers at Chickamauga. Alabama has authorized the expenditure of $25,000 for a monument on the same field. Florida appropriated $15,000 for a monument at Chickamauga. This monument, with the imposing memorial erected by the Ladies' Memorial Association of Alabama, will be dedicated during the May reunion. One of the handsomest monuments on the field of Chickamauga is the Georgia monument, erected at a cost of $25,000. The sentimental inscription on this monument is as follows: "To the lasting memory of all her sons who fought on this field—those who fought and lived and those who fought and died, those who gave much and those who gave all, Georgia erects this monument."

Kentucky has a beautiful monument at Chickamauga bearing the following inscription: "Erected to her sons who fought and fell. As we are united in life and they united in death, let one mountain perpetuate their deeds, and one people, forgetful of all appetites, forever hold in grateful remembrance all the glories of that terrible conflict which made all men free and retained every star on the nation's flag."

South Carolina has a handsome monument at Chickamauga on which the following inscription appears: "To her faithful sons at Chickamauga, South Carolina erects this monument to commemorate the valor they proved, and the lives they gave, on this great battlefield."

Maryland has erected a monument at Chickamauga to both blue and gray. The inscription on this monument is as follows: "The proud heritage bequeathed to worthy sons of illustrious sires arose, Phoenix-like, from the fierce fraternal strife, redeemed and regenerated, and now and forever, victor and vanquished are indissolubly united, knowing but one God, one country, one destiny."

The battle of Chickamauga had, according to men who gave the subject careful and painstaking study, the highest percentage of loss known to wars, for two days' fighting. The armies threw themselves upon each other with a fury that is probably not exceeded in the history of wars. The battle, beginning in earnest on Saturday, September 19, lasted until Sunday evening about dusk, when Gen. George H. Thomas withdrew his forces from Snodgrass hill and abandoned the field to the Confederates. There was an intercession of the fighting, of course, Saturday night, because of darkness, but hostilities were resumed early Sunday morning. The two armies fought back and forth over the field all of Sunday, strewing the ground with the dead and wounded and setting high water mark for casualties. The loss in this battle will never be known, but the most careful estimates place the number of dead, wounded and missing at about 35,000, or about one-third of the number engaged. Some commands lost as high as 70 per cent. of their men.

After this battle the federal forces began strengthening their fortifications around Chattanooga. The Confederates moved nearer to the city and also fortified their position, throwing their lines in front of the city from the river above to the river below. The two armies occupied practically the same positions for two months. Hostilities were resumed actively with a movement by the federals, on November 23, against Orchard Knob. General Grant had reached Chattanooga a month earlier and assumed command of the army. His plan of campaign was to surprise the Confederates at the north end of Missionary Ridge by sending General Sherman against that potision, and carry the ridge, which was held by the Confederates, to the railroad tunnel before it could be occupied by a stronger force. General Hooker was kept in Lookout Valley to guard against a movement from the Confederate left. General Thomas was to move the Army of the Cumberland to the left, connect with Sherman if he reached the tunnel on Missionary Ridge, and then sweep southward, driving the Confederates up the valley, and out of reach of their base of supplies at Chickamauga, Tenn.

The Union movement against Orchard Knob was made for the purpose of verifying a report that General Grant had received that the Confederates were retreating. It was a successful movement, and that eminence fell into the hands of the Federals, becoming General Grant's headquarters during the remainder of the campaign.

Next day the battle of Lookout Mountain was fought. This engagement took place on a bench of Lookout Mountain, below the summit, and is known as the "battle above the clouds." The Confederates were driven from their position. During this battle a cloud swept over the mountain, enveloping the contending regiments.

The battle of Missionary Ridge was fought November 25. During the night of November 24 all of General Bragg's troops were withdrawn from Lookout Mountain and the Chattanooga Valley and massed on Missionary Ridge. About 4 o'clock on the evening of November 25 a general advance on Missionary Ridge was ordered from General Grant's headquarters. One of the most imposing spectacles of the Chattanooga campaign was witnessed here. The Union soldiers were advanced across a level plain for a mile in plain view from the crest of the ridge, and ordered to capture and hold the Confederate rifle pits at the base. The fighting on the slopes of this ridge was among the hardest of the Civil war. The Confederates were driven from the ridge. This victory left the Union army in undisputed possession of the Chattanooga valley. The Confederates retreated into Georgia.

These military operations, from beginning to end, extended over a wide scope of territory. A circle drawn around Chattanooga to cover the ground over which the armies contended desperately for the mastery, would be about thirty miles in diameter, or fifteen miles in all directions from the center of the city. There was, of course, much fighting, of the skirmish character, while the Federal army was advancing from Middle Tennessee on Chattanooga. After the battles around Chattanooga, when the Confederates were retreating south to Atlanta, there was almost continuous fighting, some of the engagements amounting to pitched battles. Among these was the bloody engagement at Kennesaw Mountain.

The national government and the state governments are uniting in the work of reclaiming, beautifying and adorning these fields. While a great deal of progress has been made, the work is by no means completed. It has been suggested a number of times by responsible persons that in time the national government should erect a colossal arch at Chattanooga as a memorial to both armies, and a testimonial to American valor. The erection of such a memorial is one of the future possibilities.

Daughters of Confederacy.

Although less than twenty years old the United Daughters of the Confederacy has become one of the most important women's organizations of the world. It now has over 1,200 chapters, representing almost every state in the Union. There are 23 states having divisions numbering at least three chapters. The total membership now approximates 80,000, and it is rapidly increasing, as there have been prizes offered the different chapters for additional members. There are strong bonds of unity between southern women, and in whatever state they settle they are uniting to form new chapters and to make their organization more powerful each day.

Gift for Sick Child.

A gift which brings happiness to a sick child is a paper doll given in this way: Send the doll, a small-jointed doll, for which you can make crape paper dresses, with one dress, and a note to the sick child, saying that every day, or every third day, or every week, as you please, the morning mail will bring an addition to the doll's wardrobe.

At different times send dresses for the house, party dresses trimmed with paper flowers, hats, muffs, capes and coats, kimonos and street clothes. Another doll or so also can be sent.

HAD SAILORS, BUT NO SHIPS

Why Officers of the Confederate Navy Were Put in Command of the Shore Batteries.

Stephen R. Mallory was made secretary of the Confederate States navy, and the department was organized as other cabinet departments were, but we had no ships. There were plenty of officers, but only a few vessels. So it fell to the duty of naval officers to command batteries, and the first were on the Potomac river.

While both armies were preparing for the contest that commenced with the battle of Bull Run, or Manassas, the Confederates erected a line of batteries on the Potomac which entirely blockaded Washington, and that so completely that even their gunboats had to sneak by at night. The most effective of these batteries was that commanded by Capt. W. F. Lynch of the Confederate States navy, at Aquia Creek. To take this battery the enemy planned an expedition of four gunboats, with a regiment of men to land and hold the works. On June 29, 1861, the United States gunboats Pensacola, ten guns; the Anacosta, Resolute and Freeborn, two guns each, under command of Captain Ward of the United States navy, opened fire upon this battery, which was returned briskly. The fight lasted two hours, when Ward retired with no loss on either side. On June 1, Ward renewed the fight, this time for five hours, expending about 600 shot and shell, when again he was forced to retire with a loss of five men and the Freeborn so badly damaged that it had to go to Washington navy yard for repairs. There were no casualties on the Confederate side, though the works and the officers and men's quarters were badly wrecked. Captain Ward, in reporting the engagement to the United States navy department, said: "I was surprised at the heroic persistency with which Capt. W. F. Lynch, formerly of our navy, who commanded at Aquia Creek during my several attacks, held his post, glass in hand, on the ramparts, against all the urgency of his men to quit a post made desperately hazardous by the shot and shell falling thickly and exploding about him."

Backache Is a Warning

Thousands suffer kidney ills unawares—not knowing that the backache, headaches, and dull, nervous, dizzy, all tired condition are often due to kidney weakness alone.

Anybody who suffers constantly from backache should suspect the kidneys. Some irregularity of the secretions may give just the needed proof.

Justice With a Vengeance.

A broker was talking about J. Pierpont Morgan.

"The money trust investigation undoubtedly shattered him," the broker said. "He believed that this investigation was unfairly conducted. He likened it, in my hearing, to a horse-stealing trial out west.

"A jury was gathered in the street, he said, and shut up in a room, after a brief trial, and when an hour had gone by a mob burst in and unceremoniously demanded what the verdict was.

"'Not guilty,' said the foreman.

"'That won't do!' said the leader of the mob fiercely. 'You'll have to do better than that.' And he shut the jury up again.

"In half an hour the door was opened once more.

"'Well, gents, your verdict!' said the leader.

"'Guilty,' the foreman said.

"There were hurrahs from the crowd, and the leader said:

"'Correct. You can go now. We strung him up an hour ago.'"

Conquest of Disease.

The wonderful achievements wrought by bacilli cultures and the preparation of preventive serums place modern physicians in a position surpassing that of the ancient magi or medieval alchemists and render their services to mankind more striking than the proudest exploits of Alexander or Cyrus. In the campaign against virulent diseases the quiet miscroscopist in his study, be he a Pasteur, Flexner or Carrel, is unostentatiously warring with armies the conquest of which outmatches the military feats of a Caesar or a Charlemagne.

THIS GIRL SAID BY-BY TO HER LUNCHEON

How a Kansas City Young Woman Lost a Package on Street Car.

Kansas City, Mo.—Two young women, each carrying her luncheon done up carefully in paper, got on a Troost car at Thirty-seventh street. The car was crowded, and they remained in the rear vestibule, standing. At Armour boulevard a tall, wide man in a black overcoat boarded the car.

The geometrical arrangement of the vestibule and its occupants made it necessary for the tall, wide man to wedge himself tightly, just in front of where the two young women were standing.

The trio remained in statu quo until the car began to arrive down town. The man was the first to alight.

"There Goes My Luncheon."

As he went down the steps one of the young women uttered a small, embarassed shriek.

"Oh, look!" she told her companion, pointing after the erstwhile passenger. "There goes my luncheon," she giggled.

Sure enough, there was the neat little packet—the string hooked securely over two buttons on the read elevation to the tall man's overcoat.

"Call to him—quick," her friend urged. But the man was on his way, and the car started. And the luncheon was destined to cause a little surprise party at some other office, later on.

ERADICATING CATTLE TICK

Increased Activity Expected to Follow Revision of Quarantine Regulations.

Washington.—Increased activity in the work of eradicating the cattle tick may be expected to follow the revision of the quarantine regulations just announced by the United States Department of Agriculture. This is the opinion expressed today by President Finley of the Routhern Railway company, who said:

"The provision that cattle may be shipepd from the quarantined area under the certificate of an inspector of Bureau of Animal Industry that they have been dipped twice with an interval of from five to ten days, in an ersenical solution or otherwise treated in a manner satisfactory to the Secretary of Agriculture and under the supervision of an inspector and that they are free from infection, will greatly encourage farmers to get the ticks out of their herds. It will enable the individual farmer to benefit from his work before the locality in which he lives is entirely released from quarantine. The revised regulations indicate a desire of the Department of Agriculture to remove restrictions on the movement of cattle from the quarantined area so far as it may safely be done.

"Simultaneously with the issuance of the more liberal regulations, the department has revised the quarantine line, releasing large areas in the regions where systematic work against the tick has been carried on, and making the total area released since 1905 more than 187,000 square miles. Work against the tick is especially active in Mississippi, where at the close of the year 1912 there were 2,181 dipping vats in operation. In one county in this state there were 185 vats. Similar activity throughout the entire quarantined area would make the complete destruction of the tick only the matter of a very few years."—adv.

CONTRASTS THE BEST MATES

Quiet Men Should Wed Vivacious Women, an English Opinion, Expressed in Print.

"Does the average man prefer the demure, coy kind of girl or the bright and vivacious girl—in all probability a flirt—and which kind of a girl makes the better wife?" This is the question on which a modern girl asks opinion through a London newspaper.

"I have read in your paper many opinions on the modern girl given by young men," she writes, "but I have not found an answer to the question which countless other girls besides myself would like answered.

"It seems to me that the average man marries the coy, quiet girl, but after a few years of married life is apt to seek the society of the vivacious girl, very often at the expense of his wife's happiness."

Here are some opinions of London people:

Rev. C. H. Grundy, vicar of St. Peter's, Brockley, believes in the attraction of the opposite.

"I think the quiet man generally marries, and generally should marry, the vivacious girl," he says, "and the bright, vivacious man, on the contrary, prefers and gets on better with his opposite.

"Some of the quietest men I have known," he said, "thoroughly enjoy the vivaciousness of their wives.

"Men like contrasts. You don't want a replica of yourself. You want variety. A wife who is your double doubles your dullness.

"The best wife is the 'contrast' wife, and if you are both alike your home is dull and monotonous."

Answer to Query.

The act of uplifting the hand during the taking of an oath is so ancient that it would be futile to even attempt to say when it started. Homer attempts to say when it started. Homer mentions it as common among the Greeks of his time, and it is also found in the earliest biblical time. For instance, Abraham, the father of the Jewish people, says: "I have lifted up my hand to Jehovah," showing that even at that remote period the practice was existent. It was from the Jews, of course, that the practice found its way into christendom, where it has ever since held its place in judicial trials.

The important question: "Who is gong to pitch?"

HER "BEST FRIEND"

A Woman Thus Speaks of Postum.

We usually consider our best friends those who treat us best.

Some persons think coffee a real friend, but watch it carefully awhile and observe that it is one of the meanest of all enemies, for it stabs one while professing friendship.

Coffee contains a poisonous drug—caffeine—which injures the delicate nervous system and frequently sets up disease in one or more organs of the body, if its use is persisted in.

"I had heart palpitation and nervousness for four years and the doctor told me the trouble was caused by coffee. He advised me to leave it off, but I thought I could not," writes a Wis. lady.

"On the advice of a friend I tried Postum and it so satisfied me I did not care for coffee after a few days' trial of Postum.

"As weeks went by and I continued to use Postum my weight increased from 98 to 116 pounds, and the heart trouble left me. I have used it a year now and am stronger than I ever was. I can hustle up stairs without any heart palpitation, and I am free from nervousness.

"My children are very fond of Postum and it agrees with them. My sister liked it when she drank it at my house; now she has Postum at home and has become very fond of it. You may use my name if you wish, as I am not ashamed of praising my best friend—Postum." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Postum now comes in new concentrated form called Instant Postum. It is regular Postum, so processed at the factory that only the soluble portions are retained.

A spoonful of Instant Postum with hot water, and sugar and cream to taste, produce instantly a delicious beverage.

RESINOL A SAFE SKIN TREATMENT

You need never hesitate to use Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment. There is nothing in them to injure the tenderest surface. Resinol is a doctor's prescription which proved so successful for eczema, ringworm and other itching, burning, unsightly skin eruptions, that it has been used by other physicians all over the country for eighteen years. No other treatment for the skin ever before the public can show such a record of professional approval.

In a single month, two hundred and twenty-one doctors wrote us indorsing the Resinol preparations. They would not have done so if they had not found them highly valuable in their own practice. They prescribe Resinol freely, confident that its soothing, healing action is brought about by agents so bland and gentle as to be suited to the most delicate skin—even of a tiny baby.

The nearest druggist sells Resinol Ointment (50c and $1.00) and Resinol Soap (25c) or you can try them free by writing to Dept. 13-K, Resinol, Baltimore, Md., for liberal sample of each.

ROAD NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that a meeting of all those interested in the building of the public road between Clanton and the Coosa river will be held at the Court House in Clanton on Monday night, May 26, at eight o'clock. All those interested are respectfully urged to be present. The surveyor employed to map out the road will be present and make his report and other important business will be transacted.

W. W. Fox, Chairman.

The following handsomely engraved invitations have been sent out to friends:

Mr. and Mrs. Bryant McKee request the honor of your presence at the marriage of their daughter, Florence Pearl, to Mr. James Monroe Parrish, Sunday evening, June first, 1913, at nine of the clock, Clanton, Alabama.

No: Six-Sixty-Six

This is a prescription prepared especially for MALARIA or CHILLS & FEVER. Five or six doses will break any case, and if taken then as a tonic the Fever will not return. It acts on the liver better than Calomel and does not gripe or sicken. 25c

Cupid Asleep.

Either Dan Cupid has taken his bow and arrow and gone to parts unknown or else he has been sleeping upon his post in this vicinity for the past week or ten days—perhaps the latter; anyway, but one marriage license has been issued by the Probate Judge in the past week, that of Mr. Rudolph Smitherman to Miss Kate Maibelle Robinson of Jemison.

Please Remember,

That you ought not to forget that the Clanton Mercantile Company, in business in the Wilson building, carries the largest and most varied line of General Merchandise in this section. Bear in mind that their prices are as low as can be found and that the styles shown are entirely within the present—up-to-date strictly. Call upon us when we can serve you.

PIANO CONTEST CLOSES JUNE 10

A Few More Days in Which to Work For the Beautiful Piano—Last Struggle for Capital Prize Now at Its Height—Hard Work Will Win the Piano.

The Press' Great Piano Voting contest is nearing its close and as the time for the final count and awarding of the prizes approaches, the interest in the outcome is unprecedented, the whole community being stirred from center to circumference.

The young ladies realize that it is now or never—that the time has finally come for the final dash down the home stretch, and with the beautiful Obermeyer & Sons' Piano and other valuable prizes before them they are working as never before. It is no longer a catch-as-catch-can contest, but a rousing, systematic hand-to-hand battle of ballots. The contestants realize that to the victor belongs the spoils, and that each young lady lined up for the final dash is an opponent that will require some tall hustling to overcome.

The young ladies are working cautiously and playing the game with all the diplomacy of trained politicians. Friends are being organized for the grand finale, the next few working days of the contest will show as pretty a race as the people of this town have ever seen. From hints dropped along the wayside it is evident there will be some big surprises when the final count is announced. No one but the contestants themselves know how many votes one may have unvoted. There is always a possibility of "some dark horse coming under the wire ahead in the field" with a bunch of votes that have been held back. Contestants in the lead should not rest on their oars at this stage of the game in the belief that they have the race cinched. A contestant far in the rear may dump in a bunch of votes at the last sufficient to sweep aside all opposition. The piano, no doubt, will be won and lost many times in the next few days. Some of those making a seemingly poor showing now, undoubtedly, will at the last give the leaders a run for their money. These lagging ones are saying nothing but doing a lot of wood-sawing. Nothing worth having was ever gained without some effort, and a $400 piano is not to be picked up any day. This is a prize worthy of the most strenuous efforts of any young lady and the contestant who is wise will expend every ounce of her energy in scouring the country side for votes from now until the close of the contest. The one who wins the piano will be the one who marshals her forces the most effectually and who hurls every ounce of her voting strength into the arena at the final count.

YOUNG LADIES, REMEMBER that when you go home on the evening of June 10th, with a beautiful $400 Obermeyer & Sons piano tucked under her arm all your hard work and worry will be forgotten. It is an opportunity that comes but once in a lifetime. Tell these friends who have told you and promised you before the contest closes to help you that the time has now come for them to make good their promise, and that they should rally to your support in these closing days.

On Saturday 31, the ballot box will be placed in the Clanton Bank, where all candidates can deposit their votes. Each club of seven names for new subscribers can be placed in an envelope with the money for same and be sure and put your name, as candidate on the envelope, and we will give the votes and bonds you are entitled to, 12,200. We are doing this in order that the ballot may be strictly secret. Have the names and postoffice address of each subscriber on a sheet of paper. Only put one club in each envelope. All merchants coupons must be brought to this office to get extra votes.

Merchants need not be afraid of buying an over supply of coupons since we will redeem at what you paid for them, all you have left over at the close of the contest.

The bonus in effect from now until the final count on June 10th will be as follows:

For every seven new subscriptions, 8,000 extra votes, a total of 12,200 votes.

For every seven renewal subscriptions, 6,000 extra votes, a total of 9,500 votes.

For every seven back subscriptions, 4,000 extra votes, a total of 6,800 votes.

For every forty merchants coupons, 2,000 extra votes, a total of 3,000 votes.

For every three five-year new or renewal subscriptions, 25,000 extra votes, a total of 40,000 votes.

For every two twenty-year subscriptions, new or renewal 75,000 extra votes, a total of 135,000 votes

SPECIAL.

The three five year subscriptions may be for either one, two or three parties and the two 20-year subscriptions may be for either one or two parties.

COURT NEWS.

TERM CONCLUDED BY STATUTE.

Last Saturday was sentence day in the Circuit Court on which occasion Judge Pearson presented some unwelcomed presents to a number of persons who had appeared before His Honor for trial.

It is not within the province of a newspaper to criticise the sentence imposed by a trial judge, he being more intimately acquainted with the cases which are tried than any other person perhaps, except the jury and Solicitor, but it is within the province of a paper to state that in its opinion some exclusively severe sentences were imposed at the recent term. No, not excessive either, for they were just; but compared with sentences or fines imposed by juries and with sentences on other occasions it would appear to the casual observer that some of the unfortunate men received more than was coming to them.

The object of a court, as we understand it, is to do justice to all parties, defendant and plaintiff, as well as the general public, and when we see some poor unfortunate severely whipped of justice while others roam the streets in comparative security, who, if they were dealt with according to their guilt, would be languishing behind prison walls, it is calculated to make men disregard and disrespect that gentle dame who represents blinded Justice with her evenly balanced scales.

Chas. Brown, penitentiary, two years, and six months for costs.

Jenk Gentry, hard labor ten days, and eighty eight days for costs.

Jenk Gentry hard labor ninety days, and one hundred and fifteen days for costs.

RIDERVILLE

The Dallas County High School closed Tuesday night after the rendition of the usual program. The final exercises opened Sunday morning in the High School auditorium with a sermon by Dr. James of Union Springs, which was greatly enjoyed.

Monday evening at 8 o'clock the oratorical contest took place. Each contestant acquitted themselves with unusual cleverness; the prizes being awarded to Miss Hattie Johnson and Mr. Leon Dyer.

The numbers rendered by the music class during the evening were exceptionally good. The graduating exercises were concluded Tuesday evening with a debate, "Resolved, that the right of suffrage should be given to women." The decision was rendered in favor of the negative.

Dr. Denny, president of the University of Alabama, delivered the address to the graduating class. His address was forceful and instructive, despite the fact he was suffering very much from a serious and painful accident sustained en route to Plantersville from Maplesville. The horses became frightened and ran away, throwing himself and driver out dislocating his shoulder.

Miss Willie Mae Parnell, one of Riderville's most popular young ladies, has returned from the A. G. T. I. at Montevallo.

Miss Cora Allison, the efficient stenographer of the E. E. Jackson Lumber Co., is spending several days with her parents at her home in Piedmont.

Mrs. L. G. Godwin of Cordova, after spending several days with her daughter, Mrs. J. W. Peeples, has gone to Selma for a month's visit.

Rev. F. M. Woods filled his regular appointment here Sunday morning and evening. His sermons are always instructive and impressive, full of sweet simplicity and earnestness that so completely characterizes the life of Christ to his hearers. It is always a rare treat to hear him.

Work on tne safety vault at the court house was resumed immediately after the adjournment of court.

REV. J. TOY WILLIAMS

MISSIONARY TO CHINA. LEAVES SHORTLY FOR ORIENT.

A letter received by the Press man from Rev. J. Toy Williams, who arrived in Clanton Wednesday afternoon from Louisville, Ky., where he has for the past session been attending the Baptist Theological Seminary, states that he has applied for work in China and has been accepted by the Baptist Mission board, and that he will leave in a few days for his new field of labor.

Mr. Williams is a Chilton county boy and has forced his way through sheer determination to succeed and because of his unalterable faith in the breadth and depth of the work to which he has committed himself.

Many a young man would have despaired had he have been required to battle against such obstacles as has been encountered by Mr. Williams, but with faith in his God and a vision of the future he buckled on the whole armor and went forth to battle; and now that he has achieved success he wishes his friends and acquaintances to enjoy the fruits of his victory with him and he also wishes those whose lot in life seems to be out of harmony with the general trend to know that much, if not all, of the success to be achieved depends entirely upon individual effort such as he has put forth.

Mr. Williams will be in Clanton for several days, and will perhaps occupy the pulpit at the Baptist church Sunday night unless other arrangements have been made.

MULBERRY.

Mr. Editor:—Please give me a small space in the Press.

The farmers are very busy working their young crops. I see a great many of our people are trying the Conway plan this time, and we hope them much success.

We are glad to say that the Sunday School at this place continues to grow. I notice there were several new students on last Sunday's roll. We extend to them a hearty welcome and trust they will fall in line as the older ones, and help to bring more into the grand work of our Heavenly Father. If we could only get the necessity of a Sabbath school more deeply impressed upon the minds and hearts of the older people such a great work could be carried on. Not only impress the people of our community, but all others, where there is so little interest taken in this great cause. Although I fully believe we ought to congratulate the people of our community, both young and old, for their regular attendance; also our faithful superintendent and and Mrs. Manning for her careful instructions which she gives her class. On last Sunday the school appointed a committee of eight to make a house to house canvas to show the disinterested people that we are in earnest about having them to fall in line and all work together. We send a united prayer that this will impress upon the minds of this people that there is a great good being accomplished and they will soon come out and join us.

Now, to the young men of our community: we highly congratulate them on the interest they have taken in their debating society, which was organized only a short time ago. The subject for next Saturday night is "Resolved, that the scenes of nature are more attractive to the eye than the acts of man." Affirmative, Messrs Clifford Mullins, Marvin Davenport, [illegible]; negative, Messrs. [illegible] and Tom Mooney. After which there will be a recitation by Miss Maggie Martin and jokes by Mr. Wilbur Speer. We hope to meet a large crowd so as to encourage the young speakers, and remember that the debating society will meet every Saturday night, and there is a glad welcome for one and all.

Mr. Willie Martin and sister, Miss Maggie, will entertain their Sunday school class (Busy Workers) at their home on Friday night, June 6th. Not only to their class do they give an invitation, but to all. Will assure you they will do all they can to make every one have a pleasant time.

SALEM

The thirteenth session of the Salem Annual singing met Sunday May 25th, 1913. The meeting was called to order by former chairman, T. L. Robinson. Prayer by J. L. Jones. T. L. Robinson was then re-elected chairman and S. M. Yates, Jr., re-elected secretary.

A program committee consisting of R. A. Smith, T. L. Dennis and E. A. Norris was appointed by the chairman. The program arranged was as follows: T. L. Robinson, 20 minutes, S. M. Yates Jr. 20 minutes, T. L. Dennis 20 minutes, recess 15 minutes. A. L. Robinson, 20 minutes, R. A. Smith 20 minutes, L. T. Grant 20 minutes, J. W. Lowery 20 minutes; adjourned one and one half hours for dinner.

Called to order by chairman at 1:30 p.m. Lewis Henderson 15 minutes, H. C. Collins 15 minutes, G. W. Steele 15 minutes; recess 10 minutes. Ivey Huett 15 minutes, R. M. Robinson 15 minutes. Lee Robinson 15 minutes. The organists for the day were Misses Valie Norris, Lillian Robinson, Messrs. Lee Robinson, L. J. Grant, C. H. Robinson, and H. C. Collins.

This was among the best if not the best singing we have ever had at this place. People seem to be learning and caring more about good music. There was a very large crowd as usual. The meeting was closed by song by the chairman and prayer by E. A. Norris, to meet again same date in 1914.

FAMILY REUNION

The beautiful little brown bungalow on top of the hill was a scene of great merriment last Sunday, when Mrs. Elias Hopkins was honored by having a family reunion, to wind up her week-end house party. Words are inadequate to express the scene at the dinner table, which was laden with rich and dainty edibles of every description. As soon as the menu was finished the party was found indulging in the kodak pleasures; music was greatly enjoyed until train time, when the entire party found their way to the depot to bid farewell to several of the departing guests. Each one assured Mrs. Hopkins of a lovely time and deemed her an admirable entertainer. Among the visitors were:

Mrs. D. L. Williams and daughter, Miss Marjorie, of Bessemer, Ala., Dr. S. B. Hopkins, of Greenville, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Denson and little daughter of Boyles, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Hopkins and Master Chas. E., of Birmingham, Dr. and Mrs. P. I. Hopkins and little daughter, of this city.

VETERANS TO MEET ON BATTLEFIELD

Big Reunion of Survivors of Civil War at Gettysburg on July 1.

40,000 EXPECTED TO ATTEND

Men Who Wore the Blue and Gray to Again Gather on Ground Made Memorable by Historic Conflict.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

WASHINGTON. — During the first four days of July the battlefield of Gettysburg, Pa., will again be the scene of a meeting of the Blue and the Gray, but this time they will meet in amity and affection. A half-century will have passed since last these men of two great American armies met on this northern field. Then they were face to face in deadly conflict, for the issue, it was well understood to both contending forces, was the success of the southern cause, or the beginning of its defeat, to be followed by the restoration of the Union as it had been before the first shot was fired at Fort Sumter.

The United States government and the government of nearly every state in the Union have combined to make the Gettysburg reunion of the soldiers of the north and south one of the great peace events of the century. The state of Pennsylvania some time ago appointed a "Fiftieth Anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg commission" to make preparations for the four days' reunion, at which Pennsylvania as a state was to act as host to the veterans of the war between the states and to the thousands of visitors who would follow their march to the field of battle, and appropriated $150,000 for the purpose of entertaining the veterans.

40,000 Veterans Expected.

It is expected that 40,000 veterans of the war, not all of them, however, survivors of the Gettysburg battle, will be found encamped upon the field when reveille sounds on the morning of July 1. It will be a different reveille than that which the fife and drum corps of the two great armies sounded fifty years ago. The call to awakening will be a call to a peaceful celebration while the call to the awakening in July, 1863, was a call of armies to conflict and, to thousands of men, a call to death.

For years the veterans have been looking forward to this reunion. It is probable that there will be present many thousands of survivors of the battle. The United States government under an act of congress has appropriated money for the preparation of the camps and for the messing of the soldier visitors. The average age of the men engaged in the Civil war was only eighteen years, but fifty years have passed since these soldier boys fought at Gettysburg, and so if the computation of age was a true one the average years of the veterans who will meet in Pennsylvania in July will be about sixty-eight years. Many of them, of course, will be much older and a good many of them, men who entered at ages ranging from fourteen to seventeen years, will be younger, but all will be old men as the world views age.

Many of the states of the Union, north as well as south, have made appropriations to send their veterans to the Gettysburg reunion and to pay all other expenses. The battle of Gettysburg is recognized as the turning point of the war between the states. It has been called time and again one of the decisive battles of the world. Generally it is recognized that Gettysburg decided the great conflict, helped in the decision probably by the fall of Vicksburg on the Mississippi, which took place virtually at the moment that the conflict on the Pennsylvania field was decided in favor of the northern arms.

The preparations which the government is making to care for the veterans at Gettysburg are interesting. They have been under the charge of James B. Aleshire, quartermaster general of the United States army, and Henry G. Sharpe, commissary general of the United States army. Two years ago last March 14,000 regular troops were gathered in camp at Texas. The health of the soldiers throughout the Texas encampment was almost perfect, made so by the plans which had been carefully laid to see that perfect sanitation was maintained. The United States army was taught a lesson by the Spanish war, when lack of proper sanitary precautions and unpreparedness in other ways cost the government the lives of more men than were sacrificed to the bullets of the Spaniard.

The estimates of the commissary and quartermaster authorities are based upon an attendance of 40,000 veterans. It probably will cost the government about $360,000 to act in part as host to the survivors of the battle and other veterans who attend the Gettysburg reunion.

Big Task to Feed Men.

The survivors of the war from the north and south who will be present, being old men, must be cared for in a way which would not have been necessary fifty years ago. The messing of the veterans will require 400 army rations, a great field bakery, 40,000 mess kits, 800 cooks, 800 kitchen police and 100 waiters. This messing personnel will be required to be in camp for at least seven days, and many of them for a longer period, for the purpose of installing the field bakery, the field ranges and in dismantling, cleaning, packing and storing material after the encampment is over.

The old soldiers are to be supplied with fresh meat directly from refrigerator cars drawn upon the field. They will be given fresh vegetables and special bread with the best coffee and tea which the market affords. For them it will not be a case of hardtack, bootleg and poor bacon.

The Battle of Gettysburg commission of the state of Pennsylvania has a large sum of money at its disposal for the entertainment of the visiting veterans, and the thousands of persons who will accompany them. Hospitality is to mark the days. Fifty years ago Pennsylvania aided in the work of repelling the visitors from the south. In early July next the same state will have its arms wide open in welcome to the men wearing the gray. Entertainments of various kinds will be offered the visiting veterans, but it is pretty well understood that their deep interest in revisiting the scenes where they fought, Little Round Top, Oak Ridge, Cemetery Hill, Culp's Hill, Rock Creek, the Stone Wall and other places will hold them largely to the pleasures and to the sadnesses of personal reminiscences. Arm in arm with the Union soldiers the Confederate soldiers will retramp the battleground. They will look over the field of Pickett's desperate charge. They will retrace the marching steps of Longstreet's corps. They will go to the place where Meade had his headquarters and to the place from which Lee directed his southern forces in battle.

Pennsylvania is going to make a great celebration of peace of this fiftieth anniversary of what probably was the decisive battle of the war, although it was fought nearly two years before the war ended. Other states will help Pennsylvania in its work, and from every section of the country, north, east, south and west, the veterans will assemble, most of them probably to see for the last time in life the field upon which they were willing to die for the sake of their respective causes.

The veterans will not be directly encamped in the Gettysburg park, which is dotted with monuments to the various commands which took part in the fight and which is laid out in approved park fashion, with fine drives and beautifully kept lawns. There will be two camps, known as No. 1 and No. 2. No. 1 will cover 149 acres and No. 2 will cover 44 acres. The layouts of these camps are based on the use of conical tents, each of which will, without crowding, accommodate eight persons. Inasmuch as accommodations are to be furnished for 40,000 visitors 5,000 tents will be required to give quarters to the visiting hosts.

Visitors to Be Cared For.

Every possible care is to be taken of the visitors. The sanitary arrangements which have been made are said to be the best that are possible and they are the result of careful study by medical officers of the service. All the experience of the past has been drawn upon to make it certain that the health of the veterans will be conserved while they are in camp.

With so many thousands of old soldiers in attendance, and taking into consideration the probability that the weather will be warm, it is expected that there will be sickness, but the United States government and the state of Pennsylvania are preparing for a hospital service which shall be adequate to any contingency. There will be hospital corps detachments present ready to render first aid to the injured, and there will be many field hospitals with surgeons in attendance, where the sick can receive instant attendance.

It is said that this contemplated reunion has induced more interest among the old soldiers of the north and the south than any event which has happened since the day that the war closed. There is today at Gettysburg a great national park, in which is included a cemetery where thousands of soldier dead are buried. The United States government and the legislature of Pennsylvania worked together to make a park of the battlefield and to mark accurately every point in it which has historic interest. When one goes to the field he can tell just where this brigade or that brigade was engaged, just where this charge or that charge was made and just where the desperate defenses of positions were maintained until the tide of battle brought either victory or defeat to one of the immediate commands engaged.

It was in 1895 that congress established a national park at Gettysburg and gave the secretary of war authority to name a commission "to superintend the opening of additional roads, mark the boundaries, ascertain and definitely mark the lines of battle of troops engaged, to acquire lands which were occupied by infantry, cavalry and artillery, and such other adjacent lands as the secretary of war may deem necessary to preserve the important topographical features of the battlefield."

When the Union and the Confederate veterans reach Gettysburg on June 30 next they will find on the scene of the old conflict between five and six hundred memorials raised in commemoration of the deeds of their commands on the great fields of the Pennsylvania battlefield. There are, moreover, 1,000 markers placed to designate historic spots. There are great towers built upon the field by the government so that bird's-eye views can be obtained of the entire scene of the battle. Fine roads have been constructed and everywhere attention has been paid to every detail of the least importance to getting from the history of one of the greatest battles ever known to warfare.

FOR BETTER ROADS

METHODS OF TREE PLANTING

Many People Make Serious Mistakes of Simply Sticking Roots in Bundle in Deep Hole.

(By W. R. GILBERT.)

To my mind there is not half enough attention paid to the way trees are put into the hole when planting. Some people think that because trees have roots they should grow nearly on top of every ditch in the country.

For ten years I planted trees yearly. Half the trees I planted the first year failed because I didn't know how to plant properly. I said to myself there was something wrong somewhere, either in the trees or in my want of knowing how to plant.

I experimented a couple of years and found out the 'secret of my failure.' Half of the young trees are nearly useless for planting on account of the ways they are pulled at the nurseries.

Some men, when they go pulling trees in the nurseries pull away just as though they were pulling turnips in a hurry, slapping the roots together and throwing them away as if they were no more than rotten limbs.

Young trees, to my mind, should be handled as carefully as eggs. They should be dug out of the ground and not pulled.

When the roots are strained in the pulling they grow the first year badly and then die away. I examined the roots of a dozen young trees; there were two strained and I cut the roots short in two more, for experiment's sake.

The ones that were not strained grew healthy from the start and are growing well. The ones that were strained grew nearly right the first year and died the second year, and the ones that I cut a little of the roots off lived in "decline."

The roots, when planting, should be spread out evenly in a broad hole, not deep, the roots just barely covered. Where some, or most people, perhaps, make the mistake is in sticking the roots in a bundle in a deep hole.

Trees planted in this fashion are bound to fail. At least it has been my experience.

Some people give the trees a pull up after planting. With this method I don't agree. There is no need of any more handling.

It is important to press the roots, secondly, say after a month, because of the air gets down alongside the stem the tree is liable to fail.

I have found always that the fall was the best time for planting. When they were put in late I had more failures.

Another thing I notice in planting is, if the young trees are any length of time pulled they are pretty sure to "go under."

$1,000,000 FOR GOOD ROADS

Spokane County, Washington, Will Have Million for Building and Improvement of Highways.

As a result of an energetic good roads campaign waged by Spokane citizens the last two years, Spokane county will have $919,000 for road building and improvement in 1913 and 1914. With an additional $163,000 appropriated by the legislature for state roads immediately tributary to Spokane, the total is brought to $1,082,465. The distribution calls for 90 per cent. of the amount being concentrated on continuous stretches of standard highway built from trade centers along main traveled roads which are a part of the state primary trunk highway system. In the comprehensive road program a law has been enacted providing for the development of roads in counties whose assessed valuations do not permit of extensive road work. Thus a portion of Spokane's road money will be used in building highways in other counties, thus connecting all parts of the state. Seattle and Tacoma are to take care of the western Washington and mountain counties in the same way. All state road expenditures are made by the state, under direct supervision of the state highway commissioner.

WASN'T GOING INTO DETAILS

Four-Year-Old Had His Own Idea of Propriety of Not Airing Strictly Personal Affairs.

One little four-year-old boy who doesn't live far from Central Park west, New York, has as his particular playmate a little girl of about the same age. The children frequently spend their evenings together, and the other morning the girl came to the fence and called him.

"Alton," she cried, "come out and play."

Alton's mother heard the call and said to him:

"Tell her you can't come over just now because you have to take a bath."

So Alton went to the front window.

"Elizabeth," he called, "I can't come over now."

Then he turned back to his mother and added:

"I don't fink the rest of it need be saided."

Ringing a Change.

"Goin' to move again this year?" asked the office pest.

"Nope. Can't afford to."

"What cha goin' to do, then?"

"Well," said O'Beetle, "we've made arrangements to have new street numbers put on the houses on our block."—Judge.

The Drawback.

"I don't like to attack a fat man."

"Why not a fat man?"

"Because he is apt to offer a stout resistance."

AT LEAST GOT RID OF IT

Defendant Had Not Strictly Obeyed Court's Order, but Neither Was He in Contempt.

Murray L. Pennell, a defendant in the Indianapolis dynamiting case, caused a little diversion in court proceedings while under cross-examination. Pennell had been vigorously chewing gum while on the stand.

"If you'll take your gum out of your mouth we'll get along faster—we wouldn't be wasting so much time," said United States Attorney Miller.

"Yes, take your chewing gum out of your mouth," commanded Judge Anderson.

Pennell sat in the witness chair apparently not making any effort to obey the order of the court.

"What, don't you hear the order?" asked Miller, after there had been silence in the courtroom for fully a minute and Pennell had made no visible movement.

"I swallowed it," mumbled Pennell.

Court proceedings were suspended, while Judge Anderson spun around twice in his swivel chair and hemmed vigorously.

Loss an Illusion.

James C. McReynolds, who investigated the tobacco trust for the government, thereby bringing on a lot of things, says that just after he started practicing law in a small town down in Tennessee, a few years ago, stout hillsman came into his office one day and announced that he desired to sue a neighbor for $10,000 damages.

"Two years ago," he stated, "he called me a hippopotamus."

"Two years ago!" echoed McReynolds. "Why didn't you sue him sooner?"

"Well, suh," said the injured party, "until that there circus come through here last week I thought all the time he was paying me a compliment."—Saturday Evening Post.

Their Message.

The evening callers were chatting with their hosts when there came a patter of little feet along the hall.

"Hush," whispered the hostess, raising her hand; "the children are coming with the good-night message. It always gives me a feeling of reverence to hear them. They are so much nearer to heaven than we, and they speak from the fullness of their little hearts never so freely as when the dark has come. Listen!"

There was a moment's pause, and then the message came in a shrill whisper: "Mamma," it ran, "Willie found a cockroach in the tub."

City Grass Is Different.

A remarkably interesting fact was brought to light by Lord Redesdale before the advisory committee of the King Edward memorial fund for London, which was discussing the laying out of Shadwell market site as a pleasure garden. It was curious, he said, that grass brought from the country withered away in London, on the other hand, grass from London grown seeds flourished. That is a striking example of what scientists call adaptation to environment.—London Globe.

Good Seat.

Madge—Did you have a good seat at the opera?

Marjorie—Lovely! We were near enough to one of the boxes to hear every word the society people said.—Judge.

Cynicism.

"Say, ma, what is a cynic?"

"A cynic, my son, is a man who doesn't believe that singers always have colds."

Kept In Suspense.

Surprised by his actions several interrogated the old tar thereon.

"Well, sur," was his reply, "it be like this. 'Tisn't as I care a hang whether they fall in or whether they don't, but it's the bloomin' uncertainty about it that I can't stand!"—Pittsburgh Chronicle Telegraph.

Whistled for a Liner.

After running the whole 900-foot length of the Kronprinz Wilhelm with a heavy suitcase in each hand just as the big liner pulled out recently, a young man sank down at the end of the pier, exhausted, and gazed a moment after the ship. Then he put his fingers to his lips and whistled long and loud. The ship did not stop.

"She don't know your voice," said a sympathetic bystander.

"How independent those big ships are," soliloquized the belated one.

He had got stuck in the tubes, he said.—New York Mail.

Womanliness.

Perhaps it would not be so easy to lose "womanliness" as some people seem afraid it would be. Perhaps all the pow-wow about becoming desexed is superfluous. Weininger calls attention to the fact that while there are people who are anatomically men and psychically women, there is no such thing as a person who is anatomically woman and psychically man. However masculine her appearance, a woman's psychic qualities remain distinctively feminine. At least, Mr. Weininger says so.

Something They Hadn't Seen.

Following a baseball game, in which the Yankees came to ignominious defeat, Irvin S. Cobb, the humorist, approached Frank Chance and said:

"Would you mind if I gave your team a little surprise—a little treat?"

"Not at all," responded Chance. "It might even cheer them up."

"Well, then," continued Cobb, "call them over here and I'll show them third base."

The Effects of Opiates.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotic, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying powers are a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them willfully with narcotics.

Hobson's visit to Clanton netted him quite a few friends who will remember him at the polls next April when a United States senator is to be chosen.

Mr. Comer's avowed intention to announce his platform at Opelika, the center of the farming section of the State, shows the good sense of the former governor and will win him new and lasting friends.

The old L. & N. had to go and do it again. The railroad commission ordered a reduction in passenger rates and the courts upheld this order, then the railroad took another appeal and proceeded to dole out to its patrons a little "rebate" coupon to be collected in case the road loses on its appeal. That will take six months or a year, perhaps; how many men will keep those rebate coupons think you? If they keep them and present them it will take months more to collect the value thereof, for there's more red-tape in the collection of an unwilling debt from a railroad than in the building of a tramway to the moon.

So, after all, in spite of the order of the courts, the L. & N. will continue to "hold up" the traveling public at a three cent rate. We "knowed" they'd do it all the time.

Mr. Theodore Roosevelt is engaged this week in a suit for damages against Mr. G. A. Newett, editor of the Ishpeming (Mich.) Iron-Age, a newspaper in which the editor accused the former president of being a drunkard and for which the former president, after denying the charge, claims the sum of ten thousand dollars damages, to soothe his wounded pride. In his testimony Tuesday before the trial court Mr. Roosevelt admitted that he drank wines and has occasionally drunk what is known as a mint-julip.

We hope, because of the dignity of the position which Mr. Roosevelt has held in the government, that he may be able to prove himself guiltless, but there is one thing certain; he will have a difficult task in convincing those who are accustomed to drink the seductive "mint-julip" that he is as absteminous as he claims to be. Admitting that while occupying the White House—the residence of the President—a mint-bed was kept up and that he occasionally indulged in one of those things which ordinary drinkers say is the most seductive and cooling of all beverages, he will be up against it to convince any large body of men that the mint bed was kept up for the White House cow. Nor, will he easily establish the fact that one who occasionally drinks a "mint-julip" willingly forgoes the pleasure they are said to afford except on "occasional" occasions. We know several professional men who are willing to swear on the stand that one who indulges in "mint-julips" or other intoxicating drink, however slightly or however "occasionally" is not a normal man, and surely if mint julips make one abnormal then they do the work which all men know whiskey will do—produce intoxication.

There are degrees of intoxication—one man may drink half a quart and carry it under his shirt without his neighbors ever discovering it; another falls a victim to less than half as much, yet both are made abnormal and are therefore more or less intoxicated.

Mr. Roosevelt may never have become beastly intoxicated, but by his own admission he has been guilty of drinking strong beverages which produce beastly intoxication; just where the limit or boundary exists cannot be determined, for as stated before, it exists in one glass with one man and in ten glasses with another—Mr. Roosevelt may be of the latter variety.

There is, of course, no politics played in this suit, nor is any intended in this article; we are merely recalling the incident to show the prominence of the man and the smallness of the damages which he claims; if not guilty he should have sued for fifty thousand, and a jury would have given him that amount as quickly as ten thousand, provided he proves himself innocent of the charge.

But, be that as it may, isn't it a sad commentary; a fearful lesson to submit to the younger generations?

The president of the greatest nation on earth in a little civil suit for damages because he was charged with being a drunkard!

What if he proves himself guiltless? Will not the stain remain and will not the lesson be dangerous? Are not the official robes of the highest office in the land dragged in the muck and mud by such a charge and such a suit?

Has Roosevelt no regard for the people who have so often honored him and does he not hesitate to publish to the world that such a charge was within the range of possibilities? But few, perhaps, would have read or known of the charge had he not instituted suit for a few paltry dollars.

Does he not blush crimson to have his name associated with such a charge even though he be innocent; is he not besmitching the dignity and grandeur of the high office to which he was elected by such transactions?

IN MEMORY

Sister Liddie Veazey was born March 24, 1839 and died February 25, 1913.

She joined the Baptist church at Poplar Springs, Coosa County, nearly thirty years ago. After moving to Chilton county she placed her membership with Mulberry church, where it remained until her death; she was a life-long faithful christian. Like Ruth, she cast her lot with the people of God in early life; lived with them, died and was buried with them. Beautiful life that bore fruit of the spirit of God. With heart weeping and rejoicing we say good bye and remember Rev. 14:13. "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth."

Written by the pastor, W. H. Connell; copied by the church clerk.

MRS. MARY LEE.

Sister Mary Lee departed this life March 26, 1913, after a long and faithful life as a Christian.

Faithful and loyal to God and to her church. She joined the Baptist church in her youth and was a member of Mulberry church at the time of her death, which occured in her 58th year.

We thank God for the soldiers who fight the battle to the finish and win the eternal victory and lay down the weapons of spiritual warfare to receive a crown of life.

A slight cold in a child or grown person holds possibilities of a grave nature. Croup may come on suddenly, bronchistis or pneumonia may develop, severe catarrhal troubles and consumption are possible results. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound nips a cold at the outset, cures croup quickly, checks a deepseated cough, and heals inflamed membrances. Alred Drug Co.

The Clanton base ball team, who, having defeated the Cooper aggregation and the team of lady players, both by good scores feel somewhat chesty over their recent victories, and are to tackle the team of the Montgomery Advertiser Saturday afternoon on the local lot. Give the boys as much encouragement as possible; they will while awav many a warm sultry evening during the summer.

Notwithstanding the fact that almost the entire population visited the academy Tuesday night, the "Sunflower Troupe" of players staged a performance at the opera house on the same evening, and while it was not well attended, those present enjoyed every moment of the time spent with the black faced artists and their assistants. Perhaps no more versatile actors ever appeared before a Clanton audience.

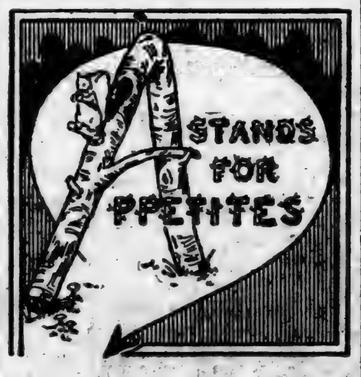
All say, "they cured me." Alred Drug Co.



GOOD ROADS MEETING

ADJOURNED TO MONDAY NIGHT.

The citizens meeting scheduled for last Monday night at the court house did not materialize because of counter attractions at the academy. A few of the citizens interested in the building of a road to Coosa river gathered but not a sufficient number to transact business, hence it was decided to adjourn till nextMonday night at eight o'clock when it is hoped that every one interested in the building of the proposed road will be present and lend their aid and to make suggestions.

The engineer, Mr. McQueen will be present and will make his report. Do not make any other engagement but be sure to attend the GOOD ROADS meeting.

CLANTON HIGH SCHOOL

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES ENJOYABLE.

Clanton has witnessed some extremely interesting and entertaining closing exercises conducted by the teachers and pupils of the academy and not one word would, or could be said to reflect upon former occasions, but, to say that the exercises just brought to a finish have been the most successful of all, is but stating a truth plainly.

From the initial service at the Methodist church Sunday morning, when Rev. Mr. Webster, of Montgomery, occupied the pulpit, to the closing scene Thursday night, when Miss Sartor's music class gave a recital, there was not the least particle of friction, and no cloud of any kind to mar the pleasure of the successive entertainments furnished.

The pupils all acquitted themselves with credit and reflected the ability and painstaking care of their respective teachers.

The music Sunday morning at the Methodist church was fine, as was also the sermon of Dr. Webster, both of which were enjoyed by a large congregation.

The exercises Monday afternoon by the pupils of Miss Gross' grade and those in the evening by the classes of Misses Williams and Stallworth deserve especial mention, for they reflected much credit upon these three instructresses; however, space precludes the mention of any part of the closing exercises.

Of course Captain Hobson drew a tremendous audience at the court house Wednesday night, all of whom were enthusiastic in their praises of the hero of the Merrimac. Captain Hobson added new laurels to his already great reputation as a speaker and entertainer, and he attracted to himself many new friends by his visit to Chilton's capital city.

Miss Elna Sartor's music class recital Thursday evening was the closing of the school session for the present term, and, like all the other exercises, attracted a large and appreciative audience who thoroughly enjoyed every moment of the time spent with the young musicians and their faithful instructress.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

Cupid took on new life this week and accomplished a little more work than the week previous as will be evidenced by the following marriage licenses which were issued:--- Mr. E. M. Martin to Miss Onzell Reynolds, Mr. Frank Lochart to Miss Nettie Baker, Mr. C. A. Page to Miss Irene Jones.

The newe comes by grape vine that there are several other marriages on tapis which are to be celebrated within the near future. We are not, however, authorized to give out the names of the high contracting parties.

Mr. F. W. Denty has been suffering considerably for the past several days as a result of a fall sustained some months ago. Mr. Denty stepped on a banana peel carelessly and thoughtlessly thrown upon the sidewalk and was thrown with much force to the pavement. Mr. Cecil E. Harris left Monday evening for Jacksonville, Alabama to attend the summer session of the State Normal College at that place.

Mr. Ernest Hopkins of Birmingham has been in Clanton for the past several days undergoing treatment for a throat affection.

Mr. Guy H. Roberts returned Wednesday morning from Spring Hill, Tenn., where he has been attending college.

Judge Deason and Messrs. H. T. Pipes and Barney Roberts were just preparing Wednesday morning to go over to Maplesville in an auto to meet Captain Hobson and escort him to Clanton when a telegram was received announcing that he would come to Clanton direct from Athens where he made an address Tuesday night.

Mr. Royal Roper of Montgomery spent several days in Clanton this week with parents and friends.

PLAYGROUND NORMAL WORK

A New Course at Chautauqua, New York, Planned and Operated by the School of Physical Education.

A new feature of the outdoor life at Chautauqua, New York, will be of interest to parents and children, as well as to progressive teachers. For several years there has been developing a plan to establish here a playground for the children, with such equipment and superintendence as would make it the equal of any in the country. This year the realization of previous hopes is at hand. A new ground will be laid out in a grove above the boys' and girls' club houses so as to utilize the natural advantages of the place as afforded by a stream that flows through a ravine and the shade of great trees which make the spot ideal for such purposes.

For games on grass an adjacent field will give splendid opportunity and the hope is to have a model playground in every respect.

Physical equipment and pedagogical plans are taking shape so as to make this both an actual playground for Chautauqua children and a demonstration and normal training opportunity for teachers.

The management of this playground is to rest with the School of Physical Education, which has developed the gymnastic and athletic activities of Chautauqua to their present excellence. Dr. Jay W. Seaver, director of the school, is personally interested in making this new development not only minister to the outdoor life of the young at Chautauqua, but also serve as a model school that shall have an influence in advancing the playground interests all over the country. To this end he has planned a Normal Course in Playground Management and instruction, in the School of Physical Education.

The directors of the playground will be Prof. Alpha Brumage of Lexington, Va., Military Institute and Miss Bessie L. Park of the University of Texas. Their work will be supplemented by Dr. Seaver and by Dr. A. H. Sharpe of Cornell University, well known football coach and physical director. Several special teachers will assist in the care of the children and the guidance of their activities.

DREADED WEEVIL MAKES APPEARANCE

THIS TIME IN COTTON FIELDS OF THE SOUTHWESTERN PART OF THE STATE

NO ALARM NEED BE FELT

State Agent Moss Advises Immediate Picking of the Parasite — Will Prove Effectual.

Montgomery.—Already reports of the appearance of the boll weevil in cotton fields in the western and southwestern part of the state have been received by B. L. Moss, state agent of the farm demonstration work.

"No alarm need be felt on the appearance of the weevil at this time, however," said Mr. Moss. "This is the usual time for the weevils to come out of winter quarters and attack the buds of the young cotton, and their appearance should be the signal for an immediate and vigorous attack upon them.

"Weevils will be found subsisting upon the tender buds of the young cotton, waiting for the squares to appear. No one thing is more effective at this season in holding the weevil in check and making profitable cotton crops possible than the careful, systematic picking of these early weevils. When it is remembered that the offspring of a single pair of weevils will by fall amount to over 12,000,000, the importance of destroying the first that appear is apparent.

"The best time to find the weevil in the buds of the young cotton is in the early morning. A fine way to get them is to offer the hoe hands and children a cent or half a cent for all they catch and bring in. It is surprising how many will be destroyed in this way. This practice is being followed with fine results in Mississippi and Louisiana, and nine farmers out of ten who are making cotton at a profit under weevil conditions believe that it is one of the very best things that can be done to hold the weevil in check.

"When the young squares begin to appear the weevils will begin to puncture them, and it is important that these punctured squares be carefully picked and destroyed.

"Picking the weevils that appear early in the season and the punctured squares until the latter part of July, and clean, careful cultivation, will go far toward making cotton crops despite the weevil.

"It must be borne in mind that meeting the weevil successfully is largely a problem of good farming, and the man who is a good farmer in every sense of the word need have no fear of the weevil putting him out of business."

KELLER BEGINS TOUR JUNE 2

State Highway Engineer to Map Out System of Trunk Roads.

Montgomery.—State Highway Engineer W. S. Keller has practically completed arrangements for his automobile tour of the state for the purpose of mapping out a system of trunk roads. His trip will begin at Mobile on Monday, June 2, and will probably last several weeks, ending in North Alabama.

Mr. Keller's plans include a tour of the entire state, though he will probably spend more time in North Alabama than in any other section.

Mr. Keller will go from Montgomery to Birmingham, and thence to various cities in North Alabama. These cities include Florence, the Decaturs, Cullman, Huntsville, Scottsboro, Gadsden, Anniston and other places.

GIVE LIST OF REPRESENTATIVES

Text Book Commission Requires Submission of Names of All Agents.

Under the rules this list includes all agents, attorneys, or other persons receiving compensation with the adoption of the text books.

MANLY MADE PRESIDENT

Seventeenth Annual Convention of Association Ends.

Montgomery.—At the final session of the seventeenth annual convention of the Alabama Fire Underwriters' association held at Jackson's Lake, R. F. Manley, of Birmingham, was elected president to serve during the ensuing year. Russell Ladd, of Mobile, was elected vice-president, and M. M. Sweatt, of Montgomery, secretary and treasurer.

Federal Court at Dothan

Montgomery.—An order has been issued by Judge Thomas G. Jones that the June term of the United States district court of the Southern division of the Middle district of Alabama, which was to have been held at Dothan June 1, be adjourned until June 16. At this time the docket will be opened with Judge William B. Shephard, of Florida, presiding in the absence of Judge Jones, who is ill. Court will be in session at Dothan several weeks, both criminal and civil dockets being heard.

COMMEMORATE CANAL OPENING

Governor Issues Proclamation Approving Mobile Celebration.

Montgomery.—Hearty approval of the plan of the Southern Commercial congress to hold a celebration in Mobile next fall in commemoration of the opening of the Panama canal was given by Governor O'Neal in a proclamation which he issued calling upon the people of the state to co-operate in making the movement a success and in assisting the citizens of Mobile in receiving as guests the representatives of other states and of foreign nations.

The governor calls attention in the proclamation to the fact that the canal exists primarily through the efforts of the late Senator John Tyler Morgan.

"The event which this celebration will mark," he declares, "is one whose importance to this state cannot be over-estimated."

The proclamation is as follows:

"The Southern Commercial congress having selected Mobile as the proper place at which to hold the celebration commemorating the opening of the Panama canal, the opportunity is presented to the state of Alabama to receive as guests representatives of her sister states and foreign nations. The event which this celebration will mark is one whose importance to this state cannot be overestimated, and is the culmination of many years of hope and effort. That the canal exists is principally due to the untiring efforts of John Tyler Morgan, who for many years represented the state of Alabama in the United States Senate with the most distinguished ability. In extending to Alabama this opportunity the Southern Commercial congress proposes that this event shall be a tribute of all the people to the memory of John Tyler Morgan, and their participation therein shall be evidenced in an honor roll of the Morgan memorial celebration of the Panama canal opening, to be preserved in the archives of the state as an evidence of the universal regard in which his great and distinguished services to his country is held. To this worthy cause I lend hearty approval and urge upon the people of the state to give it their aid.

"In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great seal of the state to be affixed at Montgomery, this the twenty-first (21) day of May, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and thirteen."

UNIVERSITY COMMENCEMENT

Eighty-Second Annual Commencement Busy Period.

University.—The commencement exercises of the University of Alabama extending through a period of four days, May 25-28, were perhaps the greatest since 1906, when the university celebrated its seventy-fifth anniversary. Commencement visitors were provided with entertainment practically every hour throughout the four days.

The baccalaureate sermon, delivered on May 25, was preached by the Reverend James H. McCoy, D.D., L.L. D., of Birmingham, bishop of the Methodist Episcopal church, South. The oration before the society of the alumni on May 27, was delivered by ex-Congressman Sidney J. Bowie, of Birmingham. Chancellor James H. Kirkland, L.L. D., D. C. L., of Vanderbilt university, was the speaker on commencement day May 28. In addition to the regular program of adresses, entertainments and athletic contests, there were the usual number of social functions given by student and town organizations. Besides the larger affairs there were a number of class reunions and the like for smaller groups.

FEDERAL GRAND JURY ADJOURNS

Report of Findings Made to Judge Jones.

Montgomery.—Report of the grand jury of the present term of the United States district court, which has been in session in Montgomery several weeks was submitted to Judge Thomas G. Jones after that body had completed its work.

The grand jury, since empanelment several weeks ago, has been continuously in session. The law docket of the court, which was adjourned by Judge Jones a few days ago, will be taken up some time next month, when both civil and criminal cases will be heard. Judge W. I. Grubb, of Birmingham, will preside.

WILL INVESTIGATE PELLAGRA

Commission to Make Probe of Cause in Alabama.

Montgomery.—Alabama will be the field of scientific activities during August or September for the Thompson-McFaden pellagra commission of the United States in the search of the cause of the mysterious disease.

Dr. J. F. Siler, captain in the medical corps of the United States army will spend a month in Alabama and says it will be either August or September.

Co. F Mustered Out of Service.

Montgomery.—Owing to inefficiency and lack of care of property, Adjutant General Joseph B. Scully has mustered out of the service of the Alabama National Guard Company F, Second infantry, at Tuscaloosa. At the recent inspection of this company the organization was found to be inefficient.

The adjutant general has ordered an election to be called in Company A, Fourth infantry, Montgomery, to fill the vacancy created by the removal of First Lieut. A. E. Carlson.

WANT TO CHANGE CURRENCY SYSTEM

THE CURRENCY COMMITTEE IS WEIGHING MANY BILLS TO REFORM FINANCES.

EXPERTS TO AGREE ON PLAN

Improbable That Effort Will Be Made at Present Session to Reform Banking Laws.

Washington.—In addition to conducting hearings and digesting the answers to questions which are to be propounded to bankers and financial experts the senate banking and currency committee will discuss numerous bill proposed to reform the financial system of the country before it presents a measure to the senate.

Chairman Owen and many other members of the committee are engaged in drawing up bills designed to alter the currency system and it will be necessary for the committee to consider all of them before it settles upon a measure that it can support. It is regarded as improbable that an effort will be made at the present session to reform the banking laws, but attention will be focused on the need for more elastic currency and for mobilization of reserves so that they can be utilized quickly in case of financial stress.

Republican leaders are convinced there is little likelihood of radical legislation on currency subjects.

They do not believe serious effort will be made to provide for guarantee of bank deposits and they hope some sort of central association will be provided.

The subcommittee authorized to settle upon a list of questions to bankers met, but did not complete its task. Dr. A. Piatt Andrew, former assistant secretary of the treasury and one of the experts of the monetary commission, sat with the committeemen and offered suggestions for questions. A final draft will be laid by the subcommittee by Chairman Owen, who also will draw up a letter to accompany the list.

TWO KILLED IN EXPLOSION

Steam Pipe of Stewart Blows Out During Test.

San Diego, Cal.—Richard Curtis Smith, oiler, and H. F. Bock, chief machinist's mate, are dead and Alma Miller, oiler, who risked his life in an attempt to save Bock, is in a dying condition as the result of an explosion on the United States torpedo boat destroyer Stewart.

The accident occurred 28 miles off port during a speed test, when a steam pipe in the engine room blew out. The engines were turning 200 revolutions a minute and the destroyer was rushing through the water at the rate of twenty-five and a half knots an hour. The Stewart is the fastest of the flotilla.

A brother of Miller lives at Idaho Falls, Idaho. Smith's home was at Lolin, Texas, and Bock lived at Moline, Illinois. Bock had just re-enlisted.

Capt. M. G. Shonerd says the accident was one for which no one could be blamed. He made an investigation and forwarded a report to Washington.

100 Federals Killed by Rebels.

Eagle Pass.—In a battle near Sacramento in northeast Mexico, 100 federals were ambushed and killed by constitutionalists, according to reports brought here by constitutionalist leaders, who are gathering across the river from here for a general military conference. Carveo, a former follower of Orosco, led the federals at Sacramento. This victory gave the constitutionalists possession of all towns between Catillo and Monclevn. Huerta's opponents claim also to have captured the cities of Tactatecas, Parras and San Pedro de Celonias, near Torreon.

Officials Chosen for Labor Department

Washington.—It was announced that Louis F. Post of Chicago had been selected as assistant secretary of the department of labor; Anthony Caminetti of San Francisco for commissioner general of immigration, and John O. Densmore of Polson, Mont., for solicitor of the department of labor. Louis Freeland Post is an editor, author, lawyer and lecturer, who has attained prominence by his discussions of economic questions, particularly single tax.

Flagler's Funeral Marked by Simplicity

St. Augustine, Fla.—Simplicity marked the funeral of Henry M. Flagler, when his body was laid in a mausoleum in the yard of the Flagler Memorial church. Thousands from all parts of Florida participated in the services at the church and viewed the body as it lay in state in the rotunda of the Ponce de Leon hotel, which he built. Back of the casket towered the royal palms of Folrida, on the bier lay a simple bunch of lilies. The guard of honor was made up of employees of the Florida East Coast railway.

Ambassador Arrives in England.

Queenstown.—Walter Hines Page, United States ambassador to Great Britain, parried all attempts of newspaper men to obtain an interview when he arrived here from New York. He contented himself with the remark that his constant endeavor while holding his office would be to "maintain the more than friendly" relations between the United States and the United Kingdom which had happily continued for such a long time." The American consul here went on board the Baltic and delivered a package of dispatches.

HENRY M. FLAGLER DEAD

END COMES TO BUILDER OF OVER-THE-SEA RAILROAD AT HIS HOME IN FLORIDA.

First Fortune Swept Away by Poor Investment, He Left $100,000,000 Estate.

Mr. Flagler, one of America's foremost financial giants, and known in the South as the "King of Florida."

After amassing a fortune of $50,000 in Bellevue, he went to Saginaw, Mich., and made an unsuccessful venture in the salt business, losing every dollar of his money. With the aid of money furnished by his wife's relatives, he moved to Cleveland and entered the grain business.

Henry M. Flagler was born at Canandaigua, N. Y., in 1830. Little is known of his early life, except that he was clerk in a country grocery in Orleans county, Michigan, while yet in his teens.

In 1885 Mr. Flagler paid his first visit to Florida, and became impressed with the business possibilities presented there by the railroad field, in connection with the development of winter resorts.

Entering actively into the work of turning Florida into one vast winter resort, Mr. Flagler built the Florida East Coast railroad and erected the Ponce de Leon and Alcazar hotels at a cost of $3,000,000.

His great achievement, however, was the extension of his railroad from Miami to Key West. For many years his plan was ridiculed as impracticable, and was called "Flagler's folly." The opening of this "over-seas" line is listed as one of the engineering triumphs of the age.

LANDSLIDE WRECKS TRAIN

The Train Was Swept Down Mountain Side by Avalanche.

Hinton, W. Va.—Six persons are believed to have been killed and a number injured when a Chesapeake and Ohio train was swept down a steep mountain side by a landslide.

The train, composed of an engine, three freight cars and a caboose, the latter carrying passengers, had been stopped between Sewell and Landisburg, so that debris deposited by a cloudburst, might be cleared away.

The slide that engulfed the train and sent it rolling down the mountain side in a tumbling mass of rock, earth, steel and timber, came without warning. While the crew was working to clear the track there was a terrific roar and before any one could save themselves the crash came.

Quilt Has 20,152 Patches.

Jackson, Ga.—Late in April it was reported from Senoia that there was a quilt in Coweta county containing 5,500 patches or scraps. Butts county has since been casting about endeavoring to find one with a larger number. The search is completed, and that Mrs. F. M. Allen of this city is the owner of a beautiful quilt of many colors, containing not only that many pieces, but nearly four times as many, will interest quiltmakers. The one in her possession has 20,152 pieces, each about half an inches square.

Torpedo Boat Cassin Launched.

Bath, Maine.—The United States torpedo boat destroyer Cassin, a 1,000-ton ship, took her maiden dip. Miss Helen Cassin Carusi of Washington, granddaughter of the late Rear Admiral Cassin, broke the bottle of champagne. The Cassin is a sister ship of the Conyngham, which will go overboard early in July. Her contract price was $761,500, and a maximum speed of 29 knots an hour will be required at the official trials next month. The destroyer will burn oil exclusively.

PRESIDENT GOES AFTER LOBBYISTS

STIRS CONGRESSIONALS WITH STATEMENT REGARDING LOBBY ACTIVITIES

MUCH MONEY BEING SPENT

"So Thick in Washington One Can't Throw a Brick Without Hitting One," Says President.

Washington. — President Wilson stirred congressional circles with an emphatic statement denouncing the "industrious" and "insidious" lobby in Washington attempting to create public sentiment against certain features of the Underwood tariff bill. This was accepted at the capital as referring to the unusual efforts being made against free raw wool and free sugar.

While the president was declaring it his opinion that congress should be relieved from the "intolerable burden," senators and representatives were viewing on every hand the evidence of the lobbyists which beset them, and significance was attached to a statement made by Senator Simmons, chairman of the finance committee which now has the tariff bill in hand, that, in his opinion, the lobbyists were not making any headway.

The president's declaration that the lobbyists were so thick "that one couldn't throw a brick without hitting one," revived interest in two bills recently introduced in the house and senate to regulate lobbying on pending legislation.

Senator Kenyon, of Iowa, and Representative C. B. Smith, of New York, have declared their intention to press bills they have introduced, which would restrict the work of lobbyists, require their registration and require that they be licensed to appear before any committee or to carry on a campaign for or against proposed legislation. Heavy penalties would be imposed for violations.

Democratic leaders were almost unanimous in support of the president's statement, maintaining that they are well able to handle the important pending tariff legislation and that sugar and wool will be thoroughly considered and discussed by the finance committee and democratic caucus before it is reported. No change of policy relating to either schedule has yet been determined, however, it is emphatically declared by the members of the committee.

The president issued the following statement:

"I think that the public ought to know the extraordinary exertions being made by the lobbyists in Washington to gain recognition for certain alterations of the tariff bill. Washington has seldom seen so industrious or insidious a lobby. The newspapers are being filled with paid advertisements calculated to mislead the judgment of public men not only, but also the public opinion of the country itself. There is every evidence that money without limit is being spent to sustain this lobby and to create an appearance of a pressure of public opinion antagonistic to some of the chief items of the tariff bill.

"It is of serious interest to the country that the people at large should have no lobby and be voiceless in these matters, while great bodies of astute men seek to create an artificial opinion and to overcome the interests of the public for their private profit. It is thoroughly worth the while of the people of this country to take knowledge of this matter. Only public opinion can check and destroy it.

"The government in all its branches ought to be relieved from this intolerable burden and this constant interruption to the calm progress of debate. I know that in this I am speaking for the members of the two houses, who would rejoice as much as I would to be released from this unbearable situation."

QUIET RESENTMENT ATTITUDE

Mabie Talks of Japanese Situation, Just Returned From Japan.

San Francisco.—"Quiet resentment is the attitude of Japan toward the legislative action of California," said Hamilton Wright Mabie, man of letters, journalist and lecturer, on his return to America from Japan, where he spent several months delivering a series of 80 addresses on American ideals and character.

"War talk," he continued, "is a product of the yellow journals and yellow politicians. The attitude of the substantial press and influential statesmen is completely restful and moderate."

ROBS BANK WITH UMBRELLA

Chicago Man Rakes $1,000 Through Teller's Window — Is Later Arrested.

Toledo, O.—With a heat umbrella, a man giving his name as James Evans of Chicago, robbed the Northern National bank of two rolls of bills, each containing $500. The money was abstracted from the teller's window. Pursued by bank attaches, Evans ran into the arms of a policeman.

WORK TO IMPROVE FARM CONDITIONS

AMERICAN COMMISSION CLOSELY STUDYING THE SYSTEMS IN EUROPEAN COUNTRIES.

SCOPE OF WORK ENLARGED

Is Important Task Whose Solution Will be of Immense Benefit to the American Farmers.

Rome, Italy.—A most important task, whose solution will be of the greatest interest to the American farmer has been undertaken by the American commission on agricultural organization, co-operation and rural credits now studying the systems at work in various countries in Europe.

During the voyage from the United States the members decided to depart from the original intention of merely investigating the systems of European rural credits, as it was considered that so narrow a subject would tend against the usefulness of the commission. The scope of the work was therefore enlarged to embrace the whole subject of co-operative effort as it touches agriculture and rural life.

The members divided into four subcommittees dealing with the subjects of finance, production, distribution and organization of agriculture and country life.

The first subcommittee has started an investigation into all forms of banking and credit affecting the agriculturists, whether co-operative or non-co-operatice, but is paying especial attention to the former, as it is desired to disseminate into the North American continent some practical principle of selfhelp. All the bankers and financiers aocompanying the commission are on this subcommittee.

Practical farming is being investigated by the second subcommittee, and it is inquiring into the European associations formed for the purpose of increasing the fertility of the soil or the quality of crops and live stock. The successful cow-testing associations of Denmark and other countries.

The third subcommittee is gathering information as to organizations handling farmer's implements with the object of eliminating undue profits by middle men or large combinations of dealers.

120 PASSENGERS ARE LOST

Steamer Nevada Strikes Mine in Gulf of Smyrna.

Smyrna.—The steamer Nevada, with 200 passengers on board, struck three mines in succession in the Gulf of Smyrna and sank. Only eighty passengers are reported saved. The mines were strewn on the coast waters by the Turks to prevent an attack by the Greek fleet during the Balkan war.

The Nevada was leaving the Gulf of Smyrna when a Russian steamer was coming in and to avoid a collision the first named vessel left the channel and entered a mine field.

The Nevada struck three mines and each exploded in quick succession. The last was followed by an explosion on the ship which imediately sank.

Of the 200 passengers on the steamer eighty were rescued by boats which put off from the French cruiser Bruix, which was anchored in the harbor.

The Nevada, though owned by a Turkish company, was flying the American flag.

One Killed, Two Shot in Feud.

Hawkinsville.—Davis Walker, a farmer, was shot and killed by Jerry Perdue near here. Perdue was shot through the thigh and W. H. Davis, a bystander, was shot in the neck, neither being wounded seriously. The killing is said to be the outcome of ill feeling over the killing of Walker's father several months ago, for which Perdue was tried and acquitted. Perdue came to Hawkinsville and surrendered. Walker is survived by a wife and four children.

Veterans Gather in Reunion.

Chattanooga. — Incoming trains brought hundreds of veterans and visitors to the twenty-third annual reunion of the United Confederate Veterans, opened here. Many of those who arrived first came to attend preliminary meetings. These sessions included a welcome meeting of the Confederate Memorial association and the opening meeting of the Sons of Confederate Veterans. Chattanooga is in gala attire in honor of the momentous occasion. Bounting and flags, both federal and confederate, adorn the buildings

1,000 Italians Fall in Fight.

Chiasso, Switzerland.—The strict censorship which the Italian government has imposed on all news relating to the state of affairs in Tripoli and particularly with regard to the defeat of the Italian forces at Sidi Garba on May 16 has made it difficult to obtain exact information on the recent reverses in that territory. It has been learned, however, that the disaster at Sidi Garba was due to a well-laid plan of the Arabs. It is learned, however that over one thousand Italians were killed in battle.

U. S. GOUGED ON ARMOR

COMPETITIVE BIDDING A FARCE, SAYS SECRETARY OF WAR DANIEL IN STATEMENT

Responsibility Is Placed on the Navy Department for Price Agreements Among Manufacturers.

Washington. — Responsibility for price agreements among manufacturers furnishing armor plate for American warships was placed directly upon the navy department itself by Secretary Daniels. In a statement following his announcement of his intention to submit a plan for a government armor plant the secretary declared the policy of the department in dividing plate contracts among all bidders at the lowers figure offered "makes all pretense of competitive bidding to get the lowest market price a farce that cannot possibly deceive anyone acquainted with the facts."

Mr. Daniels said he was glad the resolution for an investigation of this matter, introduced recently by Senator Ashurst, was before congress and that it only anticipated a formal statement which he proposed to prepare requesting relief from "an intolerable situation."

How contracts for armor for the new battleship Pennsylvania were let by Secretary Meyer last March was told in detail in the statement. Three steel companies submitted virtually identical bide and the contracts were divided among them.

$100,000,000 MEXICAN LOAN

Is to be Placed at 90 and Run Ten Years at 6 Per Cent.

Mexico City.—The Mexican congress gave its sanction to an agreement for a loan of $100,000,000 at six per cent. interest. The amount is to be placed at ninety and will run for ten years. It is guaranteed by 38 per cent. of the customs receipts. The Mexican National bank is named as the representative of the bankers

The debate on the loan was a long one. The minister of finance was charged with failure to take better offers which had been made. He replied that Provisional President Huerta and the other members of the Mexican cabinet had urged upon him the immediate acceptance of this loan as the other offers received necessitated more delay.

Poison Victim is Dead.

Macon.—Sanders Walker died here without regaining consciousness. Up to his last moment of consciousness the young real estate man, whose tragic mistake, taking bichlorde of mercury instead of a headache remedy is cost him his life, was calm and cheerful, comforting his grief-stricken wife and parents, and showing that the indomitable will which characterized his college days and his business life since has stood the final great test unbroken. Walker lapsed into unconsciousness before he died.

Royal Observatory Shattered by Bomb.

Edinburgh, Scotland.—A bomb exploded in the west dome of the royal observatory here. The astronomical instruments were badly deranged, but the building itself escaped serious damage. The police declare that militant suffragettes committed the outrage. Professor Ralph A. Sampson, astronomer royal of Scotland, thinks evidence found points to two women having been engaged in the outrage. He says apparently they hurt themselves. Several pounds of gunpowder were exploded.

CROP CONDITIONS VERY AUSPICIOUS

Business Sentiment in South and West Cheerful — Money Rates Are Easier.

New York.—Dun's review of trade says:

The volume of business in nearly all branches of trade and industry continues very large, but it is mostly to meet immediate needs. Confidence is sustained by the prospect of big crops, but manufacturers and merchants still pursue a conservative policy pending the termination of tariff uncertainty. Such recession in trade as exists is chiefly in the absence of new orders for future delivery.

Mercantile and industrial conditions are strengthened by the absence of large stocks and the financial situation is made more secure by the absence of excessive speculation. While cold weather has served to delay planting in some sections, crop conditions for both spring wheat and corn are, in the main, very auspicious, and cotton shows improvement. This serves to make business sentiment in the west and south very cheerful.

The iron and steel mills continue fully occupied in filling old orders, but there has been a sharp falling off in the volume of new business.

Commercial failures this week in the United States are 265 against 241 the corresponding week last year. Failures in Canada are 33 against 19 last year.

New York.—Bradstreet's weekly review of trade says:

It is difficult to find a keynote that will at once characterize trade trends the country over, but business continues favorable, the western situation in this respect being almost antithetical to the depression prevailing in the east. Presumably the west is buoyed by sanguine wheat crop prospects, and in that section of the country there does not appear to be much apprehension as regards unfavorable consequences from tariff revision.

"In any event, the west, northwest, southwest and far west are doing well as regards jobbing trade, and while some centers in the midle west manifest more or less conservatism, there is an obvious disposition toward optimism, future wants are being covered in a reasonably satisfactory way and the concensus of opinion is that business is moderately well ahead of last year.

Money is quite active for commercial and industrial uses, and rates are somewhat easier. Collections do not improve much, and, all in all, they do not appear to be above fair.

Stock market operations remain as for weeks; that is, dull, and the success of the New York City bond issue does not impart the feeling or new impulse that was anticipated. Business failures for the week ending May 22 were 265, which compares with 218 in the like week of 1912.

Wheat, including flour, exports from the United States and Canada for the week ending May 22 aggregate 6,471,046 bushels against 5,999,613 bushels this week last year.

Boston.—The question of the legality of the purchase of other companies by the United Shoe Machinery company was raised by Judge Putnam in the dissolution suit brought against the company by the government.

New York.—George Rodel, the Boer heavyweight fighter, defeated "Soldier" Kearns of Brooklyn in a 10-round bout which closes the limit here.

Washington.—In a vigorous defense of the purposes of the American navy at a "North State dinner" given here in his honor, Secretary Josephus Daniels declared that "the only menace to our peace is due to the taming of anarchists in the east, the people at whose did not come to us of their own free will."

ECZEMA ON CHILD'S FACE

R. F. D. No. 5, Lexington, Tenn.—"My little boy broke out on the face with that terrible disease, eczema, when he was just one month old, and I just thought sure it would kill him, as it killed our other baby at five months old. It would break out in pimples and scab over, and he cried day and night. I thought that there was no cure for him at all. His face would itch and burn so bad that I had to tie his little hands down so he could not scratch his face.

"We began at once to have him treated until he was seven months old, and he got worse all the time. I sent and got a box of Cuticura Ointment and one cake of Cuticura Soap. I had not used them a week until I could see a great change, and they cured him sound and well and never left a single scar." (Signed) Mrs. Lillie Sikes, Feb. 17, 1912.

Valuable Beetle Now.

Not long ago a Washington scientist, an enthusiastic student of natural history, captured a fine specimen of beetle. On reaching home he, in a moment of haste, pinned the beetle to a library table with his diamond scarfpin.

When he returned to the library from his dinner, he found the captive had got loose and was flying about with the diamond pin glistening from his back.

Man and bug made a rush for the window at the same instant, says Harper's Weekly. The beetle got there first and triumphantly sailed away, barely eluding the scientist's hand. Neither bug nor pin has since been seen.

Aged Survivors of Our Wars.

I am informed by the United States pension office that the last soldier of the rebellion will die in 1955. That is the estimate made by those who make a study of vital statistics. If the last veteran survives until that date he will have lived ninety years after the surrender of Lee.

Kronk, who died a couple of years ago in New York state, was the last soldier of the War of 1812, and he lived considerably more than ninety years after peace had been signed. Bakeman, the last soldier of the Revolution, lived for eighty-six years after the peace of 1783.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

"LIKE MAGIC"

New Food Makes Wonderful Changes.

When a man has suffered from dyspepsia so many years that he can't remember when he had a natural appetite, and then hits on a way out of trouble he may be excused for saying "it acts like magic."

When it is a simple, wholesome food instead of any one of a large number of so called remedies in the form of drugs, he is more than ever likely to feel as though a sort of miracle has been performed.

A Chicago man, in the delight of restored digestion, puts it in this way: "Like magic, fittingly describes the manner in which Grape-Nuts relieved me of poor digestion, coated tongue and loss of appetite, of many years standing.

"I tried about every medicine that was recommended to me, without relief. Then I tried Grape-Nuts on the suggestion of a friend. By the time I had finished the fourth package, my stomach was all right, and for the past two months I have been eating with a relish anything set before me. That is something I had been unable to do previously for years.

"I am stronger than ever and I consider the effects of Grape-Nuts on a weak stomach as something really wonderful. It builds up the entire body as well as the brain and nerves." Name given by the Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Friday evening the pupils of Mrs. J. H. Middleton's music class entertained their host of friends and patrons with a most versatile recital, every number of which was enjoyable and brought forth generous applause from the delighted audience.

The Press man not being a musician, is unable to give anything like a competent criticism of the entertainment, but from the large attendance and the frequent applause given the teacher and her pupils, he is willing to risk the assertion that the teacher reflected her rare ability in the training of her proteges, and that they also reflected much credit upon their teacher by the manner in which each performed the part assigned. Anyway that's the way the audience took it, and, as a usual thing, that is a fair standard by which to judge.

RICHMOND PEARSON HOBSON

HERO OF MERRIMAC ADDRESSES CLANTON ACADEMY.

LARGE AND ENTHUSIASTIC AUDIENCE.

Wednesday evening and night, May 28, was a red letter event in the history of Clanton academy, for it was on this occasion that Captain Richmond Pearson Hobson, the hero of the Merrimac, Congressman from the Sixth congressional district of Alabama, and one of the world's best known characters, addressed the pupils of the academy and their assembled friends. The address was made at the Court House, that being the largest auditorium in the town, but even then a large portion of the audience which had gathered to hear him were unable to gain entrance. Before the beginning of the address a number of very entertaining selections, both instrumental and vocal, were rendered by pupils of the academy. Miss Marguerite Chappelle also rendered a most beautiful solo, which was greeted with enthusiastic encores.

The selection rendered by little Miss Alice Stanfield also deserves especial mention as she too had to respond to a most hearty encore.

Captain Hobson was then introduced to the audience and after a few preliminary remarks announced as the general theme of his address "The Door of Opportunity." To say that he delighted his audience but faintly expresses the real facts. In eloquent and enthusiastic words he pointed out to the pupils of the academy not only the desirability of a first-class education, but the great possibilities which awaits those who persistently remain at school and college till a finished education has been secured. He showed the difference in the earning power of an educated man as compared with those who were but slightly educated or those who receive no education whatever. The figures were astounding but they are nevtheless true, for they were gleaned from the most carefully secured statistics. The father or mother who heard Captain Hobson's speech and denies his child the privilege of a finished education is deliberately condemning that child to a life of servitude, whereas by giving to the child such an education he prepares him to associate with the world's greatest minds and fits him to become a world power in the realms of thought and action.

During the speech frequent allusions were made to the farming possibilties that await the educated farmer, and the Captain had the facts and figures at his tongue's end to show that he knew whereof he talked; he convinced all his auditors that he was thoroughly acquainted with conditions, was in constant study of situations and thoroughly competent to give advice, not merely as a theorist, but as one who had studied deeply and had learned from that best of schoolmasters—experience and observation.

Strange to say, Captain Hobson touched but lightly upon the great achievements of himself; naturally a modest man he made but one or two illusions to himself, and those only to point some great lesson which he wished to impress upon the minds of the young.

His picture of the battle of El Caney, his imprisonment in Moro castle and his delight at learning that the flag with the stars was in close proximity to his jail home was beautiful in the extreme and aroused in the bosoms of all a desire to do more for our common country.

During his speech he took occasion to define some of his theories of government which had been attacked by others and to show that he is in thorough sympathy with the South and with her traditions. Among other things he stated that while he was for Woman's Suffrage he would most assuredlv vote against any such proposition should it ever arise in the senate as a national issue, that he was for state's rights first, last and all the time and would strenuously oppose any attempted encroachment upon those rights; if, however, said he, Alabama as a state—a sovereign state, desired to give woman the right to vote, it being purely a state issue, he would be willing to espouse the cause of the women and to assist with his personal work and his individual vote as a citizen to secure the franchise for them.

In the matter of votes for negro women—well, he just smiled and said it was the absurdity of silliness. He was born in Hale county, a "Black-belt county," where there are five negro women to every white woman; that he thought was a sufficient answer to this unjustifiable and extremely absurd charge, but he went further and stated that surely if we could disfranchise the negro man we could—and would also disfranchise the negro woman, and that he stood ready and waiting for the moment to arrive when he could work and vote for such a desirable end.

He then took up the charge that he was but seldom at roll call in the House, and to this charge he replied with the assertion that but few of the real workers in the House or Senate had time to answer roll calls; that he was a worker and not a drone: that not one of his constituents in the Sixth district had ever complained of his being absent from roll call because they knew he was attending to their business and had no time to lose on roll calls which were but superficial after all. He went further and stated that no one in his district objected to his being absent from roll call, because they knew his labors required him elsewhere and that his district was now prepared for the advent of the boll weevil as was no other district in the South.

He reviewed the fact that at his personal expense he had given his farmer constituents the benefit of one of the finest lecturing tours for the instruction of farmers ever undertaken in this government.

He stated that he did occasionally attend chautauquas and lectured; that he had made money in that way, but that he had made much before he was sent to Congress and that, again, his constituents were not complaining at his position on this subject because they knew they were getting their full share of the profits and that their work was not being neglected by him.

After again impressing upon the younger ones the advantage of a thorough education, what really constitutes education in its highest sense, and the things necessary to accomplish in order to be accepted as an educated person, he called attention to some things which must not be done, if one will attain to the highest mark of excellence; among those things to be avoided was, intoxicants in any form. Here Captain Hobson was at his best, for he has made a deep study of alchoholic drinks and their effects upon the body as well as the brain; here, too, he gave some most interesting statistics, showing the deleterious effects of intoxicants; the ruinous effects of alcoholic beverages of all kinds.

He did not undertake to cast reflections upon the drinker of intoxicants, but rather to advise and persuade the younger ones to avoid the ruinous effects by showing them what a dangerous thing it was, from every point of view.

All in all, Captain Hobson's speech was a magnificent effort, showed deep learning and was uttered in beautiful language, at times rising almost, if not altogether, to the realms of the sublime.

It was well received by the large audience, made a deep impression and gained for him many new friends.

Almost immediately after the speech he was compelled to leave Clanton to meet an engagement in the northern part of the state, therefore he was unable to meet many of our people, who were anxious to shake the hand of the chivalrous seaman-statesman; it is hoped, however, that he will return in the near future, so that all our people may have an opportunity to become better acquainted with this magnificent gentleman.

CLANTON WINS DOUBLE HEADER

In two games of ball between the Montgomery boys and the Clanton boys, Saturday on the local diamond, the Clanton boys were victorious in both games, winning the first game 8 to 4, and the second game 9 to 2. Batteries, first game: Clanton, Pyron and McDowell; Montgomery, Logue and Coleman. Batteries second game: Clanton, Pyron and McDowell; Montgomery, Avinger and Coleman.

The feature of the games was the pitching of Pyron, who succeeded in letting Montgomery down with five hits in both games.

MRS. HUGH FOSHEE ENTERTAINS FOR MISS RICHARDSON

One of the loveliest affairs of the early Summer was the unique porch party, at which Mrs. Hugh Foshee entertained beautifully on Friday evening for her charming niece, Miss Evelyn Richardson, of Louisiana.

The handsome home of Mrs. Foshee was decorated with a profusion of choice cut flowers, placed artistically throughout the entire lower floor, which was thrown open for the enjoyment of the young people.

The hostess, always gracious, but more so on this occasion, received her guests in a handsome gown of white crepe meteor.

Miss Richardson, the lovely honoree, was gowned in a costume of Dolly Varden swiss, with which she wore a corsage bouquet of pink carnations, enhancing her type of girlish beauty. On the porch, where Japanese lanterns, ferns and cozy corners made lovely the night; delicious punch was served by Misses Delene Hayes and Myrtle Mullins.

A very interesting feature of the evening was a contest of advertisements, which was most enjoyably entered into. Miss Delene Hayes won the ladies' prize, a beautiful hand-embroidered card case, and Mr. Barney Roberts won the gentleman's prize, a beautiful hand-painted note book.

Mrs. Renfroe Mullins, cousin of the honored guest, very graciously received for her mother, assisted by Mrs. Hugh Jones and Miss Velma White.

Late in the evening a very tempting salad and ice course was served.

Miss Richardson, by her sweet personal charm and lovable faculties, endears herself to all with whom she comes in contact, and it is hoped that her stay here will be a lengthy one.

OFF FOR FISHING

AUTOMOBILING TO FLORIDA.

Sunday morning at sunrise Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Pinckard left in their handsome touring car for Panama City, Florida, where the former will spend ten days or two weeks tempting speckled and green trout.

Mrs. Pinckard will stop over in Dothan, where she will visit her sister, Mrs. Garner, and Mr. Garner will accompany Mr. Pinckard to Florida.

Now of course, none would suspect that Pinckard would for a moment stretch a fish tale out of moderate proportions, so when he returns with his recital of the number of ten pound trout he hung and landed no one must even intimate that a suspicion of doubt could possibly exist.

SIGNALLY HONORED

SHERIFF JONES RECEIVES COMMENDATION; HIGHLY COMPLIMENTED BY JUDGE.

Just previous to the adjournment of the Spring term of the Circuit court, presiding Judge, W. W. Pearson, called Sheriff Jones before the bar of the court and inquired of him how it was he succeeded in running the affairs of the county so cheaply and at the same time with such ease? He stated in his remarks that the Sheriff seemed always to have his witnesses present at the court, regardless of the distance they lived from the county seat or the shortness of the time allowed him in which to serve his paper, and that he seemed to conduct the court at half the expense incurred by such officers in other counties of the state.

Mr. Jones modestly remarked that he presumed the best reason for the promptness with which papers were served was because he always employed competent and willing men, that he gave them a fair salary for their services and expected of them in return prompt action in the matter of serving papers and bringing witnesses and jurors to court.

With reference to the cheapness with which he conducted court he stated that he presumed that was also because he had good deputies and that he kept them within the strict bounds of law as to expenses, whereas in many instances other officers were heedless of expenses.

The Judge paid Sheriff Jones quite a neat compliment and congratulated him upon having such an efficent corps of deputies.

A RARE JAIL BIRD

Threatens To Break Jail In Spite Of Sheriff's Vigilance.

Chilton county. or rather Sheriff Jones, had a rara avis in the person of L. P. Mashburn as a prisoner guest last week.

The aforesaid Mashburn blew into Clanton during the early part of the week, attaching himself to the gentleman who had contracted to remove the roots and stumps from the proposed dam road, and was, so we understand, to have charge of the work, or at least to have a responsible place with the management, but the wires brought the sad intelligence from Perry, Florida that Mr. L. P. Mashburn was too much married, and that it was the desire of the sheriff of the Florida county to view his physiogomy consequently Sheriff Jones took him in custody and notified the southern official.

During the afternoon of the day he was incarcerated, he imparted the iuformation to one of the inmates of the jail that he had broken jail in Florida and would be at liberty before the rising of the next sun, as it was an easy matter to regain liberty; he further confided to his cell-mate that, if he desired to do so, there was no reason why he too should not also be at liberty, as the hole which he proposed to bore would be large enough for a skinned elephant to crawl through.

His cell-mate did not care so much for liberty as did Mr. Mashburn, and, at a convenient moment, informed the sheriff of the conversation. That official immediately began preparations to see that Mr. Mashburn remained in the county bastile till the Florida officer arrived to take him in charge. A guard was placed over the prisoner but that did not deter him from wrecking the water system at the jail and otherwise cutting up high jinks; among other things completely submerging the lower floor of the jail. The supposition is that he desired some one to come into the cell where he was confined and he then hoped to take advantage of his activity in stopping the water leak, overpower the guard and make his escape; but, he reckoned without his hosts for once. He was placed in a cell, tightly locked and then the water leak given attention.

Mashburn caused considerable loss of sleep to the sheriff and his force but nevertheless he boarded the train manacled and was returned to Perry, Florida, where he will answer for having too many wives.

Miss Emmett Matthews is spending some time with friends in Montgomery.

McKEE-PARRISH

BEAUTIFUL HOME WEDDING.

Last Sunday night at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. J. M. Shelburne, of Birmingham, said the impressive words, which, for life, joined the hearts and destinies of Miss Pearl McKee and Mr. Jas. M. Parrish. It was one of the most beautiful home weddings that has been celebrated in this section for many days.

The bride, a stately blonde, was becomingly attired in a tan cloth coat suit with hat and accessories to match, which added charm to her already charming personality. She carried a large cluster of brides roses.

The maid of honor, Miss Blanche Tisdale, wore white embroidered voile over pink with hat to match, and in her arms clasped a large bunch of beautiful pink carnations.

Just previous to the appearance of the bride and groom, Mrs. J. O. Middleton sung "O Promise Me" in a most charming manner, after which, Miss Lurline Harper played the grandest wedding march of them all—Mendleshon's—accompanied by Miss Mary Curry on the violin, and all eyes were turned expectantly toward the rooms from which the bride and groom were expected. Scarcely had the sweet, inspiring strains of the march pealed forth e'er the groom, accompanied by Mr. Thos. D. Woods as best man, made his appearance, followed almost immediately by the bride and her maid.

The bridal party took their stand under an improvised wedding bell made of beautiful cut flowers, when the sacred words were pronounced, which made them forever man and wife

More than a hundred invited guests were present to show honor to the fortunate groom, and to bid the handsome bride God-speed in her newly assumed relations in life.

During the evening fruit punch was served by Miss Libby McKee, sister of the bride, assisted by Miss Mae Roberts.

The bride followed the time-honored custom of cutting the wedding cake, to determine who was to be the next fortunate bride; this good fortune fell to Miss Rilla Smith.

The home was exquisitely decorated in Southern smylax, cut flowers and ferns, presenting an enchanting scene.

The lucky groom and beautiful bride, after receiving the congratulations of their friends, boarded the 10:20 train for Birmingham, where they will make their future home, Mr. Parrish holding a responsible position in that city.

ROAD MEETING

Monday night at the court house an enthusiastic "dam" road meeting was held, attended by quite a number of citizens. A repot was received from the engineer in charge, and other matters of importance were transacted. A contract has been let for the removal of all obstructions, and soon the road to Coosa river will be ready for the reception of the county road machine.

NEGRO DROWNED

Last Tuesday Steve Looney, a Talladega county negro, after cleaning out a well for Mr. E. H. Mims, went to a nearby pond to take a bath. Soon after he entered the water he was seized with cramp and before assistance could be rendered had drowned.

WASHINGTON CITY SIDELIGHTS

Department "Where They Send Out the Seeds"

WASHINGTON.—"That is the place where they send out seeds."

This is the familiar formula which many Washington guides use in describing to tourists the wonders of the department of agriculture. This information was given through a megaphone by the conductor of the rubberneck wagon to his patrons as they pass in front of the old red brick administration building. Officials and clerks within hearing of this brief description throw down their pens (or, for the sake of pleasantry, should it be their newspapers?) and take on a look of disgust and injured pride. For so many thousand of strangers to be given the information or to get the impression that the feature of work for which the great department of Agriculture has made itself famous or notorious is the sending out of seeds is monstrous. One of the humiliating features of the whole business is that the tourists appear to like it. They look with the proper awe-stricken stare and seem to be greatly impressed with the department "where they send out seeds."

"I wish you would write a piece for the paper," said a high functionary of the department, "and correct the altogether too prevalent notion that the main objects and the main usefulness of this department are concerned with sending out seed.

"I have talked to some of these rubberneck conductors. I have urged them to enlighten the pilgrims for whose instruction they are responsible, upon the vast work of this department in relation to meteorology, animal industry, animal husbandry, plant industry, forestry, chemistry, soils, entomology, biology, publications, statistics, public roads and the like.

"I have recommended these guides to acquaint their patrons with some of the valuable work being done by the bio-chemic, pathological and zoological divisions, by the plant pathologists and physiologists and the pomologists, by the soil bacteriologists, the dendrologists, the microchemical experts, the sharps in enological chemistry, by the agrostologists, the workers in solar radiation, agricultural technology, silvics, synthetic products, pharmacological work, insecticides, fungicides and all that.

"However, when the rubberneck wagon goes by on its next trip the conductor bellows through the megaphone: 'This is where they send out seeds.'"

Rep. Johnson "Nearly" Had His Speech Printed

REPRESENTATIVE Albert Johnson, the handsome and vociferous member from Oregon, nearly had a fine speech printed in a faraway coast paper for which Harry Brown is the Washington correspondent.

Johnson used to be a newspaper man in this city. He was night editor and copy editor and reporter and all the regular things which are supposed to give newspaper men that broad and sympathetic view of large affairs.

Johnson made a speech during the general debate on the tariff bill a few days ago. It was his first speech in the House. It was a good speech, taking it by and large, but the air was jammed full of speeches about that time and the only newspaper that was publishing them was the Congressional Record.

However, Mr. Johnson did not want Portland to go unfed with crumbs from his table, so the evening following the great event of his speech he started out to find Harry Brown and tell him all about it. He couldn't find Mr. Brown until the next day.

"Say, Harry," he remarked, "I tried to find you last night, but I couldn't. I made a speech yesterday."

That did not impress Mr. Brown to any great extent, so Mr. Johnson continued to further explain:

"And as I thought your paper would want it, I filed about 800 words of it with the telegraph company."

Brown winced. His paper had been advising him to cut down the tariff stuff to the bone, as most of it was the sort of soft pap that goes well in the country districts, but hasn't much circulation in a well regulated newspaper. Furthermore, Brown investigated and found that Representative Johnson had really filed 1,500 words—and the telegraph tolls to Oregon are enormous! He had visions of being "fired" by wireless, but he discovered to his great relief that his paper had chopped the speech in two before it was entirely relayed to Portland from Chicago, thus saving a lot of time and trouble and costing Representative Johnson a whole lot of money for half a speech to Chicago.

More Americans Go to Teach in the Philippines

EIGHTY-FIVE American men and women teachers have just set out for the Philippines. This number was selected from a large eligible list certified by the United States civil service commission as having the necessary education and experience and having passed the required examination for the Philippine teaching service. They came from nearly every state in the union, representing some of the best universities, colleges and normal schools in this country. Most of them are college graduates, some have done graduate work in the universities and others have pursued technical courses preparing them to take charge of agricultural work, manual training and trade school work and domestic science.

A fact not generally known is that the average term of service of American teachers in the Philippines is nearly six years, almost a year longer than the average service of teachers in this country. Those leaving at this time go to the Philippines under a two-year contract. This provision is made to enable the government to ascertain whether or not the teacher will succeed in the new field and also to give the teacher a chance to find out whether or not there is a sufficient future to the service to warrant him in remaining. That there are only eighty-five vacancies this year out of nearly seven hundred positions for American teachers in the service, indicates, so the insular bureau officials say, that those already on the ground have the greatest faith in the future of the educational work in the islands.

Animal Statues As Lawn Decorations In Favor

ANIMAL statues as outside decorations for houses seem to multiply when you look for them, and they always seem to be coming into view in places where you had hitherto overlooked them.

In front of the big four-story yellow brick house at the northwest corner of 16th and P streets, next door south of Foundry Church, are two white lions. Apparently they have just left the covered porch and are strolling down the walk which leads from the front door to the sidewalk—that is, they appear to be walking because each lion has his right foreleg lifted. They are also keeping step. The pallor, or the whiteness of the beasts indicate that they are young lions and have not long been exposed to the smut and tear and dust incidental to guarding a doorway on a much traveled street.

They appear to be twins. Each is the same size and the attitude of each is the same; each has his head turned to the southeast as though looking down the avenue of the presidents. They may have heard some one approaching from that direction. They are walking with a stealthy tread and if they were not cold marble lions one might thing that thoughts of evil were in their minds.

The path they follow leads across a green lawn at the street edge of which is a row of tulip trees, sometimes called yellow poplars. A row of hard maples is in the parking between the sidewalk and the curb. It is green and shady there, but, as every one knows, a much frequented part of the city and these lions if so inclined could count thousands of automobiles passing in the course of a day and about as many in the course of an evening.

DISTRESS IS NOT REAL

TARIFF REDUCTION WON'T HURT AMERICAN BUSINESS.

Frank Opinion of Shoe Manufacturers Concerning the Probable Effect of Free List on Their Industry.

A good share of the distress among the beneficiaries of the protected industries is simply a case of nerves. The Wall Street Journal recently got interviews with shoe manufacturers from every part of the country regarding the possible effects of putting shoes on the free list. The Hillsdale Shoe Company of Hillsdale, Mich., replied:

We cannot see how placing shoes on the free list will in any way interfere with the shoe industry of this country. As a matter of fact, the closest competition we could possibly have we certainly could find at home. Further, American manufacturers are today selling more of this line of goods in England, Germany and France than they ever have, and as a matter of fact the sale increased after the reduction of the tariff in the Payne-Aldrich bill in 1909. So, to sum the whole thing up, we can't see how foreign manufacturers can get into this country with their goods when our manufacturers are now selling abroad in competition with foreign manufacturers with the freight added to the other cost. The foreign manufacturer would, of course, have to compete with the American, and with the freight expense added to his other cost. It is barely possible that in some lines of gods, that is, the very high grades on which the manufacturers of this country make a good profit, you might find some competition from abroad. But it seems to us, for the benefit of the whole people, they could easily accept a little of it.

The truth is that the American home market is so big and American workmen are so efficient that no business that has any excuse existing is going to be seriously affected by tariff revision—except in cases such as the Hillsdale Shoe Company points out, in which the profit might well be reduced.

SUGAR TRUST'S HIRED BABY

Porto Rico, Though Not Very Sickly, Has Been Well Taught How to Wail.

Female street beggars in old-world cities have learned that nothing wins sympathy like a baby. If such a beggar has no baby of her own, she hires one. She prefers a sickly, undernourished, weazened, wailing little creature, because such a child makes a stronger appeal for pity. Having hired her baby, the drab takes her station on a crowded corner, posing as a wretched, forlorn mother, and claiming alms from tender-hearted passers-by.

Porto Rico is the sugar trust's hired baby. True, the infant is not very sickly, but it has been well taught in wailing, and its dark complexion is explained as the shadow of that coming event known as reduction of the sugar tariff.

Baby in arms, the sugar trust has taken its station at the door of the United States senate, to plead for tariff graft.

"Save me chee-ild!" cries the trust, doing its best to look maternal and anxious. "Save me poor, helpless chee-ild from Raw-Head-and-Bloody Bones free trade! Don't take away his little graft, which is buying him shoes and school books—besides all the things it gets for me! Pity him, kind gentleman; for me as is his mother has just got out of jail, and I never can raise him unless you'll pay the freight!"

A moving appeal, truly. But perhaps it would be just as well to take the child from a guardian who will teach him nothing but begging, and give him a chance to learn a decent, self-supporting business.

Why Transaction Was Hidden.

There was no law at the time to prevent either President Mellen or the New Haven railroad from contributing to the Roosevelt campaign fund in 1904. The railroad corporation did contribute $50,000 through President Mellen, but he and the railroad corporation took good care to conceal the transaction on the company's books. The fact that they concealed it and eventually only confessed the facts under compulsion proves that, law or no law, they knew that political contributions by corporations were an offense against public morals that it was expedient to cover with secrecy.

You may be sure the protected interests think there is a big joker in a tariff bill that gives the people the benefit of the doubt.—Kansas City Journal.

Wilson Knows What He Wants.

President Wilson is proving a real leader. He knows what he wants and purposes to get it. Beneath his smiling suavity is a determination which commands respect. The changes which he suggested in the tariff bill were promptly made and the measure now has his approval.

Still in Business.

A number of people who declared they would be ruined by previous revisions of the tariff are still in business.—Washington Star.

GOOD ROADS

WHAT IMPROVED ROADS MEAN

Spells Prosperity and Happiness to Every Community Which Has Forethought to See Blessings.

(By R. E. CLDS.)

Good roads are conducive to better schools, live rural churches, pleasant rides, good markets, social advancement, a closer bond of sympathy and co-operation between the farmer and his city cousin who works at the forge, the lathe or the spindle. It spells prosperity and happiness to every community which has the means and business foresight to see the manifold blessings which a scientific system of good roads secures for its people. Mud roads spell an enormous mud tax beside which our tariff is like a pygmy to an elephant.

Again, good roads annihilate distances and rob farming of the dread and drudgery of rural seclusion, this fact being notably apparent where a farmer is the wise and happy owner of a high-quality, dependable and economical motor car. Mud roads bring social life on the farm to low ebb, empty the rural churches, make many little red school houses but a memory and populate the country with floating tenants who care very little for the growth and perpetuation of the institutions which are the bulwark of our national greatness.

Then good roads save time, save horses and wagons, automobiles and gasoline. They enable the farmer to market, at minimum cost, in rain or shine, his perishable produce such as fruits, vegetables, milk, butter, eggs and meat. Mud roads compel the farmer to leave such produce either go to waste or deterioration, or what is near to either, deter him from producing any of these profit-bearing commodities because he has no dependable and convenient avenue for marketing them.

In cases of acute illness good roads enable the physician to bring speedy relief to the sick annually and save the lives of hundreds of our men, women and children, a fact which more than trebly compensates any amount of money which we may spend as a nation, state, county, city or town. Good roads spell humanity, relief, mercy, life, growth and prosperity, whereas mud roads too often spell poverty, weakness, decay, sickness, suffering and death.

As road improvement is of nation-wide interest it should be supported by our national, state and county governments. This is notably true with interstate highways, for it is manifestly unjust to tax all the improvement to the abutting land, to the county or even to the state. Why should not our national government promote interstate commerce through good country roads as well as through river and harbor improvements?

Good and patriotic men seem to be at variance as to what is the best system of building roads. Some advocate three or more cross-continent trunk highways to be built and maintained equally by the federal government and by the various states through which the trunk highways go. Others favor the improvement of these roads first which run to the county seat, provided it is a good railroad market town, and if not, to the most accessible large railroad town in the county. They believe that these roads should be properly ditched, graded, rolled and dragged. Culverts should be built where the water is inclined to flow across the road during heavy rains. Grades should be raised in low places, hills materially dug down and good bridges built over creeks and streams of all kinds.

The citizens of a given county could by this plan easily determine on the first ten miles of good roads to be built and maintained. Then the next five or ten and so on further away from the principal town or towns in the county until every foot of dirt road in the county is put in first-class condition.

The good leaven is working in the minds, hearts and consciences of the American people. Good roads, to them, now means more than ever before, the avenues which leads to national strength; prosperity and happiness to which every good citizen should be glad to give his due measure of enthusiastic support.

Kernel of Problem.

Water will change the best of earth roads into a streak of mud in a very short time and right here is the kernel of our road problem. How shall we keep the water from soaking into the traveled part of our roads? There are many who seem to be willing to tell us how, but very few are able to "show us." Tilling and dragging are the only good things that have "delivered the goods" to date.

Kansas Rock Road.

The first mile of rock road in Kansas, running west of Garnett, when completed, cost $1,415, and much of the work on it was done by the farmers themselves. The county contributed $200, a city club $100, and the residents of the town $65.

Small Farms Best.

Some men think it a fine thing to own big farms, and so it is, provided one knows how to manage them to advantage, but a little farm kept well in hand fattens the bank account more than a big one neglected.

HOW THIS WOMAN FOUND HEALTH

Would not give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for All Rest of Medicine in the World.

Utica, Ohio.—"I suffered everything from a female weakness after baby came. I had numb spells and was dizzy, had black spots before my eyes, my back ached and I was so weak I could hardly stand up. My face was yellow, even my fingernails were colorless and I had displacement. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I am stout, well and healthy. I can do all my own work and can walk to town and back and not get tired. I would not give your Vegetable Compound for all the rest of the medicines in the world. I tried doctor's medicines and they did me no good."—Mrs. MARY EARLEWINE, R.F.D. No.3, Utica, Ohio.

Another Case.

Nebo, Ill.—"I was bothered for ten years with female troubles and the doctors did not help me. I was so weak and nervous that I could not do my work and every month I had to spend a few days in bed. I read so many letters about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound curing female troubles that I got a bottle of it. It did me more good than anything else I ever took and now it has cured me. I feel better than I have for years and tell everybody what the Compound has done for me. I believe I would not be living to-day but for that."—Mrs. HETTIE GREENSTREET, Nebo, Illinois.

MANY PERSONS COLOR BLIND

Tests Used by Railroads Show That Almost Everybody Is Slightly Color Blind.

The various tests for color blindness have come into practical use in the examination of railroad engineers and the like, where the ability to distinguish colors is necessary, so that these tests are no longer peculiar to the laboratory. But it is not generally known outside the laboratory that everybody is partially color blind—that is, in certain parts of the field of vision. The most normal individual can see all the colors only when he looks directly at them. If looked at from an angle of about fifteen degrees red and green can no longer be seen, but in their places will appear shades of yellow or blue. This region of the eyes is known as the yellow-blue zone. If the color be moved still farther to the side the yellow and blue will disappear and only gray can be seen. This region is known as the zone of complete color blindness. An interesting theory in regard to these zones is that every normal eye represents three stages of evolution. The zone of complete color blindness is the lowest stage, and appears in such animals as the frog, whose vision is known as shadow vision. The blue-yellow zone is one step higher in the scale, although not clearly marked off in the animal kingdom. And the appearance of the red-green zone marks the highest stage of evolution. Cases of color blindness are, according to this theory, a lack of development beyond the early stage of individual life.—Strand Magazine.

"Are you raising anything in your suburban garden this spring?"

"Oh, yes; a lot of criticism."

MEMORY IMPROVED.
Since Leaving Off Coffee.

Many persons suffer from poor memory who never suspect coffee has anything to do with it.

The drug—caffeine—in coffee, acts injuriously on the nerves and heart, causing imperfect circulation, too much blood in the brain at one time, too little in another part. This often causes a dullness which makes a good memory nearly impossible.

"I am nearly seventy years old and did not know that coffee was the cause of the stomach and heart trouble I suffered from for many years, until about four years ago," writes a Kansas woman.

"A kind neighbor induced me to quit coffee and try Postum. I had been suffering severely and was greatly reduced in flesh. After using Postum a little while I found myself improving. My heart beats became regular and now I seldom ever notice any symptoms of my old stomach trouble at all. My nerves are steady and my memory decidedly better than while I was using coffee.

"I like the taste of Postum fully as well as coffee."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Write for booklet, "The Road to Wellville."

Postum comes in two forms.

Regular (must be boiled).

Instant Postum doesn't require boiling but is prepared instantly by stirring a level teaspoonful in an ordinary cup of hot water, which makes it right for most persons.

A big cup requires more and some people who like strong things put in a heaping spoonful and temper it with a large supply of cream.

Experiment until you know the amount that pleases your palate and have it served that way in the future.

"There's a Reason" for Postum.

CONSERVATISM IN BUSINESS INDUSTRY

Activity, However, Shows, Little Dimunition—New Business Not In Current Demand.

New York.—Dun's review of trade says:

While business sentiment, especially in the East, displays a marked degree of conservatism, the actual volume of industrial and mercantile activity shows little or no dimunition. Retail distribution has been retarded in many sections by the cold and inclement weather, but the fact that wholesale houses report a broader demand for cotton goods, footwear and most staple lines is evidence that this check is regarded as only temporary. Aside from the low temperatures the crop situation in most sections countiues favorable, although complaints of damages led to some reduction in the wheat estimates from the Southwest.

Iron and steel shipments continue heavy, while mills engaged on finished lines are still behind with their orders. New business, however, is not up to current demand and premiums are disappearing. Cotton goods are in better demand, sales at Fall River last week reaching 260,000 pieces, a larger total than for any week in several months.

New York.—Bradstreets review of trade says:

Trade reports continue to exhibit fairly sharp lines of demarcation in that current distribution still surpasses future business and that surplus crop growing sections manifest more progressiveness than Eastern territory. In other words, trade in the West reflects optimism born of favorable prospects as regards wealth from crops, which outlook is not clouded to any extent by such matters as coming tariff conditions, while in the East depression as regards future requirements is plainly in evidence, uncertainties concerning tariff reductions being the deterring factors.

One of the most remarkable features of the report is the utter absence of pessimism; on the contrary, most of the Western centers are conservatively optimistic, the prevalent keynote being that trade will ultimately develop along satisfactory lines.

Money is easier, demand in the West is good, but banks are pretty well set against parting with funds except for relatively short periods. Stock market operations remain quiet.

Business failures for the week ending May 28 (five days only) were 218, which compares with 231 in the like week of 1912.

Wheat, including flour exports, from the United States and Canada, for the week aggregate 6,093,357 bushels, against 4,914,400 bushels this week last year.

NEWS BREVITIES

New Haven, Conn.—Former President William H. Taft and President Hadley, of Yale, will lay the cornerstone on June 16 of the new Yale Coliseum to be built on land opposite the present Yale Field, according to announcement.

Washington.—Senator Hoke Smith, chairman of the Education and Labor committee, which is charged with the Senate investigation into conditions in the strike zone in West Virginia, declared that he was too busy to get his committee together immediately.

Kansas City.—Dr. Ho Ly Yuen, a Chinese physician, and Miss Mildred Nelson, an American, were married last October, according to an announcement made by the bride's mother here. The wedding was kept a secret because of opposition from the bride's parents.

Portland, Me.—Forest Goodwin, of Skowhegan, republican representative in congress from the Third Maine district, died here from hardening of the liver. He was serving his first term in congress. He had served two years at Washington as parliamentary clerk to Speaker Thomas B. Reed. He was 49 years old.

Washington—Professor Irving Fisher, of Yale, appeared before a senate foreign relations subcommittee urging the passage of a bill creating an international commission to study the high cost of living. The bill, introduced at the last session, is in the hands of a subcommittee.

Washington.—Manufactured goods exported from the United States during the first ten months of the fiscal year 1913, exceeded by $500,000 worth a day the exports in the corresponding period last year. Secretary Redfield expressed great satisfaction over this showing in a report from the bureau of domestic and foreign commerce.

Washington.—Government construction of an Alaskan railroad from tidewater to the interior was recommended by the Senate Territories Committee at its meeting.

Washington.—Investigation by the civil service commission is said to have indicated that Postmaster Dutro, who was indicted at Memphis for soliciting political contributions, received contributions from other federal officeholders and that his name appeared on letters soliciting such contributions.

The Lesser of Two Evils.

A gentleman from the north was enjoying the excitement of a bear hunt down in Mississippi. The bear was surrounded in a small cane thicket. The dogs could not get the bear out and the planter who was at the head of the hunt called to one of the negroes:

"Sam, go in there and get the bear out."

The negro hesitated for a moment and then plunged into the cane. A few moments after the negro, the bear and the dogs were rolling upon the ground outside.

After the hunt was over the visitor said to the negro:

"Were you not afraid to go into that thicket with that bear?"

"Cap'n," replied the negro. "It wus jest dis way. I nebber had met dat bar, but I wus pussonally 'quainted wid old boss, and I jes' naturally tuck dat b'ar."

THE BEST TREATMENT FOR ITCHING SCALPS, DANDRUFF AND FALLING HAIR

To allay itching and irritation of the scalp, prevent dry, thin and falling hair, remove crusts, scales and dandruff, and promote the growth and beauty of the hair, the following special treatment is most effective, agreeable and economical. On retiring, comb the hair out straight all around, then begin at the side and make a parting, gently rubbing Cuticura Ointment into the parting with a bit of soft flannel held over the end of the finger. Anoint additional partings about half an inch apart until the whole scalp has been treated, the purpose being to get the Cuticura Ointment on the scalp skin rather than on the hair. It is well to place a light covering over the hair to protect the pillow from possible stain. The next morning, shampoo with Cuticura Soap and hot water. Shampoos alone may be used as often as agreeable, but once or twice a month is generally sufficient for this special treatment for women's hair.

Infant Hygiene at School.

Ont in Cleveland 17 trained nurses are now giving lessons in infant hygiene to the girl pupils attending 15 public schools. It is reported that the girls have shown an intense and delighted interest in the lessons, absorbing eagerly all that relates to the proper care of babies. This kind of instruction in the public schools represents something more and better than the activity of faddists. America, like other countries, has a very large infant death rate. Thousands of infants die annually because they have not received proper care. It is easily conceivable that the proper training of girls might save the lives of many babies.

DIDN'T KNOW THE SENATOR

Thomas of Colorado Was Barred at Senate Door After His Hair Was Cut.

As Sampson found his strength vanished after Delilah snipped his locks, so Senator Thomas of Colorado found his official identity lost after paying a visit to a barber shop in the capitol. He even was spurned by the senate doorkeepers.

Senator Thomas long has gloried in a waving mane. But when the sizzling heat of an unusually hot spring day settled on Washington it ceased to be a source of gratification or glory.

The senator stood the discomfort as long as he could and then decided to be shorn. An overzealous barber snipped the statesman's locks down to the scalp.

"Back," said a portly doortender when Senator Thomas sought to enter to the floor of the senate. "You can't get in here."

"But I'm Senator Thomas," protested the applicant.

"Nothing doing," retorted the doorkeeper, looking at the supposed intruder's apparently bald head. "You'll find the elevators to the public galleries down the corridor to your right."

The senator was rescued by a colleague, who disclosed his identity to the embarrassed keeper of the door. The barber, at last reports, was said to be in hiding.

Vacillating.

At a dinner not long ago Thomas W. Lawson was talking on the subject of success.

"Success in finance," said Lawson, "is due in a great measure to prompt action. The doubting, hesitating, Hamlet type of men had best keep out of finance. He is quite sure to be swamped. The street hasn't much use for him. I had a boyhood friend of this type named Grimes. He was a falterer, a doubter, a Hamlet of the most exaggerated type.

"One evening I stopped to call on him and found him in a deep study, bent over a white waistcoat, lying on a table.

"'Hello, Grimes,' I said. 'What's the matter?'

"'This waistcoat,' he replied, holding the garment up to my view, 'is too dirty to wear, and not dirty enough to send to the laundry. I don't know what to do about it.'"—Everybody's.

TO THE PATRONS OF CLANTON HIGH SCHOOL

We are going to commence a six weeks school on Monday, the 9th. The primary object will be to assist those who want to take the State examination; but in making our final reports, we find a great many of the pupils deficient in one or more studies. It will be time well spent to have such attend the Summer term. The regular tuition will be $6.00 for the six weeks, but we are going to admit the regular students for $5.00.

MRS. ARTHUR JOHNSON

ENTERTAINS FOR ATTRACTIVE GUEST

An event which was marked by elegance and particular charm was the domino party given on last Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. Arthur Johnson, in honor of her guest, Mrs. Edward Poe Stewart, of Little Rock, Ark.

It is the first time Mrs. Johnson has entertained in her lovely new home, and her friends were unanimous in pronouncing it one of the most attractive of the many handsome residences of recent construction in Clanton.

In every apartment there was an artistic use of cut flowers. In the hall nasturtiums and snapped dragons were used. Here Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Stewart welcomed the guests. Richmond roses were in the living room.

Oxide daises were profusely used in the tastefully decorated dining room. Here a very refreshing and delicious punch was served by Misses Mayme Foshee and Alma Jones ,who were becomingly gowned in net over yellow satin

Mrs. Johnson received he guests in a dainty white lingerie with lace trimmings.

Mrs. Stewart was in white voile with pale blue trimmings, which was especially becoming to her type, blue eyes, fair complexion and golden hair. Beauty and qualities to win affection have given Mrs. Stewart a distinctive place in social life and she is a valuable asset in Clanton society. To meet her is to love her, consequently she has been extensively entertained since she has been in our midst.

After the games an ice course was served.

Those who enjoyed the hospitality of the evening were:

Mesdames E. E. Upchurch, J. Watts Moore, Renfroe Mullins, J. P. Hayes, Mallie White, Tipton Mullins, Earl Gowan, J. P. VanDerveer, John VanDerveer, Gamma Anderson, J. O. Middleton, E. Hopkins, Hugh Simpson, Crit Jones, John Stanfield, Carrie Mullins, H. F. Chandler, Ross Mullins, E. M. Pinckard, Sam Johnson, Hugh Jones, J. V. Higgins, J. E. Robinson, W. M. Adams; Misses Bettie Mullins, Pearl Cook, Marguerite Chappelle, Mabel Thomas, Alma Jones, Mayme Foshee, Elna Sartor, Ruby Downs, Maude Mullins, Lurline Harper, Norma Denty and Rosa Thornton.

Contestants will please bear in mind that the keys (all the keys) to the ballot box are in the possession of Messrs. W. W. Fox, W. A. Kemp and Dr. J. E. Gowan and that no one connected with the Press office has ever had a key since the contest begun. These gentleman will vouch for this statement and all doubts as to the entire fairness of the voting or the count should cease; it's a reflection upon fair mindedness.

NOTICE OF DEBATE

There will be a debate at Cross Roads school house 1 1-2 miles south of Thorsby, on Saturday evening, June 14, beginning at 8 p.m. Subject for debate, "Resolved, that the world is growing worse." Speakers for the affirmative, Messrs. R. A. Smith and J. L. Yates; for the negative, Messrs. W. C. Weldon and E. E. Smith.

Everybody is invited to come and hear this important subject discussed.

A Nervous Woman Finds Relief After Many Years

Women who suffer from extreme nervousness, often endure much suffering before finding any relief. Mrs. Daniel Kintner, of Defiance, O., had such an experience, regarding which she says:

"I had stomach trouble when I was eighteen years old that broke down my health, and for years I suffered with nervousness, headache, indigestion and nervous spasms. The spasms got so bad I would have them three or four times a week. After trying nearly every remedy recommended, I began taking Dr. Miles' Nervine, and I must say it helped me wonderfully. I have had no severe nervousness for several years."

MRS. DAN KINTNER,
1002 Pleasant St., Defiance, O.

Many remedies are recommended for diseases of the nervous system that fail to produce results because they do not reach the seat of the trouble. Dr. Miles' Nervine has proven its value in such cases so many times that it is unnecessary to make claims for it. You can prove its merits for yourself by getting a bottle of your druggist, who will return the price if you receive no benefit.

The Brilliant Stars of June.

By the end of June, Mars, Venus Saturn and Jupiter will all be morning stars, but Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is at all times the "Star" medicine for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. A cold in June is as apt to develop into bronchitis or pneumonia as at any other time, but not is Foley's Honey and Tar Compound if taken. Alred Drug Co.

VOTING CONTEST CLOSES TUESDAY, JUNE 10

A Few More Days in Which to Work for the Beautiful Piano—Last Struggle for the Capital Prize Now at its Height—Other Prizes.

There are now but a few more days in which the candidates engaged in the Press' popular voting contest have to work for the several prizes offered. The voting comes to an end on June 10, at 4 o'clock and immediately thereafter the count will be commenced to see who shall be declared the winner of the splendid Obermeyer piano and the other beautiful and useful articles offered to those who are making an endeavor to land the premiums. It is not believed by those who have given the matter careful thought that any particular person has the grand prize cinched at the present time but there are several in the race who have a chance to land it if they only will hustle.

If you have not seen the fine piano offered in this contest go to Block Millinery Co's store and take a look. Many of our citizens have examined the instrument as to its quality and appearance and there is yet the first one to say that it is not a fine one. It is of a plain rich mahogony, and a prettier piano was never unloaded at Clanton. Musicians in this vicinity have tested it as to its quality of tone and every one of them say it is finer than silk.

There are several young ladies who appear to have the best of the contest but none of them have a sure clinch of being the ultimate owner of the first prize. If one of these [contestants who is way down the list should take it into her head that she was going to win the big premium she could do so. She would have to do little work to gain it, but that was what was expected when the contest opened. Several bunches of seven new subscribers or renewals in the groups of seven would put the lowest candidate in the race up among the leaders.

For those who wish to vote without any competitor seeing them the Press desires to state that cash with your subscription, telling where the paper is to be sent and to whom the votes shall be given can be placed in an envelope and deposited in the bank. The judges will open these envelopes as soon as they start to count and will credit all votes including bonus votes. In order to secure bonus votes on merchants' coupons they must be counted in the Press office before being counted.

Miss Boshie McKee was in the lead at the last count. Several others are well to the front and are putting forth every effort on the home stretch to win the coveted prize. Either of these ladies can land the prize if they will take the time to get out and solicit new subscriptions and renewals. Every bunch of seven new subscriptions means 12,200 votes and seven renewals will bring 9,500 votes and the way to win is to get these new subscriptions and renewals, as they count up rapidly and they carry with them the big bonus offers which contestants should be seeking.

From now on until [the close of the contest, which will be on June 10th, we will give the following bonuses. These will positively be the last bonus offers, and they will hold good until the contest closes.

For every 7 new subscribers 8000 extra votes, making a total of 12200.

For every seven renewal subscriptions we [will give 6,000 extra votes, making a total of 9500 votes.

For every seven back subscriptions we will give 4000 extra votes, making a total of 6,800.

For every three 5-year, new or renewal subscriptions 25000 extra votes, making a total of 40,000 votes.

The three 5 [year subscriptions may be one, two or three parties.

For every 40 merchants' coupons brought to this office and counted by the publisher or his assistants, a bonus 1000 extra votes will be given, a total of 2,000 in all.

For every two 20 year subscriptions, new or renewal 75,000 extra votes, a total of 135,000 votes.

Tuesday, June 10th, the voting will cease and the final count will be made that evening. This is but a short time ahead and it is worth the while of the candidates to get out among the people and work like Trojans from now until the ballot box is closed at 4 o'clock in the afternoon of the day mentioned. No ballots will be received after 4 o'clock under any circumstances, no matter who may have them or what excuse they may present for not getting them in at the proper time.

The contest is on a square and there is to be a fair field and no favorites.

All bonus votes that are to be cast must be accompanied by the number of coupons stated on the bonus or the bonus votes will not be counted or allowed to be given to the contestants.

Remember that there are many handsome prizes given by various merchants around town, a list of which may be found below. After the piano has been awarded, the next contestant has first choice of the other prizes, the next one has the second choice and so on until all are claimed.

Merchants' coupons, counting 25 votes, can be procured with each cash purchase amounting to one dollar at

HOW TO HAVE GOOD DIRT ROADS

In hope of awakening an interest in the territory served by its lines, the L. & N. Railroad published and distributed the initial article by D. Ward King, on the Split Log Drag. The result was so encouraging that a subsequent article by the same author on the same subject entitled "How To Have Good Dirt Roads" is now submitted in the hope of further stimulating the interest in the improvement of wagon roads in the rural districts, especially where it is a difficult matter to secure the construction of macadam roads.

The importance of Good Roads is so paramount as to need but little argument. The cost of transporting agricultural products to railroad lines over inferior wagon roads is proportionately much greater than the cost of the transportation by railroad to the markets. If the dirt roads are properly cared for, the macadam will come in time. It is usually the case that the community that will not attempt to keep up a poor road will never keep up a good one.

It is not pretended that in thus endeavoring to enlist interest in the "Good Roads Movement" the Railroad Company is wholly disinterested. The Railroad Company has spent very large sums of money in constructing railroads, and expects to expend more, but the management is much alive to the need of good wagon roads; first, for their direct and immediate benefit to the people; second, as being essential to the development of traffic upon which must depend the success of its railroads. Only when the one is supplemented by the other can the greatest good be obtained from either.

A copy of "How To Have Good Dirt Roads" will be cheerfully mailed free to any individual who really expects to devote thought and attention to the development of dirt roads in his community. Application should be made to Mr. G. A. Park, General Immigration and Industrial Agent, Louisville & Nashville Railroad Co., Louisville, Ky. Your name and address should be plainly written to avoid delay or mistake in mailing.

MONUMENT TO HEROES UNVEILED

WAS IMPOSING CEREMONY

Impressive Ceremonies Mark Unveiling of Memorial Shaft at Entrance to Central Park.

New York.—In memory of the two hundred and sixty-seven officers and men who were lost with the battleship Maine in Havana harbor 15 years ago, the National Maine monument was dedicated here. From a dozen American warships, units of the Atlantic fleet at anchor in the Hudson river, a salute of 252 guns echoed from the Palisades as the veil was swept aside that revealed the country's tribute—a pylon 40 feet high, that stands in Central park, overlooking Columbus Circle.

Noted citizens spoke words of praise for the dead heroes of the war with Spain and for those who live. Former President Taft, the secretary of the navy, the governors of Maine and New York, representatives of the Cuban republic and others took part in the exercises.

A military parade along Fifth avenue preceded the ceremonies at the monument. Headed by Rear Admiral Winslow, the grand marshal, 5,000 soldiers and sailors, including the veterans of two wars, marched through a lane formed by many thousands of holiday sightseers. American infantry, artillery, navy yard marines, bluejackets from the battleships, state militia, calvary, civil and Spanish war veterans, Cuban troopers and sailors from the Cuba, the island republic's naval representative—these and others were in the line of march.

"My thoughts will be very much with you, as will, I am sure, the thoughts of the whole counrty," the president wrote. "All Americans must look back to the tragedy of the Maine with the profoundest sentiments of sorrow for the fine men who then so tragically and unexpectedly lost their lives and must always feel that to have been one of the turning points of our consciousness of what was involved in the struggle for human liberty."

NATIONS FAVOR PEACE PLAN

Responses From Italy, Great Britain, Brazil, France and Other Countries.

Washington.—Secretary Bryan signified the day commemorative of the country's hero dead by announcing that eight nations have responded favorably to his peace plan, asking that suggestions be submitted in regard to details. The nations in the order in which they have accepted are Italy, Gerat Britain, France, Brazil, Sweden, Norway, Peru and Russia.

Secretary Bryan said that no nation to whom his peace plan was submitted had replied adversely, although some had asked more time

To each of the governments expressing a willingness to enter into the agreement, a tentative statement has been submitted embodying details suggested by the president. The secretary, pointing out that this statement was submitted for consideration, with no intention of insistence upon any particular detail, declined to make public its contests.

Thompson Minister to Colombia.

Washington.—Thad A. Thompson, a wealthy and prominent business man of Austin, Texas, has been selected for United States minister to Colombia, to succeed James T. Dubois. Mr. Thompson was a delegate to the Baltimore convention and has been an active worker in the Democratic ranks. He is a personal friend of Postmaster General Burleson. The controversy between the United States and Colombia over the partition of Panama from the latter country Mr. Thompson will have to handle. Secretary Bryan declared, after having had several conferences with Senor Betancourt, Colombian minister here, that negotiations looking to an agreement with the South American republic would not be begun until a minister had been selected.

Cyclone in Virginia.

Norfolk, Va.—Accompanied by rain and hail, a cyclonic-like wind storm passed over this section and a number of lives are reported lost. Twenty houses were blown down in Berkeley and South Norfolk, but no lives were lost so far as known. Mrs. George Harper was seriously injured when her home in Holly avenue was blown down and a number of others were hurt by falling timbers and flying glass. Scores of small craft were turned over during the storm and several have been carried to sea.

New Grave for Barbara Fritchie.

Frederick, Md.—The body of Barbara Fritchie, heroine of Whittier's poem, and that of her husband, John C. Fritchie, which were recently disinterred from the old Reformed Congregational cemetery here, were deposited in the new mausoleum in Mt. Olivet cemetery. The mausoleum is adjacent to the grave of Frances Scott Key, author of "The Star Spangled Banner." The re-burial was made an occasion for interesting ceremonies. A feature was the recitation of Whittier's poem by Miss Mellora Metz.

MRS. JOSEPHUS DANIELS

Mrs. Daniels, wife of the new secretary of the navy, before her marriage in 1888 was Miss Addie W. Bagley. She has resided most of her life in Raleigh, N. C.

WAR YARNS ARE DENIED

TELEGRAM APPEARS IN JAPANESE PAPERS THAT WAR PREPARATIONS ARE GOING ON

State Department Says Stories That Preparations Are Being Made for Conflict are False.

Washington.—The following statement was issued by the state department:

"The state department has authorized the American embassy at Tokio to deny a San Francisco telegram which appear in Japanese papers the effect that preparations were being made for war and to the effect that troops of artillery were being sent to Hawaii and that the Phillippine garrison was to be increased.

"A few artillerymen have been sent to Hawaii in pursuance of plans adopted before this administration began, but no increase is contemplated in the Phillippine garrison. The changes that have taken place are only the customary exchange of regiments.

San Jose, Cal.—In a letter received by Walter G. Mathewson, secretary of the San Jose Labor council, Governor Hiram V. Johnson declared the anti-alien-land law enacted recently is one of the most drastic laws on the subject ever introduced in the California legislature," and asserted "that any who claims to favor an alien-land law, that will sign a referendum against this law is either an idiot or is bought."

"Every other bill that has been before the legislature for the last eight years," continued the letter, provided in one fashion or another for leasing; and the only two bills seriously discussed during Mr. Bryan't stay here, provided not only for leasing of land, but for the right to purchase and hold for a limited period as well."

POSSE FIGHTS WITH BANDITS

Two Badly Wounded as Result of Attempt to Hold Up Operator.

Cartersville, Ga.—Deputy Sheriff J. P. Gaines of Bartow county, and Frank Nation, an alleged hold-up man, were seriously wounded early in a battle fought between a sheriff's posse and six men, alleged to be bandits, who, only a few minutes before, had demanded "the life of Telegraph Operator Thomas Scorvells or $40. Nation and two other men were captured after 100 shots had been fired in the running battle, which took place at Hugo, a small telegraph station of the Western and Atlantic railroad, six miles from Cartersville.

Mrs. Wilson Fights Slums.

Washington. — Washington's slums will be cleaned out if the influence and active work of the white house family count for anything. Mrs. Wilson has made several quiet trips of inspection through the capital's unsightly alleys, and she has joined other prominent women in attending a meeting of the Woman's Department of the National Civic Federation. There a letter was read from President Wilson approving the movement for wiping out disreputable alleys and providing sanitary homes for the poor.

To Investigate Strike Situation.

Washington.—Over the opposition of ten states' rights democrats from the south, including Senators Bacon and Hoke Smith of Georgia, the senate passed the Kern resolution for an investigation of the West Virginia coal strike situation. Senator Smith, as chairman of the committee on education and labor, in reporting the favorable action of his committee, said he regarded the resolution as of somewhat doubtful propriety, and that it presented an issue "of great seriousness."

ROOSEVELT WINS HIS SUIT FOR LIBEL

EDITOR GOES ON THE STAND AND ADMITS HE DID ROOSEVELT AN INJUSTICE.

NOMINAL DAMAGES AWARDED

Roosevelt Told Jury He Didn't Want Money, But Vindication—Six Cents Damages Awarded.

HIS PURPOSE ACHIEVED, ROOSEVELT IS CONTENT

Colonel Roosevelt's statement to the court was as follows.

"Your honor, in view of the statement of the defendant, I ask the court to instruct the jury that I desire only nomonal damages. I did not go into this case for money. I did not go into it for any vindictive purpose. I went into it, and, as the court said, I made my reputation an issue, because I wised once for all during my lifetime, thoroughly and comprehensively to deal with these slanders, so that never again will it be possible for any man in good faith to repeat them. I have achieved my purpose, and I am content."

Marquette, Mich.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt won his libel suit against George A. Newett, who charged the colonel with drunkenness, and, having waived damages after the defendant had uttered a retraction, the jury awarded the nominal damages of 6 cents, provided in such cases by the laws of Michigan. Each party to the suit will have to pay his own expenses.

When the session began the air was electrical with expectancy. Rumors were flying that the suit would be terminated. Attorney Van Benschoten, for the plaintiff, however, resumed the reading of depositions. It was noticed, however, that he ignored the testimony of some witnesses. The next move was sudden.

The defendant, Mr. Newett was called to the stand and made a statement.

The statement admitted that a search of the country had been made to investigate stories of persons alleged to have knowledge that Mr. Roosevelt drank to excess, but in every case the stories flattened out to mere opinions on hearsay.

Leaving the stand, Mr. Newett looked in the direction of Colonel Roosevelt, but the latter was whispering to his counsel, Attorney Pound then said:

"When the court's permission the plaintiff would like to make a brief announcement."

The judge nodded and Mr. Roosevelt arose. Bowing to the court, the colonel said he would waive the matter of damages save for the nominal amount provided by law. Speaking of his purpose in instituting suit, he said:

"I wished once for all during my lifetime to deal with those slanders so that never again will it be possible for any man in good faith to repeat them."

FEDERAL MONEY FOR BANKS

National Banks in South to Get Nearly $3,000,000 of the $11,581,500.

Washington.—Secretary McAdoo announced the distribution by states of the additional $10,000,000 of federal funds which the treasury department will deposit in the national banks. His statement also discussed the manner in which the banks had received the recent order that 2 per cent. interest yearly be charged on all government deposits.

Under the distribution of the new deposits the thirteen southern states will receive $2,902,000 in 159 banks in 127 cities; the eight middle states, $2,932,000 in 164 banks in 133 cities, and the nine western states, $950,000 in 72 banks and in 60 cities.

Greeks and Bulgars Fighting.

Saloniki.—Although Greek headquarters have strictly enjoined all commanders to avoid engagements, the Bulgarians are trying to push back the Greek forces and several encounters have ensued. The Greek minister at Sofia has been ordered to protest and to inform the Bulgarian government that the Greek government declines responsibility for the results of Bulgarian provocation. A long conference has been held here by the Greek minister at Belgrade, the Servian minister at Athens.

Two Killed By Lightning Bolts.

Macon, Ga.—Mrs. J. C. Thomas and her son, Jesse C. Thomas, Jr., were instantly killed and four other members of the family and a neighbor's child injured by a stroke of lightning which struck the Thomas home, 2 miles north of Jeffersonville, 26 miles from Macon during a severe electrical storm. The injured are J. C. Thomas, Sr., Elliott Thomas, aged 12, and Merreal Kethvin, aged 14 years. The members of the family were gathered on the front porch of their home watching the storm.

BENNETT CLARK

Bennett Clark, son of Speaker Clark, has been appointed parliamentary clerk to the speaker, succeeding Charles C. Grisp of Georgia, who was elected a representative in congress.

YOUNG HEAD OF VETERANS

COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF AND HIS THREE DEPARTMENTAL OFFICERS ARE RE-ELECTED.

Virginia Reel, Followed by Turkey Trot, at Elaborate Ball Given for the Old Soldiers.

Chattanooga, Tenn. — Jacksonville, Fla., was awarded the honor of entertaining the Twenty-fourth annual United Confederate Reunion, and Commander-in-Chief-General Bennett H. Young of Louisville, Ky., with his three departmental commanders, were re-elected at the last important business session of veterans during the present reuion here.

The next reunion went to Jacksonville after more than an hour's deliberation, in which the hospitality and fame of that city, Nashville, Tenn., Houston, Texas, and Tulso, Okla., had been proclaimed by eloquent orators. When a vote was taken Jacksonville received 1,528 votes, Nashville, the nearest opponent, receiving 405. The selection of the Florida city then was made unanimous.

Departmental officers who again will serve under the command of General Young, are Lieutenant General Theodore S. Garnett of Norfolk, commander of the army of North Virginia; Lieutenant General George P. Harrison of Opelika, Ala., commander of the army of Tennessee, and Lieutenant General K. M. Vansandt, of Fort Worth, Texas, commander of the Trans-Mississippi department.

Other features of the reunion program were the impressive ceremonies attendant upon the dedication of handsome monuments at Chickamauga Park by delegations from Florida and Alabama, and the parade of the Sons of Confederate Veterans. A joint memorial service in honor of the Confederate dead also was held in the auditorium, at which representatives from the veterans and all other organizations attending the reunion took part.

Stilwell Sentenced to Four Years.

New York.—Former State Senator Stephen K. Stilwell, convicted of bribery by a jury, after he had been exonerated by the New York state senate, was sentenced to serve not less than four years nor more than eight in Sing Sing prison. Supreme Court Justice Seabury granted a stay of execution, so Stillwell's lawyers might apply for a certificate of reasonable doubt. Stillwell, state senator from the Bronx, was convicted of attempting to obtain $3,500 from George H. Kendall, president of the New York Bank Note company.

Hanged Himself in Orchard.

Roanoke, Va.—W. J. Miller, 60 years old, whose home is near Bedford, Va., committed suicide at six o'clock in the morning by hanging himself to a tree in his orchard. His body was found by members of his family before life was extinct, and although he lived for fifteen minutes after being cut down, never regained consciousness. Miller's destruction was deliberate. He climbed to the topmost branches of the tree, tied the rope securely and jumped. He died from strangulation.

Herreshoff to Build Another Defender.

Bristol, R. I.—"Nat" Herreshoff, designer of many successful defenders of the American cup, probably will build a candidate for the defense of the cup next year against Sir Thomas Lipton. A syndicate, made up of Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt, C. Oliver Iselin and other older members of the New York Yacht club, will furnish the funds. That Mr. Herreshoff has expressed a willingness to accept a commission from the syndicate was learned on his return from New York after a long conference.

MAY MAKE CHANGE IN UNDERWOOD BI

MEAT AND FLOUR NOT ON FREE LIST OF THE SENA SUBCOMMITTEE.

TO LEVY NOMINAL DUT

Important Alteration Determined by Subcommittee — Oat Meal R Not Determined.

Washington.—Meats and flour not go on the free list in the demo ic tariff law if recommendation of senate finance subcommittee in ch of the agricultural schedule is ac ed. This important alteration of Underwood bill as it passed the h was determined upon by subcommittee composed of Sena Williams, Shively and Gore. It decided, in carrying out the deter tion to perfect the Underwood bi equalizing raw materials and products, that it would be wise levy nominal duties on meats flour products than to put live and grain on the free list.

In accordance with this decision subcommittee took from the free fresh meats—beef, mutton and po and made them dutiable at 10 per ad valorem. Wheat flour was rec to the dutiable list at the specific of 45 cents a barrel, with other products at 10 per cent. ad valor and the Underwood duty on oats reduced from 10 cents per bushel 6 cents per bushel with a compe tory duty on oatmeals said to be proximately 5 per cent. ad valorem.

This rate on oatmeal was not d nitely determined, but it is assu that the recommendation will be take oatmeal from the free list. C tle, sheep and hogs will be left as they are in the proposed bill, dutiable 10 per cent. ad valorem, and the Underwood duty of 10 cents a bushel wheat will stand.

These recommendations will made to the finance committee this week or early next week, and senators who propose the change lieve it will have the approval of majority members and also of the ocratic caucus.

JAPAN ACCEPTS PEACE PLAN

Viscount Chinda Gives Formal Notification of Action to Secretary Bryan.

Washington.—Viscount Chinda, Japanese ambassador, called upon retary Bryan with formal notifica that Japan had accepted in princ the proposed plan advanced by United States for universal peace

Signatories of the treaty proposed Mr. Bryan's plan would agree to frain from hostilities for a period at least nine months while any c flicting claims were under consid tion by an international joint com sion. In the case of Japan, as the ten other nations that have ceived the proposal favorably, the sponse applies solely to the ge principle involved, and none has c mitted itself to approval of any details of the project. Therefore, may be many months before the tative draft of the convention, w Mr. Bryan submitted to the var embassies and legations can be duced to a form which will rec their unqualified approval.

The statement by the Japanese bassador that his government prepared to give careful considera to the peace proposal has no bea whatever upon the negotiations now progress between countries regard the California alien land legislation.

AVERAGE COTTON YIELD INDICATED

COTTON PEST IS AT WORK

Will Cause a Decrease in Acreage of 50 Per cent. in Baldwin County.

Montgomery.—While farmers all over the state say it is yet much too early to make accurate predictions regarding the coming cotton crop, indications point to an average yield in Alabama, despite the unusually dry weather of the past month. The dry weather had one good result—cotton is well chopped, and fields generally are clean.

Northern Alabama is beginning to raise more cotton. Reports from Talladega, Russell, DeKalb, Etowah, Colbert and other northern and northeastern counties, are reporting increased acreage, ranging from 5 per cent. to 15 per cent. and "very material increase." In all of these counties reports are that the outlook for a good crop is bright, despite the fact that sections of Colbert report the crop twenty to thirty days late on account of cool nights.

Decreased acreage is reported in Wilcox county, where the early spring cyclone demoralized farmers and farming generally in that section. The crop in Pickens county is reported late, as is the report from Shelby and Lowndes counties.

In only one county are farmers discouraged—in Baldwin county. Here the early appearance of the boll weevil has caused a decrease of fully 50 per cent. in acreage, and farmers are turning their attention to other crops. Reports from Bay Minette, county seat, are especially gloomy. Escambia county reports the weevil, though farmers are not discouraged.

In the Black Belt, Marengo, Sumter and Perry counties especially, there is to be found a marked decrease in acreage from that of the previous year, and there has been considerable replanting in Marengo. Southeast Alabama generally is also reporting a decrease in acreage, due to the coming of the boll weevil. Dallas county reports excellent land preparation and a good crop with a slight decrease in some localities.

Cotton which has already come to a stand, and over the state it is estimated that fully 95 per cent. has done so, is reported in good condition.

From all parts of the state come reports that the exceedingly dry weather of the past month has caused considerable replanting, but that the dry weather has been beneficial in that it has given the farmer ample opportunity to clean out his fields is noted. Weather conditions have been excellent during the past week in South and Southeast Alabama while in North Alabama the mornings have been too cool, following exceedingly cool nights.

DR. SANDERS IS NOT OFFICIAL.

Cannot Be Forced to Repay His Salary Increase Into Treasury.

Montgomery.—Dr. W. H. Sanders, health officer of Alabama, is not a state official and the state cannot force him to return $2,333.10 alleged to have been collected by him in excess salaries in violation of the constitution which says that no state official's salary shall be increased or diminished during his term.

Gaston Gunter, judge of the city court, made this ruling when he sustained a demurrer to a suit entered by the state. The state alleged that Dr. Sanders had no right to receive $5,000 a year, although his salary was increased from $4,200 by the state board of health and that in the meaning of the constitution he was a state official.

The defendant's demurrer alleged that that he was an employe of the board of health and not subject to the constitutional section. Consideration of the demurrer was taken up by agreement and Judge Gunter immediately ruled in favor of the defendant. The state will appeal to the supreme court.

ALABAMA WEEKLIES UNITE

Form Association at Gadsden to Assist Each Other in Matters of Business Interest.

Gadsden.—The North Alabama Press association was formed at the Hotel Printup. The weeklies of North Alabama were represented at the meeting, which had been called by the Gadsden Evening Journal. G. A. VerBeck of Gadsden was elected president, and C. G. Fennell of the Guntersville Democrat, secretary-treasurer.

A committee composed of Thomas H. Smith of the Fort Payne Journal, H. H. Smith of the Collinsville Courier, and T. H. Shropshire of the Coosa River News, Center, was named to draft a constitution and by-laws. Politics was tabooed at the meeting, and only subjects of interest to the business offices of the weeklies were discussed. The object of the association is to co-operate in buying material, in securing foreign advertising, in getting and holding circulation, and in the establishment of business principles in the newspaper office.

AUBURN COMMENCEMENT.

Thirty Per Cent. of Graduates Attend Home-Coming Week.

BRYAN UNABLE TO SPEAK AT AUBURN.

Washington, D. C.—Mr. Bryan with great reluctance was compelled to cancel his engagement to speak at Auburn on June 3, owing to unexpected developments in the diplomatic negotiations with Japan. It is said that Mr. Bryan did not feel that it would be propor for him to leave Washington.

Auburn.—Drawn together by insegarable ties, old "grads" gathered here to renew old acquaintances, exchange reminiscences and celebrate with pride the ever-widening influence of their Alma Mater.

Fully 30 per cent of the graduates were present and in addition hundreds of former students who did not complete their college course witnessed the exercises.

The following is the program as previously announced:

Sunday, June 1, 11 a. m.—Commencement sermon by Rt. Rev. Beverly Dandridge Tucker, Coadjutor Bishop of Virginia, Lynchburg, Va.; 8 p. m., evening sermon, Rt. Rev. Beverly Dandridge Tucker, Coadjutor Bishop of Virginia, Lynchburg, Va.

Monday, June 2, 10:30 a. m.—General home-coming welcome, Governor Emmet O'Neal, W. R. Terry, Esq., President Charles C. Thach and others; 4 p. m., regimental review by His Excellency, Governor Emmet O'Neal and staff; 8 p. m., Festival of Lights and reception by the president and faculty.

Tuesday, June 3, 10 a. m.—Address, Hon. William Jennings Bryan, 1 to 4:30 p. m.; Alumni banquet; 5 p. m., Alumni parade; 5:30 p. m., Alumni oration by Wm. M. Williams, Esq., '96, Montgomery, Ala.

Wednesday, June 4th, 10 a. m.—Commencement address, Edward Alsworth Ross, Ph. D., LL. D., Madison, Wis. Conferring of degrees by the president.

DISCREPANCIES ALLEGED

Superintendent of Education of Blount County Said to Be Indebted to State $30,000.

Montgomery—Alleged Discrepancies amounting to $30,875.94 are said to have been found in the books and accounts of Sam Ingram, county superintendent of education of Blount county, according to a report of Examiner of Public Accounts J. T. Gorman, filed with Governor O'Neal.

This indebtedness of the superintendent of education, it was stated, accrued as a result of the official's failure to comply with the law requiring monthly reports from the various teachers in the county. The examiner showed an itemized statement of the pay roll which the superintendent had drawn from the county treasurer for a period extending from October, 1911, to March, 1913.

DELINQUENT AUTO OWNERS

State Tax Commission Seeks Aid of County Officials in Collection Campaign.

Montgomery.—Sheriffs and county tax commissioners have been requested by the state tax commission to assist in the collection of the automobile license fees, which are due throughout the state. A letter to this effect was mailed by the state commission.

In the letter the commission calls attention to the fact that the sheriffs and tax commissioners are entitled to receive ten per cent. commission for making the collections.

REFUSE TO DISCARD THE "TROT"

Half the Joy of Living Is Fancy Dancing, Say Montgomery Girls.

Montgomery—Seventy-five young ladies of Montgomery have decreed that their dances shall not be regulated by rules of established clubs ,and they have organized a club which will allow one to dance the turkey-trot, the bunny-hug, tango, Boston or any other step that one might want to try. They say that half the joy of living is in dancing the turkey-trot and they were forced to organize a club of their own or continue to dance the waltz and two-step that have become obsolete and commonplace.

SIX TAKE COURSE OF STUDY.

Officers Are Named by Adjutant General J. B. Scully.

Montgomery.—Six officers of the Alabama Field Artillery have been designated by Adjutant General Joseph B. Scully to take a course of study at the Militia Field Artillery School, to be held by the government at Tobyhanna, Pa., from July 1st to 15th. The adjutant general's recommendations have been sent to the war department.

While General Scully has not given out the names of the six officers whom he has recommended to the war department for a course of study at the government militia artillery school, it is understood that Major E. S. Dorrance, commander of the first battalion of field artillery, Alabama National Guard, is one of the officers designated. The Militia Field Artillery school was held last year at Fort Riley, Kan., and two officers of the State artillery took the course of study. The school will be conducted by regular army officers.

RIDERVILLE

The closing exercises Friday evening of the public school ended one of the most successful years in the school. The splendid program which was so well rendered bespeaks much credit to our teacher, Mr. J. H. Morrow, assisted by Mrs. J. W. Peeples and Mrs. J. E. Mattison.

Each child showed marked training and the audience was highly entertained. The music furnished by Miss Willie Mae Parnell, a gifted musician from the A. G. T. I., was very much appreciated.

The trustees of the school and the citizens held a meeting Saturday evening, at which was discussed plans for carrying on a nine months school each year. The people of Riderville are thoroughly awake on the question of education, and special mention is made of the untiring efforts of the manager of the E. E. Jackson Lumber Co. to have good schools for the children of their employees.

The District Sunday School Convention will be held with the Riderville church next Sunday. A splendid program has been arranged and all who attend may expect to hear something worth their while.

The friends of Mrs. J. W. Peeples will be glad to know she is convalescent and will soon be out again.

Mrs. Carter from Billingsley is the house guest of her brother, Mr. Moody Rasberry.

Mrs. J. D. Cunningham will leave tomorrow for Tuscaloosa, to attend a reception given by Miss Stella Grimes in honor of the Grimes-Avery bridal party.

Miss Annie McArthur, our efficient postmistress, is spending her vacation with relatives in Birmingham and Jemison.

SAMARIA

There will be an all-day singing at this place on Sunday, June 15. The new song books will be used. All singers and lovers of music are invited to come and bring a well filled basket.

FINAL COUNT MADE.

ANO CONTEST CLOSES AND THE PRIZES AWARDED.

Notwithstanding the fact that e editor was knocked out in the nal count and the judges selected make the awards failed to ap- ar at the hour announced for e counting of the votes, the con- t came to a close Tuesday af- rnoon and the awards were ade by those who certify to the rrectness of the count.

The Press, while rejoicing that e contest has come to a close ngratulates itself that there was friction or ill feeling engender- during the entire time the con- t was on. Nothing but intense l and friendly rivalry marked e progress of the contest from ginning to end.

Some of the prizes awarded re secured without much effort the part of the fortunate ones hile others worked vigorously d tirelessly from the very be- ning to the close of the con- st.

It has enabled the Press to an- unce to its friends and patrons t it now has the largest bona- le circulation of any country ekly in this section and that as advertising medium it is sur- ssed by no other paper in cen- l Alabama; merchants should r this in mind when making ntracts for advertising space. e Press goes into more homes d is read by more people than y other paper within a trading ins of Chilton county.

There are some, perhaps, who l find fault with the manner in ich the contest was conducted— t is but natural; some will think t the Press man assisted certain ndidates—that has already been rged against us, but we venture e assertion that not one of the ree winners will say that favor- sm was shown in any whatever. e contest was conducted with l fairness to all; the Press n did not appear at the final unt but turned the whole affair er to those who had no interest atever in the contest and abid- their count; no ticket or coupon s placed in the box by any one nected with the newspaper ex- t in the presence of those who e entitled to receive them. erything was conducted with e and fairness. We wish sin- ely, that it had been possible each contestant to have been arded a piano, but since one y could win the grand prize we st that the others will feel that y have been fully repaid for r efforts. The Press sincerely eciates the labor of those who ked so magnificently to make contest a success; we are go- to make the paper better than r and hope to hold the esteem ery one who is now a sub- ber and to gain the regard of any more.

MISS McKEE WINS.

To the untiring efforts of Miss bia McKee is due her success nning the piano; she worked the very beginning till the e of the hour when the final t was made; she brought in re than a hundred new sub- ptions (new and renewals) and tells the tale; the number of chant coupons was not as large we had expected, but it was fficiently large to gain for some e which otherwise they would have secured. Some prizes e awarded to successful con- ants who did not bring in a new subscription—they in- were fortunate; others who bring in new subscriptions by the wayside and were un- cessful in securing prizes.

MISS MAUDE CHILDRESS a close second and deserves praise for her untiring ef- had it not been for her zeal perhaps the contest would not have been so successful, nor would the interest have been so intense. If it were within the power of the Press she too would have an elegant piano, for she certainly devoted her time and energy to the contest and her reward should be great.

Below we give the list of the successful contestants as ascertained by the counters on Tuesday afternoon.

They are listed in the order in which they come; the first, or highest contestant is entitled to first choice of all the prizes, the next highest to second choice, the next to third choice and so on till all the prizes have been delivered; there are eight prizes in all, not counting the piano, so that nine young ladies are made happy by the contest; we hope the successful ones will call at the Press offices and secure certificates which will enable them to claim their prizes; of course we cannot tell which prize the second highest contestant will claim, or any of the others as for that, hence, we cannot give out certificates till all have put in their claim.

The final vote stands as follows:

Miss Boshia McKee,	:	788,825
Miss Maude Childress,		635,675
Mrs. M. A. Messer,	:	228,300
Miss Beulah Vance,	:	144,200
Mrs. G. C. Vance,	:	127,300
Mrs. Julia Kendrick,	:	121,900
Miss Rosa Lambert,	:	89,550
Miss Grace Williams,	:	82,375
Miss Delane Pierce,	:	27,775

We, the undersigned, judges and counters, hereby certify the above is a true and correct list of the votes deposited in the box in the piano contest, and that we counted the same correctly and carefully.

THE UNITY-CHILTON BAPTIST HIGH SCHOOL

The Committees appointed by the Unity and Chilton County Baptist Associations to investigate the advisability of building a Baptist High School somewhere in this section of the country, composed of W. M. Olive, T. E. Williams, Judge E. B. Deason, W. H. Conway, W. J. Billingsley, J. J. Stanley, and P. G. Maness, having located the school at Thorsby, Alabama, met at the Court House on Friday night, June 6th, for the purpose of making definite plans for opening the school. The following committees were appointed: Building Committee, Committee on Faculty, and Rev. W. M. Olive was selected as Field Secretary and J. J. Stanley, Treasurer of the school. The first session will begin on Sept. 9, 1913.

MRS. GUY HIGGINS' ENTERTAINMENT.

One of the most brilliant of the many delightful affairs for which Miss Evelyn Richardson has been the inspiration was the party at which Mr. and Mrs. Guy Higgins entertained on Friday evening in her home. This magnificent home was made most attractive by electric lights, cut flowers and ferns.

The string band furnished sweet strains of music throughout the entire evening enticing the guests to the porch where delicious fruit nectar was served.

Always a charming hostess, Mrs. Higgins made the young people catch the spirit of her gracious hospitality. She was very handsomely gowned in a white lace robe over white satin, and was assisted in receiving by her charming sister, Mrs. Foshee, of Birmingham, who was attired in a handsome chantilly lace over pink satin.

The petite beauty of the honoree was enhanced by an exquisite gown of melrose charmeuse.

A very charming feature of the evening was a Dicken's romance, which was most enthusiastically enjoyed by the young people.

Miss Lillian Wells received the ladies prize, a silver picture frame, for the highest score, and Mr. Joe Vandeveer the gentlemen's prize, a handsome scarf pin

The consolation prize, a leather bound volume of Dickens' Christmas Carols fell to Miss Ruth Kate Mullins. The guest prize, a beautiful bird pin was presented to Miss Pearl Cook, after a cut with other visitors.

A very delicious ice course frozen into various forms of flowers and fruit was served in the evening.

JEFFERSON DAVIS.

[At the observance of Jefferson Davis 105th birthday at Mt. Creek, Ala., the following poem, written by Mrs. Cora Taylor and read by Capt. J. M. Simpson, was much appreciated by the old veterans present on the occasion:] —W. P. T.

BY MRS. CORA TAYLOR, Montgomery, Ala.

The soft winds monotonous sobbing was heard through the forests of pine,
The leaves of the woodland were quivering, with pain little short of sublime.
And, the mountain tops off in the distance, were circled by halos of mist,
That dissolved into tears of bright beauty, and vanished beneath the sun's kiss.

In a log cabin down in the valley, well sheltered from toil and from stress,
A little lad wrapped in deep slumber, lay close to his mother's breast.
Lay close, oh, so close, in a nearness that filled all her nature with joy,
For she knew all the bliss of God's angels, as she kissed the wee face of her boy.

Her "boy," the dear man-child, God-given, to brighten her heart and her home!
Thank God that the future was hidden and lost in impenetrable gloom!
And the love of the mother admonished and guarded the growing babe,
Guiding the footsteps of boy and man, with honor unstained to the grave.

This dear little lad of the valley, with his task in the world still to do,
Imbibed from the rugged old mountain the strength to endure and be true.
For Nature, the hardy old Mother, the weak and the maimed casts aside,
For what would survive, must endure her mad moods, whether sunshine or tempest betide!

Upheaval and death in the distance, on the dim far horizon loomed high;
But why fear the terror of tempest or flood, when the rivers about us are dry?
But the muttering storm has grown nearer, and the light'ning is seen far away,
A faint sense of fear has o'er-shadowed the land, tho' the people are happy and gay.

The years' gliding by, only deepened the tragic unrest in the land,
'Till it burst with a clash of wild fury, and WAR bellowed forth its demand!
And the sons of the South with gay valor, gave as ever, swift heed to alarms,
With full hearts selected their leader, and rallied, a vast host, to arms!

And, that little lad born in the valley, nestled close to his fond mother's side,
Was the one chosen to lead them; grown strong in his manhood and pride,
His spirit grew faint with emotion, for the honor was great, and the care
Required for the fiery young nation, seemed more than his courage could dare.

The long, bitter years that succeeded, tried his soul to its uttermost deep,
Impotent to save, heartsick, weary, he sat the vigils to keep.
The God, whom he trusted, had failed him! his armies were scattered and worn,
The homes, once so fair and so happy, sheltered lives that were bleeding and torn!

The great soul was crushed in the conflict! his courage had turned to despair!
His country was conquered and o'er ridden, the women o'er burdened with care.
Surrounded by war's desolation, he stood, a grim figure of fate,
'Midst the ruins of hope and ambition, the foe's silent victim of hate!

MRS. MULLINS' ENTERTAINMENT.

Miss Evelyn Richardson was feted on Wednesday evening and shared honors with Miss Cook, of Mississippi and Miss Wells, of Washington, at a heart-dice party given by her cousin Mrs. J. Renfro Mullins on Fourth avenue, who entertained most delightfully.

Five tables were arranged for the games. Delicious punch was served by Marnell and, Kathaleen Mullins. Mrs. Mullins made an ideal hostess and looked very charming in a costume of pink.

Miss Richardson, whose presence has added charm to the social affairs given in her honor was indeed lovely in a gown of white voile draped over pink satin—her flowers were Richmond roses.

Miss Cook, a lovely girl of brunette type, was handsomely gowned in a hand-painted blue chiffon over blue satin.

Miss Wells, a very attractive young lady, looked very pretty in a costume of white lingerie over pink satin.

Fragrant jardinieres made each room attractive.

In the dining room the table was centered with a basket of gorgeous white blossoms from which each guest drew for the consolation prize a beautiful carnation hat pin which fell to Miss Pearl Cook.

In the games, the first prize, a lovely hand-painted hair bandeau was won by Miss Wells.

The guest prize, a hand-painted ivory fan was presented to Miss Richardson, for which she cut with Miss Wells and Miss Cook.

After the games delicious ices were served.

COULD CLANTON WIN?

WITHOUT WATER OR SEWERAGE, NO! READ, IT'S INTERESTING.

Out in the great state of Texas is published a magazine called Holland's; it is a hustling, booming Southern magazine fit for the library table of any Southern home, particularly that of the farmers.

It has a spirit that is indeed commendable. In its last issue it tells the smaller cities, towns and villages of Texas and Oklahoma that it proposes to donate to the three localities in Texas and two localities in Oklahoma, absolutely free of all cost, a sanitary drinking fountain for each of the public schools of the five towns which present the cleanest appearance upon examination by expert sanitary officials on and after August 1st of this year.

The idea is not to enlarge the circulation of the magazine so much as it is to instill a spirit of civic pride and to its part in effectually cheeking the spread of infectious and contagious diseases by a system of "clean-up-your town" spirit. Heretofore the Hollsnds have given away in cash prizes many thousands of dollars to Texas towns and cities in these competitive "clean-up" contests and it is now extending its campaign into other states; perhaps it will soon reach Alabama—who can tell?

Now get it out of your cranium that the Press is knocking Clanton or even attempting to do so; we are actuated by no such impulse; our desire is to assist in every way possible to make ours the best and the cleanest town in the state. We have always labored along these lines, but sometimes it is necessary to state truths very plainly in order to command attention. Up in Cullman the two papers are continually hammering about the filthiness of that town; it has gained a state wide reputation as a dirty town because of the notoriety the papers have given it—the home papers, we mean. We do not believe in this method of campaigning; it does no good so far as we can see and attracts undesirable criticism; our plan is to call the attention of the home folks to these things and to appeal to them to "do things" without giving too much publicity to the act itself.

But, this is extraneous. Clanton cannot hope to be a clean town till it secures a sewerage system and water works; the town will always be more or less subject to contagion and infection till those two important factors in the health department are established; we could not, of course, hope to win even a third or fourth prize in a "clean up" contest 'till we have secured water and sewerage, but the thing to which we wish to call attention is that Holland's offers its prizes to towns with a population as small as 1250; this shows that these towns in Texas and Oklahoma have sewerage and water systems otherwise they could not compete. Surely if Texas and Oklahoma towns so small can have these necessities Clanton can secure them if she WOULD.

However, look over the rules under which the contests are conducted and determine for yourself if Clanton could possibly secure a prize were a contest instituted in Alabama. If you decide she could not then, ask yourself why not, and whose fault it is that she could not? Are you in any way to blame? If so why not remedy the fault? Is it necessary that a prize be offered you in order to induce you to help keep your town clean and your family healthy? If you say your family is not healthy can you vouch for its future health under present conditions? If you say you are doing your part but that your neighbors are not, then stop a moment and see if in reality you are doing your part by permitting your neighbor to keep a filthy lot, garden, yard, stable or pig pen to breed disease which may attack your family without entering a vigorous protest?

But to the rules, read them and decide for yourself if we could secure a prize and if you determine that we could not, then lets determine that such conditions shall exist no longer; lets so align ourselves that should such a competive contest be inaugurated then Clanton could easily take the first prize. Its WORTH the trial even without a prize; we ought not to wait for such a stimulus, we should do it as a matter of civic pride and as a protection to our loved ones. The rules and the marks of inspection set by Holland's magazine would be an excellent code of rules for any town whether competing for a prize or not—the keeping of them inviolate would bring health, happiness and prosperity to any town. LETS TRY THEM IN CLANTON!

RULES FOR ENTRIES.

All applications for entry must reach the office of Holland's Magazine before July 1, 1913. No town will be considered in the contest unless properly entered according to the rules. A list of the entries will be published in the August issue of Holland's and all towns desiring to enter should send in their applications as early as possible.

No protest relative to the entry or classification of any town will be considered unless received by July 27. No fees of any kind for any purpose will be required at any time during the contest.

INSPECTIONS.

Inspections of the towns entered will begin August 1, 1913, and will be continued until all of the towns in the contest have been inspected and scored. To decide between towns making close scores second and even third inspections may be made.

No information will be given as to date on which any town may be visited by inspectors. All towns must be ready for inspection without warning on and after Aug. 1.

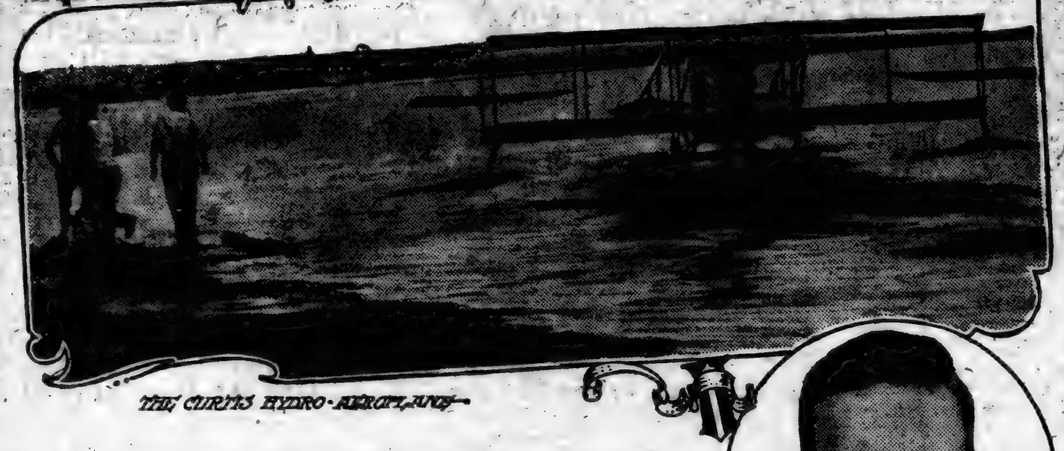
Each town entering the contest will be inspected and scored on the following points:

Conditions of Streets, Parks and Alleys.
Water, Water Supply and Drainage.
Collection and Disposal of Garbage.
Removal and Disposal of Sewerage.
Condition of Vaults and Privies (if no sewer system.)
Conditions of Vacant Lots.
General Appearance of Homes.
Ventilation and Care of Public Buildings and Semi-Public Builings.
Public Conveniences, especially those for schools.
Presence of flies, mosquitoes and other disease-carrying insects.
Handling and exposure of meat, fruit, pickles, ice, milk and milk products, and other food products offered for sale.
Such special conditions as may directly affect the health or cleanliness of a town.

All inspections will be made wholly at the expense of Holland's Magazine and will be under the personal supervision of Dr. M. M. Carrick, medical director in charge.

EVERY TOWN MUST WIN.

Every town in Texas and Oklahoma which enters this competition must be a gainer, whether it wins the prize or not, in health and comfort of its citizens.



To women's clubs and civic organizations having for their object the improvement of their towns we trust the competition will serve as an incentive for increased effort.

The advertising value of any town which may be justly heralded as the cleanest town in its class, we think, should not be overlooked by commercial clubs and similar organizations devoted to commercial and industrial advancement.

Such a town would doubtless

AEROPLANES IN THE NAVY

THE CURTISS HYDRO-AEROPLANE

LIEUTENANT J.H. TOWERS, U.S.N. HEAD OF THE NAVY AVIATION CORPS

WHEN a naval aviator, Lieut. Ellyson was launched in an aeroplane from a catapult recently and his flying machine bore him gracefully aloft without slightest tendency toward stumbling it market an important advance in the use of airships in the navy.

The aeroplane as an adjunct to military operations has already shown its value both in Tripoli and in Turkey. Besides dropping bombs upon Turks and Arabs it has proved of greater usefulness in reconnoitring the position of the enemy. The Bulgarians have gone a step furthers and have used the aeroplane for fire control purposes, enabling the battery commanders of the field guns to train their weapons so as to make them tell most effectively against the Sultan's forces. This matter of fire control is as vital to a navy as to an army in action, especially when the guns of a fleet are searching out the weak spots in the land defences. But heretofore the aeroplane has been less available for navy than for army use.

The catapult tested in Washington is the invention of Captain Chambers of the navy, and is the outcome of various lessons learned while trying to adapt the aeroplane to the needs of the navy. The practicability of sending aeroplanes in flight from a suitable platform on board ship was early demonstrated, but there were various minor problems to be solved. The launching platforms employed were both long and cumbersome. They took up space that would not be available in time of war, and they blocked the fire of some of the guns.

The long runway or sloping platform was therefore prohibitive. With a short track substituted which could be easily and quickly put in place and just speedily demounted and stored out of the way, there arose the question of a means of starting the aeroplane effectively. For this purpose Captain Chambers devised the catapult. For years he had specialized in torpedoes and was familiar with the devices successively tried in getting those weapons overboard from a boat. The catapult tried at Annapolis last summer was a sort of modified torpedo launching outfit of the earlier type, and compressed air was employed to give the initial push.

The trial mechanism was of necessity rather crude, but this fact did not deter Lieutenant Ellyson from subjecting himself in a hydroaeroplane to the extreme shock of the device in order to find out the effects of such a concussion, not only upon the air pilot, but likewise upon the motor attachments and other fittings which might be wrenched loose or deranged That test was entirely satisfactory in its lessons, but the aviator and his machine got a ducking.

The catapult lately tried at the Washington navy yard is devised so that the hydroaeroplane attains its launching speed without violence, and this insures the launching of the machine without fear of deranging any of the apparatus or dislodging the aviator from his seat. The runway or starting track is short and can be put in position in several places on a fighting ship without interfering with the maneuvering of the guns or impeding any other operation of importance.

Of course the demonstration at Washington over the Potomac river under fairly ideal weather conditions is not a counterpart of what may confront the naval aviator at sea, but so far as the actual getting away from the ship is concerned that function can be promised under any circumstances which on shore would warrant an aviator in trying to go up in the air. The other side of the problem is that of returning to the ship again, and here success is likely.

Glenn H. Curtiss has devised a form of float or boat for his hydros which is capable of sustaining the flying machine when waves of considerable size are running, and this will be taken advantage of when the hydroaeroplane returns from its scouting expedition. The aviator will alight with his machine upon the water on the sheltered side of the vessel, and, thus protected from the stronger sweep of wind and wave, the air pilot and his apparatus will be easily hoisted aboard.

Developments in other directions are increasing day by day the reliability of the aeroplane and its value as a military implement. Just as the self-starter has added to the convenience of the up-to-date automobile, a similar device is contributing to the efficiency of the hydroaeroplane as part of the equipment of a fighting ship. With a good self-starter, by which the air pilot can set his motor going from his seat, and with a launching apparatus like that devised by Captain Chambers, the aircraft will be able to assume its own propulsion the instant it leaves the runway of the catapult.

It is not enough, however, simply to get the flying machine into the air; the scouting aviator has a lot to attend to after he is aloft and started upon his mission.

Until a short while ago the air pilot had his hands dangerously full of things to be manipulated in order to sustain him safely in flight, and a moment's inattention was pretty certain to invite trouble if not disaster. He had no opportunity to make observation of the land beneath him or to release bombs intended to hit a certain spot on the landscape below. The airman therefore needed a companion whose duties should be limited to reconnitering and to dropping projectiles upon the enemy.

Now it happened that the machines used by the Italians in Tripoli were not weight carriers, and it was therefore out of the question to support a second person in them. Accordingly the aviator had to do all the work himself, and this explains why bombs dropped from aeroplanes so often failed to hit their mark. The Italian dirigible balloons, on the other hand, because they could be maneuvered deliberately and could lift a number of persons, were successful as bomb throwers, and what they did showed what could be expected of a flying machine properly built for military work.

As a result of study a number of devices have been dargeloped which make it possible now to insure to a large degree the automatic control of an aeroplane's equilibrium, and other apparatus is being perfected which reduces the demands upon the aviator. Quite apart from the military importance of these later inventions, the physical and nervous stresses upon the aviator are fewer. These have proved so exhausting during the war between Italy and Turkey that the pilots have become incapacitated after six months of service, and doctors declare a rest period of at least two years is needful in order to insure their recuperation and fitness again for duty with the flying squadron.

Among the helpful apparatus now being developed by an American firm is a gyroscopic device which gives promise of success in maintaining the stability of an aeroplane in flight. Captain Chambers is engaged in the construction of an aerial compass which will not only give directional guidance, but will also compensate for the drift or sidewise movement of the flying machine.

On the other side of the Atlantic instrument makers have been working away at the same problem with more or less success. The market supply of such apparatus is not large. That there is need of just such an aid to aerial navigation is evidenced by the fact that a German firm was suddenly denuded of its supply by the demands of the war in the Balkans. It is safe to say that no small share of the effective aid rendered by the Bulgarian flying corps has been directly due to these instruments.

In the past aviation generally has been encouraged more as a sporting proposition than an art susceptible of practical benefits, and this has really hurt aviation more than it has helped. Speed has appealed pre-eminently to racing men and to what may appropriately be termed the nautical acrobats, and in some senses this speed has saved more lives than it has sacrificed under the hazardous circumstances of its employment. The victorious Vedrines strongly advocates speed on the score that it makes for safety by offsetting or combating more successfully atmospheric vagaries while in flight, but this element of high velocity multiplies the hazard or the difficulty of alighting as well as increasing the danger of engine trouble and shortness of the life of the motor.

For war purposes an aeroplane motor should work efficiently at different speeds because varying drive power will be needed for dissimilar services. A motor of this sort would lend itself to relatively low speed so that the flying machine could return to the ground much as a vessel slackens her headway when coming up to her dock. Captain Chambers has a very definite opinion upon this subject, which he explains as follows:

"A weight carrying aeroplane, such as a hydroaeroplane, necessarily needs a motor with considerable range of speed, and the same kind of motor is needed to reduce the danger of alighting. I think aviation would be improved if the terms of future speed contests were arranged so as to require each contestant to go over the course twice—the second time at an average speed 20 per cent. lower than his highest average."

The layman has heard so much of anti-balloon guns and other weapons for the annihilation of all kinds of aircraft, that he pictures the flying machine as being knocked into bits by the precise fire of these weapons. As a matter of fact, during the war in Tripoli the Italian aeroplanes were but seldom hit, never disastrously, and when up in the air three thousand feet they were not touched at all. American naval aviators, with their hydroaeroplanes, have proved that it is entirely feasible for them to reach this height, and so far as endurance of flight is concerned, they hold the record—Lieutenant Towers of the navy having traveled for six hours ten minutes and twenty seconds in a standard navy Curtiss hydroaeroplane. Inventors have developed an aeroplane wireless outfit of very moderate weight, and with this equipment aviators are able to cover a range of fifty miles.

The next naval conflict is likely to find hydroaeroplanes a feature of the essential equipment of all large men-of-war, and the flying machine must be considered seriously and not as a mere fad or a mechanical achievement of no material value. In peace-time manoeuvers the French have clearly shown that the aeroplane is capable of doing scout duty of an important character, detecting not only ships upon the water, but the presence of submarines supposedly hidden below the surface of the sea; and recent experiments with armor piercing bombs—dropped from aircraft—have turned a new page in the art of warfare.

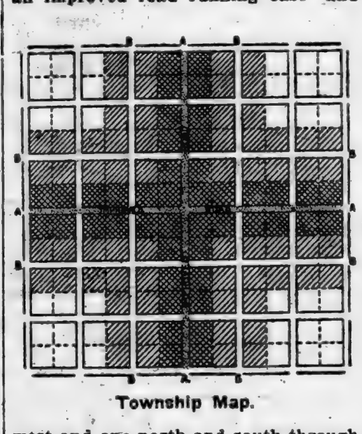
Old Fight Renewed.

"My old barber has left the city."

"You seem very regretful."

"Yes; he had been trying to sell me a bottle of hair tonic for the last 15 years, and so far I had succeeded in standing him off. Now I shall have to start the battle all over with a new man."

HIGHWAY IMROVEMENT



PLAN ROAD IMPROVEMENT

Township Map Shows Public Thoroughfares Can Be Connected With Every Little Hamlet.

A continuation of the presentation of the suggestions of the good roads committee of the Illinois Bankers' association brings us to the practical plan presented for the improvement of 20 per cent. of the highways of the state, says the Breeder's Gazette. We quote:

"It has been estimated by the United States Office of Public Roads that 15 to 20 per cent. of the roads mileage carries over 85 per cent. of the traffic. Nineteen thousand miles of improved highways would give us improved roads crossing the state from east to west every six miles, also roads crossing the state from north to south every six miles; that is, we would have an improved road running east and

"This township map shows that if improved highways are constructed across the state every six miles in both directions, 108 out of 144 quarter-sections in each township will either be directly on an improved road or within one mile of an improved road.

"In very few townships are roads laid out along all section lines. The 1,600 townships in the state do not average quite sixty miles of country roads to the township; hence, twelve miles of improved road will cover more than 20 per cent. of the country road mileage in each township.

"A-A represents the twelve miles of main improved roads.

"B-B represents the roads only one mile from the improved road.

"Dark shading represents the forty-four quarter-sections lying directly on this main road.

"Light shading represents sixty-four quarter-sections lying on a road only one mile distant from the improved road.

"Thirty per cent. of all quarter-sections would front directly on the improved roads, while an additional 45 per cent. would be on a road only one mile distant from the improved road.

"Nineteen thousand miles of highways, built as suggested, would reach about 70,000 quarter-sections or over 86,400 farms of 129 acres each, which is the average size of the farms in Illinois. In other words, 86,400 of the 251,872 farmers in this state, over 30 per cent., would have an improved highway running past the door, while an additional 45 per cent. of the farmers would live on a road only one mile distant from this improved highway. These highways crossing each township in both directions would of necessity reach practically every village and hamlet in the state and connect with all of the through highways of adjoining states.

"The building of the connecting roads can be taken up by the townships and counties as fast as the main roads are improved."

Important Factor.

Good roads are really a very important factor in the advancement of a community. Beyond a doubt they exert a profound influence in bettering farm conditions, not only cheapening farm productions, but in making farm life more congenial by bringing the farms closer together, and thereby improving social conditions, which are at present partially responsible for the young people's dissatisfaction with country life.

Prevent Much Trouble.

Careful use of a drag on a dirt road that is already in reasonably good condition, will almost entirely prevent trouble from ruts, mud holes or dust, and give good service at low cost.

Road Weather.

Warm weather should remind you of road weather as well as baseball weather or seeding time.

Efficient Road Drag.

CUT OUT FOR A DIPLOMAT

A Labouchere anecdote which has not been done to death is given in the new volume of recollections by Sir Henry Lucy ("Toby, M. P."), to whom it was told by Labby himself. It concerned the younger son of a peer, who thought that a berth in the diplomatic service was as desirable a place as any for one who took life rather easily. He knew nothing of the special subjects upon which the preliminary examination was based, but there was at least the promise of a lark. As far as he could make out, he did not supply a single correct answer to the long list of questions. Nevertheless, he came out first in the competition. It was a surprise even for a confident young lordling. Meeting one of the examiners at dinner a few days later, he ventured to ask how the thing came about. We at once saw you knew nothing," was the reply. "But your manner was so free from constraint under what to some people would have been peculiarly embarrassing circumstances that we said to each other, 'That's the very man to make a diplomatist.' So we gave you a start on your career."

PEOPLE NOW IN POWER

VOTERS OF NATION BEHIND DEMOCRATIC PARTY.

That the Tariff Shall Be Revised Downward Is Their Ultimatum, and President Wilson Will Accomplish It.

The old guard of the senate is learning that President Wilson means business about tariff revision. Which goes to show that even an old guardsman can learn a little when taught by the right sort of "schoolmaster."

In truth, the senate standpatters are facing the hardest trial and the surest thrashing in their history. The American people have determined to revise the Aldrich tariff downward; and they have found in President Wilson a leader who knows how to get them what they want.

President Taft signed a bill some of whose schedules he admitted to be "indefensible." President Cleveland allowed a bill to become law without his signature, though he wrote to a friend that it was "party perfidy and dishonor."

President Wilson, confronted by a similar emergency, will veto an unjust measure, and take his case straight to the American electorate. The old guardsmen can stand anything but that.

Democratic View of It.

Above all that anybody needed to know of the motive behind the now-defeated demand in the United States senate that protracted public hearing precede action upon the Underwood tariff bill was that Boies Penrose of Pennsylvania was the moving spirit.

Every subsidized industry in America has a keen appreciation of the fact, that, for monopoly purposes, tariff reform delayed is almost as good as tariff reform defeated. When tariffs are to be marked up for the enrichment of the trusts the cry is always for haste.

The people have been holding public hearings on this tariff issue for 30 years or more. They know all about it, and they have been very patient about it. The leech is by nature a sticker. Public hearings of leeches for the benefit of the leeches have only one result. Leeches never let go except under the compulsion of a superior intelligence and purpose.—New York World.

W. W. on Boss Rule.

"The business of the boss is difficult and hazardous not only because it is irregular and only partially protected by law, but also because the people look askance at it and often with a sudden disgust turn upon it and break it up. . . . These outbursts come when the people happen to realize that under existing party machinery they have virtually no control at all over nominations for office, and that, having no real control over the choice of candidates, they are cut off from exercising real representative self-government—that they have been solemnly taking part in a farce."

The author of this accurate description of boss rule and the resentment it awakens, is one Woodrow Wilson, at present president of the United States.

Theory and Practice.

In a prophetic lecture on "The President of the United States," published in 1908, Woodrow Wilson said:

"The president is at liberty, both in law and conscience, to be as big a man as he can. His capacity will set the limit; and if congress be overborne by him it will be no fault of the makers of the constitution—it will be from no lack of constitutional powers on its part, but only because the president has the nation behind him and congress has not. He has no means of compelling congress except through public opinion."

That was theory. When the president says to congress: "Gentlemen, here is a fair tariff bill framed in accordance with our election pledges; the country expects us to enact it into law;" that is practice.

Mr. Payne as a Prophet.

On his honor as a prophet, Representative Payne predicts that if the Democrats pass the Underwood tariff bill the country will drive them from power and restore Republican control. He speaks from painful experience and ought to know. It is barely four years since he was hard at work on the Payne tariff bill, and only six months ago the country drove the Republicans from power.

Still, if Mr. Payne is so sure that the Underwood tariff will result in the country driving the Democrats from power in 1916, why waste his time in agony and grief? When the bill comes up for passage, why not move to make it unanimous?

"Peace with justice and righteousness between the nations," cries the colonel. And there stands Panama to prove it.—New York Evening Post.

The Real Progressives.

We have a new brand of politics, the "standpat Progressive." It is not, in our opinion, likely to prove popular. The real progressives in Washington are the Democrats who are carrying through the work of tariff revision.

Have No Criticism Coming.

We should think that the man responsible for the Payne-Aldrich tariff would be a little modest in his criticisms of any tariff bill.

EXPERIENCE OF MOTHERHOOD

Advice to Expectant Mothers

The experience of Motherhood is a trying one to most women and marks distinctly an epoch in their lives. Not one woman in a hundred is prepared or understands how to properly care for herself. Of course nearly every woman nowadays has medical treatment at such times, but many approach the experience with an organism unfitted for the trial of strength, and when it is over her system has received a shock from which it is hard to recover. Following right upon this comes the nervous strain of caring for the child, and a distinct change in the mother results.

There is nothing more charming than a happy and healthy mother of children, and indeed child-birth under the right conditions need be no hazard to health or beauty. The unexplainable thing is that, with all the evidence of shattered nerves and broken health resulting from an unprepared condition, and with ample time in which to prepare, women will persist in going blindly to the trial.

Every woman at this time should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism.

In many homes once childless there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy and strong.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

FUTILE HINT TO THE BORE

Social Caller Could Not Understand Gentle Intimation Conveyed by His Host.

President Wilson, thanks in part to his splendid training at Princeton, but thanks in greater part to his tact, is said to receive and dismiss visitors more adroitly than any former occupant of the White House.

Sometimes, however, a stupid visitor turns up, and then President Wilson's tact is unappreciated, and the visitor overstays his time. Apropos of such visitors the president at a luncheon in Washington told a story.

"There was an old fellow," he said, "who was praising the rising young lawyer of his town.

"'George,' for a busy man,' said the old fellow, 'is one of the pleasantest chaps I ever met. Why, I dropped in on him for a social call this morning and I hadn't been chattin' with him more than fifteen minutes before he'd told me three times to come and see him again.'"

Showing Him the Road.

Tourist—I'm just a bit doubtful which is my right road here, my good man; perhaps you can direct me—?

Villager—A pleasure, sir, 'deed 'tis; that there road'll take 'e to Bill Watson's, an' this 'ere turn to 'Arry Thompson's—Bill keeps th' best ale, but if you want 'bacca as well, take this 'ere turn—Bill don't keep no shag—only twist.—London Bystander.

Talking Shop.

Enthusiastic interest in one's occupation is always an advantage, but, on the other hand, it is not well for a woman in business to talk of her work at all times and places. Naturally, the thing that we do constantly is our most absorbing interest, but we must remember that other people have other things to talk about.

MADE RETURN A QUICK ONE

Bill's Absence Cut Decidedly Short When Visitor's Object Was Made Known.

The Harduppe brothers, Sam and Bill, were frankly "up against it." They owed the tailor, the landlady, the tobacconist and sundry others, and they spent most of their time dodging their creditors' emissaries.

Came a ring at the front doorbell, and Sam answered.

"I must see your brother," an agitated man insisted. "I must see him today without fail."

Thinking it one of his brother's creditors, Sam replied:

"Why, I'm sorry, but Bill left town yesterday."

The man's face fell. "That's too bad," he said, "for I wanted to pay him $50 that I owe him, and I'm going west tonight."

"Oh," said Sam, his face lighting, "that's easy: Bill came back this morning."

Reason Why.

She was a dear, old fasioned, modest simple, maiden lady. So that when she announced the fact that she thought of paying a chiropodist a visit her great friend was duly astonished.

"I didn't know you suffered from corns," remarked the latter, when the news was first broken to her.

"I don't," replied the old lady mildly, albeit firmly; "neither am I afflicted with bunions, chilblains, nor any other pains in the feet."

Her friend gazed at her with growing consternation.

"Then, my dear," she remonstrated gently, "what on earth do you want to visit a chiropodist for?"

The little old lady's cheeks blushed a delicate pink as she leaned forward, laid one mittened hand on her interrogator's arm and whispered:

"It's this way, my dear. I do so want to be able to boast that at least once in my life I had a man at my feet!"

Solving a Problem in Arithmetic.

Little Marion was busy with her "home work." After a great many perplexed frowns and much nibbling at her pencil she looked up and said: "The only answer that I can get to this example is five and three-fourths horses. Do you 'spose that is right, mamma?"

"Well, I don't know," answered her mother, cautiously. "It sounds rather queer."

A long pause; then the small arithmetician's face lit up with a smile. "Oh, I know," she cried. "I'll reduce the three-fourths horses to colts."

Juvenile Altruism.

Little Paul came in to ask his mother if Alfred and he might each have a cooky. His mother purposely gave him two of different sizes. Interested as to which Paul would give his guest, she stepped to the door just in time to see Paul give the smaller cake to his playmate.

"Why, Paul," she called, "don't you know that you should have kept that one yourself?"

"Yes, I know," was the nonchalant reply. "But, you see, I was afraid that if I gave Alfred the biggest one he might get sick!"

How They Measured.

"From the meadow the road began to ascend, and about noon we started to climb Greeley Hill—a thirteen mile road leading to its summit. As the afternoon began to wane, and we had zigzagged our way over what seemed to us thirteen miles of road, we met a resident of the region and ventured to ask him how they measured miles in that country.

"'Oh, we just let a greyhound loose, and when he drops dead, that's a mile,' was the reply."—Suburban Life Magazine.

Still One Ahead.

Donald was only 4, and the height of his ambition was to own a red wagon. One day he came in from play and burst into a storm of tears.

"Mamma, mamma, Johnnie Baker's got a red wagon—a dreat, big one."

Mamma comforted him as best she could, and Donald soon went off to play again. The next day Johnnie passed the house with his red wagon, and Donald, looking up, said vindictively:

"I dess Johnnie Baker hasn't dot a gran'ma up in heaven, anyway."

Carefully Selected.

"By the way, Cleverly," asked the publisher, "where did you get these photographs of strong-minded, determined looking women with which you illustrate your article on 'Why Men Don't Marry.'"

"Oh," replied the author, "they're wives of the men I know."

In an examination of eight varieties of two-rowed barley the first leaf was found to twist to the left in 58 per cent. of more than 12,000 seedlings, and an excess of left-handed growth was found also in millet and in oats.

In corn there seemed to be no marked tendency either way. No evidence of hereditary peculiarity appears to have been obtained and no special significance of the results is pointed out.

"Secluded Saint."

The Australian government officials are wrestling in these days with the millions of cards issued and returned in connection with the 1911 census. One woman wrote that she was "an unclaimed treasure." Another of thirty-seven replied, "Not married; have not given up hope yet." In reply to a query as to religion, a man in prison described himself as a "secluded saint." Another said he was a "blue light;" a third was a "simple lifer." One woman referred to herself as a "Roaming Catholic," and another claimed to belong to the "Shirts of England."

She Understood.

A charming French woman was the guest of a New York family at a popular roof garden.

As the orchestra was finishing a number she asked one of the gentlemen in the party who had been one of her most devoted admirers:

"What is zat ze musicians are playing?"

"Love Me and the World Is Mine," replied the man.

"Yes, I understand zat is how you feel," said the young woman, with a glance of coquetry, "but ze tune zat zey play, M'sieu, vat ees eet, please?"

Just a Bit Mixed.

London is laughing over a story which has recently come out concerning Lloyd George. It appears that shortly after the death of King Edward an Englishman traveling in Wales got into talk with an elderly Welshman and happened to be the first to tell him of the king's demise.

"And who might be king now?" asked the Welshman.

"Why, George is king now."

"George!" he exclaimed in surprise. "Well, how he has got on, to be sure—and me to remember him as a little lawyer in Criccieth!"

Visited the Sultan.

The Empress Eugene, on her way to the opening of the Suez canal in 1860, had been the first Christian sovereign or woman to lodge in one of the Sultan's palaces, but after that the princess of Wales was entertained at Dolma Bagtche on the occasion of her trip to the east with her husband, while in 1889 Abdul Hamid seated himself in the same carriage with the German empress, and thus conducted her to Yildiz Kiosk. More than that, the empress spent an evening with the ladies of the harem.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Five-Year-Old Plants His Mother's Pearls in an Effort to Raise Fortune.

New York.—Charles Frederick von Glahn, the five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Frederick von Glahn of Berlin, Germany, has original ideas in floriculture. The young disciple of Luther Burbank's wizardry was caught by his nurse on the roof garden of a prominent Broadway hotel planting his mother's $8,000 string of pearls in one of the flower boxes.

Young Charles had seen workmen on the roof planting some large round seeds. He quietly stole to his mother's room, obtained her string of 40 pearls from her jewel box, and he had several of them planted when the nurse found him.

They were all dug up, and the fortune which might otherwise have sprouted will not now mature.

Creeson Medals Are Awarded.

Philadelphia. — For distinguished achievement in science the Elliott Creeson gold medals and diplomas, the highest honor in the gift of Franklin institute, which recently were awarded to six prominent scientists of this country and Europe, were presented here to the American recipients at a meeting of the institute. Emile Berliner of Washington, who first succeeded in sending the human voice on metal; Dr. Isham Randolph of Chicago, a civil engineer, and Dr. Charles P. Steinmetz of Schenectady, N. Y., an electrical engineer, were the Americans receiving the award.

Truck at 50 Cents a Bushel.

Milford, Del.—The fishermen along the Delaware bay shore are catching more trout than they can sell. This is remarkable at this season of the year, and though it is no unknown thing later in the season. At present beach fishermen are selling their sport to city buyers for 50 cents a bushel. These fishermen are having no trouble selling their catches at this figure. Shipments are being made [illegible]

SHOWS POSSIBILITY OF HASH

"Cook Book of Left-Overs" Outlines Twentieth Century Variety of This Common Dish.

Twentieth century hash, like most modern inventions, is a long step from the past. Indeed, as it is described in the "Cook Book of Left-Overs," it doesn't sound like hash at all, but like one of those famous dishes that French chefs invent when their thrifty souls rebel at throwing away left-overs. See if it doesn't:

Have baked six medium-sized potatoes. With a spoon carefully remove the potato, leaving rest of skin unbroken. Season the potato with one tablespoonful of butter, one tablespoonful of cream or milk, one tablespoonful of salt and a little pepper, stirring lightly with a fork, but do not mash the potato. Add one cup of any kind of well-seasoned chopped beef that has been moistened with a little gravy, stock or Worcestershire sauce. Fill the skins with this mixture, letting it rise a little above the top. Put a piece of butter on each and heat in oven. Grated cheese may be used instead of meat.

Printer's Devil's Prayer.

O Lord, I pray thee, make me a good printer. Make me as wise as the proof reader, who carries a dictionary in each of his vest pockets, and as honest as Bill, the pressman, who borrowed a quad last spring to use as a feed guide and returned it yesterday, as good as new; make me to be as faithful as Jerry, the stone-man, who comes down to the shop every Sunday and cleans up the pi he has made during the week; as industrious as Old Tom, the comp., who has not missed a day at his frame since he came to work for the firm twenty years ago; and finally, O Lord, make me as patient as the poor boss, who has put up with my foolishness for three horrid years, and grant me good luck [illegible]

CHILTON MEDICAL SOCIETY IN SESSION.

A LETTER FROM DR. C. A. GROTE RECEIVED AND READ.

The Chilton County Medical Society met in regular session, and after an enjoyable banquet at the Clanton Cafe the regular routine business was taken up. An interesting paper was read by Dr. T. J. Marcus, Secretary of the Society which brought forth a lengthy discussion by the Doctors present, who were all follows:

Dr. P. Y. Hayes, Dr. V. J. Gragg, Dr. E. A. Matthews, Dr. N. S. Johnson, Dr. H. F. Downs, Dr. Arthur Johnson and Dr. T. J. Marcus.

The following letter was read by the secretary, and on motion it was ordered printed with the report of the meeting:

Alabama State Board of Health,
Hookworm Commission,
Montgomery, June 7, 1913.

Dr. Thos. J. Marcus, Secretary Chilton County Medical Society, Clanton, Ala.:

Dear Dr. Marcus: Allow me the privilege of addressing this letter to the Chilton County Medical Society, through you as its secretary.

I wish to express to every individual member of your county society—also to your body in official session—my sincere thanks for your very faithful and effective co-operation rendered me during the public health campaign in your county which has just closed. I desire to state unqualifiedly that without this assistance and co-operation on the part of Chilton county physicians this campaign would not have met with the success that it did. We examined, microscopically, over 1,800 people in Chilton county, and treated a total of 1,059 patients for hookworm disease. I feel confident in saying that the results which ultimately will come to these people—also to others through them—are more than worth all the effort and all the money expended in the interests of this important work.

Hoping that I may have the opportunity to meet with you again some time in the near future, and with warm personal regards for each of you, I beg to remain,

Faithfully yours,
C. A. GROTE,
Ass't State Director Sanitation.

At the next regular meeting, which is the first Tuesday in July, we expect several papers on different subjects, and are looking forward to a full attendance of all the doctors in the county.

T. J. MARCUS, Secretary.

With this corps of officers there can be no doubt as to the success of Clanton Lodge for the next twelve months.

MR. WILLIAMS WRITES ON ROAD BUILDING

By the courtesy of the Press I would like to say a few words to the people of the county. It is a pleasure to be at home again in Chilton.

It seems to me the biggest question before the county now is the question of building roads. I was utterly astonished when I learned that some of our people were trying to make it a political issue.

It is NOT a political question at all. It is a question of the welfare of the citizens of the county; it is a question of happy homes and prosperous people. When a man will stoop to make political capital out of a question that is so vital to the prosperity and happiness of his native land, he is getting MIGHTY LOW DOWN. It matters not who holds the county offices; republicans, progressives, or democrats, all ought to unite for the common welfare.

It has been my privilege to live in several counties where they have good roads, Madison county, Ala., Shelby county, Ky., Duval county, Fla., and other places. I was out among the farmers, who are the boss and stays of any county. Every one of them was loud in his praises of their roads, and said they wondered why they did not have them. They believe they did. [illegible] else, and so they are the ones above all others who should favor good roads occasionally and enjoy it but it does not bring him any money, but it is dollars and cents to the farmer to have a good road to haul his produe over.

Some one might ask how the above named counties got their roads. That is easy to answer. They issued bonds and built them I never found a single man who was opposed to bonds for roads. When men see they believe. It costs only a few cents every year and is worth several dollars each week.

Mr. Press man I want to declare myself here now and for all time in favor of bonds to build roads in our beloved county. I do not own a dollars' worth of property in the county, and shall leave America in a few months for China, but my mother lives here, and all my brothers and sisters, and all my relatives and hundreds of friends, and I am deeply concerned about their welfare. In the name of humanity, for the upbuilding of the country, for making happier homes, for the progress of our own native land, let me appeal to you, my fellowmen, to arise and meet the opportunity we have before us. Issue bonds and build roads.

J. TOY WILLIAMS.

Mr. G. H. Watts is now the proud possessor of a handsome five passenger touring car. If you want to get a shave you'll have to run Watts down with a motorcycle as he hasn't time just now to attend to ordinary business; now [illegible] a fine substitute in the shop while he enjoys his joy [illegible]

STATE CONVICT BUREAU IS O. K.

PRESIDENT HARTWELL DOUGLASS MAKES REPLY TO ARTICLE PUBLISHED.

MISLEADING STATEMENT

Convict Department of State Is Not in a "Financial Ditch," Says Douglass.

Montgomery.—It is not true that the state convict department is in a "financial ditch" or that "its credit is badly strained," as charged in an artitcle appearing in a Birmingham paper, according to a statement issued by Hartwell Douglass, president of the department.

"This article is so misleading that I deem it my duty to correct the misstatement of facts which it contains," declares Mr. Douglass.

Chief reason of the department for failure to pay certain bills is because they have not been properly audited and because Mr. Douglass has not had time to ascertain their correctness.

"I do not intend to pay out one nickel of the state's money until I find out for what purpose it is paid," said Mr. Douglass.

Alabama does not now owe one cent of borrowed money and the governor for the first time in his administration has been able to meet all obligations up to the present time without negotiating a loan, according to Mr. Douglass. Furthermore, he declares, that the receipts of the department are greater than they have been at any prior period in its history.

KELLER ON AUTO TOUR.

Makes the Start of Long Trip From the Gulf City.

Montgomery.—W. S. Keller, state highway engineer, started on his tour of the state from Mobile June 9. Mr. Keller will prepare maps of the routes covered to select the best lines for the system of trunk highways planned for the state.

Information obtained by Mr. Keller will be presented to the next legislature made provisions for the trunk highways under certain conditions which are to be stipulated by the next legislature.

On the first leg of the journey a visit will be paid to the counties of Mobile, Washington, Clarke, Wilcox, Dallas, Marengo, Perry, Sumter and Montgomery. From Montgomery the journey will be continued to Birmingham, through the counties of Autauga, Elmore, Chilton, Shelby and Jefferson. From Birmingham the party will go to Decatur through the counties of Cullman, Blount and Morgan. From Decatur the journey will be continued in Northwest Alabama and back across the state to Northeast Alabama. Mr. Keller will then return to Birmingham and will make several short trips in and out of that city. Returning to Montgomery the party will go to several counties of Southeast Alabama.

HAD NO LICENSE TO WHIP

Governor Declares Bragdon Did Not Have Permission to Whip Convicts.

Montgomery.—James G. Oakley, the former president of the state convict board, did not have the authority to issue a license to E. G. Bragdon, former capitol superintendent, which permitted him to whip convicts, according to a statement of Governor O'Neal.

"I would not have tolerated such practices for one moment," declared the governor.

Misuse of the word "license" with reference to the paper held by Bragdon has caused a misunderstanding over the state, the governor says. Under the rules of the convict department only a warden at camps has authority to whip convicts and even then he must comply with stringent rules set out for the department. In the absence of the warden, the president of the convict board may designate one person who may whip convicts.

Printed blanks for such "designations" are used by the department, and it was such a designation as was held by Bragdon. Inquiry brought out the fact that Mr. Oakley had issued the license to Bragdon only under specific instructions that no convict was to be whipped by him.

Governor O'Neal said that he regretted that a wrong impression of the whole matter had been made on the public through the sending out of reports that Bragdon had "free license" to whip convicts. The governor says that he possessed no such license, and the papers were worthless as far as whipping convicts was concerned.

ASKS OWENS TO RESIGN.

Believes That Best Way to Clear the Board of Education Tangle at Enterprise.

Montgomery.—Governor O'Neal has called upon an appointee, A. H. Owens, to resign and thus settle the dispute about who is the legal member of the board of education of Enterprise. Owens and Dr. W. K. Harrison claim the office, Owens' contention being that his commission was issued by the governor and Harrison's that he was elected by the city council of Enterprise before Governor O'Neal knew there was a vacancy.

Governor O'Neal had power to fill the vacancy but the question is whether or not he had such authority after the Enterprise council had taken action. Governor O'Neal believes the best way to clear the dispute is for his appointee to submit to resignation. The only other way to make a settlement is to enter suit in court.

REVENUE OFFICERS MAKE RAIDS

One Illicit Distillery Found Nine Miles From Ozark and Destroyed.

Montgomery.—E. N. Winters, of the local office of the revenue department, returned from Dale county, where officers captured an illicit distillery. The still was captured and destroyed nine miles south of Ozark, in that county, and while no arrest has been made, evidence has been gathered and a warrant issued for the alleged operator.

The still was not in operattion when located by the officers, but showed signs of having been operated recently. The affair was one of a fifty-gallon capacity. Beer was found at the home of the alleged operator and captured by the officers.

STATE SCHOOL BOARDS MEET.

Elect Faculties For State Schools. Other Matters Discussed.

Montgomery.—Annual meetings of the State Normal High School Board, High School Commission and Agricultural School Board were held at the capitol June 10, 11 and 12, respectively. At the meetings faculties of the schools and colleges were elected and other matters concerning the schools discussed. Presidents of the normal schools were elected recently but the selection of teachers was deferred until the presidents could make recommendations to the normal school board.

Female Game Warden.

Montgomery.—The only woman who ever held the office of game warden in Alabama is Mrs. N. Frederick Gibbony, of Mobile county. A commission as deputy warden of Mobile county was issued to her by John H. Wallace, Jr., state game and fish commissioner.

COFFIN IN RAILROAD YARDS.

Much Excitement Follows Gruesome Discovery in Montgomery.

Montgomery.—Much excitement was caused here when a coffin with the dead body of a white man was found in the West End railroad yards. Grover Cone and "Micky" O'Neal, two railroad employes, found the coffin in a roadway leading to the city.

A posse in search of the gruesome find, found the coffin later concealed in a railroad shop among a lot of lumber. The body had disappeared.

CONTINUANCE IS DENIED.

Hearing of Pope Case Set for June 30 by Supreme Court.

Montgomery.—Request of attorneys to continue the Irvin Pope case until the January term has been refused by the supreme court and the case has been set for hearing June 30, according to information obtained at the office of Attorney-General Robert C. Mitchell.

ANOTHER EUROPEAN WAR IS THREATENED

WAR NOW SEEMS INEVITABLE BETWEEN THE BALKAN ALLIES.

BULGARIA DELAYING REPLY

Enormous Excitement at Sofia, Where Drastic State of War Is Observed.

London, England.—"War is almost inevitable between the Balkan allies," according to a Sofia dispatch to the Neue Freie Presse, which declares that the solution of the cabinet crisis must not be looked for soon. The Danff cabinet is expected to effect a rapproachment with the triple alliance and in the meanwhile a meeting of the premier is extremely doubtful.

"Enormous excitement prevails. Servia is allowing the passage of no Bulgarian messages. From now a more drastic state of war will be observed. All houses must close at nine o'clock at night."

Belgrade, Servia.—The feeling of irritation and alarm is becoming pronounced here, the belief being that Bulgaria is delaying her reply to the Servian note only to gain time to dispose of her troops to the best advantage. Premier Pasitch held a conference with leaders of the various political parties and discussed relations between Servia and Bulgaria. The Bulgarians have again attempted to occupy Servian territory between Douran and Strumitza. This, coupled with Bulgaria's failure to reply to the Servian note, has caused the opposition leaders to demand a speedy settlement of the crisis. It is proposed that the Skupshtina shall declare the occupied territories annexed, thus confronting Bulgaria with a fait accompli.

TO TRY OUT U. S. CAVALRY

Radical Changes in Organization Will Be Given Practical Test.

Washington.—The Shenandoah valley, where "Phil" Sheridan made his famous ride of 50 years ago, is to hear again the song of the bugle, the galloping of horses, the crack of carbines and the boom of cannon, for the war department is trying out the cavalry and has chosen the Shenandoah as the bloodless battleground. For two months this summer a full brigade of cavalry and a battery of horse artillery will maneuver and "fight" over the red roads, the green hills and fields near Winchester that figured in great cavalry battles in the war between the states.

The department has leased a tract of ground a mile broad and two miles long in the heart of the Shenandoah, 70 miles from Washington, and orders to the troops have been issued, for two regiments of the brigade, those from Fort Ethan Allen, Vt., and Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., must ride 700 dusty miles under a summer sun before they can reach the valley and they must report July 20. The first squadron from Fort Myers, Va., will have only 70 miles to go and the horse battery from Fort Riley, Kans., will be sent by train.

Postoffice Robbed by Yeggmen.

Greensboro, N. C.—The postoffice safe at Kernersville, a small town, 18 miles from here, was blown open, and $1,263 in stamps and $50 in money taken. The theft was discovered when the postmaster entered the office. Postoffice Inspector Hodgin of this place was notified and went to the scene, but, it is said, secured but scanty clues. Some people in the town heard a rumbling noise and it is presumed that it was the explosion that blew the safe.

One Killed and Many Hurt.

McAlester, Okla.—Mrs. George W. Lewis of Kansas City, Mo., was killed and forty-eight persons were injured, only one seriously, when southbound passenger train No. 9, of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad, ran into a horse and was derailed near McAlester. Of the injured, Henry Walker, negro train porter, is the most seriously hurt. Injuries of the others consist principally of bruises and cuts.

Confederate Memorial Services.

Washington.—Confederate Memorial day exercises were held at Arlington National cemetery, under the auspices of southern organizations in Washington. The ceremonies took place in the Confederate section of the cemetery and were featured by an address by Senator Swanson of Virginia, who dwelt upon the achievements of the Army of Virginia and the greatness of Gen. Robert E. Lee. Following the program of speeches and music, flowers were placed on the graves of the dead.

Train Kills Woman in Bed.

Bluefield, W. Va.—A woman and her daughter and two trainmen were killed in a spectacular wreck of a fast Norfolk and Western railroad freight train at Cleveland, Va. Several trainmen were injured. The train, drawn by two engines, left the rails and rolled down an embankment, crushing the home of Mrs. Sarah Owens. Mrs. Owens and her 17-year-old daughter, who were still asleep in their beds, were killed. Engineer Gillespie and Fireman Stewart were caught under the engines and crushed to death.

BOARD OF ENGINEERS ON VALUATION

This is the board of engineers on valuation recently selected by the interstate commerce commission to assist in formulating the plans under which the valuation work on the property of common carriers will be done. From left to right: Prof. Wm. D. Ponce of the University of Wisconsin, Howard M. Jones of Nashville, Tenn., J. S. Worley, Edwin F. Wendt of Pittsburgh, Pa., and R. A. Thompson of California.

JAPAN REPLIES TO U. S.

THE REJOINDER OF JAPAN IS DELIVERED TO SECRETARY BRYAN.

It Invites Further Discussion of Controverted Points in the Webb Anti-Alien Law.

Washington.—Japan's rejoinder to the United States' reply to her protest against the California anti-alien land law, delivered personally by Ambassador Chinda to Secretary Bryan, sets out why the Tokio government continues to regard the Webb law as discriminatory against Japanese in derogation of the qualities of treatment prescribed by international law, and a violation of the treaty of 1911.

Nothing in the nature of an ultimatum is contained in the note. Its general tone is to invite further discussion of the controverted points, and it contains nothing tending to make up a final issue. Secretary Bryan and the ambassador agreed that no details should be made public.

The Japanese note was very long and of its nature entirely argumentative. Secretary Bryan and Ambassador Chinda were in accord that no good purpose could be served at this time by a public discussion of the delicate question and therefore both officials gave notice that any attempt to publish what might purport to be even the substance of the three communications which now have passed between the two governments must be based entirely upon speculation. It is known, however, that the whole tone of the rejoinder is that of a dignified and orderly presentation of Japan's view on the case concluding with an invitation to further negotiations.

SUFFRAGETTE IS TRAMPLED

Suffragette Grasps Reins of King George's Race Horse.

Epsom.—The most dramatic derby ever run on the historic course at Epsom Downs was accompanied by a series of startling events.

Just before the finish a suffragette attempted to seize the bridle of the king's entry, Anmer, while he was running at top speed. The woman was fatally injured when the horse fell and the jockey was badly hurt.

The woman's name is given as E. Davison and she is thought to be Miss Emily Wilding Davison a member of the Woman's Social and Political union, who since 1909 has been sentenced eight different times to imprisonment for participation in suffregette outrages.

Emily Davison was the woman who assaulted a Baptist minister at Aberdeen station, mistaking him for David Lloyd-George chancellor of the exchequer. Whenever she has been imprisoned she has started a "hunger strike" and has generally been cleared. She has been found hidden in the house of commons three times and ejected.

Open Town Candidate Wins.

Los Angeles.—Enthusiastic crowds, thronged the streets to cheer the overthrow in the election of the good government organization, which has been in the ascendant in city politics since the recall of Mayor Haper five years ago. The announcement of the election to the mayoralty of Police Judge H. H. Rose, an independent candidate, who ran without the support of one of the six newspapers of the city, caused the demonstrations. On incomplete returns Rose was conceded a majority of 7,000 over John W. Shenk.

Big Nations May Not Take Part.

Washington.—Twenty-four governments, thus far have accepted the invitation extended through the state department to participate in the Panama-Pacific exposition in San Francisco in 1915, while fifteen others have failed to make any conclusive response. Among those who have accepted are Argentine, Bolivia, Brazil, Canada, Chile, China, Costa Rica, Cuba, Denmark, Dominican Republic, Ecuador, France, Guatemala, Haiti, Honduras, Japan, Mexico, Netherlands, Nicaragua, Panama, Peru.

MEXICANS IN BLOODY BATTLE

FIERCE FIGHT FOR THE POSSESSION OF MATAMORAS IN MEXICO.

Many of Huerta's Troops Are Reported Killed and a Large Number Wounded.

Brownsville, Texas.—While a handful of men were still offering desperate resistence to the rebel troops of General Lucie Blanco, "constitutionalist" commander-in-chief of the state of Tamaulipas Matamoras, Mexico, is practically in the hands of the revolutionists after a battle waged without interruption all day. Colonel Escareta with 100 volunteers made his last stand from the roof of the cathedral and theater in Hidala plaza.

Flames from burning buildings several sections of the battle-scarred city lighted the sky for miles around and for a time it was feared that the town was doomed, however, the fire zones decreased.

The toll of death on both sides has been heavy. Major Estaban Ramos federal comander, was wounded mortally in the engagement. He was brought to a Brownsville hospital. His condition is critical. Private Davis of the United States cavalry, was wounded by a stray shot while patrolling the border on the American side of the Rio Grande. Authentic estimates of the dead and wounded are not available. One report brought by refugees was that between 200 and 300 of the combatants had been killed and double that number wounded.

One hundred and twelve of the federal troops crossed to Brownsville and surrendered to the United States military authorities.

FORTY CANNIBALS HANGED

Great Britain Executes Members of Secret Society.

London.—Convicted of the practice of cannibalism and human sacrifice forty members of the "Leopard Society," a secret organization, have been hanged in Sierra Leone, a British colony on the west coast of Africa.

Sir William Brandford Griffith, chief justice of the gold coast, who presided at the trials, arrived at Plymouth. He declined to discuss the case, but fellow travelers said that one hundred members of the dread society had been arrested, and that forty of them had been hanged, while many were sentenced to deportation.

The "Leopard society" has existed among the Mendi tribe, and has long caused trouble to the government. Natives failing to conform to its rules or submit to its demands are subject to death or slavery.

Altitude Record Broken.

Bue, France.—The world's altitude record for an aeroplane carrying a pilot and an passenger was broken by Edmund Perreyon, who rose 16,[illegible] feet. Perreyon also holds the world's altitude record for an aeroplane carrying only a pilot, having risen a height of 19,650 feet at Bue, on March [illegible] this year.

Luther McCarty Estate.

Springfield, Mo.—Application to be appointed administrator of the estate of Luther McCarty, heavyweight fighter, killed in a bout with Arthur [illegible] key, was filed in the probate court here by Otta Lippman, representing the widow. Lippman managed bouts here in which McCarty first attracted attention. The McCarty estate consists of $8,200 on deposit in a Los Angles bank, four lots on a boulevard near Boston, and other possessions totalling $11,000. McCarty left no will. His widow and daughter are his heirs.

Monument to Candler.

Gainesville, Ga.—A monument to the memory of the late Governor Allan D. Candler was unveiled here in Alta Vista cemetery, the monument being accepted on behalf of the family by Judge John S. Candler of Atlanta. Hon. Lucien L. Knight on behalf of the state and Mayor Robinson on behalf of the city of Gainesville. The monument was erected by funds donated by Governor Candler's appointees to office during his term as governor of Georgia.

SENATE OPPOSES RENEWAL OF PACTS

23 NATIONS ARE AFFECTED

Unless There Is Change of Sentiment Renewal of Peace Conventions May Be Impossible.

Washington.—The principle of compulsory arbitration written into the code that has bound the United States with twenty-four nations of the world for the last five years, is in serious danger and unless there is a decided change in sentiment in the senate the renewal of twenty-three of the treaties which gave concrete evidence of this nation's belief in such a policy may be impossible. In executive session the senate again failed to ratify ment with Great Britain, Italy and renewals of the arbitration agree- Spain, which recently expired. These conventions provide that questions relating to the interpretation of treaties, excepting those that cannot be settled through diplomatic channels or those of vtial interest, national honor or independence, shall be submitted to The Hague. A similar treaty with France has already been renewed.

The main argument arose over the contention that if the treaty with Great Britain is ratified the Panama canal tolls question would have to be submitted to The Hague, but during the discussion the Japanese question and the general attitude of the nation toward compulsory arbitration was brought up and led to the expression of views utterly at variance with entrance into such binding agreements in the future.

A motion to re-refer the three treaties to the foreign relations committee with instrucitons that the one with Great Britain be modified so as to exempt specifically the Panama canal tolls question was abandoned, but prolonged debate was predicted for future sessions and friends of the principle of arbitration were alarmed at the strentgh displayed by the opposition. One senator went so far as to declare:

"There are many people in the United States and in the senate who ought to live in England."

AMERICANS ASK PROTECTION

Declare They Will Take the Situation Up Unless Aid Is Sent.

Tampico, Mexico.—Three hundred Americans located in southern Tamaulipas, representing sixty-eight families, have demanded in a long message to President Wilson sent through Consul Miller here, to know, "once for all," whether they can expect protection from their home government since they "do not desire to take measures for our own safety which would embarrass our government."

The message of the Americans was transmitted by wireless through Consul Miller to W. W. Canada, the American consul at Vera Cruz, to be forwarded to Washintgon. It says, in part:

"Having been left without any protection whatever on the part of both sides in the pending controversy, therefore we can look for protection only from our own country. We must know once for all if we can expect same. Having been subjected to slights and a great variety of indignities and gross abuse, the situation calls for most serious preparations for our personal safety and the defense of our families and our interests. Therefore we have assembled for the purpose of considering the best way. We consider protection necessary now since that after death it will be of no utility."

Three Battleships Asked For.

Washington.—Representative Graham of Pennsylvania, introduced a bill to immediately appropriate $15,000,000 to increase the navy by authorizing the construction of three first class battleships to be as heavily armed, as powerfully armored and as speedy as any battleship afloat. They would have the greatest practicable radius of action and cost not exceeding $6,000,000 each.

Page Given Welcome.

London.—Walter Hines Page, the new American ambassador to the court of St. James, received his baptism of fire as an after-dinner speaker in London at a welcoming banquet given in his honor by the Pilgrims Society. Field Marshal Earl Roberts presided, and had as supporters at the head of the table Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary; the Earl of Halsbury, former lord chancellor; the Earl of Aberdeen, lord lieutenant of Ireland, and Augustine Birrell, chief secretary of Ireland.

Bank Short; Cashier Missing.

St. Louis, Mo.—A special says the Penniscot County bank at Caruthersville, Mo., has closed its doors and is in the hands of the state bank commissioner, as the result of the discovery of a shortage. The shortage, according to John H. Cunningham, is at least two hundred thousand dollars and may reach two hundred and fifty thousand dollars. The greater amount of the alleged shortage is in county funds, and to-make good the loss the bank has turned over to the bank commissioner $145,000.

SAW HOPE FOR THE BEAR

Birthday Gift Had Every Possibility of Being Received as One of the Family.

Page, a true little southerner, is lavishly endowed with the traditional "family spirit." His sense of family, indeed, is so strong that he regards any one or anything belonging to his own household as in some mysterious but very real way superior to all the of the world.

Page has a dog whom he loves very dearly, and it grieved him much when, not long since, Jickey declined to have anything to do with the stuffed bear that came as a birthday gift. Presently, however, he became normally cheerful and began to play happily. A visitor sympathetically inquired if Jickey has decided to adopt the new bear as his friend.

"Not yet," Page made smiling answer, "but he will soon, Aunt Annie. You see, Jickey's only a dog and he doesn't think as quick as we do. He thinks the bear is only paying a call here. But just as soon as he knows that the bear is one of the family he'll take to him all right."

ECZEMA SPREAD OVER BODY

R. F. D. No. 1, Lewisburg, Ky.—"Fifteen years ago I was badly affected with eczema upon my scalp first, then it spread all over my body and continued to grow worse for four years. It began with a dry rash. After forming thick scales or scabs the irritation forced me to scratch the scabs off and the hair would come out with them. Upon my face and body the sores would get inflamed and they disfigured my face. It was worse where my clothes irritated them. The eruption was a yellowish watery kind, sometimes bloody. In warm weather it was so bad I was not able to work on account of the raw irritating sores on my head and body.

"After trying various medicines without relief I tried Cuticura Soap and Ointment. After using four cakes of Cuticura Soap and four boxes of Cuticura Ointment and one bottle of the Resolvent I was entirely sound and well and have been for eleven years." (Signed) W. H. Williams, Mar. 19, 1912.

A Memory.

"Caruso's bones are musical," says an English doctor; "if you tap one of his knuckles it gives out a higher pitched and more resonant tone than those of the average person." Far be it from a layman's thought to dispute the word of an eminent medical authority, but from our school days we have lively recollections of a tap on the knuckles resulting in tones that for high pitch and resonance would beat any that Caruso ever uttered.—New York Sun.

Thankful.

"I am lucky in being taken ill here in New York, instead of being laid up anywhere else."

"Ah!" said the doctor.

"Yes. For all this money I'll have to pay you I'd have to be ill anywhere else for more than two months."—New York World.

U. S. BOY SCOUTS IN ACTION

Young Lads Help Materially in Assisting in Keeping the City Clean and Healthy.

Chicago.—The Boy Scouts of America have done much for themselves and others. Ever ready and anxious to be of service, the boys have by their promptness of action and serviceable work, attracted the entire attention of the country.

In the picture is a detail of Troop Seventy-eight, of the Boy Scouts of Boy Scouts Inspecting Building.

These young fellows make it their business as opportunity affords, to assist the city authorities in keeping the city clean and healthy.

They perform this work without increasing the enmity of the people, in fact are cordially welcomed by them wherever they go.

Such a movement deserves emulation in all of our large cities over the entire country.

WOMAN SEEKS HER AFFINITY

Travels Far and Wide Looking for Unknown Who Dying Husband Said She Should Wed.

New York.—The most remarkable story told for many moons to ship news reports was recited here by Mrs. Eugene Williams, beautiful, wealthy, aged nineteen, and a widow, as she sailed away for Sweden to find an affinity she has never seen, nor whose name she does not know.

"My home was in Detroit," said Mrs. Williams. "When I was sixteen, Mr. Williams, who lived in Pittsburgh, met me. It was love at first sight. We were married. Two years ago he died. On his deathbed he called me to him.

"'I don't want you to marry again unless you marry one of my boyhood chums,' said my husband. 'He lives in Sweden. He is your perfect affinity.' Before he could say any more he died.

"Three times since then I have sailed to foreign lands, looking for my affinity. A dozen times I thought I had found him, and became engaged"—and here the little widow displayed a hand covered with solitaires—"but each time I found it was not the right man. I don't know his name, don't know what he looks like. I don't know anything about this man who is to be my second husband except that he lives somewhere in Sweden.

"I was quite discouraged when I got back last time. Then I consulted spiritualists. They located my affinity for me and now I am going to where he is. When I find him we shall be married. I'll let you boys know all about him if I should marry him," said the girl waving a farewell from aboard the liner.

Bishop Works as Coal Miner.

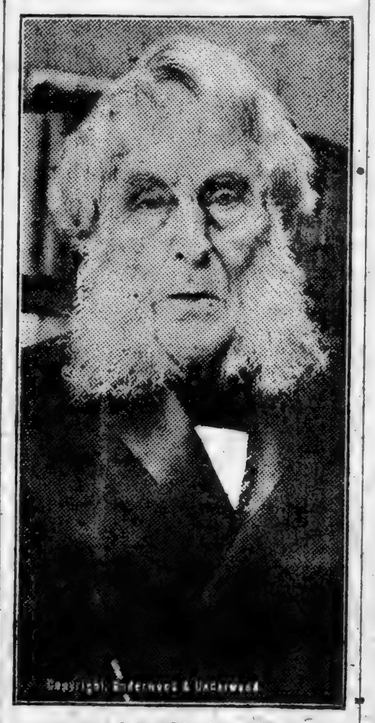
London.—The Bishop of Birmingham, Dr. Wakefield, worked as a coal miner, when, provided with a miner's coat and lamp, he descended the pit of the Hamstead colliery, near Birmingham. After watching the men at work, Dr. Wakefield assisted in obtaining some coal. He expressed pleasurable surprise at the comfortable conditions under which the men worked. The bishop spent about an hour in the pit and traveled about a mile from the shaft.

Cat Costs a College $100,000.

Middletown, Conn.—The will of Miss Margaret Van Deursen, who died at an advanced age a few days ago, reveals how Wesleyan university lost a fortune because a Wesleyan student stole Miss Van Deursen's pet cat ten years ago and used it for experimental purposes in the biological laboratory. Miss Van Deursen was the last of her family. Her estate of $100,000 or $150,000 is bequeathed to charities.

BIGELOW IS HONORED

Union College Plans Memorial to Author and Diplomat.



Committee Raising $100,000 for Recitation Hall and Professorship at Schenectady Institution—Was 17 When He Graduated.

Schenectady, N. Y.—Plans are rapidly being perfected at Union college for the establishment of an elaborate memorial in honor of John Bigelow, the author and diplomat, whose long life of service ended in New York on December 19, 1911. John Bigelow was a Union man of the class of 1835, and was for many years the oldest living alumnus of the college. The memorial is to take the form of a recitation hall which will bear Mr. Bigelow's name and a professorship in political science, and for these two purposes at least $100,000 must be raised. A committee, of which Joseph H. Choate is chairman, has dedicated itself to the raising of this fund, and the circulars calling for subscriptions will soon be sent out.

"It is felt," says this committee, "that the most fitting memorial would be a building erected on the campus of his Alma Mater at Schenectady, N. Y., with lecture halls and rooms devoted to the studies he loved, history, politics, and literature, and the establishment there in of a John Bigelow professorship of political science. The building would be named the 'John Bigelow Memorial Hall,' and would stand on the main avenue of the college grounds entered through the gateway erected to the momory of John Howard Payne, author of 'Home, Sweet Home,' a member of the class of 1810 at Union college.

"The service of John Bigelow to his country in the dark days of the Civil war should always be gratefully remembered. While William H. Seward, his fellow-graduate of Union college, was managing brilliantly the affairs of the department of state, John Bigelow, as minister to France, was successful in the delicate task of maintaining our national credit in the countries of Europe. Throughout the whole of his long life he devoted his powers without stint to unselfish and untiring effort in the service of his fellow-men.

"He held a place in the esteem and affection of his countrymen held by no other man, and when he died at the age of ninety-four his right to the title of 'The First Citizen of New York' was not questioned. We are confident that this plan will be received by many as a welcome opportunity to serve at once the double purpose of stimulating the spirit of patriotism and of doing honor to the memory of one whose name should be held among us in grateful remembrance. In the last few years of his life Mr. Bigelow turned with peculiar affection to his old college, and a memorial serving such a useful purpose in the fitting of young men for citizenship is one which he would warmly approve."

Contributions may be sent to the treasurer of the committee, Oswald Garrison Villard of the New York Evening Post. Other members of the committee are Justice Charles E. Hughes, J. Pierpont Morgan, Henry Fairfield Osborn, George A. Plimpton, Eliphalet Nott Potter, Andrew Carnegie, Elihu Root, John L. Cadwalader, Joseph E. Ransdell, and President Richmond of Union.

To Stop Scenes in Russian Duma.

London.—A Russian engineer has offered to install in the duma an apparatus of his invention which is designed by the mere pressure of a button, to render it impossible for any deputy to rise to his feet. In this way, Darkest Russia says, he claims that all demonstrations and unseemly scenes can be prevented. M. Rodzianko, the president of the duma, submitted the offer for the consideration of the presidential board. The board was of the opinion that the duma could dispense with such an appliance.

President Milton H. Smith Gives Reasons Why L. & N. Cannot Accept Rate Reductions

Editor The Birmingham News:

I have read with interest editorial in your issue of the eighth instant entitled, "Judge Grubb's Decision Should Stand Uncontested," and while appreciating some of the commendatory expressions regarding the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company, I disagree with the averments upon which I assume you base your conclusions and advice.

You say: "The amount of money involved in the half-cent lower rate is a trifle comparatively. That great system can readily afford the loss." Had you been advised of the facts you would not, I am sure, have reached such conclusion. The loss actually sustained by the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company in the State of Alabama from June 1, 1909, to January 31, 1912—32 months, during which period it was compelled by the order of the Federal Court to put the reduced rates for passenger traffic on trial while the merits of the case were being adjudicated—amounted to $640,128.15, or an average of over $240,000 per year reduction in net revenues, the cost of conducting the traffic at the rate of 2 1-2 cents maximum being the same as at the rate of 3 cents per mile maximum. Capitalizing this on a 4 per cent basis, you will find that the loss of net earnings was equal to the interest on $6,000,000. This is but a small part of the loss in revenue that must result from reduction of the rates in Alabama. If the rates in Alabama are reduced, corresponding reductions must be made in the other States in which the company operates south of the Ohio River, in all of which it is receiving maximum of 3 cents per mile, including Tennessee, Kentucky and Georgia. We estimate the loss that would result from such reduction to be not less than $1,000,000 per year, net, which capitalized at 4 per cent is equal to $25,000,000. The capacity or ability of the company to earn interest on money to be borrowed would be reduced fully $25,000,000, and its credit impaired to that extent. And, unfortunately, this is not all. The adoption of the maximum of 2½ cents per mile for the transportation of intrastate passengers will necessarily enforce a reduction in the interstate rates. As an illustration: The Louisville & Nashville now receives for the transportation of passengers between Louisville and Nashville $5.50 per single trip. At 2½ cents it would receive $4.60, a reduction of 90 cents per passenger, or 17 per cent in net earnings. Assuming the net earnings to be 40 per cent, or $2.20—the average for the system during the last fiscal year was 30 per cent—the reduction is equal to 41 per cent of net earnings.

Should Not Impair Road's Credit.

It is of great importance to the communities served by the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company that its credit be not impaired, but strengthened as far as possible. This is of special importance to the people of Alabama. If the traffic continues to grow (which necessarily means if the country served by it increases in wealth and population), enormous expenditures must be made in the near future. The line from Louisville to New Orleans must be reconstructed, and a second track created. This necessitates practically building a new line; and from investigations made, it will result in the building of a double-track line from some point near Birmingham to the Tensas River at Hurricane Station, shortening the line nearly 40 miles, also, incidentally, shortening the line to Pensacola. Other similar additions must be made in Eastern Kentucky, East Tennessee and Georgia, including an extension of the present line of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad to Atlanta. The line in Illinois and Indiana must also be reconstructed. Large expenditures are now being made, and the capital to pay for them has been provided, but a considerable part of it has been secured upon what are deemed onerous terms, indicating that the credit of the company is somewhat impaired; and the future outlook is such that the management will not enter upon any additional extensions—the board will not authorize further expenditures on capital account, awaiting the result of the present threatening financial conditions.

It is not improbable that all extensions and additions to property, not only of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, but of the railroads of the country, may be suspended for an indefinite period. When this is done—that is, when the very large expenditures being made for additions and extensions of railways, including the construction of electric railways, is checked or stopped altogether because of the difficulty in raising additional capital—the general business of the country must necessarily be greatly depressed, and there may possibly be a repetition of the conditions that prevailed in 1907.

Attacks Cause Anxiety and Uncertainty.

Capital invested in railways, and in many other public utilities and industrials, is being attacked from so many directions that it causes anxiety and uncertainty. Persistent and determined efforts are being made to reduce the revenues of the railways, as well as other forms of industry. Taxes are being increased annually, and determined efforts are being made in some States to quadruple them. Cities, States and the United States are vying with each other in enacting laws and enforcing regulations increasing the cost of operation and reducing the net revenues of the railways. Notice has been served by the highest officials of the United States that an attempt to reduce costs by reducing wages must not be made. Such notice is intended especially to apply to industrial organizations.

If the net revenues of the railways be reduced by reduction of rates, increasing taxation, and increase in labor costs (which seems to be proceeding without restriction), how long will it be before the two converging lines meet, so that the most prosperous companies may be unable to earn dividends, thus destroying their credit, and many become unable to pay the interest on their indebtedness?

It must be plain to all that if the present tendency is not checked, the interests of the country at large must be disastrously affected, resulting in great losses and suffering, especially to those dependent upon regular employment at remunerative rates.

It is argued in some of the press that the Louisville & Nashville Railroad management deserves condemnation because it resists the reduction in rates that has been accepted by other roads. It is asserted that the other lines are transporting passengers at the reduced rates without incurring losses. It must be remembered that the other railroads referred to are mainly the Southern Railway and those controlled by it, namely, the Alabama Great Southern and Mobile & Ohio. Surely the people of Alabama have not forgotten that this reduction was forced upon them; that they did not, and have not, willingly accepted such enforced reduction; that in 1907 the license of the Southern Railway Company to transact business in Alabama was canceled, the nominal reason being the transfer of a suit from the State court to the United States court, but the real reason being the alleged violation of the satutory act fixing the maximum rate for the transportation of passengers at 2½ cents per mile; that the Southern Railway had previously encountered somewhat similar conditions in North Carolina, and perhaps in Georgia or other States; that in October, 1907, the representatives of the Southern Railway, Alabama Great Southern and Mobile & Ohio entered into a contract with the then Governor of Alabama to reduce passenger rates under certain conditions, one of which was the dismissing of the litigation or withdrawing cancellation of its license to transact business, another was the guarantee by the then Governor that the Railroad Commission of Alabama should permit the raising of certain rates on commodities if, after trial, they were found to be too low, also guaranteeing that no right or interests of the said railroads should be affected by legislation to be enacted at any extra session of the Legislature held preceding the next regular session, and relieving the companies from any penalties theretofore incurred by alleged violation of the laws.

Forced Reductions are Hurtful.

We are told that in olden times governing officials having despotic power, needing money, forced contributions from wealthy victims by pulling their teeth until they complied; but we are not advised that the victims enjoyed it and I think we may conclude that notwithstanding the apparent cheerful acquiescence in the enforced reduction in the rates of transportation of passengers, from maximum of 3 cents to maximum of 2½ cents, of the roads in Alabama, it is not conclusive evidence that they believe the interests they represent have been promoted by such enforced action.

However, be that as it may, the conditions under which the Louisville & Nashville operates in Alabama vary greatly from those of other railroads. The Louisville & Nashville is the only company in Alabama that has recklessly invested capital in the building of branch roads—roads over which only local or intrastate traffic is moved. Nearly 70 per cent of the mileage operated by the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company is branch or intrastate lines. All other railroads in Alabama handle their intrastate traffic over lines mainly devoted to interstate or through traffic, and in one sense it may be said that their intrastate or local traffic is incidental to their other business; but the Louisville & Nashville is operating nearly one million passenger train miles per annum on branch lines wholly dependent for revenue upon the local travel. It will readily be seen that the losses that may be incurred by other roads may be materially less than of the Louisville & Nashville, and the reduction may, therefore, to them, not be so serious a matter; but it is, as shown, vital to the Louisville & Nashville.

Much Business Done at a Loss.

It is judicially established that the intrastate passenger traffic of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad in Alabama is done at a heavy loss; that is, that the revenue derived is not sufficient to pay the cost of movement expenses and very little, if any, return upon the capital invested. But the plea is made that as the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company's entire traffic has, during the past few years, been profitable, it should, and may, be compelled to transport business in Alabama at a loss. The State of Alabama can not justly require that the earnings of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad in other States, or earnings derived from interstate traffic—that is, traffic passing between points in two or more States—be appropriated to pay losses resulting from moving traffic between points within the State at unremunerative rates. The laws of the country prohibit such action by any State, and the law is so construed and will be so enforced by the courts. Such is the law, and it ought to be the law. If the State of Alabama can require the carriers to transport persons and property between points within the State at a loss, Tennessee, Kentucky and other States may do so, resulting in general and sweeping reductions of all the intrastate rates, which in turn will force the reduction of interstate rates, and bankruptcy will result.

I am well aware that it is exceedingly embarrassing for an editor to acknowledge that he has erred, and that very few will do so; but I hope I have made it clear that your statement that "the amount involved in the half-cent lower rate is a trifle comparatively. That great system can readily afford the loss," is erroneous.

CLANTON PRESS

PUBLISHED IN THE INTEREST OF CHILTON COUNTY AND HER PEOPLE

VOL 4. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY JUNE 19, 1913 NO. 11

HARD TO HOLD

Readers of the Press will recall that several weeks since we printed an article stating that Mr. L. P. Mashburn, who was in some way connected with the contract on the Dam road, had been 'pulled' by Sheriff Jones and held by him on a charge of bigamy, and, that while awaiting the arival of the Florida officers, where his crime was committed, he attempted to wreck the Chilton county jail. The following clipping from the Atlanta Constitution would indicate that Mr. Mashburn is a difficult individual to keep incarcerated, and that, though he admits to being the father of two children by a lady who claims to be his lawful wife, he repudiates her, and, that his second wife clings to him with a tenacity worthy of a better cause and a more honorable man.

Cordele, Ga., June 18.--(Special)--After escaping from the Taylor county jail at Perry, Fla., L. P. Mashburn, who is held on a bigamy charge, it being alleged that he enduced Miss Bessie Peterson, of Cordele, to become his second bride, has been re-captured at Clanton, Ala., and returned to Perry.

Mashburn's case is proving a rather puzzling one to the officers of Perry Though stating that the young boy and girl, who brought about his arrest when he sent to Valdosta for them, are the children of himself and the woman who claims that she is wife No. 1, Mashburn declares that he was never married to this woman. However, wife No. 1 avows that they were married by the ordinary of Heard county, Ga., and that the marriage record was destroyed some years ago when the court house in that county was destroyed by fire.

Miss Peterson, or Mrs. Mashburn No. 2, of this city, declares that she will dearly love Mashburn notwithstanding the charge against him. It develops that her father needed them a lot upon which to build a home in Cordele, which he states he promised to do when she consented to become his wife. During his short freedom from jail she received severa letters and sums of money from him. --Atlanta Constitution.

CITY NEWS NOTES

INTERESTING ITEMS CAUGHT ON THE FLY

Chief of Police Hayes informs the curbstone reporter that there is now sufficient funds in the city treasury to purchase for the exclusive use of the town, a first-class road working and grading machine and, that as soon as the farmers have "layed by" their crops, so that teams can be hired at reasonable rates, such a machine will be purchased and the old pick and shovel brigade relegated to the rear, or ancient days, so to speak. This will be glorious news to thoss who have in former days taken a nip at the end of their tongues by unfortunately tripping into some hole or gulley where they supposed the "walking would be good"

In fact, while this machine is necessary and will prove a veritable boon to the town, would it not be wise to purchase a "water wagon" also, or rather to exchange the old six-mule wagon for one that can be drawn by an average team? The saving of dust-stewed merchandise to the merchants would more than compensate for the purchase, or exchange. Then, the saving in health, happiness and worry too valuable to mention.

STREET TAXES

Any one who has read the above article will doubtless ask from where the money was derived to purchase a road-working machine. That's easy; Chief Hayes 'squoze' it out of the pockets of the citizens who were subject to street tax.

And, that brings up another question: Is Clantonn growing at such a rapid rate as the collections would indicate? Is she really, or have our citizens been dodging the payment of street taxes? Which or tother was it or is it?

A little review of the figures secured from the Town Clerk's office will throw some light on the question at least, may prove interesting reding to those who like to juggle with figures.

For instance: The town books show that the following were the street tax collections:

1908—$183 or from 91 persons
1999—$28 or from 9 1-3 persons.
1910—$160 or from 53 1-3 persons.
1911—$251 or from 83 1-3 persons.
1912—$423 or from 141 persons.
1913—$495 or from 165 persons.

The Chief says there are yet several delinquents from whom he will secure enough to run the total collections for this year up to something like $525.00.

Now, taking these figures and applying the general rule of averages to them, it would indicate that in 1908 that Clanton had a population of 915 persons. In 1909, that must have been the year of a general scare, as the population dwindled down to 140 persons, all told; but, in 1910 she 'got a move on' and increased her population to 800, or an average increase of 550 per cent; but even then she did not reach the high water mark of population as indicated by the figures for 1908; however, the census for 1910 we had a population of 1028; but, we must bear in mind that there were a number of gypsies and horse traders here at the time the cesus was taken and that may have accounted for the phenominal growth; If. however, that be true, the following year was even more astonishing, for counting the 1909 growth as due to the gypsies, and our natural growth but normal, we jumped from 140 in 1909 to 1255 in 1911. Some growing, that! Then came the good old year of 1912, when we grew from a village of 1255 to a teeming city of 2,115, according to figures at the City Clerk's office. And, the hoodoo year ot 1913 could not stop us; in fact, it would take more than a row of 13's to stop Clanton from growing, and we have the figures to prove it.

Now just glance at the population as indicated by the street tax figures for 1912—a trifling total of 2,115—and compare them with these figures, which are backed by the street tax collections for the hoodoo year:

1912 gave us 2,115 souls, and 1913 netted us 2,475 human beings within the corporate limits of Clanton. Even bold, bad Birmingham cannot boast of any such climbing as that. Yet, who's going to deny it? The books prove it and figures, you know, will not —— tell a fib, even in the dark.

JEMISON

There will be an entertainment at the Odd Fellows hall Saturday night, July 21, 1913, by the Rebekah branch of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows. Ice cream and cake, lemonade aud other refreshments will be served. We will also have speaking and music by the string band. Everybody is invited. Respectfully,

SCOTT DELIVERS THE GOODS

We clip the following from the Monday issue of the Age-Herald, which will prove exceedingly interesting reading to the youngster's many Chilton friends:

Umpire Scott Chesnutt delivered the goods in large quantities. Although he was employed only until Umpire Kerin could return to his perilous position, the Mobile newspapers strongly advocated his retention.

Says the Mobile Register: "An announcement that will be read with regret by local fans, and at least three ball clubs in the league, is that Umpire Scott Chesnutt, the new man who made such a favorable impression, has been relieved, Umpire Kerin, whose place he filled, returning to claim his job. Chesnutt received notice late Thursday night and left for his north Alabama home yesterday morning. He umpired a series between Montgomery and Mobile and Memphis and Mobile and not alone the fans, but players of all three clubs stamped the young arbiter as O. K., and when all players are satisfied with an umpire he is really competent. We don't like to see anybody lose a job, but President Kavanaugh could not make a mistake if he'd take this youngster back on his staff to replace one of the other eight men. We might offer a suggestion as to whose place he could take, but we might hurt eight men's feelings."

The Mobile Item is just as favorable with: "Umpire Scott Chesnutt will not appear in the Southern league unless President Kavanaugh finds a birth for him by the elmination process he was merely filling Umpire Kerin's place temporially and that official having returned, was relieved from duty after Thursday's game at Mobile. Chesnutt made a decidedly good impression all around, and President Kavanaugh should know where to find the right man when an umpire is needed."

IN MEMORY

On May 31, 1913, death visited the home of Mr. A. J. Williams, and claimed Era, wife of E. E. Williams, son of A. J. Williams,

Era had just entered into full grown womanhood and was married to Mr. Williams on the 2nd Sunday in November, 1912

Era was an obedient daughter, a faithful daughter-in-law and a loving and dutiful wife—a companion indeed.

She had recently entered married life, and the prospects before her bid as fair as before any of us to live a long and happy life, but alas, how soon our earthly hopes and prospects can vanish and come to naught.

The bereaved have the sincere sympathy of the entire community and we commend them to the all wise God, who doeth all things right, and who has given us so many great and precious promises of the glorious things that await all those who are true and faithful to him.

And now may we all have the consoling thought as expressed by the poet when he said;

"Asleep in Jesus, blessed sleep,
From which, none ever wake to weep;
A calm and undisturbed repose,
Unbroken by the last of foes.
Truly indeed the pardon was sad,
But righteously glorious will the meeting be that

A PRETTY WEDDING

Perfect in every appointment was the pretty nuptial event which was solemnized Wednesday evening at the First Baptist church, uniting in marriage, Miss Frances, Haggard and Dr. John Turpin Calloway. On account of the close identification of the bride with the Philathea class, of the Sunday School, this class had entire charge of arrangements, its members participating as attendants, and the happy occasion was a "Philathea wedding"

The church was also artistically decorated—being also the work of the Philatheas—with ferns, potted plants, palms and a quantity of daisies; a trace of ivy followed the chancel railing and formed an outline for the altar, which was a bower of daisies and lilies.

Preceding the arrival of the wedding party, an excellent musical program including two vocal numbers, with Mrs. J. M. Smartt as organist, was rendered in her delightful manner, "It is not because your heart is mine," by Lohr, after which, Mrs. Wilhoite, a member of the class, sang beautifully, "Call Me Thine Own," by Halzey.

Mrs. Smartt then played the Intermezza by Maschagin, changing into the "Bridal Chorus," by Lohengrin, which announced the approach of the bridal party. First came the ushers, Messrs. Gorden, Wood and Gillespie; then came the bridesmaids, Miss Gussie Calloway, a sister of the groom, Miss Elizabeth Maliff, president of the class, up either side, followed by the bride, who was attended by Miss Mabel Howell Worley, teacher of the Philathea class, who gave her away, and the groom, with his best man, Mr. Robert D. Williams on the opposite side, and were met at the altar by the officiating minister, Rev. Monroe Wolfe, a cousin of the bride, where the impressive ring ceremony was performed, the party leaving the church to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march.

The bride was attired in a daintily fashioned gown of embroidery batiste and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and sweet peas; a wreath of the same flowers adorned her hair.

Miss Worley, her attendant, was gowned in pink silk marquesette, with lace and satin trimmings, and carried an arm boquet of daisies.

The bridesmaids, Miss Calloway and Miss Maliff, were becomingiy gowned; the former in white lingarie with lace trimmings, and the latter in pink crepe with lace trimmings.

Mrs. Calloway is the only daughter of Julius Sylvester Haggard, and during her short residence in this city, has made many friends, by her exemplary Christian character and sweet personality, It is especially a source of regret to the Sunday school class that her marriage will remove her to another city.

Dr. Calloway is a young physician of Birmingham, where he is prominent in church circles. He will begin immediately the erection of a home in that city for his bride.

A number of quite useful presents were received by the happy pair among which was a handsome piece of silver from the Philathea class.—Chattanooga News.

SAMARIA

For sometime we have looked forward to Sunday, June 15th, as a day of praise by a home service.

There being several appearances [illegible] singing.

Bro. T. L. Robinson was elected chairman, and J. C. Alred, E. B. Calloway and T. E. Williams appointed arrangement committee for the day.

The following leaders were present and each sang a lesson of fifteen minutes, with T. L. Dennis a second lesson: T. L. Robinson, H. L. Henderson, W. G. Culp, Jasper Robinson, T. L. Dennis, Lee Robinson, E. E. Smith, John Lowery, Dave Melton, W. O. Rich and Joe Henderson.

The most striking features of the day were: Plenty of dinner, nice behavior, good singers, who took an interest in singing, and Bro. T. L. Robinson with his excellent choir mosly tof Robinsons, and last but not least Cupid could be seen on his duty at each hour of the day.

GOES TO WAYNESBORO

MINISTER SEEKS REST AND STUDY AT SAME TIME

At Waynesboro, North Carolina. beginning on June 25, the Southern Methodist church will hold a great assembly. Perhaps no other church enterprise of recent years has been upon such an immense scale as this meeting will be; high dignitaries of the church, missionaries and church workers in all departments will be there; thousands of Methodists from all over the South wilt attend; among them Rev. L. H. S. Chappelle, of the Clanton charge, who goes not only that he may have a few days rest from his arduous labors, but in order that he may gain inspiration and information, such as can be had only at such meetings,

JAIL WORK UNDER HEADWAY

INNER CELLS BEING PLACED

Within a few more days, unless something unforseen happens, Chilton county will have one of the most convenient, safe and sanitary jails in the state for the retention of law-breakers.

Workmen are now busily engaged in placing the double row of steel cages and otherwise rearranging the old jail and the work will soon be completed and turned over to the county in its finished state.

By the way, Sheriff Jones has gained two more boarders in the past week, in the persons of Jerry Johnson, who was caught with six quarts, four pints and eighteen bottles of beer up about Minooka, and T. D. Little, who was apprehended with forty-eight halves and four bottles of beer. Both, it is reported, were on their way to the Dam to turn their liquors into the hard cash.

DOES IT PAY?

Well, experience teaches that it does, yet, some people will undertake to controvert the teachings of the most skilled of schoolmasters; however, we have long since learned to take old dame Experience's word for most every thing, especially when it is backed by such as the following:

FAIRVIEW VS. RED RIPPERS

Dear Editor:

Please allow me a little space to report an excellent game of ball played here last Saturday.

The Red Rippers came over to cross bats with the Fairview aggregation and went home sadder but wiser men to the tune of 22 to 11.

Batteries: Fairview, Griffin and Smith; Red Rippers, Mullins and Powell.

Pitcher Griffin, for Fairview, was speedy, letting the Red Ripper boys down with but few bingles; they could not get on to the speed and quick twist of Griffin.

However, we want to encourage the Red Rippers to try again, for they will, doubtless, do better next time; there's no use to become discouraged.

Crops here are looking fine now and our people are happy, well and contented. Success to the Press.

MOUNTAIN CREEK

Capt. J. M. Simpson and Mrs. Carrie McMasters went to Birmingham on Sunday, owing to the death of Mr. Allen, a son-of-law of Capt. Simson.

Capt. W. J. Bethune, Dr. J. P. Ellsberry, Capt. J. M. Simpson, J. A. Pride and W. H. Swain will attend the Gettysburg reunion. They were all in the fight there, 50 years ago.

Fertilizers is in demand here; not a sack on sale, so Mr. Coberu says.

Crops are looking splendid, and big results are expected.

The Sunday school picnic given by the Baptist church was an enjoyable affair. W. P. T.

MOVING PICTURES

Clanton is enjoying a season of moving picture shows.

There is something classy about the show too; the theatre is cooled by large electric fans so patrons need not fear the heat; the reels are all comparatively new and show well, and they are of such a nature, as to produce serious thought, joyful mirth and pleasant pastime. The prices are within the reach of all and the educational value of such amusements is beyond calculation. All who can should patronage the pictures and thereby encourage the new management.

By the way, the Clanton theatre is now under the management of Mr. W. B. Rubenstein, an experienced show man, who promises that, if he can get the proper support and encouragement, he will give the people of the town first-class entertainment to assist them to while away the sultry hours of Summer. Pity we cannot have a day current so that all might enjoy the cooling breezes of an electric fan and the pleasure of an afternoon's entertainment at the "movies."

FOURTH OF JULY PICNIC

There will be a basket picnic and dance at Bruce's grove, one mile north of Clanton, on July Fourth. An up-to-date string band will be on hand to furnish music for the occasion, and all who attend will be assured a good time. Everybody invited to come and bring a well-filled basket.

600 SOLDIERS DEAD ON FIELD OF BATTLE

CRUSHING DEFEAT IS INFLICTED ON THE HUERTA FORCES BY THE REBELS.

RAILWAY LINES ARE TIED UP

All the Outlying Troops Called in to Defend the City of Chihuahua.

El Paso, Texas.—Six hundred federals were killed or wounded in a battle at Sanaillo, according to reports reaching here from southern Chihuahua state.

After this victory over more than 1,200 federals, the insurgents, under Generals Villa, Chao and Hernandez, marched north toward the state capital, whence the Parral garrison had retreated. They are reported as having taken Cusihuirachio, a mining town, west of Chihuahua City.

The four hundred federals, who evacuated Madera, were met by Villa's men at Bustillos. The rebels poured a hot fire into the federal troops train, killing the engineer and fireman. The train retired.

General Mercado, acting military governor, has called in all other outlying garrisons to the defense of the capital. The insurgents are maneuvering to prevent these movements.

Some five hundred federals at Juarez alone remain unaffected by the general's orders. Juarez is threatened by a movement of constitutionalists from the Ojinaga district below the Texas border, according to military reports received at Fort Bliss, Texas.

Practically every railway line in the state is out of commission, as a result of rebel activities. There is no traffic on the Mexican Central north or south of the state capital. The Mexican Northwestern railway is operating below the border only as far as Casas Grandes.

The only armed force of consequence in the Casas Grandes district is led by Colonel Costello, a mutineer, from the federal ranks. He has proclaimed for the Vasquez Gomez revolution, which is not connected with the constitutional movement.

24 PERSONS HURT IN WRECK

Victims Mostly Women and Children, Some of Them Will Die.

St. Louis, Mo.—Twenty-four persons—mostly women and children—were injured in a rear-end trolley car collision on the Grove Couer Lake line in St. Louis county. Two of them, Mrs. Dora Bingham and Mrs. Regina A. Carouthers, will probably die. A score of others were bruised and cut by falling glass, but refused to go to the hospital.

The accident occurred near Overland, Park, and both were open-air cars crowded with picnickers. The trolley of th efirst car came off as it rounded a curve, leaving the car in darkness, and the second car, running forty miles an hour, crashed into it.

The cars were interlocked, and both telescoped. A passenger ran a mile to telephone for a wrecker. Nineteen of the injured were taken to the Missouri Baptist sanitarium and five were treated by physicians at Overland. The others helped each other bandage up their wounds and were brought into town on the wrecker.

The crash knocked women and children out from either side of the cars into the gulley beside the tracks.

The shrieks of the children, frantic mothers and the injured passengers brought farmers and suburbanites to the scene from a radius of half a mile.

The open-air cars were twice the length of the city street cars and had only awnings as roofs.

The forward end of one car and the rear half of the other were reduced to splinters. A similar accident occurred on the same curve two years ago.

Women Policemen at Newport.

Newport, R. I.—For the first time in the history of the famous Newport Baech two women policemen were placed on duty there. They wore as uniforms blue blouses with brass buttons, blue skirts and sailor straw hats. They are appointed at the request of the Newport Civic League, and will be on duty all summer.

Urged to Save Lives of Babies.

Washington.—Warning every community in the nation that the great death rate of babies is due to diseases which to a large extent are preventable, the children's bureau of the department of labor has prepared a compilation of the steps which various up-to-date cities are taking to protect child life, and will circulate it in a national campaign of diffusing child welfare ideas. This bulletin, which will be a feature of the children's bureau, exhorts every community to wage summer campaigns.

Crowded Auto Struck by Train.

Chattanooga, Tenn.—When a Southern railway passenger train struck an automobile near Collegedale, sixteen miles from this city, Frank Plumlee, 43, well-known Chattanoogan, was killed. His wife received serious cuts and bruises about the face and head. Miss Willie Newton and Lee Chamberlain, the chauffeur, also were badly hurt. The dead and wounded were brought to this city. The automobile in which the party was riding was thrown fifty feet and crushed to splinters.

TURK GRAND VIZIER KILLED

MAHMOUD SCHEFKET AND AIDE DE CAMP ARE SHOT DOWN WHILE MOTORING.

Official Account of the Assassination Is Given Out—Ten Shots Were Fired by Assassins.

Constantinople.—Mahmoud Schefket Pasha, the Turkish grand vizier and minister of war, was shot and killed by assassins. His aide-de-camp, Lieut. Ibrahim Bey, was also killed.

Prince Said Halim, foreign minister and ex-president of the council of state, has been appointed grand vizier ad interim. All the other ministers retain their portfolios.

The following official account of the assassination has been issued:

"On leaving the minister of war, the grand vizier entered a motor car with the intention of proceeding to the sublime porte. But the car was obliged to stop while going through Bayezid and Divan Yolu square because the road was torn up. Some persons in another car, whose identity has not been established, fired ten shots at the car. The grand vizier, who was severely wounded, was taken back to the ministry of war, where he died half an hour later.

"Lieut. Ibrahim Bey, who was accompanying Mahmour Schefket Pasha, also was hit by some of the bullets and subsequently died."

A man named Topal Tewfik, has been arrested; he is suspected of being one of the assassins. He had in his possession two revolvers and some cartridges.

PASS WOMAN SUFFRAGE BILL

Governor Will Sign Measure Giving Women Right to Vote.

Springfield, Ill.—The woman's suffrage bill, granting women the right to vote for all statutory offices in the state of Illinois, was passed by the house by a vote of 83 ayes to 58 nays.

Pending notice of a motion to reconsider the vote by which the bill was passed, it will remain in possession of the house. Unless the house reconsiders its vote, which is considered not likely, the suffrage bill will be up to Governor Dunne by the latter part of the present week for executive approval or vote.

In order to give notice of a motion to reconsider, Representative McCarty, Democrat, of Chicago, changed his vote from "nay" to "aye." He gave the formal notice that on the next legislative day he would move a reconsideration.

Snowfall in North Carolina.

Bristol, Va.—A special from Bakersville, N. C., says that three inches of snow fell in Mitchell county. The weather in this entire mountain section has been the coldest three days that has ever been known in June. Cattle owners in western North Carolina report that they will be compelled to pen their cattle and feed them.

Troops to Give Battle to Sultan.

Manila, P. I.—Brig. Gen. John Pershing, commander of the department of Mindanao, has made arrangements to engage in a decisive fight against the rebellious Moros entrenched at Bagsag, under the sultan of Jolo. A stubborn resistance to the advance of the American troops was expected, and a strong force had therefore been assembled, consisting of a company of regular infantry, a troop of cavalry, seven companies of scouts, two companies of constabulary with a battery of four mountain guns.

FIGHT IS BREWING ON MONEY REFORM

HENRY ALLEGES WALL STREET IS BACKING CURRENCY LEGISLATION.

OPPOSITION TO THE MEASURE

The Administration Money Measure Now Ready to Be Presented to the House.

Washington.—An undercurrent of opposition among a considerable number of house Democrats to this session of congress took definite shape, when Representative Henry of Texas, chairman of the powerful rules committee, openly charged that Wall street was back of the propaganda for currency legislation.

While favoring revision of the banking and currency laws at the next session of congress, Mr. Henry insisted that further investigation of the so-called "money trust" should be immediately pressed. The Pujo committee, he declared, barely scratched the surface of the facts underlying the concentration of control of money and credit, because the controller of the currency refused access to his records, making it impossible for the investigators "to completely expose the existing relations between the Wall street bankers and their allies with the trusts and monopolies, stock gamblers and financial conspirators."

"Wall street bankers," he added, "now are demanding legislation on the currency question in order that they may make a market for their commercial paper, much of it based on rotten securities, and have currency issued on their asests."

Mr. Henry introduced a bill to amend the banking laws, so as to make banking associations subject to the visitorial powers, "exercised or directed," by congress or by either house of congress.

While this was going on, it became known that the administration measure, representing the combined views of President Wilson, Secretary of the Navy McAdoo, Senator Owen of Oklahoma, chairman of the senate banking and currency committee, and Representative Glass, chairman of the house banking and currency committee of the house probably would meet to take up the bill. President Wilson is expected to send a message on the subject. Mr. Glass had a long conference with Secretary McAdoo, going over the details of the bill.

$88,000,000 LEFT BY ASTOR

s the Largest Estate Ever Appraised in the United States.

New York.—The estate of Col. John Jacob Astor, who perished in the Titanic disaster, was officially appraised at close to $88,000,000, of which Vincent Astor receives $68,964,499; Mrs. Madeline Force Astor $7,678,896; Muriel Astor $4,856,758, and John Jacob Astor, son of his second marriage, $21,922,672.

The estate is declared to be the largest ever appraised in this country.

Aside from the announcement of the amounts that revert to the heirs, there are two features of special interest in the appraisal.

One is the affidavit of the examiners that the property embraces in the antenuptial agreement for Mrs. Ava Willing Astor, amounting to about $1,738,000, which was to have reverted to her at the time of her husband's death, now terminates and goes to Vincent Astor, for the reason that the youth's mother, although once Colonel Astor's wife, was not his widow. Mrs. Ava Willing Astor divorced her husband, whose legal widow is Mrs. Madeline Force Astor.

Two Birdmen Are Killed.

London.—Lieut. James R. B. Kennedy of the naval wing of the royal flying corps, was killed, and C. Gorfen Bell, another aviator, seriously injured in the fall of a monoplane near the Brookland's aerodrome. Bell was driving the machine with Kennedy as a passenger. The monoplane at a height of about 30 feet was going at the race of 80 miles an hour when Bell essayed a turn and banked the machine at too great an angle.

Gonzales Minister to Cuba.

Washington. — President Wilson made the following nominations: Minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, of South Carolina; minister to Nicaragua, Benjamin L. Jefferson of Colorado; minister to Costa Rica, Edward J. Hale of North Carolina; assistant treasurer of the United States at St. Louis, Willard D. Vendiver. Major Hale was formerly Democratic state chairman in North Carolina and was once consul at Manchester, England. He has been active in North Carolina politics and is a friend of Bryan.

Fierce Battle in Philippines.

Washington.—"Probably the fiercest battle since American occupation," is the description by Brigadier General Pershing of the battle with the Moros in his report by cable to the war department. The Moros made desperate attempts to rush the American lines, but were finally beaten back and overwhelmed. Their leader, Amih and several other noted outlaws, were reported killed, but the head Jolo of the Moros who got reported. One American officer, Lieut. Arthur A. Johnston of the 21st infantry, was killed.

STRIKE WAR UNDER PROBE

CONDITIONS WHICH HAVE KEPT THE STATE IN CIVIL STRIFE FOR YEAR INVESTIGATED.

United States Government to Determine Who Is Responsible for the Conditions That Exist.

Charleston, W. Va.—The power and authority of the government of the United States came to West Virginia to determine who is responsible for the conditions which have kept the state in virtual civil war for more than a year. Opening the investigation of the coal mine strike which has dealt death and destruction in the Paint Creek and Cabin Creek mining sections, the senate mine strike investigating committee called upon the military authorities for the records of the proceedings prior to and under the declaration of martial law in the strike territory.

Judge Advocate General George S. Wallace, Adjutant General Charles D. Elliott, Major James I. Pratt, Captain Charles Morgan and Captain Samuel L. Walker were summoned before the committee to produce the state records regarding the declaration of martial law and the proceedings of the military committee which was placed in authority in the strike district. Senator Borah of Idaho desired their testimony and their records as the basis for the branch of the inquiry which he is conducting as to the charge that citizens have been "arrested, tried and convicted in violation of the Constitution and the law of the United States."

WOMAN IS KILLED IN RIOT

Seven Persons Wounded When Pickets Interfere With Workmen.

Ipswich, Mass.—One woman was shot and killed, seven other persons were wounded by bullets and many others, including several policemen, were hurt by flying missiles in a strike riot outside of the Ipswich Hosiery mills. Fifteen persons were arrested.

The dead woman was Nocoletta Pauldopoulou, aged 27, a spectator of the fight. Five of the wounded were hurried to the Salem hospital in an automobile. All are expected to recover.

Officers were rushesd here in automobiles from Salem, but order had been restored, before their arrival. The actual fighting did not last more than five minutes.

The trouble started when pickets who have conducted a strike aginst the hosiery mills for seven weeks to gain an increase in wages, interfered with the 500 English-speaking employees as they left the mills.

Publicity Law Valid.

Washington.—As interpreted by it the Supreme court upheld the constitutionality of the newspaper publicity law enacted as a part of the postal appropriation act of 1912. The particular section attacked was to bar every newspaper and periodical from the mails unless the editors or owners filed with the postal authorities semi-annual sworn statements giving the names of the editors, owners, stockholders and bondholders. It also forbade publication of paid-for articles unless marked "advertisement."

Ford Named Government Printer.

Washington.—Cornelius J. Ford of New Jersey, a labor leader, was nominated by President Wilson to be public printer. The president also nominated J. C. French as postmaster at Memphis. Among other nominations was that of Charles M. Galloway of South Carolina, as civil service commissioner, and H. J. Geary, postmaster at Lake Charles, La. Ford has been at the head of organized labor of New Jersey as president of the New Jersey Federation of Labor.

TRADE REPORTS ARE MORE OPTIMIS

Warmer Weather Succeeds Cool Temperatures — Large Wheat Field.

New York.—Bradstreet's review trade says:

Despite unseasonably cool weather and stock market unsettlement there are many favorable features presenting themselves this week. Warmer weather has succeeded the chilly temperatures earlier experienced when trade reports are of a rather more optimistic character, based mainly upon expectations of large than not record crops of cereals and the advance northward of the winter wheat harvest.

Clearance sales of summer goods by jobbers, especially at New York have been liberally patronized, a sharp rally in stocks, after reaching the lowest levels since 1908, show that the market is no longer one-sided, and last, but not least, the banks, encouraged apparently by treasury action have displayed a willingness to look up to legitimate commercial borrowers.

On the other hand, tariff uncertainties tend to cause trade for future count to operate under a pull, business in iron and steel is receding and settlements continue to make inroads on orders, while there is said to be a reduction in consumption of pig iron prices for which are very low, and premiums on finished goods for early delivery tend to pass.

Business failures for the week ending June 12 were 239, which compares with 266 in 1912.

Wheat, including flour, exports for the week ending June 12, aggregate 5,032,466 bushels, against 3,653,000 bushels last year.

New York.—Dun's review of trade says:

While reports regarding retail trade conditions indicate that activity is well sustained at many leading centers some recession is noted at others. As wholesale buying is, on the whole, rather cautious. The European political situation improved somewhat during the week, and was reflected in stronger tone at all the leading financial centers.

The decision of the supreme court in the Minnesota railway rate case was followed by a severe decline in New York, but the market recovered sharply later in the week. The United States treasury states that the emergency notes were immediately available should bankers require them, but it is not thought likely that such an issue will be needed.

The government report on crop conditions, although showing a decline in winter wheat, indicate that the yield will be next to the largest on record and points to a season of prosperity throughout the vast region where the cereal is the dominant factor.

While unfilled iron and steel orders of the leading interest for May show a heavy reduction, consumption continues large, and a new buying movement is anticipated at an early date.

Commercial failures this week are 259, against 233 last year. Failures in Canada number 39, against 23 last year.

New York.—The estate of Col. John Jacob Astor, who perished in the Titanic steamship disaster, was officially appraised at close to $88,000,000, of which Vincent Astor receives $68,964,499, Mrs. Madeline Force Astor $7,678,896; Muriel Astor, $3,856,758, and John Jacob Astor, son of his second marriage, $2,922,672.

The estate is declared to be the largest ever appraised in this country. The cost of determining its value was remarkably low owing to an understanding by which the Astor estate bore one-half of the expenses and the state of New York the other half. This made it unnecessary for each side to employ experts with a possibility of having to engage to neutral appraisers in event of a disagreement.

"BRIDGIE" WEBBER STABBED

Principal Witness in Sensational Rosenthal Murder Case Badly Wounded

New York.—"Bridgie" Webber, one of the principal witnesses in the Rosenthal murder case, was stabbed in the back on an East Side street.

It was said at the hospital that the man would undoubtedly recover. Shortly after the conviction of Police Lieutenant Charles S. Becker and four gunmen as the murderers of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, there were many rumors of plots against the witnesses, but the attack on Webber is the first instance of harm that has come to any of the men.

EXTENDS RULING ON INTRASTATE RATES

UPHOLDS STATE RAILROAD LEGISLATION IN FOUR OF THE STATES

MISSOURI LAWS EXCEPTION

Legislation Includes 2-Cent Passenger Laws in Missouri, Arkansas and West Virginia.

Washington.—Without varying a dot from the principles laid down last week in the Minnesota rate case the supreme court of the United States upheld state railroad rate legislation in Missouri, Arkansas, Oregon and West Virginia.

This legislation included 2 cent passenger laws in Missouri, Arkansas and West Virginia; maximum freight rate laws in Missouri and Arkansas, and freight rates out of Portland in the Oregon cases. The only exception to the sweeping approval of state statues was in the case of several weaker roads in Missouri.

The Kentucky case was not decided. It involves an attack upon state rates from river points to inland distillery cities, and involves, in addition, an attack on the constitutionality of the former McChord act, enabling the state railroad commission to fix reasonable rates on intrastate business. A decision in this case may be forthcoming when the court meets again in October.

Justice Hughes announced the decision in the rate cases, as he did in the Minnesota cases a week ago. Wherever the point was raised that the state laws interfered with interstate commerce, the justice referred to his Minnesota rate decision. He disappointed any who believed the court might in some way modify that decision.

"We need not review the arguments addressed to conditions of transportation in Missouri and the relation of intrastate to interstate rates," he said, "for while the case has its special facts by reason of location of the state, and the use of the Mississippi and Missouri rivers as basing point in rate making, the controlling questions thus presented with reference to the authority of the state to prescribe reasonable intrastate rates throughout its territory, unless limited by the exercise on the part of congress of its constitutional power over interstate commerce and its instruments, is not to be distinguished in any material respect from that which was considered and decided in the Minnesota rate cases.

The Oregon and West Virginia cases were decided in favor of the states in a few words, the only point raised by the railroads being that the laws interfered with interstate commerce.

Justice Hughes went fully into an examination of claims in the Missouri and Arkansas cases that the property of the railroads devoted to intrastate business would be confiscated.

As a result the state rates will become operative on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, the Kansas City Southern, the Missouri, Kansas & Texas, the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific (including the St. Louis, Kansas City & Colorado), the St. Louis & San Francisco, the St. Louis Southwestern, the Missouri Pacific, the St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern, the Wabash, the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul and the Chicago & Alton.

A newly rich woman, who was anxious to make a favorable impression in her neighborhood, decided to show her collection of antiques to the bishop when he called. The time came, and one by one she displayed the whole collection, giving him the history of each piece. "There," she said, pointing impressively to an old yellow teapot, "that teapot was used in the Boston tea party."

Regulating Weight.

There is only one way to regulate body weight ,and that is by the natural method—by diet, exercise, bathing, etc.—by alimentation and elimination. The nostrums advertised to take off flesh without change of diet are all dangerous. Be sure of that, and avoid them. The same diet that will put flesh on a thin man will take flesh off a fat one. In other words, a natural diet produces a natural condition of the body.

BEGAN YOUNG.

Had "Coffee Nerves" From Youth.

"When very young I began using coffee and continued up to the last six months," writes a Texas girl.

"I had been exceedingly nervous, thin and very sallow. After quitting coffee and drinking Postum about a month my nervousness disappeared and has never returned. This is the more remarkable as I am a primary teacher and have kept right on with my work.

"My complexion now is clear and rosy, my skin soft and smooth. As a good complexion was something I had greatly desired, I feel amply repaid even though this were the only benefit derived from drinking Postum.

"Before beginning its use I had suffered greatly from indigestion and headache; these troubles are now unknown.

"I changed from coffee to Postum without the slightest inconvenience, did not even have a headache. Have known coffee drinkers, who were visiting me, to use Postum a week without being aware that they were not drinking coffee."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Write for booklet, "The Road to Wellville."

Postum comes in two forms.

Regular (must be boiled).

Instant Postum doesn't require boiling but is prepared instantly by stirring a level teaspoonful in an ordinary cup of hot water, which makes it right for most persons.

A little cream improves Postum, and some people who like strong coffee put in a heaping spoonful. And however it is prepared, a certain result of using Postum is

Where's our six-mule water wagon?

What's gone with it? That High School proposition for Clanton we mean!

News that a coal vein had been struck by the quarrymen out at the dam seems to have been groundless.

Our friends are invited and requested to send us in all the neighborhood news; we will appreciate it and so will our readers.

Subscribers who do not receive their paper regularly and on time are requested to notify the editor of the Press, giving date and post office address.

Articles containing advertising matter of any character will not be published as news unless paid for in advance and are marked as advertising.

It begins to look like the "Two Old Cronies"—Comer and Seed—have arrived at the parting of the ways; both, perhaps, seeking a short cut to the state house.

Notices of all-day singings and kindred subjects are invited as news articles, but they will not be published more than one time except as advertising matter at regular rates.

We wish to cater to our friends and patrons, but dislike to publish articles signed "Somebody's Sweetheart" or "Nobody's Darling" or with other kindred pet names; get something more classical.

Subscribers who are in arrears must forward subscription price in order to keep their subscriptions alive. The Post Office department requires this of us and we request it of our patrous,

It was to be expected that the Oakley cases would be postponed—that is till Lacy is rounded up or till O'Neal's term expires, in either of which events the cases will in all probability be nol prossed.

Subscribers who wish their address changed MUST furnish the old address together with the new; this is absolutely necessary and unless the old address is given no attention will be paid to requests for change.

Unsigned articles invariably go to the waste basket. If you do not wish your name published we will not do so, but we must have it as a guarantee of good faith. Select a nom-de-plume and stick to it, but always give your proper name in the margin of your communication.

On and after this date all newspaper subscriptions are invariably payable strictly in advance. There will be no variations from this rule. It is the rule of all other newspapers and we have decided to adopt it and adhere to it. Please be governed accordingly.

Articles riduculing or reflecting upon others either in a social or political way—or otherwise—will not be published except when paid for at regular rates (cash to accompany communication) and signed by the writer with proper name. Even then we reserve the right to reject such articles if in our opinion they are objectionable.

We have heretofore charged nothing for publishing obituaries but our columns cannot be used as grave stones without we receive something for the service. Three hundred words will be published absolutely free, but all in excess of that number must be paid for at the rate of one cent per word—cash to accompany.

It is not the business of a newspaper to boost men into office, hence all "boosts" will be charged for at the regular rate. Our columns are our board, lodging and clothihg just as merchant's stock is his living: he does not give away his stock why should a newspaper?

Count your articles and send in the cash with them when boosting others for political office.

Would it not be well for the electors in the several counties to begin even this early to spot candidates for the Legislature and to quiz them quite closely as to their standing on various issues?

For instances there is the abolition of the barbarous old system of strangling men to death, the reformation of the convict system, the prolongation of country school terms and many others of vital importance to the people. It seems foolish to select a man for this important office just a few days before the primary and then send him to the legislature without ascertaining where or how he stands on important issues. Such men are liable to do the very thing his constituents desire him not to do. Then, too, some men when elected to office feel that they are under no moral obligation to their constituents but begin immediately to build fences for themselves. Let good men be chosen this time; they will be sorely needed.

We are printing this week, for the benefit of the general public, a schedule of the court sessions, county and city officers, public service officers, church and fraternal directories as nearly as we could secure them in the limited time allowed us after deciding to insert such in our columns as news matter. This information we propose to keep standing indefinitely as useful news matter. There are some slight changes to be made occasionally to meet changed conditions, of course, and then there are some errors, perhaps, and some omissions; these, we wish it distinctly understood, are not purposely made and we will thank our friends to help us in making it absolutely correct. We have gone to such parties as we thought could and would give us the desired information and have used the data given us without partiality or discrimination. If you discover an error or omission do not complain, but help us to correct it.

We talk about filtering water, swatting flies, chloroforming injured animals and many other things of a similar nature, because we consider them necessary and humane things to do, yet we go right along strangling strong men to death because they have been unfortunate enough to take human life. We undertake to kill the pesky fly in the most humane manner even though his pestiferous presence and soiled feet have killed more human beings than all the wars of the world; we shoot or chloroform dumb brutes which have, through fright or madness, killed countless men and women in runaways and otherwise—because, forsooth, say we, he deserves death; but let's administer it a humane way! Then we march deliberately to the jail house and witness a poor unfortunate, made in the image of the Eternal, brought forth, have a black cap and a hempen rope adjusted and swung into eternity in the most brutal manner!

Consistency, thou art a jewel!

Let's quit hanging men or else quit swatting flies and go to killing them in a manner equally as barbarous as that employed to put human malefactors out of the way! O, Tempora, O, Mores!

No Substitute Could Do This.

No inferior substitute, but only the genuine Foley Kidney Pills could have cured J. F. Wallich, Bartlett, Nebr., of his kidney trouble. He says: "I was bothered with backache, and the pain would run up to the back of my head, and I had spells of dizziness. I took Foley Kidney Pills and they did the work and I am now entirely rid of kidney trouble." Alred Drug Co.

A number of Clanton Shriners had planned to go to Birmingham Tuesday afternoon to take in the ceremonial services of that branch of the Masonic lodge during the evening, but as number 10 did not arrive till three o'clock the next morning, due to a disastrous wreck at Wadsworth, they decided to defer their visit to some future time.

DEATH OF MR. J. M. MORGAN

Just as we were preparing to go to press news of the death of Mr J. M. Morgan reached us—too late, however, for an extended account of the life and death of this worthy gentleman and splendid citizen.

Mr. Morgan died at his family residence Wednesday night about eight o'clock and while his death was not unexpected it was none the less a severe shock to his loved ones and friends.

He was surrounded in his last hours by many of his relatives and close friends. The funeral services will be held this (Thursday) afternoon from the family residence. A more extended account will be given next week.

Sheriff's Sale.

Under and by virtue of a writ of venditioni exponas issued out of the Circuit Court of Chilton County, Alabama and to me directed, whereby I, as Sheriff of said county, was commanded to sell a one-sixth undivided interest and title in and to the north half of the northeast quarter of section thirteen (13), township twenty-two (22), range fourteen (14), situated in Chilton county, Alabama, to satisfy J. W. Smith the sum of Twenty-eight and 60-100 dollars recovered by him of A. J. Ellison, by the judgment of the Justice Court of Precinct No. 4, Chilton county, Alabama, on the 15th day of May, 1913, and $14.26 costs.

Therefore, according to said command, I will expose for sale at public auction, all the right, title and interest of the above named A. J. Ellison in and to the above named described lands, on Monday the 14th day of July, 1913, during the legal hours of sale in front of the court house door in Clanton, Chilton county, Alabama.

This 9th day of June, 1913.
B. L. JONES, Sheriff.

Notice.

Notice is hereby given that application will be made to the governor of Alabama to pardon Scott Craddock, who at the spring term, 1913, of the Circuit Court of Chilton County, Alabama, pleaded guilty to the offense of violating the prohibition law, and was sentenced to five months hard labor for said county, and all court costs as a punishment. This June 10, 1913.

Miss Richardson, who has been the attractive guest of Mrs. J. Renfroe Mullins, left Tuesday evening for Montgomery, where she goes to spend several days with friends.

Senator Thos. A. Curry returned Saturday night from Bayou la Batre, where he had been spending some days fishing and surf bathing. The Senator reports that he did not know there were as many fish in all the world as he individually caught while away some fish story that! But then there are lots of fish at Bayou la Batre!

Next Sunday will be observed at the Methodist Sunday school as "Children's Day" at which time appropriate and deeply interesting exercises will be held.

Successful contestants in the Press Piano contest are reminded that by not coming forward and claiming their prizes they are holding others back who are anxious to secure their trophies of the contest. Please do not delay longer.

Dr. V. J. Gragg, County Health Officer, left Sunday morning to take in the national medical association which meets in Minneapolis, Minn. After the adjournment of the association Dr. Gragg will go to Rochester, Minn., to spend several days in the infirmary of Mayo Bros., the world famous surgeons. By the way, when the genial physician left he was suffering an intense pain from a carbuncle on his left hand.

ARABIAN NIGHTS CITY

Ancient Town of Bagdad Now an Historical Relic.

Once the Center of the Moreb's Arts, Literature and Sciences, With 2,000,000 Population, Is Today Shorn of Her Glories.

Bagdad.—Bagdad, City of Glory! How its brilliance has shone throughout the history of the world! Once a city which is said to have housed 2,000,000 souls and to have led the world in art, literature and science, Bagdad today is shorn of all her glories.

To the approaching traveler the city appears to be rising out of the midst of trees, and towering above all are the glittering domes of the tomb mosques, overlaid with gold. A great portion of the ground within the city's walls is occupied by gardens in which figs, oranges and palms grow in great abundance.

In most places the streets are unpaved and so narow it is difficult for two horsemen to pass each other. There is no sewerage system in the city, the surface of the streets answering the purpose; the refuse is washed into the river and as the city draws its only supply of water from the Tigris the death rate is high and epidemics frequent.

The Tigris at this point is a little more than 800 feet wide, but very deep. Its banks are of mud. There are no retaining walls other than those formed by the foundations of the houses along the banks.

Double decked horse cars, a relic of the reforms of Midhat Pasha, connect Kazeman, the suburg, with western Bagdad. The two parts of the city are connected with pontoon bridges. Although these are very old and in constant danger of collapsing, thousands of persons cross them daily. On Friday, the Mohammedan day of rest, hordes of Arabs can be seen entering the city over these bridges to buy and sell. During the summer months, after the heat of the day, many walk up and down these bridges in an attempt to each the cool breezes which may come from the river.

The native breakfasts in Bagdad consists of a piece of bread and a glass of tea and may be had from innumerable street venders, equipped with thier Russian samovar or self-boiler. Picturesque dwellings are built right out in the Tigris to get the benefit of the refreshing evening breeze in the hot season. This entire suburb, north of Bagdad, is inhabited by wealthy Jewish families. Each house has its own garden of semi-tropical fruit trees of which the date palms are the most conspicuous. As shown in the picture the people row up and down and across the river in the peculiar shaped round skin boats built on the style of an immense doughnut. The tomb mosques of the city, the important of which is Kazamin, form one of the great shrines of the villayet of Bagdad. The native is a fanatic in his reverence for these tombs and it is extremely dangerous for a Christian to attempt to approach the mosques.

"Take the Cathedral, Too."

London.—The bishop of Salisbury, speaking at a meeting of church people held at Marlborough to discuss the financial needs of the diocese, said: "I had a letter recently from a firm of agents offering to purchase the bishop palace of Salisbury for a wealthy American client. My reply was obvious. It was if he was prepared to include the cathedral as a little extra I might possibly consider it."

ALWAYS BOUND TO DISAGREE

According to Gossips, Cy Kilgore Had Bump of Combativeness in a Remarkable Degree.

"It seems to me," opined Mr. Caleb Peaslee, "that Cy Kilgore gets more disagreeable the older he grows. He won't agree with any pusson on airth—not if he can find out fust what the other man thinks. Ain't that so, Lysander?"

Mr. Lysander Winchope, thus appealed to, stroked his "ellum" cane reflectively, and eyed his quicker-speaking friend with placid, ox-like eyes.

"He scurcely ever thinks same as me about things," he admitted, at length.

"Scurcely ever!" snorted Mr. Peaslee, with impatience. "Did he ever agree with you about one single namable thing if he had a chance to find out ahead what you thought? Did he?"

"M-wal," replied Mr. Winchope, thoughtfully, "answerin' that question direct, I dunno's he ever did."

"No, sir," affirmed Mr. Peaslee, warmly, "and he wouldn't! I get kinder out of patience when I get to talkin' about Cy Kilgore. He's just been into my house, and he took 'casion to show some of his cross grain there.

"My wife spoke about Mel Deering's last sickness while Cy was there," Mr. Peaslee went on, "and she spoke very feelin' about what a great sufferer Mel was in his last days—you know how women talk and sympathize—and Cy Kilgore not there and listened to her talk, and all the time he was lettin' that bias, three-cornered temper of hisn curdle up on him. At last, when she got done talkin', he got up and started for the door. He dassent set in the chair and say it—he knew what kind of a temper my wife's got—but when he got to the door he turned round, sour as a crabapple, and he says:

"'Folks made an awful mean over Mel Deering's sickness,' says he. 'Bah! He wasn't nowise half as sick as folks thought he was.

"Mel Deering was sick enough to die," concluded Mr. Peaslee, "and I don't believe even Cy Kilgore ever in any way likes much anbody else!"

WASHINGTON GOSSIP

Tables Were Turned for U. S. Senator Luke Lea

WASHINGTON.—Senator Luke Lea of Tennessee is congratulating himself upon having turned the tables on his colleague, Senator William R. Webb. When Mr. Webb found himself suddenly lifted from the presidency of a disciplining school for boys to a seat in the greatest legislative body in the world he sent for Mr. Lea, who, while still a young man, already is a veteran in legislation. He wanted advice from the man of Washington experience as to how he should conduct himself upon his first appearance in the senate.

Mr. Lea complied most willingly, telling the professor-senator that he should wear a Prince Albert coat, fasten his necktie down in the back, allow himself to be escorted to the presiding officer's desk by his colleague, and how, then, he must shake hands with the president pro tempore.

"That," said Mr. Lea by way of final remark, "is the formula for becoming a senator—after you get to Washington."

Mr. Webb was profuse in his thanks. Indeed his thanks partook of the nature of an apology.

"You would not apologize to me if you only knew what delight you have given me," responded the younger man. Then he told his new colleague how during all the years of his school life he had lived in dread of being sent to the Webb school.

"It is one of the best schools in the south," he said in explanation, "and the professor has the reputation of being the finest disciplinarian in the country for boys. When I was a youngster I was not looking especially for discipline, but my father had different views, and many times was on the verge of sending me to Professor Webb to be straightened out. This fate was the dread of my life.

"And that," he added, "is the reason why I felt so delighted to aid him with a bit of advice about his initiation into the senate. When it really came to the point of his sending for me and asking me to instruct him I knew that at last I had reached the period of life where I need not longer stand in fear of being sent to Professor Webb for discipline. I had the best of him, and I felt really meanly triumphant."

Rolls of the Immortal Orators Are Still Unclouded

DO the boys still "speak pieces" Friday afternoons in school? Do they still shatter the atmosphere with such diabolical oratorical dynamics as are created when the schoolboy mind grasps the full power of "Somebody to the Gladiators?" Do they still recite "Abou Ben Adhem?" Is "The Helmet of Navare" still held up as the oriflamme of a host of mailed battle-axe artists upon the pleasant lands of France? Is Webster's reply dead? Are the rolls of the immortal orators of a silk-hat generation clouded over with the dust of an unappreciative schoolboy generation? Or do they declaim—as we used to—while that grandest of teachers, Charles Bedford Young, looked on?

Because if they do—here's a piece from a real orator. It fell from the lips of one of the most interesting men in congress, Judge Adamson of Georgia. He is the man who is said to have dressed in a whirlwind and never to have rearranged his toilet, but the typhoon interfered not a whit with his wit or speech. Just imagine you are a schoolboy, the prize speaker of that Friday afternoon class in oratory, the punch and ginger, couldn't you tear the air if you had this? Try it.

"If maledictions mean hatred the fierce denunciations of the dual and clamorous minority in this house would destroy every patriot here and permit the return to power of that horde which has held high carnival of misrule discrimination and robbery with short intermissions and slight hindrance for fifty years. That gallant old king, warrior, priest and poet, the Psalmist David, said in his wrath, 'All men are liars.' As it was easy for him to get forgiveness, I have no doubt he was forgiven for that unkind remark, but if he had lived in this day and familiarized himself with the jargon of protection apologists he would have been able to conclude in his sober judgment that some men in high places are careless about their information and reckless about their statements. He might have been tempted to sing in the sweetest strains of sacred verse his religious opinions about the heterophemy of discredited politicians, the dissensions of divided political camps quarreling over the method of their destruction while railing at the victors and indulging in the wildest flights of hyperbolical language, Selah."

Seeing the Wheels of the Government Go Round

ONE of the big hotels was crowded with women and girls. It was one of the numerous excursions which sweep down on Washington in the spring, in the summer, in the autumn and in the winter. These excursions are a great educational aid to the excursionist. They see the wheels of government go round, they exercise their proprietary rights in the national city, they get a better balanced idea of the magnitude of the American government and of the machinery of government, and they strengthen their pride in Washington.

But, while one, and also many, of the hotels were packed tight with these woman excursionists, and while the clerks behind the office counter wore boutonnieres and happy smiles, talked their sweetest and showed their best manners and their best clothes, the young man at the cigar and newsstand looked pensive and unoccupied.

"You don't seem to be selling many nickel cigars for 10 cents this evening?" said the Rambler.

"Man, the ladies may have adopted many manly traits and notions, but they have not yet as a class become heavy smokers. I have some sensational newspapers on my stand which publish Sunday articles about how women have become enslaved to the cigarette and to Lady Nicotine and all that, but if I depended on their trade I would be as hard up as those gentlemen who sit around this hotel office every evening and discuss million-dollar deals. With this house full of fair guests my trade is confined to the sale of United States postage stamps—and one-cent stamps, at that. You perhaps know that the profit on the sale of postage stamps is not large.

"The ladies—God bless 'em—do not even buy from me the post cards on which they put the stamps. These excursionists get loaded up with Washington post cards on the trains coming into Washington. When they reach here they have nothing to do but write on these cards 'I wish you were here,' address a bunch of them, buy the stamps from me, and incidentally get all my small change."

Capital Wayside Signs Are Fast Disappearing

ONE of the changes that has come over the roads around Washington is the decline in the number of wayside signs—the advertisements of tobacco, clothing, lumber, etc., which it was once the custom to tack on fences and trees. Once upon a time roadside trees were tagged with tin signs announcing that it was ten miles to John Doe's store, the best place to buy hats, caps, shoes, shawls, overalls, lumber, lime and hardware. Coming into the city a mile farther on you would see the same character of sign announcing that it was now nine miles to John Doe's store. Of course John Doe's store was not the only tent gentlemen, chewing and smoking tobacco and red liquors.

It used to be quite a business, the tacking up of these signs. Men and wagons traveled up and down the country roads carrying on this work. They [illegible]

HIGHWAY IMPROVEMENT

COUNTRY ROADS OF CONCRETE

Lasting Materials for Construction Available in Many Places in Form of Sand and Gravel.

No single factor plays such an important part in the social and business life of a community as the quality of its roads. Aside from the pleasure and convenience of travel, possible at all times over permanent roads, there is the financial phase which directly concerns the cost not only of farm produce, but of city products as well. Consequently everybody wants good roads, writes P. H. Wilson in the Iowa Homestead. In the matter of paying for permanent highways, a generally satisfactory agreement seems to have been reached in the proposed distribution of the cost between the nation, the state, the county and the users of the road in question. As a result, within a few years this country will take its rightful leading position among the nations of the world in the number of miles of permanent roads.

In a way it is fortunate that the United States has been rather slow in the matter of road making. The roads can now be built of lasting materials, such as will withstand the wear of motor traffic which is fast ruining Europe's century-old roadways. Lasting road materials are everywhere present in the form of sand and gravel from pits and stream beds and crushed rock from stone quarries. Combined with Portland cement into concrete, they form an inexpensive and permanent road surface which successfully resists the usually destructive action of automobiles.

The first consideration in the building of concrete roads is a careful study of local deposits of sand, gravel and rock (called the aggregate) to see whether they are suitable for concrete. Sand must be clean and hard and must grade uniformly in size of grain from one-fourth inch down. The same applies to gravel and crushed rock except that the largest particles commonly allowable are one and one-fourth inches in diameter. If local materials are usable, a considerable saving will be effected, as only cement will need to be freighted.

It is much faster and cheaper to mix the concrete with a machine than by hand. Depending on the grading of the aggregate, the concrete is usually proportioned one bag of Portland cement to two cubic feet of sand and four cubic of screened gravel or crushed rock, or one of cement to two of sand and three of gravel or rock. During the grading and draining of the road, the aggregate is hauled and piled at convenient points. The concrete is mixed mushy wet, is deposited to the thickness of six inches upon the firm old road bed and is brought to grade and shape by means of a templet. In order to shed the water on the side drains the surface of the concrete is given a rise or crown in the center of one one-hundredth to one seventy-fifth the width of the roadway. The surface is finished with a wooden float and wire broom, by which means there is afforded perfect footing for horses. At intervals of 25 feet the road is divided into sections by narrow contraction joints extending crosswise the road and entirely through the concrete. These joints are formed by means of a thin metal or wooden cross form or divided to which is tied a single or double thickness of tar paper with the paper face against the last laid section of roadway. After the surface of this section is finished and while the concrete for the adjoining section is being placed, the cord holding the paper to the cross form is cut and the cross form is removed. The tar paper adheres to the concrete and stays in the joint, which is reduced to the thickness of the paper by forcing against it the freshly placed concrete of the section under construction.

When the surface of the concrete has hardened enough to prevent pitting it is sprinkled with clean water and is kept moist for several days. Likewise, as soon as possible, the pavement is covered temporarily with two inches of sand or dirt from the side road to give further air in curing the concrete. Traffic is confined to the earthen side roads until the concrete is about two weeks old. In the meantime shoulders of broken stone or gravel are built along both edges of the pavement. These are made three feet wide and sufficiently thick to be firm and to make it an easy matter at all times for wagon wheels to pass from the side road onto the pavement.

Think of Improvement.

It might be well to think how a road might be improved, instead of storming about the overseer, when traveling over a bad road.

Care of Poultry.

Beginners in the poultry business are likely to neglect their stock during the time they are not yielding returns and often fail to figure the future consequences. Such beginners cannot be successful in the poultry business. Cleanliness, good feeding and fresh water are absolutely necessary at all times. This holds good from the time the chicks are hatched until they go into the laying house.

FAITHFUL DOG IS PUNISHED

Lashed for Barking While Burglars Were Robbing His Master's Cafe in New York.

Aaron Silverman's brindle bulldog Spot is the only living creature around Silverman cafe at 141 West Twenty-seventh street that is in any condition to smile, but Spot is physically too sore to smile.

Some time after midnight the barking of Spot awakened the Silverman family in their rooms above the saloon. Silverman thereupon arose, got a trunk strap and walloped poor old Spot into silence and went back to bed.

When Silverman went behind the bar about 6:30 he found that burglars who doubtless had started Spot's unprecedented barking had ripped open the cash register and taken $30 and a ring from it, and then had attacked the safe and got away with one diamond ring worth $125, two more worth $100 each, a $75-dollar watch, a lavalliere worth $75, a $45 locket and chain and four Russian gold pieces worth about $10.—New York Sun.

Unique Suicide.

A safe was used by a man named Jacob Rabinowitz, fifty-four years old, of Philadelphia, Penn., to commit suicide, a few days ago. First he jacked up an 800 pound safe with a block of wood. Placing his head beneath it he drew a strap as tightly as he could around his neck. Then he knocked the block from under the safe and the heavy weight fell upon his head. He was found by his wife, but died before a physician arrived. He had been despondent for several weeks because he lost a lawsuit.

For the Ironing Board.

Pad the ironing board with a thick quilt or old blanket, then lay the board on the table and cut a piece of heavy muslin so it will fit the board loosely. Seam it up, leaving the slip open at each end. Make two of these slips and change them frequently, says Mother's Magazine. Thus the ironing board is always clean, and the padding will not have to be changed for months.

A Close Call.

A train hit a truckload of dynamite at Dallas, Ore., the other day but did not cause the stuff to explode. When the passenger train collided with the truck, the latter was carried more than 100 feet on the pilot of the engine, and the driver saved his life by jumping before the engine struck.

Closely Occupied.

"That man is always kicking."

"What about?"

"He doesn't know. He kicks so much he doesn't leave himself time to find out what his real grievances are."

The Logical Situation.

"Here, some fellow says that the suffragists are women who haven't got husbands."

"Then I suppose he holds it is the antis who get the uncles."

Wears Little There.

"Miss Slasher is a stunning girl when she is dressed up."

"I can't say anything about that. I've only seen her on the street."

The Kind.

"That gambler's son is a chip of the old block."

"A poker chip?"

Its Species.

"That petition is certainly a bird."

"Of course. Isn't it a round robin?"

The man who depends entirely on the push of those who are back of him will seldom get to the front.

New York uses $70,000 worth of postage stamps every day.

Post Toasties

They are among the good things to eat, but not in the cook book, because they require no cooking.

Toasties are always crisp and appetizing—ready to eat direct from the package. You save heaps of time and avoid hot work in the kitchen.

Some rich cream—sugar if you want it—or cool fruit juice, with these fluffy bits of corn and you have a dish that is fascinating for any meal of the day.

Toasties are sold by grocers everywhere.

COTTON NOT HURT BY RECENT COLD

TEMPERATURES WERE NOT LOW ENOUGH TO RETARD GROWTH MATERIALLY.

BLACK ROOT IS REPORTED

Stands Are Said to Be Excellent for This Time of Year — Weevil Is Active.

Montgomery. — Alabama's cotton crop entered June under promising conditions. Fields had been cleared of grass, and the plant was in a healthy, growing condition, although small. As a whole the state crop was about two weeks late when the first crop report was made. There were reports of the boll weevil from the western and southern counties, and farmers of Baldwin were said to be completely discouraged. But the general trend of the first report was that Alabama would market an average crop, with good seasons.

Then came a period of two days of cold. Two of the coldest days in Alabama in June the weather bureau has record of. The plant was set back in the northern counties at least two weeks in central and southern Alabama. Not that the young plant was hurt, for reports show that the cold was not of sufficient intensity or of sufficient length to work serious damage. But farmers are more or less agreed that it will take ten days or two weeks of the finest weather to put the plant back to that stage of development in growth that it was before the cold snap.

In Butler county a number of farmers are reporting squares on their cotton, but the crop will be at least five weeks late. Black root is reported near Fort Deposit in Lowndes county, and near Girard, Russell county. There are also scattering reports of the wilt.

Farmers in South Alabama, in Southwest Alabama and in the central west are reporting boll weevil ravages. Farmers of Baldwin county have already cut their acreage 50 per cent, and are greatly discouraged over the outlook for anywhere near a good yield on the acreage. Clarke county is reporting the weevil in western sections, and in a few scattered localities in the eastern section of the county. Conecuh is reporting the weevil in the southern portion, with the pest particularly numerous in the vicinity of Repton.

Escambia has scattering reports of the weevil and Marengo is reporting the weevil particularly numerous in the vicinity of Thomaston. In Monroe county practically every farm is covered by the weevil, as is the case in Sumter county, and in Wilcox, with the exception of the eastern section. Neither Greene county nor Washington county have yet reported the weevil, the farmers of Greene county not anticipating the pest bothering this year's crop to any extent.

Rains have been scattering all over the state, and were followed by the cold wave, yet the fields are reported in remarkably good condition.

In Montgomery county the crop is two weeks late. The recent cold snap did not injure the plant to an appreciable extent, according to farmers coming to this city. Being naturally unable to overcome the extreme drouth that existed during the early planting time, the crop at the outset was two weeks late, and it bids fair to remain so for the remainder of the season, the cold snap having put an end to the rapid growth of the plant for the time being.

Linked with the fact that many farmers failed to replant, and owing to the unsettled conditions at planting time and last week, there will be somewhat of a shortage in the county's acreage, and a general decrease in output all over the county.

Taken as a whole, however, it might be considered that the crop in this county this season is fully as good as that of last season, although it is still below the average.

Last year the farmers suffered a set back, owing to the heavy rains, and this year the drouth had the same practical effect. Last year the bottom lands did not dry off soon enough for the farmers to replant, and this year late rains have made the same conditions.

The stands this year all over the county are reported excellent, and favorable weather is now required for continued growth. The cold weather affected the crop but little in this county, retarding its growth only during the time of the low temperatures.

Capt. J. P. Simpson Dies.

Mobile.—Capt. John P. Simpson, the first Confederate officer to cross the Potomac river into Maryland, died in this city. He was a native of Selma, born in 1832. At the outbreak of the civil war he was captain of the Gulf City Guards, in the Third Alabama regiment. He also served under Colonel Gordon in Gen. D. H. Hill's division. After the second battle of Manassas, Captain Simpson was chosen to attack the federal outpost on the opposite side of the Potomac river, which he did with success.

CAMPAIGN AGAINST WEEVIL

Demonstration Agent Moss Finds Several Counties of Southwest Alabama Infested.

Montgomery.—Whether Alabama is to experience the demoralization, panic and loss, such as has been experienced in South Mississippi, because of the boll weevil, will be determined by the people of the State, according to B. L. Moss, State Farm Demonstration Agent, who returned from a trip of several days through the weevil infested counties of West Alabama and East Mississippi.

"On account of the mild winter," said Mr. Moss, "weevil infestation appears heavier this season than for years. However, this was to be expected following a dry, warm winter such as we have had, and the result will be heavy loss from the weevil where the most vigorous fight is not made against the pest. Weevils are appearing in the fields literally by thousands everywhere west of a line drawn from about Livingston, Sumter county to Brewton, in Escambia County. Of course the weevil exist in smaller numbers from fifty to seventy-five miles east of this line, and will do considerable damage unless carefully picked and destroyed; but it is in the first named territory, comprising part or all of Sumter, Choctaw, Marengo, Wilcox, Monroe, Washington, Clarke, Mobile, Baldwin, Conecuh and Escambia counties, that the infestation appears to be particularly heavy, and it is here that the greatest damage will occur, if no fight is made against the pest.

"Picking the adult weevils from the buds of the young cotton now and later picking and burning the punctured squares, coupled with clean, close cultivation the remainder of the season, must be the practices in every weevil-infested field where the farmer expects to pick any cotton this fall. This has been proved beyond any doubt, in the fields of Louisiana and Mississippi. Nine farmers out of every ten who are making cotton at a profit in the weevil sections of those States are following these practices and the sooner Alabama farmers realize this fact the sooner will they make profitable crops despite the weevil.

"Demoralization, panic and loss such as has been experienced in South Mississippi, are quite possible in Alabama in the weevil-infested counties. Whether we are to experience such conditions or not is to be determined by our own people. If we get scared and demoralized and refuse to fight, of course we are whipped in the beginning. On the other hand, if a determined, concerted effort is made by farmers and business men, there is no reason why we should not whip the boll weevil this year and hereafter.

"It has been done in Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi and it can be done in Alabama. I believe Alabama people have the progressiveness and fighting spirit to do it."

FINAL DIVIDENDS PAID.

Checks Mailed Individuals Who Had Accounts With Negro Bank Which Failed in 1911.

Montgomery.—Final dividends to the depositors of the Peoples Investment and Savings Bank of Birmingham, a negro financial institution, which failed in December, 1911, were sent out by Superintendent of Banks Alex E. Walker. The total dividends of the bankrupt institution, after the deduction of all expenses and accounts, amounted to the sum of $2,350, or 22.3 per cent of the total capital stock of the bank.

OAKLEY CASE CONTINUED.

State's Suit for $115,000 Is Carried Over.

Montgomery.—By consent of counsel for both sides, the case of the State of Alabama against James G. Oakley, former head of the Convict Bureau, in which the State seeks to collect $115,000, was continued for the term in the civil division of the City Court.

Oakley is now under nine criminal indictments returned by a special grand jury and is out under bonds amounting to $57,000. His trial in these cases has been set for the July term of the criminal division of the City Court.

MUSTERED INTO SERVICE.

Will Become a Part of the Fourth Infantry Regiment.

Montgomery. — Adjutant General Joseph B. Scully announced that the Oxford Rifles, of Oxford, had been mustered into the service of the Alabama National Guards. This is the latest military organization in the State to be commissioned for active service. The Oxford Rifles will become a part of the Fourth Infantry Regiment, and will be commanded by Captain B. Harrison.

TAX COMMISSIONER FOR MALE.

G. S. Anderson of Greensboro Lands the Plum.

Montgomery.—Governor O'Neal appointed D. S. Anderson, of Greensboro, as tax commissioner of Hale county. This county heretofore has been without a commissioner and the duties of the office have been performed by the State Tax Commissioner and the County Tax Assessor. Governor O'Neal made the appointment upon recommendation of the Tax Commission.

BOILED EGGS BETRAY THEM

Nationality of Diners Is Shown in Their Various Method of Eating.

Sherlock Holmes might have figured this out, but he did not!

The average Englishman will always demand his egg boiled just three minutes, then he places it in an egg cup, just large enough to have the egg fit it, taps the top of the shell, and removes the broken shell with his fingers. The egg is eaten a spoonful at a time.

A Frenchman, much like the Englishman, likes his eggs of three minutes, exactly. He then "peels" them, places them in a glass, stirs and mixes well together with salt, pepper and butter. He makes a practice of dipping bread into the mixture, and eating it along with the eggs.

A Spaniard wouldn't think of letting his egg boil more than one minute. He then breaks it, and lets the contents run into a glass, and consumes it as if he were drinking a glass of wine.

An egg is only fit in an Italian's estimation when it has been placed in cold water, and removed just as the water beings to boil. He then breaks it, pours it on a plate, and proceeds to sop it up with bread.

The German, like the Italian, demands his eggs as near the liquid state as possible. He breaks his eggs in an unsightly cup, and scoops the liquid out as if it were soup.

The American is about the only one who prefers his eggs boiled hard. When they are served up to him, he knifes them in half, removes the contents into a glass, after which he adds a plentiful supply of pepper, butter and salt. He then minces the eggs fine, mixing them well with the spices, and eats them with his toast.

Catching Flies Pays Well.

Catching flies is affording a Shreveport (La.) man a profitable and independent living. He sells them to the city board of health. His name is Bartsch, and his net revenue from the fly industry for the first two days of a recent week was $24.20. When the health board began offering premiums for the flies, dead or alive, Bartsch purchased about 100 traps and placed them in fly-ridden sections of the city. Then he began making inroads on the health board's exchequer, and so well did he operate that he bore the market price down from 50 cents to 20 cents a quart, for it is by that measure that the board purchases. Bartsch is still working, and he will work as long as the treasury holds out. He finds fly catching pays.

New York's New Postoffice.

New York's new $6,000,000 postoffice building, a massive pile of pink granite five stories in height and two blocks long, facing the rear of the Pennsylvania station, is the greatest building of its kind in the world. From the curb to the topmost piece of granite is 101 feet. There are 165,000 cubic feet of granite, 18,000 tons of steel, 7,000,000 bricks and 200,000 square feet of glass in the building. The main corridor, corresponding in length to the outside colonnade, is a combination of buff marble, white plaster and glass, two stories high, 29 feet wide and 280 feet long. There are 400,000 square feet of working space within the building.—Popular Mechanics.

Meteorite Falls Near Woman.

A meteorite weighing 37 pounds was recently the subject of discussion in chemical circles in Johannesburg, South Africa. The stone fell in Zululand a few months ago, and was not only noticed by an eye witness some 15 miles away, but fell within a few feet of a native woman, who gave information which led to its discovery. The meteorite cannot so far be broken. It is known, however, to contain platinum.

Broken Heart Caused Death.

A broken heart, caused by violent beating due to sudden emotion, was said by a doctor to be responsible for the death of Alexander Burness, sixty-four, a master tailor, at a London inquest. Burness fell and died during an altercation with a foreman cutter as to the ownership of certain articles which he was about to remove from his former premises to new ones.

REAL MERIT HAS MADE BOND'S LIVER PILLS

a household word through the South. We have spared neither time nor money in perfecting BOND'S PILLS for the cure of Headaches, Biliousness, Constipation, Malaria, and similar ills. MERIT was our chief object. Not how "cheap" but how good we could make them.

England's Oldest Bowling Green.

Which is our oldest recreation? There are not wanting archeologists who profess to be able to trace references to football and baseball on Egyptain moral tablets. However, when it comes to actual records, the fine old English game of bowls would appear to be as old as any.

Southampton, Eng., has records showing that one of the local bowling greens was in existence in 1299.

Many interesting customs are associated with the game on this historic green. Every summer a "fire jack" competition is held, and an order of knighthood is conferred on the winner, who kneels in the center of the green while the other players gather round him and the master touches him with a sword and dubs him "sir."

London and Its Lumber.

London is the most conservative city in Europe, if not in the world. It loves its lumber. You may still see those notices attached to lamp posts which announces "Standing for Four Hackney Carriages," or whatever the number may be, though for ten years (in one case, to my own knowledge for twenty-five) no vehicles of any kind have stood there. Perhaps it is as well that these relics should remain; they are a tiny part of our social history. They will probably remain when we are flying to dinner or the theater in omni-aeros. By that time people won't know what "hackney carriage" meant, and there will be discussions in the "Notes and Queries" of the period. For each generation hands down to the next certain nuts to crack.

NO NEED TO "HOLD PHONE"

Sound Magnifying Trumpet which Will Tell You When It Is Time to Talk.

There is a sound magnifying trumpet of flat shape, behind which is a small attachment intended to support the telephone receiver. When it becomes necessary to hold the line, when calling up or replying, instead of the person standing with the receiver glued to his ear he places the receiver upon the time saver, bringing the ear piece into position with the sound magnifier. He is then at liberty to resume his duties until such time as the person required at the opposite end attends his instrument.

This is notified by the speech transmitter being magnified by the time saving device so as to be perfectly audible at a distance. The receiver may then either be withdrawn and held to the ear in the usual way, or left in connection with the magnifier, hearing being quite as simple and easy as under normal conditions. Another advantage of the invention is that the user's two hands are left free to carry out any other requisite task, such as the turning up of documents, making references, writing down messages or instructions from dictation, and so on.

HEAD A MASS OF PIMPLES

Hyattsville, Md.—"My little boy was taken with an itching on the scalp. There was an ashy place on his head about the size of a ten-cent piece, and the hair was falling from this place by the roots. In about ten days all over his head were these ashy spots which looked like ringworm, but were porous-like. The itching and burning made him scratch a great deal. His head had gotten so that it was just a mass of mattery little pimples all heaped on each other, and when I took off his night-cap, the hair and flesh came off at the same time. I really thought he would lose his whole scalp. He couldn't sleep for five weeks, it would itch and burn until I thought he would go into convulsions.

"I used different soaps and salves to no satisfaction. Then I decided to use the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Finally I noticed he began to sleep all night. I used one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment and he was entirely cured. He has a better growth of hair now than he had at first." (Signed) Mrs. Ida S. Johnson, Mar. 26, 1912.

Save the Babies.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent., or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirty-seven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly the reverse, but you must see that it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Castoria causes the blood to circulate properly, opens the pores of the skin and allays fever.

Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

CHAUTAUQUA CALLS US

Southern People by the Thousand Drawn Every Year for Rest, Sport, Intellectual Entertainment or Formal Study to Famous Resort in Western New York.

Interior Amphitheater Chautauqua, N. Y.

At this season of the year the heads of households begin to think of vacation for the whole family, and places like Chautauqua, New York, contend with other quite unlike places for our vacation choice. About 50,000 people visit Chautauqua each year for periods ranging from an hour to several months. Perhaps 10,000 is the average summer population, in which every state in the Union and a number of foreign countries are represented. The Southern contingent is particularly strong.

Chautauqua Lake Steamboat.

"Chautauqua" is the name of five towns in the states of Illinois, Kansas, New York, Texas and Washington. In two instances the county bears the same name. About five hundred communities in cottages or tents are called "Chautauqua," besides the altogether improper use of the word as applied to series of indoor meetings. The name is derived from an Indian phrase, the latest interpretation of which is that it refers to the muscallonge, for which the lake to the southwest of Buffalo, New York, is still famous, and that it means "the place where the fish was taken out." However that may be, the name would have been as local as Mankato had it not been for the activities set going in 1874 by Lewis Miller and Bishop John H. Vincent. But the fame of this place has encircled the world.

Two Southern states, Kentucky and Texas, send more than a thousand persons each to Chautauqua every summer. Six Southern states contribute more than 500 persons each to the summer population of this unique community in western New York. Barring one-day visitors, there are as many Southerners as New Yorkers at Chautauqua every year.

GROUP OF SOUTHERN GIRLS AT CHAUTAUQUA WITH THEIR CHAPERON, MRS. E. T. TOBEY OF MEMPHIS, A TEACHER IN THE CHAUTAUQUA SCHOOL OF MUSIC, CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y.

What is the force that draws so large a number from this distance to a single locality? The cosmopolitan character of the attendance may have some influence. There are about as many Canadians as Virginians at Chautauqua, and always a sprinkling of foreigners from abroad, some of them distinguished persons. Southerners are not insensible of the mutual advantages of such association. The tendency of birds of a feather to "flock together," also, may be effective to some degree. Many Southerners doubtless go because so many others go. Another attraction is the delightful climate and scenic charm of the Chautauqua region, with its lake over 20 miles in length, at an altitude of 1,400 feet above sea level, its exemption from heat, malaria, mosquitoes, and other things that do annoy, and its comparatively easy access from Southern points. After all, however, these advantages might conceivably unite elsewhere and the Chautauqua enthusiast will tell you that any other place where they should all be found would still not be Chautauqua. Chautauqua is not merely a community, it is an institution, and pervading the institution is a moral and intellectual force.

A kindly trickster who diverts you with chaff and then when you aren't looking slips good things into your pockets, is the figure by which a well known speaker at Chautauqua illustrated the character of that institution. Then, if you don't appreciate the good things after all, in any case they need not detract from your enjoyment of the trifles by which you were first allured. Many go on enjoying these for a whole summer and never give a great deal of thought to other matters. Some are content with harmless nothings for themselves, yet take satisfaction in seeing the treasures of knowledge or moral benefit quietly introduced into the possession of their wives and young people. This is as one's mind and circumstances may determine.

There is, after all, nothing occult or even obscure in the working of the Chautauqua influence. It is what you take it to be. If you see in Chautauqua merely a pretty, pleasant and healthful place for outdoor life, where sailing, launching, boating, fishing, bathing, baseball, tennis and roque are popular and where those of sedentary inclination read, smoke, or play checkers at the hotel or the club, then you have seen rightly as far as you have gone. As a compromise midway between Newport and the north woods, you will find Chautauqua satisfactory. Hundreds do.

If along with an innocent and wholesome outdoor life in a delightful climate you expect musical, literary and dramatic entertainers of a clean, unobjectionable and more than usually talented order for the relaxation of evening hours; if you seek variety of amusement for the children at all times under proper safeguards of direction and restraint, you will not be disappointed.

Perhaps you crave, together with the ease of do nothing days, opportunity for not too serious attention to the discussion of present matters of national or world-wide interest. A more direct, vivid impression of the men and women who are grappling with large affairs than the newspapers and magazines can afford may be in your thought. Such men and women go to Chautauqua and give their message; so you are on the right track.

If you are of set purpose to make the most intellectually, morally and spiritually, of your summer without disregard for recreation and health, you will find all the provisions for your case. There is the opportunity to attend lectures more studiously and attend more of them, to discuss with others who have come for like purposes, and to take up at the Chautauqua library and book store carefully assorted and well displayed literature on the subjects treated—often literature written by the Chautauqua speakers themselves. Also there are the Summer Schools, with their two hundred courses in fourteen departments. There are sermons by eminent preachers, and conferences on religious aims and methods, led by notable social and evangelistic workers.

Chautauqua is, in short, many-sided; and what one is to see in it depends very much on one's point of view.

ARRANGED MONTHS AHEAD

Chautauqua Program Already Taking Shape.

Those who regard a Chautauqua program as in the nature of things a somewhat impromptu affair would be surprised to know that a season at the parent assembly, Chautauqua, New York, is not ended before correspondence relative to the next summer is begun. Engagements are made indeed, the secretary has declared, during every month of the year.

Among the preliminary plans for 1913 the following are given out:

June 26—President George E. Vincent of Chautauqua Institution and the University of Minnesota.

June 28—Mr. John Mitchell, Vice President American Federation of Labor—"The Trade Union Movement."

June 30 to July 4—Prof. John A. Lomax of the University of Texas—Reading hours.

July 4—Mr. Arthur E. Bestor, Director of Chautauqua Institution—Independence Day address.

July 7 and 8—Prof. Scott Nearing of Philadelphia—Lecture series: "Social Sanity," "Social Adjustment."

July 7 to 11—Prof. Richard Burton of the University of Minnesota—Lectures on "The Serious Bernard Shaw."

July 7 to 11—Prof. S. H. Clark of the University of Chicago, reading hours: "The Rheingold Series."

July 12—Rev. John Wesley Hill, President International Peace Forum—National Army Day address on "Peace."

July 13 to 19—Dr. W. J. Williamson, Third Baptist Church, St. Louis.

July 13 to 19—Dr. H. H. Powers of Boston—lecture series, "Present Day Socialism in Europe." Addresses in Socialistic symposiums: July 14, "The Socialist's Attitude Toward Charity," by Mrs. J. G. Phelps Stokes [illegible] July 15, "The Reasonableness of Socialism," by Mr. J. G. Phelps Stokes; July 17, by Mr. James O. Fagan; July 18, by Hon. Victor L. Berger; July 19, by Prof. Scott Nearing and Hon. Job Hedges.

July 19—Mr. Henry Turner Bailey, editor The School Arts Magazine.

July 20-25—Dr. Samuel McChord Crothers, pastor of First Parish Church, Cambridge, Mass.—Devotional hour addresses and sermon.

July 20 to 25—Addresses on Social Center and Kindred Topics: July 21, Miss Julia C. Lathrop, chief of the Children's Bureau, Department of Commerce. July 21, Mr. Albert Edward Wiggam—"The Cradle and the Nation."

July 21, 23 and 25—Mr. E. J. Ward of the University of Wisconsin—A lecture series, "The Social Engineer, or the Servant of the Neighborhood."

July 23 and 24—Dr. Samuel McChord Crothers—Lectures.

July 25—Mr. John G. Woolley—"The Liquor Problem in Data."

July 27 to August 2—Dean Shailer Mathews, President Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America—Lectures.

August 11 to 16—Prof. Samuel D. Schmucker, West Chester Normal School, West Chester, Pa.—Series of lectures, "Race Improvement."

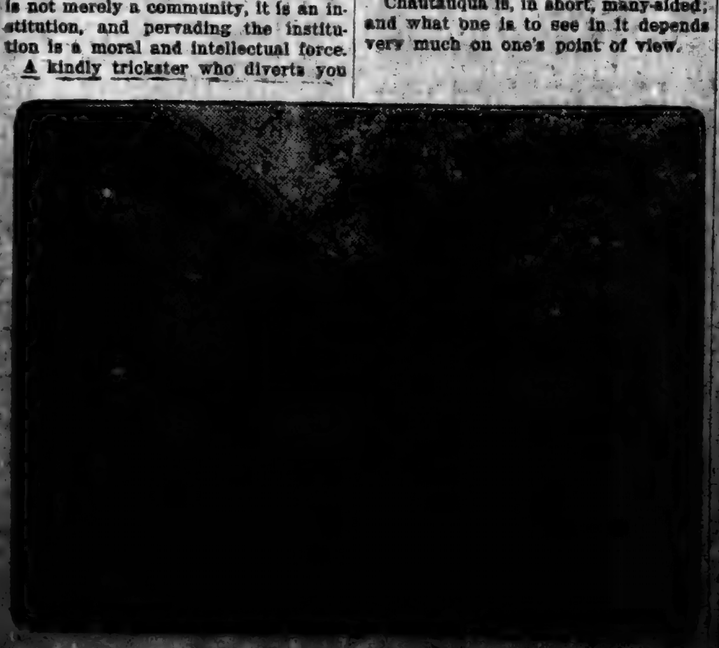
August 11 to 15—Mr. Richard T. Wyche, President National Story Tellers' League of America—Story hours.

August 13 — Prof. Samuel G. Schmucker—Recognition Day address.

August 15 and 16—Prof. C. Edmund Nell of West Virginia University—Evening recitals.

August 17 to 23—Dr. John Timothy Stone, pastor of the Fourth Presbyterian Church of Chicago.

August 18 and 19—Rev. Charles Stelzle of New York—"The Church and Labor."



August 19 and 20—Dr. G. Campbell Morgan of London—"Evangelism."

August 21 and 22—Prof. Graham Taylor of the Chicago Commons Social Settlement—"Attitude of the Church Toward Social Evils."

August 19 and 20—Prof. William MacDonald of Brown University—"Dr. Grenfell and His Labrador Mission."

APPROACH TO HALL OF PHILOSOPHY, CHAUTAUQUA INSTITUTION, CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y.

THE CHAUTAUQUA MUSCALLONGE.

The muscallonge of Chautauqua Lake, in western New York, is a figure of speech and a proverb, meaning "a whopper" in size. He is also an undoubted reality to thousands who have sought him out with proper bait and tackle. The lake is better known for the famous assembly on its banks; but merely as a haunt of fishermen, too, it is known to angling enthusiasts the country over, on account of this, one of the largest game fish of any inland lake in the United States.

During three months in 1912, besides an indefinite number of ordinary sizes, sixteen muscallonge, each weighing more than thirty pounds, were caught within a mile and a half of the boat landing of Chautauqua Institution.

The muscallonge, who spells himself in a half dozen different ways, is the largest member of the pike family and probably the fiercest, either on the end of a line or in chase of other fishes. A writer in the New York Times declares that if the muscallonge were less gigantic, the presence of black bass in Chautauqua Lake would be impossible; but the bass is too small and too nimble to become more than occasionally a prey of the 'longe. One man caught 114 bass in Chautauqua Lake during a recent season, the largest of which weighed five pounds, in addition to a smaller number of muscallonge. Thirty-four was the largest number of the latter taken by one man, five of these being captured in one day.

CHAUTAUQUA LAKE MUSCALLONGE, CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y.

A little over fifty pounds is the extreme weight recorded of the Chautauqua Lake muscallonge, though a slightly different and less active variety in the Great Lakes attains a larger size. Any less than twenty-four inches long is a baby still, under special protection of the law, and if caught must be gently dropped overboard again as soon as possible. Whoever hooks a good sized muscallonge has fun before him; and there are cases where more than an hour is required to subdue the fish. The Chautauqua Lake muscallonge is worthy of any fisherman's mettle.

TRAVEL TO CHAUTAUQUA, NEW YORK

Chautauqua, New York, is, after Niagara Falls and Atlantic City, the best known tourist point in eastern America. This is due to a rare combination of educational and recreative activities, uniting the character of a summer resort and that of an educational institution. Having, therefore, an appeal both to those who would learn and to those who would rest, it has gained a world-wide reputation which gives it railroad and travel facilities far out of ordinary.

Chautauqua is seventy miles west of Buffalo, exactly half way tween Chicago and New York, and therefore, one of the most acce summer places in the United St It is reached by four trunk lines w pass through nearby points but is from the bustle and smoke of rail lines, the nearest station being t miles away. The four lines reac to and their stations are the L Shore & Michigan Southern rail (New York Central Lines), and New York, Chicago & St. L (Nickel Plate), which pass thr Westfield (11 miles); the Erie road, which passes through L wood (13 miles) and Jamestown miles); and the Pennsylvania road between Buffalo and Pitts which passes through Mayville miles). From the railroad term indicated, the way to Chautauqua by trolley or boat.

The situation with respect to tr lines means that visitors from West and South enjoy through t from Chicago, St. Louis and Cin nati which are among the fastest, safest and the best equipped tr anywhere in service. All of th trains stop at the stations na above, and during the summer se ticket east or west allows stopo for Chautauqua Lake. From Cinc nati the trip is a little over ten ho and from Chicago a little over tw hours.

During the summer season low r can be obtained from nearly ev point. These include round-trip t ist tickets available for the four s mer months for something less th double the fare one way. Spec tickets at lower rates good for re within thirty days are available fr Chicago, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Lou ville, Evansville and Cairo. Up these low fares the railroads in sou ern territory will doubtless base l rate tickets during the entire sea

PLAYGROUND NORMAL WOR

A New Course at Chautauqua, N York, Planned and Operated by the School of Physical Education.

A new feature of the outdoor life Chautauqua, New York, will be of i terest to parents and children, as w as to progressive teachers. For se eral years there has been develop a plan to establish here a playgrou for the children, with such equipme and superintendence as would ma it the equal of any in the country This year the realization of previo hopes is at hand. A new ground wi be laid out in a grove above the boy and girls' club houses so as to utili the natural advantages of the pla as afforded by a stream that flow through a ravine and the shade of great trees which make the spot ide for such purposes.

For games on grass an adjace field will give splendid opportuni and the hope is to have a model pla ground in every respect.

Physical equipment and pedagogic plans are taking shape so as to ma this both an actual playground fo Chautauqua children and a demonstra tion and normal training opportuni for teachers.

The management of this playgrou is to rest with the School of Physic Education, which has developed th gymnastic and athletic activities o Chautauqua to their present exce lence. Dr. Jay W. Seaver, director of the school, is personally interested i making this new development not only minister to the outdoor life of the young at Chautauqua, but also serve as a model school that shall have an influence in advancing the playground interests all over the coun try. To this end he has planned a Normal Course in Playground Man agement and Instruction, in the School of Physical Education.

The directors of the playground will be Prof. Alpha Brumage of Lexing ton, Va., Military Institute and Miss Bessie L. Park of the University of Texas. Their work will be supple mented by Dr. Seaver and by Dr. A. E. Sharpe of Cornell University, well known football coach and physical di rector. Several special teachers will assist in the care of the children and the guidance of their activities.

CLANTON PRESS

PUBLISHED IN THE INTEREST OF CHILTON COUNTY AND HER PEOPLE

VOL 1. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY JUNE 26, 1913 NO. 12

WE PRESENT

herewith a splendid likeness of Hon. Fred. L. Blackmon, Congressman from the Fourth District of Alabama, his mascot, Mr. Fred L. Jr., and Miss Sarah Blackmon, the Congressman's "Queen of Hearts," upon whom he looks with enviable pride. Mr. Blackmon, while not a Demosthenes, is more of the Trojan type who believes that work is the essential quality and quantity to success—and he demonstrates his faith by his untiring efforts in behalf of his constituents and his personal friends. He is almost ceaseless in his labors for the betterment of his district, and no one who has a just cause ever receives the slightest tinge of discouragement from the genial congressman. Some of his enemies are silly enough, occasionally, to say that Fred L. "butts" in too much for his own good, but be that as it may, he is manly enough to "butt in" whenever his friends require service at his hands, whatever the personal cost to him may be--and generally he succeeds in the Butinsky proposition. That's largely the secret of his success, but the greatest factor is his ideal home life and his devotion to his family.

He idolizes Miss Sarah and worships Fred L. Jr.; these two with his devoted wife and his venerable mother he counts as his greatest assets, not only in the material things, but in aspiration, inspiration, equipment and achievement.

IT LOOKS LIKE

Something Doing In Telegraphic Circles.

It begins to look like Clanton is at last to have a real, sure enough tick, tick, tick office, where merchants and business men can get some kind of accommodation for quick messages. A telegraph office has been a long felt want in the town of Clanton, and just how the merchants have managed to stand the miserable service furnished by the Western Union is hard to understand; but, be that as it may, that grasping, grinding old monopoly has at last, it seems, realized that its own interests were being injured as well as those of the people—the long suffering people—of Clanton, and they have accordingly set about the establishment of an office in the city.

At least appearances point that way. These monopolistic concerns care nothing for the inconvenience of others but when they are themselves inconvenienced, or fail to receive such revenues as they think they should receive, they proceed to get busy, exceedingly busy. Within the past few days materials for the establishment of a telegraph office have arrived in Clanton, consigned to the Western Union people, which points strongly to the establishment of an office here. Just yet we are, unable to give out any definite information, but, everything pointo to the early establishment of an office. SO MOTE IT BE!

Since the aboue was put in type it has been authoritatively stated that the Western Union Telegraph Company contemplates removing its office from Calera and locating at this point. Heretofore all telegrams from Clanton had to be relayed by 'phone to the Calera. Turn about is fair play.

SUCCESSFUL PERFORMANCE

The students of Clanton High school appeared before the footlights in Thorsby last Friday and were greeted by a fine audience which showed its appreciation of their efforts by generous applause.

The young folks did well from every point of view; much better than a great many barn storming companies which go broke the first few nights away from home. Besides furnishing excellent entertainment for the people of Thorsby the company more than cleared expenses and returned home in the wee sma' hours of the morning chesty over their acting and the welcome they had received from the hospitable people of our neighoring city.

LOST HIS EYES

ACCUSED BLUE BIRD OF THEFT

Mr. J. D. Sims, recently appointed as Cotton Census Enumerator for Chilton county, whose domicile is out near Fairview, in the western section of the county, has lost all confidence in blue birds.

Recently he was at the home of a friend who had some ploughing to do; the two went into the field and, while his host was scattering fertilizer, J. D. essayed to do the ploughing, being a youth of 55 or 65 Summers, he did not see the necessity of wearing his eyeglasses while piloting the hay-burner across the furrowed field, so he placed them carefully upon the top of a stump in the field, expecting to call for them later in the day. Having plowed several furrows, he returned to the stump to collect his eye-piece and discovered, to his amazement, that the glasses were gone. Upon closer investigation he discovered that the stump was hollow and in searching around the hollow found a blue bird nest but no glasses. In a few minutes assistance arrived and a thorough search in the neighborhood of the stump was made. Some fifteen or eighteen yards from the stump the glasses were found where the mother bird had deposited them.

'J. D.' seems to think that it was unwarranted interference on the part of the bird to take away his glasses and throw them on the ground, but, if that little mother bird was consulted she would doubtless say that it was presumption of the most aggrivated character which made 'J. D.' intrude upon the privacy of her home and leave his glasses on the bed where her babies were taking their siesta.

JOHN MONROE MORGAN

The death of Mr. Jno. M. Morgan, which occurred at his family residence Wednesday night, (June 18th,) while not unexpected, was a severe shock to his friends and loved ones.

For weeks he had been confined to his room with but little hope of ever leaving it alive; day by day his strength ebbed away till on Wednesday night, surrounded by loved ones, the death angel entered the home to claim his spirit.

Mr. Morgan was born in 1861, in the little town of Brandon, Miss., where he resided till 1887, when he removed to this county and made it his home.

In 1889 he was happily married to Miss Lilla May Chandler, who, together with her three children, Misses Estella, L. E. and Mr. John T. Morgan, survive him.

Mr. Morgan was a member of the Baptist church but belonged to no secret orders, believing that membership in the church of God was sufficient to satisfy all the spiritual cravings of a man's heart and soul.

On Monday, May 19, 1902, he was appointed by Governor W. D. Jelks as Sheriff of Chilton county to fill the unexpired term of Mr. Moses A. Killgore, who resigned a few days previous. Mr. Morgan made an ideal officer in all respects. In 1904 the term of the Sheriff was extended by the Legislature of the State and Mr. Morgan filed a new bond and was continued in office.

After the expiration of his term as Sheriff Mr. Morgan was selected as Marshal of the Town of Clanton, in which capacity he served till his health failed him and he retired voluntarily from public life.

By his careful investments Mr. Morgan was enabled to leave his widow and children a competency which will provide for them in comfort.

Mr. Morgan was a man who made and held his friends; not ostentatious to the least degree, his friends valued him as a man of real worth.

On Thursday afternoon, followed by a large concourse of friends, he was layed to rest in Clanton cemetery to await the resurrection morn, Rev. L. H. S. Chappelle of the Methodist church officiating at the last sad rites.

RIDERVILLE

Mr. Horace Friday delightfully entertained a number of his friends Wednesday evening at a garden party. The moon was never lovelier as it looked down through the beautiful trees into the faces of the happy guests. All about the lawn were tables and chairs, and in a cosy corner under a stately oak, fruit punch was dipped for the guests by Miss Mada Friday.

Various games were indulged in and delicious refreshments served during the evening.

Mrs. J. G. Gay and her son, Mr. Luther Gay, have returned from a trip to Fairhope.

Miss Eloise Mattison is on an extended visit to relatives in Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Duncan left this week on an extended pleasure trip. They will visit Niagara Falls and other places of before returning.

Rev. F. M. Woods filled his regular appointment here Sunday evening. He preached a powerful sermon on "Paul's Conversion: Permanent and Complete."

Mrs. C. J. Moore of Centreville, after a pleasant visit to relatives here, has returned home.

Miss Otis Martin, an attractive young lady from Brent, is visiting her aunt, Mr. J. G. Gay.

ALMOST PERSUADED

It Is To Blush To Ride Over Chilton Roads

Now don't you laugh at the attitude of the Press this week; we have always stood persistently and consistently for good roads and for highways that will compare favorably with those of any other county of the state; there is no occasion to look up old files to ascertain how the Press has stood with reference to the "Speedway" between Clanton and Montgomery or Clanton and Birmingham; we admit that we have opposed it strenuously, if that one road, and that one road only, is to be built; we have even gone so far as to oppose, in our crude way, the building of that particular road first, because we have honestly believed that it would forestall the building of other roads in other sections of the county which would be of equal or more benefit to the farmers of the county, but we are now almost ready to admit that we have been converted.

The thing that turned the trick, if in reality the trick has been turned, was an automobile trip last Sunday to Montgomery.

By invitation of Mr. C. H. Watts we joined a party who made the trip to the Capital city; the merry party started out about four o'clock in the morning, light hearted, care free and jolly. Mr. Watts, the owner of the touring car, was at the throttle. The machine ran along as smoothly as an ice ball over a glass sea until we had gone about seven miles south—and let us say just here that it was over the most miserable roads too. These seven miles traveled in an abandon that would have done credit to an urchin on his first vacation, came to an abrupt end when the mammoth touring car decided thaf it would no longer stick to such roads as are furnished the traveling public by the citizens of Chilton county, and took to the woods. Mr. Watts did all within his power to cajole the old car to stand by its roads and uphold the dignity of the county by ploughing stolidly through the great banks of sand and muck, but it would not; cruel hearted and determined it jumped a four foot ditch and plunged madly into a pine stump standing some fifteen or more feet to the side of the road. That old stump proved as hard hearted as was the auto and gave determined resistance; the result was that a few of the party took an aerial trip of some eight or ten feet, but landed safely in Chilton sand—a fit place for children to make 'mud pies' and for mule teams to come to a halt from over exertion.

A few minutes of hard work on the part of all soon put the machine back in the sand heap and at once a conclave was held and it was unanimously decided, without one dissenting vote, mind you, to petition the court, either to patch up the roads so as to make them passable, or else to remove all the stumps at least thirty feet from the center of the sand beds.

The stump we struck could not possibly have been more than eighteen feet from the side of the road and we had to crawl a dangerous looking ditch in order to get to it. Had it been the proper distance away we might have gotten to taller timber without trouble and then have reached Montgomery by a more direct route.

Nevertheless we decided to persevere, believing that if other Chilton citizens could stand the conditions imposed, we too could go through the ordeal occasionally.

About the time we had our craft righted and properly pointed along came Uncle Tom Pyron, little Tommy Teel and Albert Pyron, the premier chauffeur.

With tears in our eyes as big as hickory nuts, and on bended knees worthy of a better cause, we sent up a wail of distress, which softened the heart of Albert, who consented to become our pilot and guaranteed safe delivery in the city, where the law is made only to be broken or contested and reversed by higher authorities.

The riding, oh, the joy riding we had from that ill-fated, or rather that stump of determined resistance, was too delightful to be mentioned in connection with troubles or anxieties.

The roads from Clanton to the couty line were despisable, fearful, heart rending, hair raising, torturesome, and perilous; the road from the county line to Montgomery was one long, lingering dream of Utopia-land.

The thirty or more miles from the county line to Montgomery were made in much less time than were the ten or twelve miles thro' the county to the county line—and the agony of distress, anxiety, anticipation and fear while on the county roads, as compared with the roads of other counties through which we passsed, were as the gnawing grief of a dolourous night mare as compared with the soft heavenly dreams of a child who smiles in its slumbers; as the thorn-strewn paths which leads to Hades, compared with the flower bedecked highways that lead through Elysia. One was glorious, sublime and entrancing; the other was painful, nerve-racking and torturesome.

But we got there, yes, we arrived in good time—after we left Chilton to the north. In fact there was nothing to keep us from getting there. We sped down the road like a swallow to his mate, like a martin to his gourd, and with no fear of danger or of delay. We felt like the cheeky boarder who, having asked the third time for butter, was reminded by his landlady that the butter cost thirty cents per pound; "Yes, and it's worth every cent of it," said he, as he helped himself to another liberal supply." Being reminded that the Elmore, Autauga and Montgomery county roads cost a few dollars per mile we mentally announced that they were worth every cent paid for them and many more besides— for they were veritable stretches of delight, refecting credit, enterprise and a love of home upon those who had in hand their construction. We won't attempt to say what the Chilton sand beds and muck hollows refect—it might make somebody angry, or we might be accused of writing a "bond issue" article.

The stay in Montgomery was enjoyable indeed even if the weather was a trifle sultry—that wasn't the fault of Montgomery citizens; they'd have made the weather more bearable too if they could have done so.

Starting back late in the afternoon Albert put the mogul to the test and well did she stand the trial too, for she glided along over those ideal roads as if she, too, was enjoying the outing to the very limit.

But all dreams must come to an end, as did ours. At Deatsville—just before the bad Chilton roads were to be tackled, the over-worked machine fell a victim to sheer exhaustion; she had done nobly but even steel breaks sometimes. At Deatsville the party stopped to get a drink of "soldier water" and some—mince pies. Or, to be accurate, all were satisfied with a dope and one mince pie, except Sam Kanjutsky and his pompadour—who went along to cheer the party with his picturesque countenance and melodious voice—; he hadn't had anything to eat since two-thirty that afternoon and was a little hungry. To soothe the gnawing pangs of hunger required two dopes, a mince pie, a number of cocoanut balls, two packages of peanuts and a dried herring—with accessories. Even then he had the temerity to ask the store keeper if he didn't have a few cheese and crackers that he might carry along for emergences.

Up to that time the machine was working to perfection, the trip homeward had been ideal and we were enjoying anticipations of taking in church services with the early worshipers. The soldier water drank and the pies dispensed our good pilot took hold of the steerage gear and gave the signal for the last dash homeward; the engine wouldn't work! It tried faithfully but the lobindodger would not work on the ash pan, the skiblink had lulooed and the magigger wouldn't respond to the ninkrup! We were up against it good and proper, a proposition in mechanics that none of us had ever studied presented itself for solution and there was none—no, not one, in the whole crowd who could get the answer. Watts donned his overalls, scrambled under the machine and looking the moon straight in the face twisted every nut, bolt and screw in sight—but there was nothing doing; Albert put on the blue togs and dove under; he found one little screw Watts had not discovered, but it gave forth no encouraging sound; we pumped out the whatnot, oiled up the running board, physiced the water tank, greased the nimrod and tried again. We never could find the place where the engine was sure enough sick, where the seat of pain was. After two hours of patient, tender nursing we decided to turn the machine over to the affectionate care of Deatsville's Chief of Police and wing our flight home on the choo-choo.

But, we had a time—a good time, an enjoyable time!

There's some more, but we are almost afraid to tell it. Anyway we've got an accident policy and here goes.

On the way down we overtook Luther Pyron and his party nursing a puncture just over the county line; giving him the accustomed salute we passed, as do ships at sea, or air-crafts, and awaited, in Montgomery, his arrival which took place just in time for fashionable dinner.

What of little Tommy Teel? Well, if you want to find out you just slip up behind him and say:

"Little Tommy Teel,
How do you feel?"

and he'll tell you in several different languages—all of which he speaks fluently.

However, Tommy was our gallant attendant going down; he stuck by us valiantly and helped us tremendously with his benign presence, his cheery voice and his willingness to "help a poor devil" in trouble.

That night! Oh, will Luther and Tommy ever forget that night—Sunday night, June the twenty-tooth, 1913?

Coming back from Capitol Heights (that's a place in Montgomery, understand) Tommy sustained a fracture on the rear tube and Luther's front guard allowed the atmosphere to go out instead of compelling it to remain in. We left them at the garage weeping and wailing for Clanton with no hope of ever seeing the loved place before the flight of many precious hours. At least, that's what Joe Gore says, and he ought to know, for he took the train at Montgomery—seeing as how things were going.

Now, the Press wants to say in all fairness that the Pyrons do not guy Watts, Luther or Tommy Teel; it was not their fault at all every bit of the disappointment on Chilton county road

THE OLD LIBERTY BELL

Religiously preserved in Independence Hall, Philadelphia, is the Liberty Bell which rang to celebrate the adoption of the Declaration of Independence on July 4, 1776. It was brought from England in 1752 and the next year was recast with the words "Proclaim Liberty Throughout All the Land, and Unto All the Inhabitants Thereof" inscribed on it. For many years it was rung annually on the Fourth of July, but in 1835, while being tolled in memory of Chief Justice Marshall it was broken. Liberty Bell in past years has been taken to many cities for exhibition, but of late this practice has been abandoned in order that it may be preserved.

HOW TO CELEBRATE

Many Cities Join Movement for Sane Fourth of July.

Casualty Lists Have Been Greatly Reduced—Fine Example of Proper Observance Set by Springfield, Mass.

A REPORT published by the Russell Sage Foundation on "How the Fourth Was Celebrated in 1911," gives conclusive proof that the movement inaugurated in many cities for a sane and safe observance of the day resulted in reducing the death roll. The number of casualties by fire and accident was 1,603. In 1909 there were 5,307 victims of their own or another's carelessness. Last year 161 cities made a point of holding sane celebrations, but there remains over 1,100 cities of 5,000 population that have not embraced the reform. It is hoped that this year many other cities and villages will fall in line.

Besides the gain in ridding the day of fires and accidents, the sane method of observance has given a larger amount of pleasure to the public and in many localities has been historically instructive as well. In New York city many large celebrations are planned for different centers which will include parades, pageants, historical tableaux, music and speeches by well known men on events and people connected with our national history. Beside the celebrations, devised for our English-speaking residents, there will be special festivals and celebrations in the Italian, Hungarian, Bohemian and Jewish sections of the city where our more newly arrived citizens will hear the history of their adopted land explained in their own tongue and illustrated by stereopticon views or tableaux.

An example of this kind of celebration was set two years ago in Springfield, Mass., at the instance of the settlement workers of that city. It required, to be sure, some time and thought, but the result was a beautiful, poetic and educational holiday—with no aftermath of killed and wounded. There were processions, a balloon ascension, games, folk dances, athletic contests, boat races, band concerts and public fireworks—but no firecrackers.

One of the processions was a thing unique in America. Each nationality in the city was invited to put a float in line. The Pilgrims were there to represent the old American stock; beside them came a huge Viking ship on wheels, sent by the Swedes; English residents put in line a float showing the signing of Magna Charta; the Scotch, Queen Mary, escorted by kilted Highlanders; the French Canadians, Champlain in his boat on the St. Lawrence; Greeks, Italians and Irish, Armenians, Poles and negroes all made suitable and interesting contributions to the line. Probably a more unifying and citizen making celebration was never seen in America.

MUNROE TAVERN, LEXINGTON

LARGEST OF OFFICIAL FLAGS

Mammoth Banner Hangs in the Middle of the Post Office Building at Washington.

If patriotism were measured by the yards of red, white and blue bunting made into the form of the flag of the nation, the biggest assignment of it would be found in the post office building at Washington, for here hangs the biggest official flag that was ever made, although there are larger unofficial flags. It also was made at the little flagshop on the side street. The building which houses the headquarters of the postal service and keeps its finger on the pulse of all Uncle Sam's mails, boasts this mammoth flag.

The great building is constructed about a hollow square at the bottom of which is the glass-roofed floor space where the local mail is handled. Above this rise eight or nine stories of masonry inclosing the hollow square. In the middle of this hangs the great flag reaching nearly the height and width of it. It is solitary and alone, with but the masonry as a background. It is impressive so hung and people come far to see it, and the idle passerby is often brought to attention and stands in unconscious admiration.

FIRST STARS AND STRIPES

It Appeared Over the Headquarters of General Washington at Cambridge, Mass.

The stars and stripes first appeared floating over the headquarters of Gen. George Washington, on the heights of Cambridge, near Boston, on January 1, 1776. This is a fact which is not usually impressed upon the minds of the children in our public schools. With that fact the children should also be impressed with the coordinate and correlative fact that the flag was made originally under the direction and under the military orders of George Washington; and that it contained in every fold the personal defiance of British rule by George Washington himself.

Celebrated Judiciously.

Some of the greatest men this country has ever produced succeeded in retaining all their dignity.

IMPROVED DEMAND IN WHOLESALE TRADE

Increased Activity in Retail Distribution — Iron Trade Active.

New York.—Dun's review of trade says:

Increased activity in retail distribution of seasonable merchandise due to the favorable weather, is reflected in a slightly improved demand in wholesale markets. The winter wheat harvest is now under way in most sections of the belt and is equaling expectations of a heavy reduction.

Further supreme court decisions in railway rate cases, confirming those of a week ago, produced little or no effect on speculative markets. In iron and steel a slight increase in activity is reported, although demand continues quiet and price concessions to secure new orders are made by some producers. Dry goods jobbing houses are still operating conservatively.

It is estimated that July interest and dividend disbursements will exceed $263,000,000 as compared with $256,000,000. Failures this week numbered 264 in the United States against 253 last year, and 20 in Canada.

New York.—Bradstreet's review of trade says:

Sentiment as distinguished from actual business is somewhat more favorable than heretofore. In this respect conservatively sanguine factors are sufficiently numerous to more than offset retarding developments. It is felt that stocks have been quite fully starved, that textile lines have probably discounted the effects of coming tariff changes, that crop prospects are certainly good enough to warrant optimism and the removal of apprehension from financial conditions all augur well for a good go-ahead movement later. Still the current situation is invested with the usual midseason conditions plus caution about far future buying, for which banks which wish to guard against undue strain when the crop movement begins in earnest are largely responsible.

Distribution on current account is fairly active, retail trade has certainly been aided by warm weather and it is evident that trade in general is larger than it was at this time last year, when there was an abundance of irregularity.

Business failures for the week ending June 19 were 235, which compares with 266 in 1912. There were 24 failures in Canada.

Wheat including flour exports from the United States and Canada for the week ending June 19, aggregated 5,328,428 bushels, against 4,734,034 bushels last year.

STREET CAR MEN QUIT

FIERCE FIGHT IN PHILIPPINES

FOURTEEN AMERICANS ARE KILLED IN PHILIPPINE BATTLE.

In the List of Dead Are Captain Taylor Nichols, Eleven Scouts and Two Regulars.

Washington.—Fourteen American soldiers were killed in the recent four days' fightiug on Jolo Island, the Philippines, when General Pershing's command finally subdued and disarmed the rebellious Moros, according to a report to the war department.

On the list of dead were Capt. Taylor A. Nichols of the Philippine scouts, eleven scouts and two privates of the regular army.

Captain Nichols was 34 years old and son of John Nichols of Durham, Cal. The two regulars, both of whom were killed in the first day's action, were Oliver Villiard, company M, Eighth infantry, whose sister lives in Rhode Island, and Luther Gerhart, of the same company.

LABEL NO SIGN OF PURITY

Successor to Doctor Wiley Explains Deficits of Food and Drugs Act.

Mobile, Ala.—The words "guaranteed under the food and drugs act," on a label are no assurance that contents of a package are pure, according to Dr. Carl L. Alsberg, chief of the bureau of chemistry, who spoke here before the Association of American Food Dairy and Drug Officials. Doctor Alsberg was speaking of the limitations of the federal bureau under the federal pure food law, appealing for closer co-operation between federal and state authorities, and for uniformity of laws of states based on the national laws.

The food and drugs act, Doctor Alsberg asserted, "not only does not give the department of agriculture power to act in many vitally important matters, but actually prohibits its intervention in many things that call aloud for immediate remedy. The people at large do not understand the limitations under which we act."

Doctor Alsberg explained that the word "guaranteed" on a can of soup or on a bottle of nerve tonic did not mean that the bureau of chemistry had seen and analyzed it, but that the manufacturers put it on simply with the idea of protecting the jobber or retailer. All that the guarantee legend does, he continued, is to make it possible to prosecute the manufacturer if the goods were found to be in violation of the foods and drugs act.

Taft Will Preside at Reunion.

Gettysburg, Pa.—It was semi-officially announced that former President Taft would preside over the great gathering of Confederate and Union veterans at the Gettysburg celebration. He is expected to deliver the principal oration July 4.

Hunting a Rat, Cash Found.

London.—An unexpected sequel to the recent burglary in the Berkeley hotel in Picadilly is the arrest of the night porter, Arthur James, charged with being concerned in stealing from the hotel safe $35,000 and attempting to murder Gowers, the other night porter. Movements of a big rat in the hotel dining room led to James' arrest. Employees of the hotel in hunting down the rat found its hole under the radiator and through it saw a gleam of gold. There was found more than half of the booty.

A HIDDEN DANGER

"Every Picture Tells a Story"

It is a duty of the kidneys to rid the blood of uric acid, an irritating poison that is constantly forming inside.

When the kidneys fail, uric acid causes rheumatic attacks, headaches, dizziness, gravel, urinary troubles, weak eyes, dropsy or heart disease.

Doan's Kidney Pills help the kidneys fight off uric acid—bringing new strength to weak kidneys and relief from backache and urinary ills.

A Kentucky Case

Miss A. G. Packham, nurse, Lakeland, Ky., says: "I had such pain through my kidneys that when I stooped it seemed as if my back would break. My head ached, specks floated before my eyes and my limbs were swollen. The kidney secretions were badly disordered and caused great discomfort. Doan's Kidney Pills helped me from the first and a short use entirely cured me."

MILK CRUSADE SAVES BABES

Stations for Distributing Infant Food Are Constantly Increasing in Various Cities.

A constantly increasing number of cities of all sizes are establishing milk stations and dispensing milk, whether pure whole milk, certified, modified, pasteurized or sterilized milk to mothers of babies that must be bottle fed. Some of the cities in which such institutions are maintained are: Albany, Baltimore, Boston, Buffalo, Chicago, Dayton, Detroit, Hartford, Honolulu, Indianapolis, Kansas City, Mo., Lawrence, Mass.; Louisville, Lowell, Milwaukee, Newark, New Bedford, New Haven, New York, Peoria, Pittsburgh, Providence, Rochester, St. Louis, Springfield, O.; Waterbury, Wilkesbarre, Worcester, Yonkers, Utica.

The milk station is simply a room sufficiently large to accommodate the patrons and equipped with a large ice box, a desk, some chairs and a table. An ordinary store is suitable for a station and sometimes, as in the case of the station at Utica, N. Y., a school room may be used for the purpose. The station is usually under the charge of a nurse, and a physician is in attendance at stated hours.

SCALES ON SCALP ITCHED

Muskogee, Okla.—"For more than a year I was afflicted with scalp disease. There were large white flakes or scales which caused the painful itching and my scratching would bring blood and cause sores. My hair came out in large quantities and what remained was thin, dry and lifeless. My temples were completely bare. During this time I tried everything that I thought would help me but nothing seemed to do any good. A friend advised me to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment.

"I bathed with Cuticura Soap and applied Cuticura Ointment. At the end of about four weeks my scalp was sound and well and my hair had thickened up and grown wonderfully in such a short time." (Signed) Mrs. D. W. McClellan, Dec. 16, 1911.

Highest Tower in the World.

Should Buenos Ayres carry out a project now under contemplation the city will erect the highest tower in the world, overtopping that of Eiffel by 189 feet. It is planned to put the steel structure up a height of 1,173 feet, and a statue at the top will be surmounted with an electric light of 1,000,000 candlepower. The tower, as plans have been drawn, will have facilities for social gatherings, cafes, restaurants, library, billiard rooms, gymnasium, as well as a wireless telegraphic station and a meteorolligal observatory.

INFANT MORTALITY IS LOWER

Efforts of Health Officials During Last Five Years Have Brought Down Death List in Cities.

What the American cities are doing and can do toward preventing infant mortality and the high death rate of children under five years of age is the subject of a bulletin issued by the children's bureau of the department of labor. It is the purpose of the bureau to issue a similar bulletin annually and in time to make it a complete manual for municipal and philanthropic activities in the direction of child welfare. Summer campaigns for babies' lives have been waged with such marvelously good effect in some cities, that it seems to the bureau important to enlist the energies of as many cities in this work as possible. To this end it will be helpful to collect and present for the information of all, the little or much that is being done by the various cities.

The efforts of city health officials have resulted in the last ten years in reducing the general death rate in cities, below that of the rural districts and villages. This reduction in the general death rate is an encouraging indication of what is possible of accomplishment in efforts to reduce the infant death rate. Babies die of diseases which to a large extent are preventable, and thus when welfare work is directed toward saving their lives the response is immediate and decided.

"A cat sits on my back fence every night, and he yowls and yowls and yowls. Now, I don't want to have any trouble with Neighbor Jones, but this thing has gone far enough, and I want you to tell me what to do."

"I would hardly say that," replied young Coke Blackstone. "The cat does not belong to you, as I understand it."

Entered at the Post Office at Clanton, Ala., as second-class mail matter under act of Congress, March 3rd, 1879.

Our friends are invited and requested to send us in all the neighborhood news; we will appreciate it and so will our readers.

Subscribers who do not receive their paper regularly and on time are requested to notify the editor of the Press, giving date and post office address.

Articles containing advertising matter of any character will not be published as news unless paid for in advance and are marked as advertising.

Notices of all-day singings and kindred subjects are invited as news articles, but they will not be published more than one time except as advertising matter at regular rates.

We wish to cater to our friends and patrons, but dislike to publish articles signed "Somebody's Sweetheart" or "Nobody's Darling" or with other kindred pet names; get something more classical.

Subscribers who are in arrears must forward subscription price in order to keep their subscriptions alive. The Post Office department requires this of us and we request it of our patrons.

Subscribers who wish their address changed MUST furnish the old address together with the new; this is absolutely necessary and unless the old address is given no attention will be paid to requests for change.

Unsigned articles invariably go to the waste basket. If you do not wish your name published we will not do so, but we must have it as a guarantee of good faith. Select a nom-de-plume and stick to it, but always give your proper name in the margin of your communication.

On and after this date all newspaper subscriptions are invariably payable strictly in advance. There will be no variations from this rule. It is the rule of all other newspapers and we have decided to adopt it and adhere to it. Please be governed accordingly.

Articles riduculing or reflecting upon others either in a social or political way—or otherwise—will not be published except when paid for at regular rates (cash to accompany communication) and signed by the writer with proper name. Even then we reserve the right to reject such articles if in our opinion they are objectionable.

We have heretofore charged nothing for publishing obituaries, but our columns cannot be used as grave stones without we receive something for the service. Three hundred words will be published absolutely free, but all in excess of that number must be paid for at the rate of one cent per word—cash to accompany.

If is not the business of a newspaper to boost men into office, hence all "boosts" will be charged for at the regular rate. Our columns are our board. Lodging clothing just as merchant's is his living; he does not his stock why should Count your article and the cash with them when others for political office.

The strongest thing in Skinner's favor is that the Advertiser is against him.

Henderson, present president, and Comer, the ex-president of the Railroad Commission, who heretofore have been close friends, are now wrangling over those "one hundred and ten articles." Each is, perhaps, trying to gain political preferment by spouting his knowledge of railroad matters and ridiculing the ignorance of the other.

We wonder if either would have had a word to say had the other not been an opposition candidate for governor?

With Seed attacking Comer on the prohibition question and good roads, and Henderson's fling at him on the rate issue, we are now prepared to listen to Wallace take a fall out with him on the bird law and Kolb on the "pig club." Each candidate attacking from a different angle will make it reasonably warm for Marse Brax' Bragg, but, somehow we suspect that in the final analysis Marse Brax' Bragg will see them all take the count while he takes the office.

Why is it that candidates invariably attack an opposition candidate whom they consider strong and attempt to break down a public official who has faithfully performed his duties and stood squarely upon the platform upon which he was elected? Why not declare themselves on public issues and let the others do the same thing? It sometimes looks like a "frame up" on the part of candidates to defeat a strong man in order that a weaker one may obtain office. Will history repeat itself in the coming campaign?

MRS. LOUISA DEASON

VENERABLE MOTHER IN ISRAEL PASSES AWAY.

With sad hearts and tear-stained countenances the citizens of Clanton received the news on Monday morning that Mrs. Louisa Deason had folded her hands and closed her eyes in endless sleep. For days and weeks the life of this much loved citizen had hung in the balance, and what an hour would bring forth no one could tell, none were willing to prophesy, yet the tender, loving ministrations of affectionate ones continued unabated as if the next moment would see her enjoying robust health and ministering unto others as in days gone by she had delighted to serve.

For some weeks Mrs. Deason sat in the very portals of death awaiting the beckoning hand of the death angel, calling her to the beautiful shores on the "Isle of Somewhere." Those who knew Mrs. Deason in life know that while she was not impatient to go she was nevertheless prepared to go and would not, if she could, have withstood the summons, for with eyes of faith she had already caught glimpses of the City over the river and was anxious to be there with the Saviour she had served so faithfully and well. The end was peaceful, emblematic of her peaceful life, triumphant, an earnest of her unswerving faith in the God of her fathers and the Christ whom she adored.

Mrs. Deasen had resided in Clanton for about fifteen years, in Chilton county the greater part of her life.

Those who knew her longest and most intimately, loved her best, for to know her was to love her and to know her intimately was to count her as one of the treasures of life.

Who that reads these lines, among her acquaintances, is not under obligation for some kindness rendered, some act of love performed?

She truly has been a ministering angel at the couch of sickness and death. But God, in His wisdom and love, has released the spirit from its tenement of clay and taken her to be with Him forever.

Mrs. Deason was twice mrrried, first to Mr. Powel, to whom were given three children. Mr. A. W. Powell, the only surviving son, is one of Chilton's most substantial citizens. She later in life assumed the responsibility of mother for Mr. Deason's large family. The success that she achieved is attested by the Christian men and women who went forth from that home and have built Christian homes of their own; and even these have contributed men and women who are building still other homes and rearing God fearing law abiding citizens.

And her own boy, Judge E. B. Deason, remembers the sacrifice the weary toil and the [illegible] tunate prayers of her who him birth; and to her be given honor for the success he has

She is survived by two children, Mr. LaFayette D[illegible] of Oklahoma, and Mrs. Bur[illegible] Brent, Alabama.

The funeral services were ducted Wednesday morning Rev. A. C. Swindall, the burying had at Shiloh church, western part of the county which place Mrs. Deason had shiped so long and so dev[illegible] and where, in her last mo[illegible] she requested that her mortal be deposited.

Mr. Luther Pyron arrived Montgomery Tuesday mo[illegible] just after midnight, reports erything lovely down the r[illegible] except the sand beds.

ELECTED COUNTY JU[illegible]

Down in the recently formed of Bay, in the State of Florida, tion was held some days since selection of county officers; th[illegible] didates were out for County Je[illegible] of them being Mr. D. K. Middl[illegible] old Clanton boy. The election adopted required that the su[illegible] candidate should receive a ma[illegible] all the votes cast; in the first there were 1294 votes cast, of wh[illegible] Middleton received 621 as ag[illegible] for his two opponents combined less than the necessary majority. second election Mr. Middleton umphantly elected. It's hard to Chilton county boy down when determines to succeed. Mr. M[illegible] is a brother of our Messrs. Jas. J. O. Middleton and Mrs. Gra[illegible] derson.

W. O. Jackson.

Mr. J. B. Crysell of Pensacola, Fla., father of Mrs. A. R. Cooper, was in Clanton the early part of the week on a visit to his daughter; from here he went to visit relatives at Jemison, Tuscaloosa and other points in Alabama. Before his return to Pensacola he expects to visit several goints in the northwestern states.

Miss Emmette Matthews returned Monday morning from Montgomery, where she has been for the past few days on a visit to friends.

A substitute in medicine is never for the benefit of the buyer. Never be persuaded to buy anything but Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for coughs and colds, for children or for grown persons. It is prompt and effective. It comes in a yellow package, with bee hive on carton. It contains no opiates. Take no substitute for Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. Alred Drug Co.

Rev. L. H. S. Chappelle left Monday morning for Birmingham, where he will join a party of friends on a trip to Wayneville, N. C., to take in the great Metnodist assembly which meets there this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Smitherman left Monday morning for Lawley on a short visit to the mother of the latter. This is Mrs. Smitherman's first visit home for almost two years.

No Substitute Could Do This.

No inferior substitute, but only the genuine Foley Kidney Pills could have rid J. F. Wallich, Bartlett, Nebr., of his kidney trouble. He says: "I was bothered with backache, and the pain would run up to the back of my head, and I had spells of dizziness. I took Foley Kidney Pills and they did the work and I am now entirely rid of kidney trouble." Alred Drug Co.

On next Saturday Mr. Tom Woods will sever his connection with the Forest Lumber Company to accept a position with the Twin Tree Lumber Company. Mr. Marcus will fill the position with the Forest Lumber Co., heretofore held by Mr: Woods.

Childrens Day was appropriately observed Sunday night at the Methodist church. A large congregation was present to enjoy the occasion.

A Worker Appreciates This.

Wm. Morris, a resident of Florence, Oregon, says: "For the last fourteen years my kidneys and bladder incapacitated me for all work. About eight months ago I began using Foley Kidney Pills, and they have done what other medicines failed to do, and now I am feeling fine. I recommend Foley Kidney Pills." Alred Drug Co.

Mr. A. R. Aldridge, the popular freight conductor on the L. & N., is making arrangements to move his family from Birmingham to Clanton and to make this place his permanent residence.

Commissioners' Court was in session for a short while Monday attending to routine business. No claims, however, were passed.

The Brilliant Stars of June.

By the end of June, Mars, Venus Saturn and Jupiter will all be morning stars, but Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is at all times the "Star" medicine for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. A cold in June is as apt to develop into bronchitis or pneumonia as at any other time, but not is Foley's Honey and Tar Compound if taken. Alred Drug Co.

Mr. J. D. Sims and Dr. J. W. Maddox of Mountain Creek were visitors to Clanton Monday.

Mr. John Patton of Jemison was a visitor to Clanton last Monday.

NOTICE TO CONTESTANTS

We are asked each day by successful contestants when they are to receive their prizes. We wish to say that they are entitled to receive them IMMEDIATELY. It is not our fault you have not already received yours. If the successful ones would but send in the selections made by them we could easily distribute the prizes without delay, but one tardy contestant can hold all the others back.

Thus far five of the nine prizes have been selected and delivered as follows:

Miss Bonnie McKee, the Grand Prize (Piano).

Miss Maude Childress, W. L. Mullins' prize.

Mrs. M. A. Messer, Gamble Hardware Co's prize.

Miss Beulah Vance, Dr. J. V. Higgins' prize.

Mrs. G. C. Vance, Potts Grocery Co's prize.

This leaves five prizes still by Potts & Nix Shoe Co., Spigener's Cash Store, Mrs. Clara Mullins and Bryant McKee.

Those entitled to select from these prizes are, in the order named: Mrs. Julia Kendrick, Miss Rosa Lambert, Miss Grace Williams and Miss Delane Pierce. The Press and the merchants offering these will greatly appreciate if the winners will make their choices immediately, in the order named above—that is, the first named winner is entitldd to first choice of the remaining prizes, the second named to second choice and so on, but till Mrs. Kendrick reports her choice others will have to await her a decision. Attend to this TODAY, please.

COTTON BLOOMS

Mr. W. A. Candler Makes Report.

Mr. W. A. Candler, living a mile or two west of Clanton, brought to the Press offices Wednesday morning a well developed cotton bloom which he found on his place the day previous. The bloom was red, showing that it had flowered the day before. Mr. Candler says that he found quite a number of bloom in his fields and that his cotton is better this year than he has ever known it to be at this season before. Who next?

BAPTIST HIGH SCHOOL

The Board of Trustees for the Baptist High School to be located at Thorsby, had a meeting in the early part of the week and transacted much business of importance to the school. Among other things they decided to take the church building at Thorsby and by adding several rooms to it convert it into a temporary school building till a more suitable building can be erected. The school is to be formally opened on Sept. 9th, at which time a number of students from all parts of the county are expected to be present for enrollment.

The faculty chosen is as follows:

Prof. Nyde W. Henson, Principal and Instructor in Latin;

Prof. Howard L. Foshee, Instructor in Mathematics and Science;

Miss Vonie Morton, of Newton, Instructress in English and History;

Miss Martha Binkley, of Denver, Tenn., Instructress in Music.

Other members of the faculty will be selected as occasion requires.

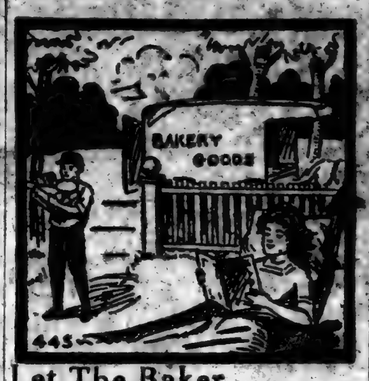
FOLEY KIDNEY PILLS
FOR RHEUMATISM KIDNEYS AND BLADDER

Guard Your Children Against Bowel Trouble



Many children at an early age become constipated, and frequently serious consequences result. Not being able to realize his own condition, a child's bowels should be constantly watched, and a gentle laxative given when necessary. Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets are especially well adapted to women and children. The Sisters of Christian Charity, 531 Charles St., Luzerne, Pa., who attend many cases of sickness say of them:

"Some time ago we began using Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets and find that we like them very much. Their action is excellent and we are grateful for having been made acquainted with them. We have had good results in every case and the Sisters are very much pleased."

The form and flavor of any medicine is very important, no matter who is to take it. The taste and appearance are especially important when children are concerned. All parents know how hard it is to give the average child "medicine," even though the taste is partially disguised. In using Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets, however, this difficulty is overcome. The shape of the tablets, their appearance and candy-like taste at once appeal to any child, with the result that they are taken without objection.

The rich chocolate flavor and absence of other taste make Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets the ideal remedy for children.

If the first box fails to benefit the buyer is returned to druggist. A box of 24 tablets costs only 25 cents. Never sold in bulk. Nearly 3 million boxes sold annually.

FARMERS USING MONEY FOR CROPS

THIS ACCOUNTS FOR DECREASE IN DEPOSITS IN BANKS SINCE FEBRUARY 4.

STATEMENT ALABAMA BANKS

Advance Figures Indicate Improved Conditions, Despite Decrease in Deposits.

Montgomery.—Advance figures compiled from the statements of the banks of Alabama, returned June 9, to the State Banking Department, show a favorable comparison with the figures returned in the statements of February 4. Between February 4 and June 9, deposits in these banks decreased by $5,000,000. This decrease is shown because the money is in circulation and is being largely used by farmers to move their crops.

One of the most significant signs of better conditions is shown in the decrease in overdrafts, this decrease amounting to nearly $3,000,000. During the five months the surplus and profits of the banks increased $750,000, which also is considered a sign of improvement. Stocks and bonds increased $300,000 and capital stock increased $500,000. Cash items decreased $100,000, and bills payable increased $2,500,000.

Total resources of the banks changed little, all of these changes being of a favorable nature. At this period of the year, deposits usually reach the low mark, as much money is used in taking care of the farm products.

MAY CUT PENSION ROLLS $150,000

Understood Examination of Records in Washington Discloses Many Unworthy Pensions.

Birmingham.—As a result of investigation into records in the pension department at Washington, which investigation is being conducted on the part of the state by H. Y. Brooke, examiner of public accounts, between $150,000 and $200,000 will in all probability be stricken from the state's pension rolls.

The report of Mr. Brooke is certain to create a sensation. He has found that many pensions have been paid by the state to parties whom the records declare to have been unworthy.

In a letter to Age-Herald Mr. Brooke, having asked for information, said:

"The later findings increase the amount which Alabama has paid to unworthy applicants for pensions. I cannot state how much longer I will be engaged on the job. Reports have already been forwarded to the governor, and work of correcting the payrolls is under way."

Mr. Brooke states that there are records in Washington by means of which he can learn just how each pensioner in Alabama served the cause of the Confederacy. He has found that some are drawing pensions who deserted, some who swore allegiance to the federal government, and others who saw no service at all. The "layouts" are recorded.

When the report of Mr. Brooke is made public, and certain names are lopped from the roll, that there will occur a state-wide sensation, is generally predicted. The payroll, it is estimated, will be decreased from $150,000 to $200,000.

As a result of the decrease, it is figured that whereas now the old soldiers' money generally is exhausted by the conclusion of the third quarter, there will be money for the entire four quarters. Alabama will therefore be enabled to honor the old Confederate veteran whose record is good, and at the same time clear the ranks of the unfaithful.

It was announced that within a few days Chilton county will have completed one of the most sanitary, safe and convenient jails in Alabama. Men are engaged now in placing in position a double row of steel cages and otherwise rendering the old jail tenable and comfortable for prisoners.

School Trustees to Meet June 28.

Montgomery.—Trustees from thirty-six school districts of Montgomery county have been called to meet with the Board of Education in this city Saturday, June 28, at which time a reorganization of the present county school plan will be inaugurated. This will be the first time that each chairman and his fellow trustees have met with the board to discuss plans and to get better acquainted with the running order of the two organizations of school directors.

Improvement Bonds Will Be Taxed.

Montgomery. — Improvement bonds recently issued by the Louisville and Nashville Railroad will be taxed $351.35 by the State, according to a decision reached by the State Board of Compromise. Mortgages were issued by the railroad and this amount was paid to the State as a mortgage tax on the portion of the fund that will be used in Alabama. Similar mortgages were filed in fourteen states by the Louisville & Nashville Railroad company.

STATE WINS BIG VICTORY

Court Holds Domestic Corporations Must Pay Privilege License on All Stock.

Montgomery.—Section 12 of the Alabama revenue act is not in contravention of the federal constitution, and under this section domestic corporations must pay the state a privilege tax based on the amount of their capital stock, regardless of whether a domestic corporation has the larger part of its property without the state.

The supreme court so held in affirming the case of the Kansas City, Memphis and Birmingham railroad against Probate Judge J. P. Stiles, of Jefferson county, appealed from the Birmingham city court.

The railroad paid Judge Stiles the domestic franchise tax under protest and sued for its recovery, setting up the legal points that being a consolidated corporation with constituent parts organized under the laws of Mississippi and Tennessee, and employing the greater part of its capital in these states, it does not fairly fall within the classification of domestic corporations, although it is organized under the Alabama laws. The railroad also declared that if classified as a domestic corporation, then the operation of the act is in contravention of the federal constitution in that it denies the plaintiff equal protection of the law, and in effect lays a tax on the interstate commerce in which the railroad is engaged.

In an opinion by Justice Somerville, the supreme court held that neither legal point was sound and promptly affirmed the case. "On the whole," said the concluding paragraph of the opinion, "Our survey of the decisions of the supreme court of the United States expository of the principles that restrict state taxation of corporate franchises, leads to the conclusion that the Alabama revenue act is free from constitutional objection in the particulars complained of."

AUBURN'S SUMMER SCHOOL.

Record Breaking Attendance Expected for August Meeting.

Montgomery.—The eleventh annual Farmers' Institute and Summer School to be held at Auburn August 1 and 9, is announced by Dr. C. A. Cary, State Veterinarian and Director of Farmers' Institutes in Alabama. A record breaker is expected this year in attendance, and in profitable, intellectual and practical work for farmers, farmers' wives and farm boys and girls.

The call is being sent out to all the farmers of the State and 2,000 persons from this and surrounding States are expected. The first institute was held in 1903, with an attendance of 130, and the school has been steadily growing until the annual number of attending farmers is more than 1,000.

Ten to twelve lectures will be given each day by some of the most prominent men in this line of work in the United States, including members of the Alabama Experiment Station staff, and experts of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Prizes are offered for the best exhibitions of pacing, trotting and roadster colts, coach and mule colts, mules and horses of the various classes, and other livestock including dairy and beef cattle, pigs and poultry.

Judging contests will be held under the direction of the experts in charge, and prizes will be awarded to the best judges of livestock and farm products of various kinds. Prizes will be given by the college and many of the leading daily papers for the best articles on farm problems in the South.

Dr. Cary predicts the most successful institute ever held in the State.

O'NEAL WIL SPEAK AT SELMA

To Honor Memory of Morgan and Pettus.

Montgomery.—Governor O'Neal will deliver an address at Selma at the celebration to be given in that city July 4 by Camp Jones of the United Confederate Veterans, at which time a campaign for raising funds for the Morgan-Pettus Memorial will be inaugurated.

Major D. M. Scott, of Selma, has written a letter to the Governor in which he invites the Executive to deliver an address on the life of the late Senator John T. Morgan. Major Scott is Chairman of the Committee on Arrangements, which has charge of the celebration.

Cullman County Youth is Paroled.

Montgomery.—Tom Wise, a Cullman county boy, who was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary on the charge of wrecking a Louisville and Nashville train near Cullman, has been paroled. Wise was only 13 years of age when the crime was committed in 1910, and because of his youth Governor O'Neal had him removed from the penitentiary to the boys' reformatory. Because of the death of the boy's father and at the request of his widowed mother, Governor O'Neal granted him a parole.

Interest on Bonds July 1.

Montgomery.—Semi-annual interest on the bonded indebtedness of the state will be paid July 1, according to a statement of Judge John Purifoy, state treasurer. This interest amounts to $178,000, and will be paid if other matters have to wait, according to the treasurer. Judge Purifoy declares that the credit of the state should be preserved. It is believed that there will be enough money available to meet the current expenses of the state in addition to the money to pay the interest.

MANY PERSONS ARE INJURED IN WRECK

50 PERSONS ARE HURT IN A RAILROAD WRECK IN NEW YORK.

FAST TRAIN JUMPS TRACK

Some in Serious Condition—Excursion Trains Roll Down an Embankment.

Rochester, N. Y.—Fifty persons were injured, some of them seriously, when a Pennsylvania railroad excursion train was derailed near Sterling station.

While the train was running at about 40 miles an hour, three of the five coaches left the track, rolling down an embankment. As it rounded a curve, the smoking car left the track, followed by all but two rear coaches. The locomotive also remained on the track, breaking away from the train after dragging the coaches about 200 feet.

Physicians and nurses were rushed to the scene from Rochester, and other nearby towns, and the most seriously injured were hurried to hospitals.

Practically all the injured were residents of Rochester.

It was said that District Attorney Frank E. Cook was refused permission to examine the wreck when he arrived at the scene. Railroad officials had thrown a cordon of employees about it, and Mr. Cook could not get within 20 feet of the nearest car.

After the district attorney had returned home a message brought him word that the railroad men were going to burn the ties for a hundred yards on both sides of the wreck. Mr. Cook, accompanied by Sheriff Acond, rushed to the spot in an automobile. They found that the ties had been thrown together in an adjoining field, but a railroad man said this was done to get them out of the way. Sheriff Acond demanded that the officials refrain from burning any ties or cars.

2 MEET DEATH IN NIAGARA

Donald Roscoe and Hubert Moore Are Caught in the Whirlpool Rapids.

Niagara Falls, N. Y.—Donald Roscoe, 10 years old, and Hubert Moore, 9 years old, both of Niagara Falls, went to their death in a small boat in the whirlpool rapids, while hundreds of men watched, helpless, from the shore.

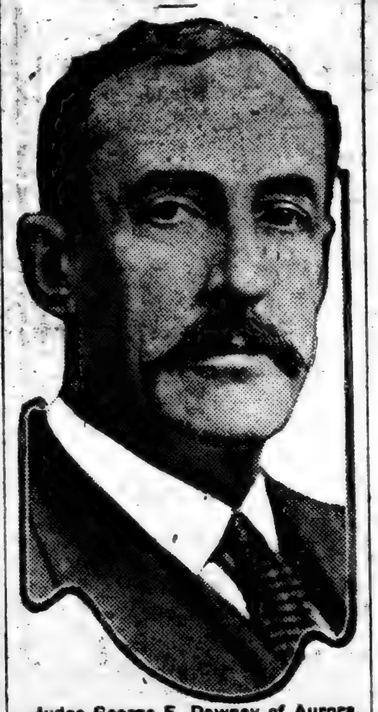
The boys were playing in a flat bottom scow half a mile above the rapids when the rope holding the boat broke and they were carried out into the stream and down the river.

Until the boat reached midstream it made little progress. After it passed the bridges the current carried it swiftly toward the rapids. The bridgemen did not see the boat until it was close at hand. Then they called fire headquarters and two companies of firemen were sent to save the lads if possible.

Hundreds swarmed to the river banks in a vain effort at rescue. The boys, realizing their fate, stood up as the boat neared the edge of the roaring whirlpool and shook hands in farewell. A second later they were engulfed by a great wave in the rapids. The boat shot out of sight. One of the boys was seen for a moment struggling in the rushing waters. Neither body was recovered.

Auto Bandit Woman Arrested.

Chicago.—Mrs. Irene Brunner, 25 years old, was arrested as the latest auto bandit, charged with holding up a woman's furnishing store. According to Miss Elizabeth Foley, owner of the store, the woman bought a handkerchief and while she was being waited on, drew a revolver from a handbag, held up the owner and two women clerks and made away with $100. Mrs. Brunner is the wife of Joseph J. Brunner, owner of an automobile garage.



Spaniards Enraged by War in Morocco

Cerbere, France.—Advices from Barcelona say the renewal of fighting in Morocco, which resulted in violent rioting at Barcelona in 1909 is again arousing the Socialistic and Anarchistic elements; the situation is beginning to be disquieting. A stormy anti-war meeting at Barcelona was followed by a collision between police and the agitators. Firearms were used on both sides, and several persons were shot. Again there were several violent clashes, the police on two occasions firing at the mob.

Blue and Gray at Gettysburg.

Gettysburg, Pa.—The hills of Gettysburg, where the armies of Meade and Lee pitched their tents fifty years ago, are flecked with canvas habitations of the tented city which will arise on the battlefield. The army of Civil war veterans from the North and the South—50,000 in number—are already upon the way in three-quarters of the states in the Union to hold a jubilee reunion on the fiftieth anniversary of the battle. Many of the veterans are here, but gathering of the Blue and Gray will not be complete until the day of the formal ceremonies.

$500 EXEMPTION FOR CHILD

INCOME TAX CHANGES ARE PROPOSED SO THEY WILL FAVOR BIG FAMILIES.

Four Thousand Exemption May Also Be Lowered to Three Thousand Dollars.

Washington.—An addition exemption of $500 for each child of a family in the income tax section of the tariff revision bill was determined upon by the senate finance subcommittee, of which Senator Williams is chairman, and the change will be recommended to the majority members of the committee. Having determined upon this important amendment, the subcommittee also is seriously considering recommending changing the 4,000 exemption in the Underwood bill to $3,000.

This, it is argued, would greatly increase the revenue, and with the additional exemption proposed for children would not impose hardship upon the heads of families.

Senator Simmons, chairman of the finance committee, said that the Democratic caucus of the senate would be called, whether the finance committee majority had concluded with the schedules or not, and that the caucus would go over schedules already approved while the committee was finishing its work.

Senator Ollie James of Kentucky, who made the sugar tariff speech in the senate defending the stand of President Wilson, has taken a vigorous position in the finance committee against the imposition of a countervailing duty on meat and cattle.

WOMEN SENTENCED TO JAIL

Most Prominent Militant Suffragettes in England Given Long Terms.

London.—Six of the most prominent leaders of the militant suffragettes organization and one of their male supporters were found guilty of conspiracy to commit malicious damage to property.

The women officials of the Women's Social and Political Union are Miss Harriet Kerr, Miss Agnes Lake, Miss Rachel Barrett, Mrs. Beatrice Saunders, Miss Annie Kenney and Miss Laura Lennox. The man is Edward Y. Clayton, an analytical chemist.

An impassioned speech in defense of the outrages committed by militant suffragettes was delivered in court by Miss Annie Kenney.

Stronghold of Moros Stormed.

Washington.—More details of the fierce fighting which resulted in the complete overthrow of the Moros on the island of Joly in the Philippines, was continued in a delayed dispatch from Brigadier General Pershing of the American troops. General Pershing says, probably will end outlawry in Jolo for some time. The last crater stronghold was captured after hard fighting, the attack being made by two companies of the Philippine scouts commanded by Capt. George C. Charlton.

Mislabeled Meats Liable to Seizure

Washington.—Probably the most radical and far-reaching extension of the food and drugs act since its enactment was made when Secretaries Houston, McAdoo and Redfield, charged with enforcing this statute, ruled that meat and meat products in interstate or foreign commerce which bear labels bearing statements in violation of the pure food law, may be seized if misbranded or adulterated. Proceedings at once against manufacturers of such foods will be resisted in court.

CALLED FROM BED AND SHOT

THREE NEGROES TRAILED BY BLOODHOUNDS—LYNCHING NARROWLY AVERTED.

ROBBERY WAS THE MOTIVE

Howell Barely Alive When Neighbors Arrive Indicates Negroes Did Shooting.

Dublin, Ga.—J. T. Howell, aged 33, a merchant of Long Branch, near here, and his wife, were murdered after being called from their beds, a shotgun being the weapon used. Bloodhounds taken to the scene of the murder, led a posse to the cabin of three negroes, Smith Harris, Joe May and Henry Kitchens, who were hurried to the jail and heavily guarded.

Shortly after the shooting several hundred men gathered at the jail and a lynching appeared imminent. When the majority of the crowd withdrew for supper, the sheriff slipped his prisoners out of the jail under heavy guard, placed them aboard a train and took them to Eastman and thence to Macon, where precautions were taken to protect them from a mob.

From evidences at the scene of the murder, it was supposed that shortly before daybreak, Howell was called from his bed and went outside, carrying a lantern. His murderers riddled his head with shot. Mrs. Howell, it appears, hearing the shots, ran outside and was killed at the doorstep. A neighbor who heard the shooting notified the sheriff, who took a posse and hurried to the scene. When he arrived Howell was still alive, but died while being brought here. He was unable to talk intelligibly but is said to have indicated that a negro had done the shooting.

The motive for the murder appears to have been robbery, as Mrs. Howell's trunk was ransacked, suitcases searched and thrown into the yard and a small grip in which Howell is supposed to have kept money was found in the woods nearby. Barefoot tracks and shoeprints were found here and at the scene of the murder.

50 EXCURSIONISTS HURT.

Five Coaches of Pennsylvania Train Leave Track Near Rochester, N. Y. While Running at 40 Miles an Hour.

Rochester, N. Y.—Fifty persons were injured, some of them seriously, when a Pennsylvania railroad excursion train was derailed near Sterling station.

ARMY-NAVY EXERCISES.

Plans Under Way for Event to Be Held on Long Island Sound.

Washington.—Plans are under way for joint army and navy coast defense exercises to be held on Long Island Sound and Narragansett Bay during the first time such a programme has been arranged since 1905. Major William Chamberlin, coast artillery corps, has been designated to perfect preparations for the event.

Troops from all the Atlantic coast stations probably will participate in the exercises and Rear Admiral Badger, commanding the Atlantic fleet will designate troops to take part. It is expected that a majority of the vessels of the fleet will have a part in the programme at some time during the week.

EATS 61 EGGS AND BREAKS WORLD'S RECORD

Cairo, Ill.—Frank Blake won a bet of $25 by eating 61 eggs. The world's record is supposed to have been 60. The eggs were cooked as follows: Scrambled, 15; soft boiled, 16; hard boiled, 15; fried, 15.

7 KILLED IN FREIGHT WRECK

Freight Speeding Down Hill Crashes Into Gravel Train in Iowa.

Clinton, Ia.—Seven men were killed and another probably was fatally injured in the wreck of a freight train on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad near here. The freight train, speeding down a four mile hill crashed into a gravel train. Both engines were wrecked and 28 cars were piled on the demolished gravel train. The victims have not been identified. None of other crew was hurt.

FARMERS USING MONEY FOR CROPS

THIS ACCOUNTS FOR DECREASE IN DEPOSITS IN BANKS SINCE FEBRUARY 4.

STATEMENT ALABAMA BANKS

Advance Figures Indicate Improved Conditions, Despite Decrease in Deposits.

Montgomery.—Advance figures compiled from the statements of the banks of Alabama, returned June 9, to the State Banking Department, show a favorable comparison with the figures returned in the statements of February 4. Between February 4 and June 9, deposits in these banks decreased by $5,000,000. This decrease is shown because the money is in circulation and is being largely used by farmers to move their crops.

One of the most significant signs of better conditions is shown in the decrease in overdrafts, this decrease amounting to nearly $3,000,000. During the five months the surplus and profits of the banks increased $750,000, which also is considered a sign of improvement. Stocks and bonds increased $300,000 and capital stock increased $500,000. Cash items decreased $100,000, and bills payable increased $2,500,000.

Total resources of the banks changed little, all of these changes being of a favorable nature. At this period of the year, deposits usually reach the low mark, as much money is used in taking care of the farm products.

MAY CUT PENSION ROLLS $150,000

Understood Examination of Records in Washington Discloses Many Unworthy Pensions.

Birmingham.—As a result of investigation into records in the pension department at Washington, which investigation is being conducted on the part of the state by H. Y. Brooke, examiner of public accounts, between $150,000 and $200,000 will in all probability be stricken from the state's pension rolls.

The report of Mr. Brooke is certain to create a sensation. He has found that many pensions have been paid by the state to parties whom the records declare to have been unworthy.

In a letter to Age-Herald Mr. Brooke, having asked for information, said:

"The later findings increase the amount which Alabama has paid to unworthy applicants for pensions. I cannot state how much longer I will be engaged on the job. Reports have already been forwarded to the governor, and work of correcting the payrolls is under way."

Mr. Brooke states that there are records in Washington by means of which he can learn just how each pensioner in Alabama served the cause of the Confederacy. He has found that some are drawing pensions who deserted, some who swore allegiance to the federal government, and others who saw no service at all. The "layouts" are recorded.

When the report of Mr. Brooke is made public, and certain names are lopped from the roll, that there will occur a state-wide sensation, is generally predicted. The payroll, it is estimated, will be decreased from $150,000 to $200,000.

As a result of the decrease, it is figured that whereas now the old soldiers' money generally is exhausted by the conclusion of the third quarter, there will be money for the entire four quarters. Alabama will therefore be enabled to honor the old Confederate veteran whose record is good, and at the same time clear the ranks of the unfaithful.

It was announced that within a few days Chilton county will have completed one of the most sanitary, safe and convenient jails in Alabama. Men are engaged now in placing in position a double row of steel cages and otherwise rendering the old jail tenable and comfortable for prisoners.

School Trustees to Meet June 28.

Montgomery.—Trustees from thirty-six school districts of Montgomery county have been called to meet with the Board of Education in this city Saturday, June 28, at which time a reorganization of the present county school plan will be inaugarated. This will be the first time that each chairman and his fellow trustees have met with the board to discuss plans and to get better acquainted with the running order of the two organizations of school directors.

Improvement Bonds Will Be Taxed.

Montgomery.—Improvement bonds recently issued by the Louisville and Nashville Railroad will be taxed $851.20 by the State, according to a decision reached by the State Board of Compromise. Mortgages were issued by the railroad and this amount was paid to the State as a mortgage tax on the portion of the fund that will be used in Alabama. Similar mortgages were filed in fourteen states by the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company.

STATE WINS BIG VICTORY

Court Holds Domestic Corporations Must Pay Privilege License on All Stock.

Montgomery.—Section 12 of the Alabama revenue act is not in contravention of the federal constitution, and under this section domestic corporations must pay the state a privilege tax based on the amount of their capital stock, regardless of whether a domestic corporation has the larger part of its property without the state.

The supreme court so held in affirming the case of the Kansas City, Memphis and Birmingham railroad against Probate Judge J. P. Stiles, of Jefferson county, appealed from the Birmingham city court.

The railroad paid Judge Stiles the domestic franchise tax under protest and sued for its recovery, setting up the legal points that being a consolidated corporation with constituent parts organized under the laws of Mississippi and Tennessee, and employing the greater part of its capital in these states, it does not fairly fall within the classification of domestic corporations, although it is organized under the Alabama laws. "If I have to die to get the vote," she said, "I will die willingly, whatever the verdict of the jury."

Stronghold of Moros Stormed.

Washington.—More details of the fierce fighting which resulted in the complete overthrow of the Moros on the island of Joly in the Philippines, was continued in a delayed dispatch from Brigadier General Pershing of the American troops. General Pershing says probably will end outlawry in Jolo for some time. The last crater stronghold was captured after hard fighting, the attack being made by two companies of the Philippine scouts commanded by Capt. George C. Charlton.

Illegitimate Meats Liable to Seizure

Washington.—Probably the most radical and far-reaching extension of the food and drugs act since its enactment was made when Secretaries Mourning Meades and Redfield, charged with enforcing this statute, ruled that meat and meat products in interstate and foreign commerce which hitherto have been exempted from the provisions of the pure food law, may be seized if misbranded or adulterated. Beginning at once manufacturers of meat products will be required to comply with the law.

CALLED FROM BED AND SHOT

THREE NEGROES TRAILED BY BLOODHOUNDS—LYNCHING NARROWLY AVERTED.

ROBBERY WAS THE MOTIVE

Howell Barely Alive When Neighbors Arrive Indicates Negroes Did Shooting.

Dublin, Ga.—J. T. Howell, aged 33, a merchant of Long Branch, near here, and his wife, were murdered after being called from their beds, a shotgun being the weapon used. Bloodhounds taken to the scene of the murder, led a posse to the cabin of three negroes, Smith Harris, Joe May and Henry Kitchens, who were hurried to the jail and heavily guarded.

Shortly after the shooting several hundred men gathered at the jail and a lynching appeared imminent. When the majority of the crowd withdrew for supper, the sheriff slipped his prisoners out of the jail under heavy guard, placed them aboard a train and took them to Eastman and thence to Macon, where precautions were taken to protect them from a mob.

From evidences at the scene of the murder, it was supposed that shortly before daybreak, Howell was called from his bed and went outside, carrying a lantern. His murderers riddled his head with shot. Mrs. Howell, it appears, hearing the shots, ran outside and was killed at the doorstep. A neighbor who heard the shooting notified the sheriff, who took a posse and hurried to the scene. When he arrived Howell was still alive, but died while being brought here. He was unable to talk intelligibly but is said to have indicated that a negro had done the shooting.

The motive for the murder appears to have been robbery, as Mrs. Howell's trunk was ransacked, suitcases searched and thrown into the yard and a small grip in which Howell is supposed to have kept money was found in the woods nearby. Barefoot tracks and shoeprints were found here and at the scene of the murder.

50 EXCURSIONISTS HURT.

Five Coaches of Pennsylvania Train Leave Track Near Rochester, N. Y. While Running at 40 Miles an Hour.

Rochester, N. Y.—Fifty persons were injured, some of them seriously, when a Pennsylvania railroad excursion train was derailed near Sterling station.

While the train was running at about 40 miles an hour three of the five coaches left the track, rolling down an embankment. As it rounded a curve the smoking car left the track, followed by all but two rear coaches. The locomotive also remained on the track, breaking away from the train after dragging the coaches about 200 feet.

Physicians and nurses were rushed to the scene from Rochester and other nearby towns and the most seriously injured were hurried to hospitals at Sonyea and in this city.

ARMY-NAVY EXERCISES.

Plans Under Way for Event to Be Held on Long Island Sound.

Washington.—Plans are under way for joint army and navy coast defense exercises to be held on Long Island Sound and Narragansett Bay during the first time such a programme has been arranged since 1905. Major William Chamberlin, coast artillery corps, has been designated to perfect preparations for the event.

Troops from all the Atlantic coast stations probably will participate in the exercises and Rear Admiral Badger, commanding the Atlantic fleet, will designate troops to take part. It is expected that a majority of the vessels of the fleet will have a part in the programme at some time during the week.

EATS 61 EGGS AND BREAKS WORLD'S RECORD

Cairo, Ill.—Frank Blake won a bet of $25 by eating 61 eggs. The world's record is supposed to have been 60. The eggs were cooked as follows: Scrambled, 15; soft boiled, 15; hard boiled, 15; fried, 15.

7 KILLED IN FREIGHT WRECK

Freight Speeding Down Hill Crashes Into Gravel Train in Iowa.

Clinton, Ia.—Seven men were killed and another probably was fatally injured in the wreck of a freight train on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad near here. The freight train, speeding down a four mile hill, crashed into a gravel train. Both engines were wrecked and 23 cars were piled on the demolished gravel train. The victims have not been identified. None of either crew was hurt.

PRESIDENT WILSON SENDS MESSAGE TO CONGRESS ON CURRENCY REFORM

PRESIDENT URGES IMMEDIATE ACTION BY CONGRESSS ON CURRENCY REFORM—THE MESSAGE ONE OF THE SHORTEST IN HISTORY OF THE COUNTRY.

NEEDS OF COUNTRY'S BUSINESS ARE POINTED OUT

Pertinent Reasons Why Measures Advocated by President Wilson Are Explained in the Message—An Able Document Which is of Great Interest to the Country.

Mr. Speaker, Mr. President, Gentlemen of the Congress:

It is under the compulsion of what seems to me a clear and imperative duty that I have a second time this session sought the privilege of addressing you in person. I know, of course, that the heated season of the year is upon us that work in these chambers and in the committee rooms is likely to become a burden as the season lengthens, and that every consideration of personal convenience and personal comfort, perhaps, in the cases of some of us, considerations of personal health even, dictate an early conclusion of the deliberations of the session; but there are occasions of public duty when these things which touch us privately seem very small; when the work to be done is so pressing and so fraught with big consequence that we know that we are not at liberty to weigh against it any point of personal sacrifice. We are now in the presence of such an occasion. It is absolutely imperative that we should give the business men of this country a banking and currency system by means of which they can make use of the freedom of enterprise and of individual initiative which we are about to bestow upon them.

We are about to set them free; we must not leave them without the tools of action when they are free. We are about to set them free by removing the trammels of the protective tariff. Ever since the Civil war they have waited for this emancipation and for the free opportunities it will bring with it. It has been reserved for us to give it to them. Some fell in love, indeed, with the slothful security of their dependence upon the government; some took advantage of the shelter of the nursery to set up a mimic mastery of their own within its walls. Now both the tonic and the discipline of liberty and maturity are to ensue. There will be some re-adjustments of purpose and point of view. There will follow a period of expansion and new enterprise, freshly conceived. It is for us to determine now whether it shall be rapid and facile and of easy accomplishment. This it cannot be unless the resourceful business men who are to deal with the new circumstances are to have at hand and ready for use the instrumentalities and conveniences of free enterprise which independent men need when acting on their own initiative.

It is not enough to strike the shackles from business. The duty of statesmanship is not negative merely. It is constructive also. We must show that we understand what business needs now, and will need increasingly as it gains in scope and vigor in the years immediately ahead of us, is the proper means by which readily to vitalize its credit, corporate and individual, and its originative brains. What will it profit us to be free if we are not to have the best and most accessible instrumentalities of commerce and enterprise? What will it profit us to be quit of one kind of monopoly if we are to remain in the grip of another and more effective kind? How are we to gain and keep the confidence of the business community unless we show that we know how both to aid and to protect it? What shall we say if we make fresh enterprise necessary and also make it very difficult by leaving all else except the tariff just as we found it? The tyrannies of business, big and little, lie within the field of credit. We know that. Shall we not act upon the knowledge? Do we not know how to act upon it? If a man cannot make his assets available at pleasure, his assets of capacity and character and resource, what satisfaction is it to him to see opportunity beckoning to him on every hand, when others have the keys of credit in their pockets and treat them as all but their own private possession? It is perfectly clear that it is our duty to supply the new banking and currency system the country needs, and that it will immediately need more than ever.

The only question is, When shall we supply it—now, or later, after the demands shall have become reproaches that we were so dull and so slow? Shall we hasten to change the tariff laws and then be laggards about making it possible and easy for the country to take advantage of the change? There can be only one answer to that question. We must act now, at whatever sacrifice to ourselves. It is a duty which the circumstances forbid us to postpone. I should be recreant to my deepest convictions of public obligation did I not press it upon you with solemn and urgent insistence.

The principles upon which we should act are also clear. The country has sought and seen its path in this matter within the last few years—sees it more clearly now than it ever saw it before—much more clearly than when the last legislative proposals on the subject were made. We must have a currency, not rigid as now, but readily, elastically responsive to sound credit, the expanding and contracting credits of every-day transactions, the normal ebb and flow of personal and corporate dealings. Our banking laws must mobilize reserves; must not permit the concentration anywhere in a few hands of the monetary resources of the country or their use for speculative purposes in such volume as to hinder or impede or stand in the way of other more legitimate, more fruitful uses. And the control of the system of banking, not private, must be vested in the government itself, so that the banks may be the instruments, not the masters, of business and of individual enterprise and initiative.

The committees of the congress to which legislation of this character is referred have devoted careful and dispassionate study to the means of accomplishing these objects. They have honored me by consulting me. They are ready to suggest action. I have come to you, as the head of the government and the responsible leader of the party in power, to urge action now, while there is time to serve the country deliberately and as we should, in a clear air of common counsel. I appeal to you with a deep conviction of duty. I believe that you share this conviction. I therefore appeal to you with confidence. I am at your service without reserve to play my part in any way you may call upon me to play it in this great enterprise of exigent reform which it will dignify and distinguish us to perform and discredit us to neglect.

Griffin.— Through the continued efforts of A. W. McKeand, secretary of the southern commercial secretaries' association, there has been perfected in Griffin a board of trade, which begins its career with a membership of one hundred and twenty-five, and with funds in hand amounting to over $4,000.

Savannah.—In an effort to escape a detective, Morris Kramer, a young Austrian, was nearly suffocated in a closet in a West Broad street store. Kramer is wanted in New York for the abandonment of his wife and several children. He has been in Savannah several weeks as a clerk in a clothing store, and, according to the police, was planning to marry a Savannah woman.

Savannah.—At a police court hearing Frank Rivers, the negro chauffeur who ran over and killed Miss Mary Moore on Thursday, was held blameless by Recorder Schwartz. The occupants of the car, Miss Ruth Ely and her visiting guest, Miss Catherine Crampton of Mobile; Miss Virginia Wright of Wilmington, N. C., and Miss Perkins of Savannah, appeared in court to testify for the negro, who was driving them.

Athens. — Commissioner-elect Jim Price of the agricultural department of the state, stated in reference to the generally circulated report that he might appoint Dan G. Hughes, son of Congressman Dudley Hughes, as assistant commissioner, that he had not made an appointment nor promised an appointment to anybody or for anybody.

Jerry.—A deed was filed in the clerk's office superior court, and recorded, in which the consideration set out in the deed was one pair of Berkshire pigs, and the property conveyed being one acre of land near Wellston, Ga., in which is a small dwelling house. The deed was executed by C. E. Hardison to Thomas W. Murray of Wellston, a breeder of registered Berkshire hogs.

Augusta. — The business houses closing, there were probably 2,000 people gathered on Barrett plaza when the heroic bronze statue of the late Senator Patrick Walsh, mounted on a mammoth marble pedestal, was presented to the city and accepted by Mayor L. C. Hayne from the Walsh Memorial association. The addresses of the occasion by Hon. Clark Howell of Atlanta, and Hon. Richard A. Settle of Savannah, both of whom knew Senator Walsh intimately, were appropriate and held the close attention of the crowd.

Milledgeville.—The farming force of the state sanitarium is now engaged in threshing the large crop of grain produced at the institution this season under the direction of G. W. Hollinshead, farm steward. The acreage planted was a large one, and the yield enormous. Altogether the authorities expect to thresh out several thousand bushels. The force is now engaged in plowing in peas on the land from which the oat crop was grown, and the thoroughly systematic manner in which this is being done guarantees a splendid crop of seed as well.

nished roads such as we had in the other counties we would not have inflicted this article upon you. Think of it and decide if it isn't cheaper to have good roads than to stand this sort of thing—even occasionally.

Tom and Luther will gets in before this reaches our readers—that is, they are due to arrive this week, if they can make it over the sand hills of lower Chilton. Speak gently to them; remember they have suffered; bear in mind that are yet young and need encouragement; don't ruffle feelings of a young man by referring to unpleasant things—and besides, Uncle Tommy was along and he doesn't appreciate it one little bit, nor does any one of the others, Just forget it, that's the best way, and if you must think, then think of the difference between the roads in Montgomery, Autauga and Elmore counties as compared with Chilton's miserable excuses. Just think how easy Chilton could have such roads if she WOULD and then go off and mourn because she just WON'T.

RESOLUTIONS OF SYMPATHY

COMMISSIONER'S COURT EXPRESSES SORROW.

Whereas it has pleased Almighty God to remove from this life the spirit of Mrs. Louisa Deason, the venerable mother of Judge E. B. Deason, the Chairman of the Board of Commissioners of this county; and whereas it is becoming and proper that we give expression to our deep sorrow because of the affliction which has been visited upon our associate.

Therefore, be it resolved by the Commissioners' Court of Chilton county in session this day assembled, that we extend to our fellow associate and to his bereaved relatives our deepest sympathy in this their hour of sorrow.

Resolved second, That these resolutions be spread upon the Minutes of the Commissioners' Court, that a copy be sent to Judge E. B. Deason and that a copy be furnished to each of the county papers for publication.

TWO GAMES

CLANTON NEEDS SPORT SPIRIT

The ball twirlers of Helena came down last Thursday morning and put it over the Clanton team in the first game but received a severe flogging at local hands on a second trial.

In the very beginning of the game there was manifested some dissatisfaction among the Clanton boys because the manager assigned certain men to certain positions; however, the game started out as if it was going to be nip and tuck between the two aggregations. Finally Helena scored and this seemed to take the ginger out of the Clanton team. Nevertheless they labored on under difficulties till the seventh inning, when a dispute arose as to the number of men out. Helena was plainly right in her contention but some of the Clanton boys refused to bow to the decision of the umps and the scorer. A truce was called, by which Clanton surrendered the first game, the score standing six to three in favor of Helena in the seventh inning, and the second game was started. Many of the spectators thinking that the whole thing was going to break up in a row, left for town and thereby missed one of the best games of the season, in which Clanton came out victorious to the tune of ten to three.

In the first game the batteries were: For Helena. Patton and Lawley; for Clanton, Pyron and McDowell.

In the second game: For Helena, Lovelady and Ruffin; for Clanton, D. Scott and McDowell.

Clanton now has one of the best amateur ball teams in the state, and, with a little more practice could hold their own with almost any team in this section of the state. There is one thing manifest to the close observer, however; Clanton has no sporting spirit; our boys do not play ball from the view point of a sport lover; they work for victory it is true but they wranngle too much to ever expect to win any number of games; if things do not go exactly to the liking of each and every individual member of the team, there is a kick and possibly a "drop out" and surely a "laying down" that is not commendable.

No base ball team can hope to be successful unless there is organization and loyalty to the manager and a spirit of true sportsmanship shown.

Team work is the sine qua non in ball playing and Clanton is sadly deficient in this requsite.

Get together boys; play together, and stay together and you will soon be invincible. Wrangle and fuss and your home people will refuse to support you.

EXCELLENT WHEAT

CHILTON COUNTY PRODUCT.

Mr. Joe Foshee brought to the Press offices last week a sample of wheat grown and gathered by him on one of his places this year. The sample shown by Mr. Foshee will compare favorably with that grown in the northwest; it is heavily fruiied, large grains and uniform says he made enough wheat on two acres to supply his immediate demand for more than two years to come with a good surplus for sale; in fact he has already engaged several busheis of flour to be delivered as soon as he can have his wheat ground into flour.

Home made flour is far superior to that purchased from the Northwest; it may be somewhat darker than the 'patent" kind, but the nutritive qualities, its sweet flavor makes it a thing to be desired.

Oh, that Chilton farmers would plant wheat instead of so much cotton. We must prepare for the boll weevil; that pest is sure to come, in fact is already here, and, unless our farmers diversify their crops and prepare to live at home and broad at the same place for the next two or three years they will find it rather difficult to make both ends meet.

By all means let each farmer plant a small crop of wheat along with other food stuffs and starve the boll weevil into leaving our section

ANTWERP IS QUAINT

Old City Has Irresistible Charm to Travelers.

Ancient Town, Once the Largest in World, Rich With Historical Lore and Abounds With Things of Interest.

Antwerp.—The casual traveler who finds himself in Antwerp must indeed be very much globe-trotted if he does not immediately fall under the quaint and irresistible charm of the old city. Especially is this true if he approaches by the river Scheldt, with its flat lowlands dotted with peaceful cattle and white, red-roofed Dutch houses and red-sailed fishing smacks lying in the canals beyond the dikes, and here and there a windmill lazily turning its sails against a blue sky. The winding river leads like a road to the ancient town, the one-time highway of the burgomasters' argosies, the artery of trade that made Antwerp once the largest city in the world and earned for it the name of "The Northern Venice." And across the river's many turns and windings, crowded with the ocean liners of Germany, France, England, now lost in rising mists, now a cold gray foggy silhouette, rises the bulk of the old town itself, at its feet the long line of wharves and the spars and funnels of the shipping, to either side, the jagged skyline of the ancient house with their stepped gables and swayback roofs, above it the tall, gaunt tower of the cathedral.

Albeit one looks only for a stodgy Dutch-Belgian shipping town, especially after this approach, Antwerp is quite unexpectedly typical of the life of continental Europe. It is difficult in a few words to describe this characteristic but cosmopolite Belgian city, its old-world mediaeval charm and its modern bustle and commerce, its atmosphere of the Dutch lowlands and its unmistakable savor of the Paris movement, its strange mingling of Gaul and Teuton. It is all the more charming in the fact that with all its trade and traffic the town has been slow to tear down and demolish its rich heritage of past centuries.

Old houses abound in surprising numberlessness, fine old gabled edifices, ranging in age from two to six hundred years, leaning upon each other for support, bulged and cracked, stained and dingy, but with what a romantic glamour and wealth of historic association! For these same aged gables look down upon the same narrow, crooked streets which saw the years of riot and bloodshed under the Spanish misrule; the ancient town hall fronts the old square made horrible by the Duke of Alba's soldiery; everywhere one sees reminders of the long series of wars which so long shook the Netherlands. In placid contrast, a relic from the days of earlier tranquillity, stands the house of the Emperor Charles V. with its beautiful Gothic facade and leaded windows full of painted coats of arms, with the adjoining old buildings of the various medieval guilds. Dating also from the days of Antwerp's prosperity, but much older, is the chateau du Steen, on the water front, in the tenth century the seat of the courts of Antwerp. Charles V. gave it to the burgomasters, who used it for a prison; today it contains a wonderful collection of antiquities. A rambling pile of beautiful old walls and round and square towers with peaked roofs, it is a fitting memorial to the fendal power of a bygone age, and it is difficult to realise, until one sees the deep foul dungeons and the instruments of refined torture that thousands of victims were here done slowly to death at the hands of the Spanish inquisition. Several ghastly death masks of these poor, maimed broken jawed victims are preserved in the chateau, and so terrible and agonized are they that it is easy to understand how the name of the Duke of Alba is to this day hated throughout the low countries.

TWO STRONG POINTS OF VIEW

Society Divided Into Camps on Question That Has Always Been Considered Important.

No work under heaven is more imperative than the rescue of young and innocent girls; no crime is more dastardly than the sale of their youth and innocence; no charity is greater than that which lifts the sinner from her sin. But the fact that we habitually apply the term "white slave" to the willful prostitute as well as to the entrapped child, shows that a powerful and popular sentiment is absolved from the shackles of accuracy. Also that this absolution confuses the minds of men. The sentimentalist pities the prostitute as a victim, the sociologist abhors her as a menace. The sentimentalist conceives that men prey, and women are preyed upon; the sociologist, aware that evil men and women prey upon one another ceaselessly and ravenously, has no measure of tenderness for either. The sentimentalist clings tenaciously to the association of youth with innocence. The sociologist knows that even the age-limit which the law fixes as a boundary line of innocence has no corresponding restriction in fact. It is inconceivable that so many books and pamphlets dealing with this subject—books and pamphlets now to be found on every library shelf, and in the hands of young and old—should dare to ignore the balance of depravity, the swaying of the pendulum of vice.—Atlantic Monthly.

HARSH COMMENT ON SEX

Rooster's Unseemly Conduct Drew Bitter Remark From His Young Mistress.

Dolly was not quite six when her mother bought a flock of nine Plymouth Rock hens and a rooster, and diligently explained to Dolly that the rooster was the "papa hen" and the rest were all "mamma hens." After two or three days of confinement, to accustom them to their coop, they were let out to wander about the yard, and Dolly was set to watch them. The hens stayed together nicely, but the rooster showed a tendency to wander into the next-door neighbor's chicken yard. Dolly chased him back time and again, until she was tired and out of patience. She turned her back for a minute, and when she looked round there were the hens up by the coop, while the rooster was sedately pacing across the garden towards the next yard.

Dolly stamped her foot on the sidewalk and screamed: "Come back here! Come back to your own family." The rooster proceeded with perfect equanimity. Dolly watched him for a moment with a look of utter disgust. Then her mother heard her say, very emphatically:

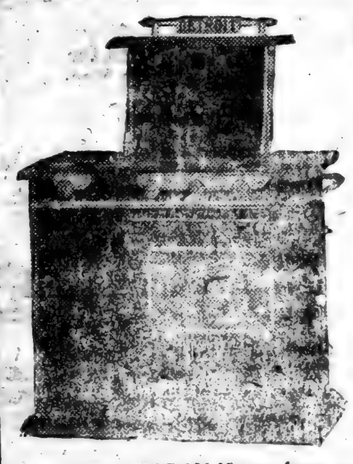
"That's just like you men, anyway."—London Tit-Bits.

For Convalescent Child.

The nurse who has a good library at her command can devise almost endless means of interesting a convalescent child. She might take the child on a trip around the world to the children of all nations. One day they could go to France. She could describe "sunny France" to him and talk about the vineyards and the pretty flower gardens and the black bread the bakers sell to the children to feed the sparrows and the odd little smocks the children wear to school and half a dozen other things which she could gather in a half hour's reading. For the visit to the little German children she could get much from Grimm's fairy tales.

Holland's children would form another day's subject—their wooden shoes, their full skirts, their winter life on the frozen canals and their love for the little Princess Juliana could all be told about. Japan and Italy, Spain, India and the North American Indians—all have given records of their children, which could be quickly referred to and entertainingly worked up.

Bridge to Have Elevators.



A novel scheme was recently exhibited at Cologne, in a competition of plans for a new bridge.

It was felt desirable to construct a high-level bridge that would allow uninterrupted traffic both on land and river. One of the plans entered was for a high-level bridge having slopes as steep as 1 in 12, which would be impossible for traffic under ordinary conditions.

The designer of this bridge, however, plans to equip the approaches with electrically driven chains, to which motor cars and horse-drawn vehicles may be attached for haulage up the approaches, and "easage" down the approaches. Little cars drawn by these trains are also provided for pedestrians.

Patriot's Wish.

It is my heart's first and favorite wish to be employed in active and enterprising services where there is a prospect of rendering such services useful and acceptable to America. The singular honor which congress hath done me by their general approbation of my past conduct hath inspired me with sentiments of gratitude which I shall carry with me to my grave; and if a life of service devoted to America can be made instrumental in cementing its independence, I shall regard the continuance of such approbation as an honor far superior to the empty pageantry which kings ever did, or can bestow.—John Paul Jones.

The Question of Rate

It is inconceivable that certain individuals should seek to create prejudice against the L. & N. simply because the L. & N. exercises its right as a citizen to appeal to a duly constituted court of justice to adjust the question of rates.

The courts of justice were created by the people and are maintained by the people for such purposes. When a question of property rights is involved, and a satisfactory agreement can not be arrived at, there is no other alternative than to invoke the majesty of the law; to secure a judicial opinion after a careful, non-partisan review of the facts.

Any other course is in violation of the letter and spirit of the law, and borders on anarchy.

When the L. & N., in spite of its best efforts, is so unfortunate to do injury to life or property, it makes every effort to arrive at a satisfactory adjustment. Failing in this effort the injured party makes appeal to a court of law to recover fair and reasonable damages. The L. & N. realizes the right of appeal to law, and has never failed to abide final decision of the law.

The officials of the L. & N. do not therefore concede that any large percentage of the thoughtful people of Alabama condemn the L. & N. for exercising its right to appeal to a duly constituted court of law.

The L. & N. is engaged in the operation of a railroad which a large number of stockholders are interested. It is a public service corporation, and as such the general public is interested. The officials of the L. & N. realize that the stockholders are entitled to a fair and just return on the money invested. The officials realize that the people who supply revenue producing traffic to the L. & N. are entitled to good service at reasonable rates.

On the one hand the stockholder has invested his money in stock; on the other hand the shipper or passenger has invested his money in transportation.

Between these two stand the officials of the L. & N. exerting every effort to safeguard and promote the interests of each, for each is dependent upon the welfare of the other.

The stockholder does not desire and shall not demand more than a fair return on his investment. The law provides for that.

The investor in transportation service should not demand more than that to which his investment entitles him. The law provides for that.

In all fairness, is it right that certain influences should seek to create prejudice against the L. & N.?

PUBLISHED IN THE INTEREST OF CHILTON COUNTY AND HER PEOPLE

CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY JULY 3, 1913 — NO. 13

HON. THOS. E. KILBY

CANDIDATE EOR LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR. MAN OF EXPERIENCE AND AFFAIRS.

We are presenting herewith a picture of Hon. Thomas E. Kilby of Anniston, who has announced himself a candidate for Lieutenant Governor of Alabama to succeed Hon. Walter D. Seed.

Mr. Kilby is a man of affairs in the material world and of large experience in the legislative world having ably represented his senatorial district and is one of the most popular men in public life; especially is he esteemed by those who know him best. Aside from acting as President of the Anniston First National Bank he finds time to look after the affairs of the Kilby Locomotive works of Anniston and the Kilby Frog and Switch Company of Birmingham, showing that he has executive as well as legislative experience. Mr. Kilby is temperate in speech, considerate of his opponents, loyal to his friends and aggressive in party work. Alabama would make no mistake in selecting this gentleman as her lieutenant governor, nor will one single vote cast for him be unjustifiably bestowed.

NO PENSION MONEY

OLD SOLDIERS NEGLECTED.

We are requested to say that there will be no pension warrants issued to the old Confederate soldiers this quarter.

It appears that the pension funds have been exhausted, consequently the old soldiers will have to live on short rations for the next year.

COUNTY SEVENTH GRADE

EXAMINATION AND COMMENCEMENT.

Chilton county is behind many of the counties of Alabama in one matter of importance to the rural schools of the county. The County Seventh Grade Examination and Commencement as provided by the County Board of Education in many counties of the State, offers a goal toward which the pupils in the rural schools may work. Funds to keep them in school until the end of the session, and recognizes the fact that the work done in the rural schools is as vital to the educational system of the State as that done in the city schools.

Briefly outlined, the plan is this: A committee, consisting of the County Superintendent and two or three leading teachers of the county prepare questions covering the subjects required for admission to the County High Schools. These questions are given in examinations held in different parts of the county under the auspices of the County Board about the time that the rural schools close in the Spring. Students who pass these examinations with a satisfactory average are awarded a certificate entitling them to admision to High School

The certificates are presented to the pupils at a public commencement held in some central place in the county. Where tried, these examinations have been found to be of great help in standardizing the work of the rural schools, in stimulating the interest of the pupils, and in holding in school those who are inclined to drop out before they have completed the course.

It did not seem feasible to arrange for such an examination in this county the past year, but it would be a grevious mistake to let another year pass without providing for this important aid to the work of the rural schools. Now is none too soon for the County Board to begin planning for it.

THORSBY INSTITUTE ANNOUNCEMENT

The Trustees of Thorsby Institute announce the following Faculty for the coming school year, all of whom have accepted the positions offered them:

Rev. Sherman H. Herbert, A. B., Beloit College, Principal; Bible and Science.

Miss Helen Charlotte Jenkins, A. B., Mt. Hollyoke College, Associate Principal; Latin and German.

Miss Marian Knight, Pd. B., Colorado State Teachers' College, Assistant Principal, Preparatory Department and Teachers Courses.

Miss Christena MacIntvre, Ph. B., University of Chicago, Librarian; Latin, Algebra, Chemistry.

Miss Mae Sarles, A. B., Wellesley College, English and History.

Rev. Elmer W. Butler, A. B.; Illinois College, Mathematics, Bookkeeping.

Miss Erva O. Finch, Michigan State Normal Conservatory of Music, Vocal and Instrumental Music and Drawing.

Miss Elizabeth Hoopes, Matron and Domestic Science.

Miss Jenkins will be absent a part of the year soliciting funds for the school.

Miss Hoopes is a native of Virginia. She has had several years' successful experience in charge of a Y. W. C. A. home for young women.

Miss Knight was born in Dover, England. She has had a successful experience as teacher in all grades of public school work.

She is especially qualified to give instruction in methods of kindergarten and primary work to those who are fitting themselves to become teachers.

Courses of especial value that will be offered this year include a class in cooking, one in drawing and water-color work, two classes in sight-singing, one in public speaking and one in bookkeeping and business law.

Miss Sarles' home is in Little Rock, Arkansas. She comes highly recommended by her professors in Wellesley College.

BALL TEAM OF SUFFRAGISTS

Women Organize Nine in Bronx Section of Gotham, and Call It "N. Y." Female Giants."

Chicago.—Suffragettes have now organized in an effort to get at the baseball fan. Up in the Bronx section of New York they have formed a baseball team of their own, and have named it the New York Female "Giants."

Their first game, played against an opposing female team, was on the grounds of the Westchester Golf links, New York, April 27, and was witnessed by over a thousand fans. In the photograph is Miss Schall, part of the Giants' "battery." Miss Schall is pitcher and manager of the team.

No doubt suffragettes in other parts of the country, seing the success of the New York Female "Giants," will organize similar baseball clubs, and we may look forward to seeing female players matched against male league players for the baseball championship.

FINDS HORNET IS "GENTLE"

English Mayor Tells of Discovering Cottage Where They Are Kept In Hives Like Bees.

London.—Wasps occasionally have been heard of as pets, but it has been reserved for Major Hurlstone Hardy to discover that the hornet is "a gentle, inoffensive creature very suitable for a pet." Writing in Knowledge, he states that, when walking down Chiswick lane many years ago, he discovered hornets busy around four straw hives in the front garden of a cottage.

"I entered," he says, "and asked the proprietor to let me observe them. I found that he kept the hornets for pets and that he had no bees. He lifted up a hive and let me observe the queen at work. He said that he felt no danger whatever."

Major Hardy adds that he personally has "no fear whatever of these innocent and useful creatures, who seem quite willing to share our dwellings with us if encouraged to do so."

It may be recalled that Mr. Bates in his account of his experience on the Amazon states that at first he killed hornets which flew near his face. But having observed them closely and noted that they killed stinging flies, pouncing upon them as the flies attempted to bit him, he let them alone, and was rather glad of their company.

It is suggested that the time may come when every well-regulated household will keep its hornet to deal with flies, as it now keeps its big dog to guard against burglars.

STARVES IN DESERTED TOWN

Woman, Sole Survivor, Is Rescued With Faithful Dog, After Long Illness.

Rawlins, Wyo.—Mrs. Mary West, for the last year the only dweller in the deserted town of Carbon, once a prosperous coal camp of 1,500 population, was brought to the County hospital here.

She was found in a critical condition from starvation, having been helpless from illness since May 1. Beside the woman when she was found was an aged dog, which she said had not left the room since she fell ill.

NOTED LOG CABIN HOTEL HIT

Hostelry at Grand Forks That Sheltered James J. Hill Has Been Razed to the Ground.

Grand Forks, N. D.—A log cabin hotel of two rooms, where James J. Hill in 1873 "bunked" with 13 other men, has been razed in Grand Forks. It served as the first hotel in Grand Forks, and sheltered Hill when he was prospecting through this district for the location of the Great Northern railroad.

Night after night this pioneer hotel was "filled to the garret." With bunks arranged along the walls, the men would be compelled to sleep in pairs. Several times Mr. Hill was guest at this then frontier hotel. It served as a hostelry only three years, and during that same period it was the postoffice, the stagecoach station, town hall and town church.

The capacity of the city's present hotels is just 1,400 times as great as was that of its first hotel, which 35 years ago was sufficient to care for all that came to the state.

Collectors.

Collectors as a rule are egotists and thieves. They are often leading citizens in the great republic of Bores. One man will buttonhole you in the street while he tells you in ghastly detail how he finally secured the autograph of the fourth governor of Georgia. Another will describe minutely his collection of photographs of all the women who have yet taken the part of Carmen. We know an otherwise blameless person who collected monograms. What one of us has not at some time dwelt in this Arcadia? When we were boys it was either a collection of coins, beginning with copper cents of the United States, postage stamps, or names of locomotive engines. How many had the foresight to keep their coins and stamps? They were pattered, or they disappeared, together with a little book relating to adventures of Alexander Selkirk; that book with deep green covers and wood cuts apparently cut with a jackknife. For it we would now gladly exchange a complete and luxurious set of books by the author Irving.—Boston Herald.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE

The next Teachers' Institute for Chilton county will be held at the county court house, Clanton, Ala., week beginning August 11th, 1913.

The Institute will open at noon, Monday, August 11, and will close at noon, Friday, of the same week. All who hold certificates, whether they have taught or not, are required to be present on Monday morning when the Institute opens and attend every day; also to be present at each period, as it will take that to make the four full days. I insist that all holders of State certificates be on time and not be careless about attending, as it means the loss of your certificate should you do so.

There were only three certificates cancelled for this county last year and I sincerely trust there will be none this year.

You will do well to clip the date or put it down in your note book, that you will be sure to be on time.

The names of the conductors will be published as soon as it is ascertained who they will be.

Will you please give me enough space in your paper to say a few words for this community? I wish to speak particularly about our debating society. We are moving along nicely now under the able management of our president, Mr. Curtis Grooms, who manifests great interest in the success of the society; however, others are not taking as deep an interest in its welfare as they should. There is nothing more refining in its influence or educational in its tendencies than a good debating society; we need more spirit in ours and this is written with a view to eliciting more interest on the part of our members.

The people here are enjoying unusually good health and the crops are in splendid condition, so that our people are happy and contented. X. X. X. X.

A TACKY PARTY

Mrs. H. M. Simpson delightfully entertained at a tacky party Tuesday evening from eight to eleven, in honor of the visiting girls of the town, Misses Sallie Oakley, Winnie Kelly and Faye Moore.

The home of the charming hostess was beautifully decorated with ferns and cut flowers.

The guests on their arrival were met at the door and carried into the spacious dining room where delicious lemonade was served. The dining room and reception hall were thrown open, from where many delightful games were enjoyed and sweet music was rendered throughout the evening by Miss Callen.

The prize for the tackiest girl was won by Miss Callen,

Later in the evening delicious ice cream and cake was served by Masters Moses and William Simpson.

The guests all left, thanking the host and hostess for having spent a most enjoyable evening.

CLANTON WINS HARD FOUGHT CONTEST

One of the most interesting, exciting and hardest fought ball games of the season, was played between Jemison and Clanton on Jemison's grounds last Thursday.

From the time the boys begun to play it was a hard fighting bunch on both sides and continued so until 14 innings of hard struggling was completed. In the early part of the game it looked very much like a victory for Jemison, when the stood 5 to 3 in favor of Jemison in the 5th innjng. But the Clanton boys pulled together and buckled down to business, and gradually gained on Jemison. In the 8th inning the score was tied 5 and 5, and continued so until 13 innings were fought, and in the 1st half of the 14th inning Clanton managed to shove another score over the plate, which brought the game to a close after the last half of the 14th inning and resulted in another victory for Clanton by the score of 6 to 5.

The features of the game were the pitching of Pyron for Clanton and Bean for Jemison, and the excellent support given both pitchers.

Batteries for Clanton, Pyron & McDowell; for Jemison, Bean, Scott and Sims.

Clanton has played eleven games and has been victorious in ten of them. We feel that we have the fastest amateur team in Alabama, and therefore challenge any amateur team in the state.

Outside of these two little points of interest, we had a very nice game and everybody seemed to be well pleased with the results.

The Jemison fans did hate so bad to see their team go down in bitter defeat after battling so hard for such a long time.

COTTON SEEMS TO BE IN GOOD SHAPE

FIELDS HAVE BEEN WORKED WELL DURING THREE WEEKS OF HOT DRY WEATHER

BADLY NEEDED RAIN COMES

Old Corn Is Reported Very Badly Damaged by Drought, While New Crop Is Good.

Montgomery.—This being about the time of the year marking the turning point in the cotton plant, with July and August as the big month, it is hard to make an accurate estimate of conditions prevailing over the state. One apparent fact is that the fields have been well worked, and they are free of grass. As a whole, the plant is in excellent shape, and while certain sections are badly in need of rain, the very recent showers, which appeared to be extensive, has relieved many communities, particularly the uplands farms.

There has been little general rain over the state since June 9, but cotton has been doing excellently, recovering from the cool spell a few weeks ago. Other crops, particularly old corn, has been badly burned by the dry, hot weather. Young corn is needing moisture in nearly all counties.

The crop is in a high state of cultivation, according to all reports. The hot, dry spell brought the plant up to a half to three-quarters stand in the middle section of Alabama, while in the northern section cotton is said to be in the best condition it has been in at this time of the year in years. Particularly is this true in Tallapoosa and Tuscaloosa counties.

From many sections of the state comes the report that the dry weather has done much damage to the old corn, while the new corn was beginning to feel the lack of moisture. In many localities it is reported that the drought has wrought immense damage to old corn.

Southwest Alabama farmers are reporting that the dry weather has been ideal for the spread of the boll weevil, but in the majority of counties the pest has not been spreading with as great rapidity as had been expected. In fact, farmers are greatly encouraged.

A pessimistic report is received from but one county—Conecuh. Farms in the vicinity of Evergreen report the plant to be unhealthy. It is said that the plant has not entirely recovered from the recent cold wave, and that in many places rust, blight and the effects of lice are to be seen.

In Coosa county there are two contrary reports. The one states that the three weeks drought has materially damaged the plant, while the other says the plant continues to grow and is taking on fertilizer rapidly. Covington county reports the plant to have developed wonderfully, with the plant small as a rule, but healthy.

In the black belt crops as a whole are well worked with labor plentiful.

SHERIFF SCORED BY OATES.

Big Profit Made on County Prisoners' Feed, Governor Is Told.

Montgomery. — Scathing criticism of Sheriff Horace Hood of Montgomery county, for his treatment of prisoners and his alleged utter lack of system and management in conducting his office, and of the filthy and unsanitary condition of the prison building and yard, is contained in a report submitted to Governor O'Neal by Dr. William H. Oates, State Prison Inspector.

Dr. Oates charges that the sheriff spends only 13 1-2 cents per prisoner per day for feeding them and that the State pays the sheriff 30 cents per day per prisoner, for this food, thus leaving a clear profit to the sheriff of 16 1-2 cents per prisoner or $9.45 for fifty-six prisoners, the number incarcerated on the day the inspection was made. Upon the same basis for thirty days, a clear profit to the sheriff of $277.35, which rightfully should have been expended on the prisoners for their food is shown.

Good Roads Party Shaken Up.

Montgomery.—John Craft of Mobile, president of the Alabama Good Roads association, was injured, Prof. C. M. Mitchem of Auburn was cut about the face and hands, and C. T. Hart of Montgomery was considerably bruised when the automobile of W. S. Keller, state highway engineer, collided with a wagon in the road about ten miles south of Greenville, in Butler county. Mr. Keller was covering the final distance of his 3,000-mile trunk highway tour of the state when the accident occurred.

Impeachment of Sheriff Suggested.

Montgomery.—J. M. Lovell, sheriff of Tallapoosa county, is charged with using his official influence to prevent an indictment of W. S. Prince, a deputy sheriff of Tallapoosa, on a charge of the murder of Louis Pharr, a young white man at Dadeville in August, 1912. Telegrams demanding the sheriff's impeachment have been sent Governor O'Neal with many requesting that the matter be investigated.

TRUNK HIGHWAY TOUR ENDS.

Total Distance of 1,981.4 Miles Covered by Keller's Good Roads Party.

- W. S. Keller's trunk highway tour.
- Total distance traveled, 1,981.4 miles.
- Daily average, 119.9 miles.
- Longest run in one day, 186 miles. (Alexander City to Montgomery.)
- Shortest run in one day, 55 miles. (Decatur to Florence.)
- Number counties visited, 41.
- States touched, Alabama, Tennessee, Mississippi and Georgia.
- Tour began at Mobile June 9.
- Tour ended at Montgomery, June 28.
- Number days actual travel, 15.

Montgomery.—Despite serious accidents, collisions and bad roads, W. S. Keller, state highway engineer, has completed his trunk highway scouting tour of the state on schedule time and, together with the other members of his party, arrived in Montgomery. The last day's journey was decidedly the most unfortunate one of the entire tour and more accidents occurred during the day than in the fourteen days preceding.

Mr. Keller has compiled his figures and announces that he has covered more than eighteen hundred miles and that his tour included forty-four counties in Alabama and several counties in three other states.

During the tour Mr. Keller has collected some valuable information which he will place before the next legislature in compliance with the law creating the state highway department. The tour was taken under the direction of the highway commission.

MAY SUE LESSEES OF CONVICTS

Claims Made That State Is Due Thousands for Convicts' Railroad Fare.

Montgomery.—More than $15,000 may be recovered by the state from companies leasing state convicts because of the failure of these companies to pay the transportation of convicts back to the counties in which they were convicted, according to a statement of Governor O'Neal. Under the law passed in 1907 these companies are required to pay these expenses incurred by the convicts. The state, however, has been paying the charges since 1907.

Governor O'Neal is preparing bills for the amount of money due the state and will send them to the companies which are due the state the money. Unless the companies settle the accounts suit will be brought by the state against their bonding companies.

After an investigation the governor has discovered that no attention has been paid to this feature of the law in the past. The law also provides that the company hiring the convict must buy each one a pair of shoes, a hat, a suit of clothing, and allow him 50 cents per day for the time he is actually traveling on his way to the county of the conviction. These hats, shoes and clothes must be given to the convict when he is discharged. Heretofore these expenses have been met by the state.

Since 1907 it is estimated that the companies should have paid between $20,000 and $30,000 and this amount the state will seek to recover. Further investigation may show that the amount due is much larger.

Most of the companies leasing the convicts are located in Jefferson county and the bulk of the amount due is from these Jefferson county corporations.

JUDGES FAIL TO REPORT.

Thirty-two Have Failed to Comply With the Law in That Respect.

Montgomery—Probate judges of thirty-two counties have laid themselves liable to impeachment because they have not complied with the law which requires them to make monthly reports of all convictions where hard labor sentences were imposed to the state convict department. Letters notifying them that immediate and satisfactory explanations are necessary are being sent by Hartwell Douglass, president of the board of convict inspectors.

Deason Arrested for Alleged Murder

Montgomery.—J. D. Deason of Louvale, Ga., business partner of Warren O'Donnell, the Montgomery man, who was found dead near Louvale last week, is in jail on a charge of murder, according to information received in Montgomery. Deason and O'Donnell were engaged in the well boring business. Complications grew and O'Donnell went to Louvale last week to make settlements. His body was found near Louvale by the road. His pockets were turned out and part of his head had been blown off with buckshot.

Appointment of Sheriff Suggested.

Montgomery.—J. M. Lovell, sheriff of Tallapoosa county, is charged with using his official influence to prevent an indictment of W. S. Prince, a deputy sheriff of Tallapoosa, on a charge of the murder of Louis Pharr, a young white man at Dadeville in August, 1912. Telegrams demanding the sheriff's impeachment have been sent Governor O'Neal with many requesting that the matter be investigated.

200 TONS OF OIL EXPLODE ON SHIP

EXPLOSION HEARD FOR MANY MILES—SCORES WERE BLOWN OVERBOARD.

STEAMER MOHAWK WRECKED

Five Killed and Six Injured When Tank Steamer Blew Up in New York Bay.

New York.—Two hundred tons of fuel oil on board the steel tank steamer Mohawk, owned by the Standard Oil company, exploded with a terrific roar and a burst of flame while the vessel was at anchor off Tompkinsville, Staten Island, in New York bay, killing five persons and injuring six others. A dozen more are unaccounted for, but are believed to have been rescued. Two bodies were seen floating in the hold while the fire boats were still pouring streams of water into the wrecked steamer.

Carelessness of a machinist's helper was reported to have caused the explosion. Fifteen men, including the crew and twenty machinists, who were making repairs preparatory to the Mohawk's departure for Tuxpan, Mexico, were on board. A helper was declared to have dropped a washer into the hold below the fire room. Seeking to recover it, he is believed to have carried a lighted candle, which caused combustion among gases generated in the hold.

The explosion was heard for many miles. A 200-foot flash of flame, a column of smoke, the detonation, a volcano of debris and the Mohawk settled aft while fire boats, wrecking tugs and other harbor craft hurried to the scene from all directions.

A score of men who were blown overboard were rescued unhurt. Others clung to the stanchions and rails or huddled in the bow, whence they were dragged in safety on boats.

The fire was later controlled and the crew return on board and began pumping the vessel out. The stern was completely under water, but it is believed the steamer can be got into dry dock for repairs.

STARS AND BARS TO WAVE

Gettysburg Gaily Decorated With Blue and Gray for Reunion of Veterans.

Gettysburg, Pa.—That the stars and bars as well as the stars and stripes will appear at the big camp of veterans during the anniversary celebration was indicated by announcements from the office of the anniversary commission that "there is nothing to prevent the wearers of the gray from bringing along their battleflags."

At the same time, it was said that the Confederate flag would not be used in official decorations over which the commission has control. Residents of Gettysburg and Union veterans are extending a royal welcome to arriving Confederate veterans.

The town itself never has been so gaily decorated. Every business block is gay with the national colors and practically every home displays at least one flag. The stars and bars appear in a number of places, while the use of both the blue and the gray is a favorite method of decoration at many buildings.

Large pictures of both Union and Confederate generals are much in evidence. The town is gay with martial music. Many of the veterans have brought their fifes, drums and bugles and the calls of war times are sounded in the streets, in some instances by the very men who did the same thing during the exciting days of the Gettysburg campaign half a century ago.

Finishing touches were put on the camp. Equipment was distributed to the 5,000 tents, all of which are now up and everything is in readiness for the fifty thousand old soldiers to attend the celebration.

Sixty Lamas Burned.

St. Petersburg, Russia.—Sixty Mongolian lamas were burned to death in a pagoda at Kwei Hwacheng, in the Chinese province of Shansse, on the border of Mongolia, according to a dispatch received here. They had barricaded themselves in the building against a number of Chinese pursuers.

Blalock's Nomination Confirmed.

Washington.—A. O. Blalock of Fayette was nominated by President Wilson as collector of internal revenue of Georgia. The nomination was later confirmed by the senate. The position of collector will be more important and profitable under the new tariff law than it has ever been before, even Judson Georgia became a dry state, for the collection of income taxes will give operative upon the collectors of internal revenue. It will be a highly complicated and difficult task to inaugurate the new system.

DEMAND COTTON REFORMS

BETTER METHODS FOR BALING AND PACKING OF COTTON FOR SHIPMENT WANTED.

Subject Is Taken Up by House Committee on Interstate Committee. Georgian Is Chairman.

Washington.—Legislation looking to better methods of bailing and of packing cotton for shipment in interstate commerce, to prohibit wasteful methods of sampling, and unfair deductions for cotton tare, as well as regulations for deductions for "country damage," was taken up by the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce.

Representative Adams of Georgia, chairman of the committee, declared that congress undoubtedly has power to regulate this subject where the cotton is to be shipped outside of the state. Innumerable complaints have been made by farmers that the arbitrary 6 per cent tare deduction is unjust. This is denied by the cotton merchants and exporters, who say that thirty pounds of bagging and ties is the average.

Reference was made to the practice of the Southeastern railroads in accepting for shipment unginned cotton and ginning and baling it en route. Even if the railroads can only carry 25,000 pounds of unginned cotton in a car, whereas they can carry six 500-pound bales in the same car, they are enabled to make a difference in the transportation receipts through controlling the gins at certain points.

A bill to require uniform tare was introduced at the last session of congress by Representative Burleson of Texas, now postmaster general.

FOUR KILLED BY EXPLOSION

By Puffing of Dust Death and Destruction Are Dealt.

Buffalo, N. Y.—Four men are known to be dead, sixty were injured, some fatally, and four are unaccounted for, as the result of an explosion in the elevator and grain storehouse of the Husted Milling company.

Sixty were taken to hospitals, some in a serious condition, from burns and broken legs and arms. That many of the injured cannot survive and that the ultimate death list may number fifteen is an estimate reached by a canvass of the hospitals.

The explosion was caused by the puffing of dust accumulated in the feed house, and was of frightful force, tearing out one wall of the wooden structure and breaking windows for a quarter of a mile around. John Conroy, engineer of a switch engine, was blown from his cab and received internal injuries, which caused his death.

The body of Henry Vetter was blown 50 feet and was found under a box car nearby badly burned. A boy, while running to the fire, was run down by an automobile and killed.

No Torn Battle Flags Wanted.

Philadelphia.—Word has gone out to veterans of both armies all over the country not to bring their tattered battle flags to Gettysburg for the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the battle, for they cannot be flown on the breeze in the encampment. Every precaution will be taken to prevent the stirring up of ill animosities and feeling on the part of the old soldiers, and this is one of the precautions considered necessary. The only flag which will be allowed in the encampment is the stars and stripes.

The Clanton [illegible]

UNITED STATES DEPO[illegible]

HAS WON GOOD WILL

Democratic Administration Deservedly Popular.

Wisdom, Firmness and Tact Displayed by the President Has Satisfied the Voters They Made No Mistake in November.

The new administration has now been in power three months. What has it accomplished, where does it stand, and what is the outlook for its future?

Woodrow Wilson became President under peculiar conditions. He had had only a brief political experience, having been taken out of the college cloister and made governor of New Jersey as a stepping-stone to higher honors. In that executive position he had shown much capacity, definiteness of purpose, and strength of character. It was this fact that led the country to accept with confidence his election to the presidency, even though he was not the choice of the majority of the people. At the same time, he was a schoolmaster in politics. Although a student of government he had not been active in public life. His acquaintance with men and measures was naturally limited. There was still a doubt in the popular mind whether the fact that he had been a good governor in his own state insured his successful administration as president.

Whatever doubts existed upon this score have largely disappeared. President Wilson is undoubtedly stronger in the country today than he was when he entered the White House. This is due, more than anything else, to the fact that he seems to be imbued with good, hard, downright common sense. This is his most valuable asset. He seems to have the faculty of governing his course of conduct by rules which insure sensible action in personal matters, even though he shatters precedent, he seems to have met popular approval. Take, for instance, his visits to the Capitol and his establishment of an office under the very shadow of the senate chamber. It was a bold, unique proceeding, but the country has accepted it as a wise innovation. In the treatment of international questions, such as the Japanese situation in California, he has displayed both firmness and tact. The same characteristics are also manifest in his dealings with legislators and legislation. He has set himself to accomplish certain results and does not propose to be disappointed.

Limiting Appropriation Bills.

The Democratic leaders in the house have done wisely in giving serious consideration to the limitation of appropriation bills.

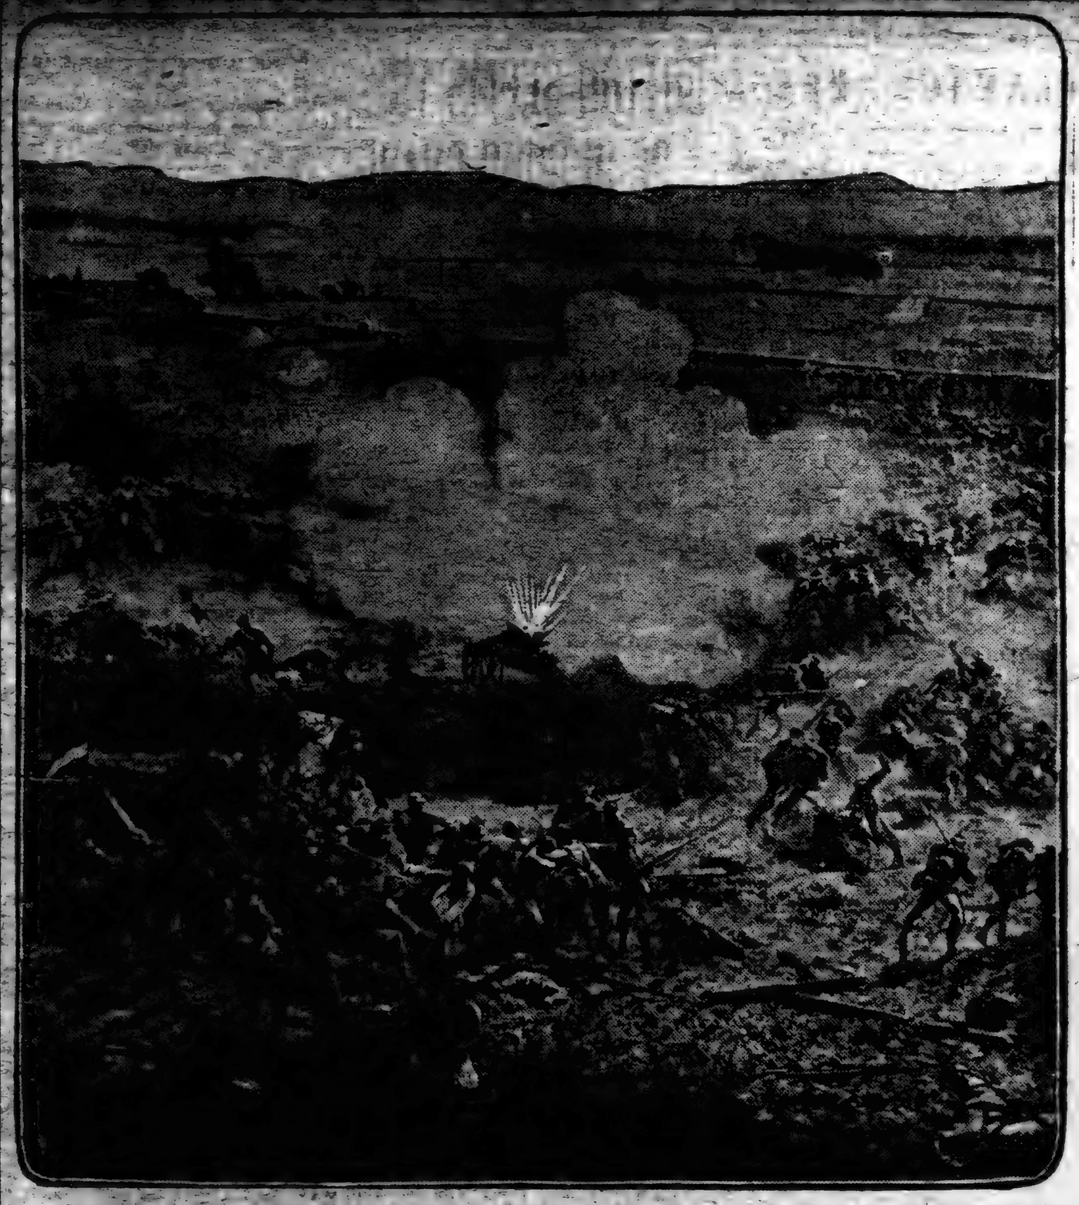
When the late Samuel J. Randall many years ago ran counter in his protection ideas to the free trade policies of the dominant faction in his party he was punished by the withdrawal of appropriation bills from his committee. Under the new system the bills relating to the army and navy, agriculture, pensions, etc., were framed by the committees which dealt with those matters, and, as a natural consequence, each committee, working independently, placed no limit upon its expenditures. It is now proposed that a budget committee shall apportion the amount beyond which no committee shall go in making up an appropriation bill. Thus there will be a correlation between the revenues and the expenditures and economy will be assured.

The effort to rectify the abuses of the present system will meet the commendation of the country and demonstrate the desire of congress to run the government upon business principles.

Appalling Tariff Thought.

The board of trade of Quincy, Mass., says that city will be ruined if the duty on finished granite is reduced as proposed in the Underwood bill.

Reducing the argument to a syllogism it is: Luxuries should bear a high duty; tombstones of granite are a luxury; therefore, the duty on granite tombstones should be kept high.



Unless the senate amends the bill it is asserted that "Scotch monuments will be seen in our cemeteries." If senators have any imagination these grewsome specters surely will be excluded.

Democratic Success Sure.

If the new schedules are effective this summer the country will have a year's experience upon which to reach conclusions next year in ample time to line up in the congressional elections. If Republican predictions about business depression have happily failed to materialize in the meantime the reelection of a Democratic house will be almost a foregone conclusion.

Problem for Administration.

The greater problem before the administration is how to increase the revenues. This is proving a

Explosion of an ammunition caisson during the Battle of Gettsburg, by which a number of soldiers of the Twenty-eighth Infantry were killed.

HIGH TIDE OF WAR

BATTLE OF GETTYSBURG WAS TURNING POINT OF GREAT CIVIL CONFLICT.

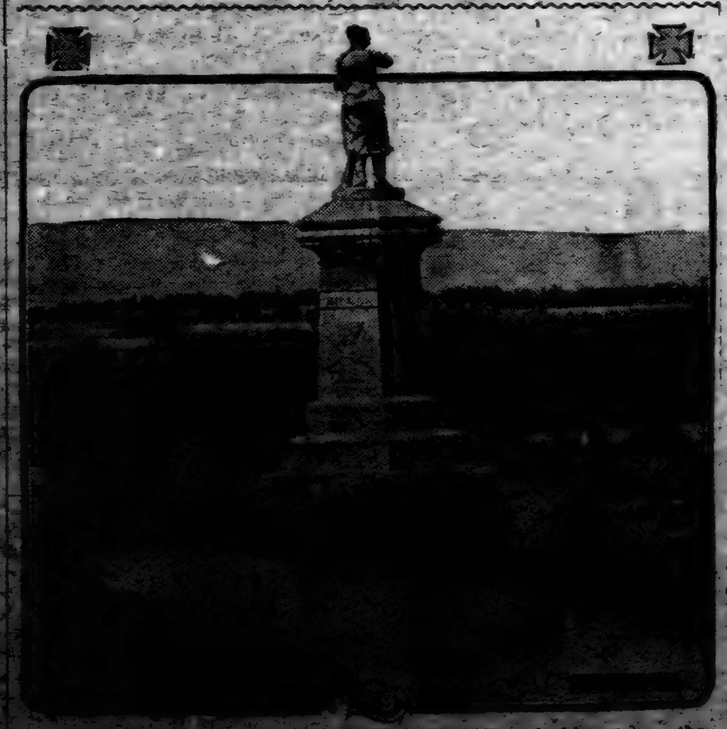
BOTH SIDES FOUGHT BRAVELY

Three Days of Fighting That Resulted in Total Losses of Over 50,000 and Put Confederate Forces on the Defensive.

Bravely fought by two great armies of Americans, bravely won by the Federals and bravely lost by the Confederates the battle of Gettysburg proved to be the turning point of the Civil war. Before that the victories of the south were frequent and its armies were aggressive. After the bloody battle of July 1, 2 and 3, 1863, the forces of the Confederacy were generally on the defensive. Lee's invasion of the north, undertaken in the hope that it would bring foreign aid to the southern cause, was brought to a sudden and disastrous end.

General Lee's army at Gettysburg numbered approximately 84,000, while the Federal forces, under command of Gen. George G. Meade, aggregated about 80,000 officers and men. Lee's corps commanders were Generals Longstreet, Ewell and A. P. Hill. Commanders of the Union corps were Generals John F. Reynolds, W. S. Hancock, D. E. Sickles, Sykes, Sedgwick, O. O. Howard and Slocum.

Reynolds, sent ahead to feel out the enemy, arrived at Gettysburg the evening of June 31, and in the fighting which began early the next day, was killed. Gen. Abner Doubleday, who succeeded him, was forced back to Seminary Ridge, after hard fighting, and then had to abandon that position, so that the first day of the battle was in reality a Confederate victory. That night Meade ordered the entire Union army to Gettysburg, and by next morning the two armies were confronting each other along a ten-mile line of battle.



Lee ordered Longstreet to turn the left flank of the Federal army by taking Little Round Top, but Sickles defended that position so stubbornly that Longstreet's movement was checked. Peach Orchard, Cemetery Hill, Culp's Hill and The Devil's Den were the scenes of desperate fighting, and Little Round Top was saved to the Federals by the arrival of a brigade under General Weed. Him men dragged the guns of a battery to the summit by hand.

The third day opened with a powerful artillery duel, the greatest of the entire war, and then came Pickett's charge, which was probably the most brilliant and the most desperate act of all. The men of Pickett's division formed in splendid columns, move dsteadily across open fields which were swept by such a storm of shrapnel and rifle fire as had never before been seen, and though they fell like grain before the reapers, some of them reaching the Union lines, only to be speedily overcome.

Gettysburg cost the Union army the lives of a number of generals, and the loss of nearly 24,000 men. On the Confederate side five generals were killed and nearly 30,000 men killed or wounded.

Clanton the last year made an improvement over past years in the way of opening the school to more pupils and at a less cost, but conditions can be bettered by taking advantags of the County High School. Nearly every county in the State has availed themselves of the opportunity. In a great many instances the schools have been located in rural communities where the people do not seem able to meet the State's conditions; but by united and public spirited effort buildings were erected, and now over and above the educational benefits of the school the communities have more than gotten back—by the enhanced values of the property—more than they put into the school, would not a similar case result in Chilton county? It was shown by a letter from Prof. Pickens last winter that such a school in Clanton would greatly lessen the running expenses of our present one. The best investment financially speaking that could be made would be to meet the State's requirements and receive $3000 annually over and above our present appropriation. This is a matter that should concern every citizen of the county and especially the county commissioners and the councilmen of Clanton. We have already lost $10,000; will we continue to lose $3,000 annually? We should get busy and place ourselves in position to use the $3,000 next year. This paper invites articles from any one on the subject.

BILLINGSLEY

Dear Press:

I want a small space in your paper to report two games of base ball played here between the home team and the teams from Hampton and Stillwell. In the first game with Hampton the score stood 14 to 4 in favor of the home team. Batteries: For Billingsley, Gafford and Williams; for Hampton, Hooper and Rollings.

The second game, between Billingsley and Stillwell stood 7 to 2 in favor of the home team; batteries: For Billingsley, Spigener and Spigener; for Stillwell, Herrod and Williams.

Both games were well played and enjoyed by a large crowd.

Our friends are invited and requested to send us in all the neighborhood news; we will appreciate it and so will our readers.

Subscribers who do not receive their paper regularly and on time are requested to notify the editor of the Press, giving date and post office address.

Articles containing advertising matter of any character will not be published as news unless paid for in advance and are marked as advertising.

Notices of all-day singings and kindred subjects are invited as news articles, but they will not be published more than one time except as advertising matter at regular rates.

We wish to cater to our friends and patrons, but dislike to publish articles signed "Somebody's Sweetheart" or "Nobody's Darling" or with other kindred pet names; get something more classical.

Subscribers who are in arrears must forward subscription price in order to keep their subscriptions alive. The Post Office department requires this of us and we request it of our patrons.

Subscribers who wish their address changed MUST furnish the old address together with the new; this is absolutely necessary and unless the old address is given no attention will be paid to requests for change.

Unsigned articles invariably go to the waste basket. If you do not wish your name published we will not do so, but we must have it as a guarantee of good faith. Select a nom-de-plume and stick to it, but always give your proper name in the margin of your communication.

On and after this date all newspaper subscriptions are invariably payable strictly in advance. There will be no variations from this rule. It is the rule of all other newspapers and we have decided to adopt it and adhere to it. Please be governed accordingly.

Articles riduculing or reflecting upon others either in a social or political way—or otherwise—will not be published except when paid for at regular rates (cash to accompany communication) and signed by the writer with proper name. Even then we reserve the right to reject such articles if in our opinion they are objectionable.

We have heretofore charged nothing for publishing obituaries, but our columns cannot be used as grave stones without we receive something for the service. Three hundred words will be published absolutely free, but all in excess of that number must be paid for at the rate of one cent per word—cash to accompany.

Rheumatism and the Heart.

Don't overlook the grave fact that rheumatism easily "settles in the heart," and disturbs the valvular action. The cure consists in removing the cause. Foley Kidney Pills so tone up and strengthen the kidneys that they keep the blood free of poisons and uric acid crystals, that cause rheumatism, swollen joints, backache, urinary irregularities, and disturbed heart action. Try them. Alred Drug Co.

We regret to report that Miss Ivory Aldridge has been confined to her bed for the past week with an attack of fever.

DON'T use a cough medicine containing opium or morphine. They constipate the bowels and do not cure, only stifle the cough. Examine the label and if the medicine contains these harmful opiates refuse it. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound contains no opiates, is healing and soothing. Alred Drug Co.

Mrs. Edna Rasco, of DeLand, Florida, is spending some time in Clanton as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Gore.

Chilton County Sunday School Convention

JEMISON, JULY 24 and 25, 1913.

The Executive Committee of the Chilton County Sunday School Association held a meeting in Clanton, Friday, June 27. Dr. A. K. Horn, chairman; Judson Strock, Rev. E. W. Butler, Judge L. H. Reynolds and E. L. Thornton, County President, were present.

Arrangements were made for the County Convention, which will he held in Jemison, Thursday and Friday, July 24 and 25, 1913.

The program will be published next week.

ODD FELLOWS HOLD INTERESTING MEETING

Last Saturday night Clanton Lodge No. 304, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, held a most enthusiastic meeting at their hall on Sixth street. A large number, including several visiting brothers, were in attendance.

After the First degree had been duly conferred on one candidate and the regular routine gone through with, the members marched in a body to the Davis cafe, where a most sumptuous and bountiful repast was spread. While the comforts of the inner man were being well taken of, good cheer and fellowship reigned supreme.

For this enjoyable affair those present were loud in their praises for the arrangement committee, consisting of Messrs. W. S. Willis, J. P. Gore and J. M. Parrish, whose untiring efforts contributed largely to the success of the entertainment.

TOOK UP BATTLE CHALLENGE

Speaker's Statement Not Understood But Ancient Rival Could Not Let It Pass.

When "Big Tim" Ryan returned to the Nineteenth ward of Chicago after a trip around the world, he was called upon to address a meeting of henchmen in his bailiwick. There were present, however, others besides his loyal admirers, and it was for the former that "Big Tim" saved the sword thrusts of his salutatory.

"When I saw the Statue of Liberty again," the orator proclaimed, "my heart thrilled. When I saw the smoke of Chicago once more my soul rejoiced. But it was when I came home to you, boys, here in the Nineteenth that I knew the greatest joy of my life."

Then it was that he heard the contemptuous snort of old John McAlpin, his ancient enemy. It stirred him to battle, and he continued, flashing defiance to the back rows, where the McAlpin clan held a rival fort.

"But I find, alas, that while I have been gone from you Apathy has come into our party, into the Democracy of the Nineteenth."

In an instant old John was on his feet. With his arm upraised he commanded attention, crying down the speaker. "I tell you, Tim Ryan," he shouted, "that the man you're blackguarding has as much right in the party as you have."

WONDERFUL VALUE OF MUSIC

Generally Agreed That It Is of the Utmost Good in the Scheme of Education.

On our plan, song is the first step in education; all the rest are connected with it, and attained by means of it. The simplest enjoyment, as well as the simplest instruction, we enliven and impress by song; nay, even what religious and moral principles we lay before our children are communicated in the way of song.

Other advantages for the excitement of activity spontaneous arise from this practice; for, in accustoming the children to write the tones they are to utter in musical characters, and as occasion serves, again to seek these characters in the utterance of their own voice; and besides this, to subjoin the text below the notes, they are forced to practice hand, ear and eye at once, whereas they acquire the art of penmanship sooner than you would expect; and as all this, in the long run, is to be effected by copying precise measurements and accurately settled numbers, they come to conceive the high value of mensuration and arithmetic much sooner than in any other way. Among all imaginable things, accordingly, we have selected music as the element of our teaching; for level roads run out from music toward every side.

Ring Setting From Wife's Ashes.

Preservation of the ashes of the departed or the scattering of them to the four winds long has been the custom of countries where cremation is practiced. But it has remained for a London man to offer an ingenious plan that has provided him with a set for a finger ring from the remains of his wife. After the cremation he carried the ashes to a chemist and the iron was extracted. He now wears this set in his ring as the average person wears a diamond. The amount of iron in a human body, according to the statement of a well-known analytical chemist, is at best very small—a matter of grains—and it varies much according to the state of health. Anemic people have very slight traces of iron in their bodies, but in normal persons there is enough to provide a small setting, such as the London husband is wearing.

This Wide, Wide World.

"It's awful how easy some folks get weighted down with a new experience," began the postmaster of Wobrook in the Hills, with a significant glance at "Boosey" Fraser's bowed form in the Concord wagon at the door. "That's what bent him over like that.

"Yes," after a glance of interrogation from the only listener who was really listening, "he began to bow over soon's he realised the size of this globe of ours. You see, from one of the northern counties up 'bove here Boosey went all the way to the state capital. When he came back, he looked solemn with the weight of what he'd garnered.

"'I tell ye what,' he says to us right here, scarcely speakin' above a whisper, 'if the world's as big tother way as 'tis this, it's a whopper!'"—Youth's Companion.

Why So Few Good Books.

The reason why so few good books are written is that so few people that can write know anything. In general, an author has always lived in a room, has read books, has cultivated science is acquainted with the style and worth books of the best authors, but he is out of the way of employing his own eyes and ears. He has nothing to hear and nothing to see. His life is a vacuum.—Walter Bagehot, in "Literary Studies."

In the Barber's Chair.

"No sooner was I seated in the chair," began Jones, "than the barber commented on the weather, and directed a current of discourse into my ears.

"'Je ne comprend pas,' said I, with an inward chuckle, thinking his volubility would be checked.

"In very good French he started in afresh. I looked at him as if bewildered, and then interrupted him by asking:

"'Was Sagen Sie?'

"He began to repeat in German all that he had been saying, when I shut him off with:

Mercy of Aviators.

Robert G. Fowler, an aviator, says that while he was flying across the Isthmus of Panama he found it would be easy for an aeroplanist to blow up the Gatun dam.

"There is absolutely no protection," he said. "I think the government has overlooked this.

"Any good aviator, flying a first class machine, could carry enough nitroglycerin or other high explosive, to blow such a hole in the dam that it would leave the whole canal useless. I could have done it myself, and I would not fear to attempt it at any time."

BANISHED
Coffee Finally Had to Go.

The way some persons cling to coffee, even after they know it is doing them harm, is a puzzler. But it is an easy matter to give it up for good, when Postum is properly made and used instead. A girl writes:

"Mother had been suffering with nervous headaches for seven weary years, but kept on drinking coffee.

"One day I asked her why she did not give up coffee, as a cousin of mine had done who had taken to Postum. But Mother was such a slave to coffee she thought it would be terrible to give it up.

"Finally, one day, she made the change to Postum, and quickly her headaches disappeared. One morning while she was drinking Postum so freely and with such relish, I asked for a taste.

"That started me on Postum and I now drink it more freely than I did coffee, which never comes into our house now."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Write for booklet, "The Road to Wellville."

Postum comes in two forms.

Regular Postum (must be boiled.)

Instant Postum doesn't require boiling, but is prepared instantly by stirring a level teaspoonful in an ordinary cup of hot water, which makes it right for most persons.

A little cream improves most and some people who like strong things put in a little cream and temper it with a little sugar or cream.

Experiment until you know the amount that pleases your palate and then it is served that way in the future.

There's a Reason for Postum.

TO MAKE END TO TRAFFIC IN OPIUM

TO TAKE LAST STEP TO CRUSH WORLD TRADE IN OPIUM.

TWELVE POWERS AGREE

Other Habit-Forming Drugs Also to Be Barred by The Hague Conference.

Washington.—With the purpose of taking the last step necessary to crush out the international traffic in smoking opium, cocaine and other noxious and habit-forming drugs, representatives of nearly all the nations of the world will gather at The Hague to continue the international conference which adjourned in that capital January 23, 1912.

The purpose of the present gathering is to ascertain whether a sufficient number of powers will join in ratifying the international convention looking to the suppression of the opium traffic, drafted by that conference, to insure its successful operation.

Opium has long been a cause of serious international conflict, China and Great Britain having gone to war on the subject in 1840, when the "opium war" finally resulted in the cession of Hong Kong to Great Britain. The recent movement for the suppression of the trade in habit-forming drugs is American in origin. Beginning in 1906 a systematic effort to secure this result by international action the state department succeeded in the creation of the international commission which met in Shanghai in 1909 and paved the way for the more official gathering of delegates at The Hague in December, 1911. This conference, after two months' hard work, agreed upon the form of a general convention, which, broadly speaking, was calculated to put an end to international dealing in harmful drugs.

There were twelve powers party to this agreement — America, China, France, Germany, Great Britain, Italy, Japan, the Netherlands, Portugal, Russia, Siam and Persia.

It was pointed out that it would be useless for these countries, the largest producers and users to agree to radical measures for the international control of habit drugs, so long as it was open to the citizens of states not represented at the conference to continue or take up the production and traffic.

TO TAX COTTON FUTURES

Amendment to Tariff Bill Designed to Prevent Gambling.

Washington.—Postponement of the date on which the new sugar tariff shall go into effect upntil March 1, 1914, and a change of date when the income tax shall be operative from January 1, 1913, to March 1, 1913, were agreed upon by majority members of the senate finance committee.

The committee also adopted an amendment which would put a stamp tax on all cotton sold for future delivery; declined to reconsider its action in repealing the act of 1890, which released sweet wine manufacturers from payment of the full internal revenue duty on brandies used in fortifying wines, and adjusting several rates on articles referred back by the Democratic caucus.

Extension of time on the sugar schedule, Chairman Simmons announced, was agreed to in order that sugars purchased under the Payne-Aldrich rates can be disposed of without the handicap of the effect of reduced tariff rates. The date upon which the income tax can be computed for the first year was changed to March 1 for the reason that the date in the bill, January 1, 1913, would make the section unconstitutional.

Hail Stones Last Five Days.

Thomasville, Ga.—Wonderful tales come from Grady county of hail which fell in certain sections and lasted without melting five days, and that with the mercury playing around the hundred mark, too. Some of the hail was gathered up and carried to the homes, where ice cream was frozen with it. Crops in the immediate section where this hail fell are reported as having been badly damaged. Chickens were killed and window glasses broken.

Thousands of Veterans in Gettysburg.

Gettysburg, Pa.—Gettysburg stepped fifty years backward into the halo of history and looked again upon an army of blue and an army of gray, meeting at her doorstep to join in the semi-centennial celebration of the greatest battle of the Civil war and to show the world that scars are not as deep as the feeling of American brotherhood. Veterans in blue and gray trooped into the little town which has slept as peacefully among its hills since Lee and Meade turned their legions southward so long ago.

Women Attempt to Seize Cabinet.

London, England. — Miss Sylvia Pankhurst, daughter of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the suffragette leader, led an attacking party to Downing street for the purpose of imprisoning the cabinet ministers. The expedition was unsuccessful. The attempt to capture Downing street failed, but the victory of the police was not won without a series of fierce conflicts in which both policemen and women were injured. Miss Pankhurst conducted a demonstration in Trafalgar square in favor of free speech.

FREE SUGAR COMES IN 1916

PRESIDENT WILSON'S TARIFF POLICY IS OVERWHELMINGLY APPROVED.

Approval of Schedules Comes After a Debate in Caucus by Democrats.

Washington.—Free sugar in 1916 and free raw wool are now established in the tariff revision bill, having been approved by the Democratic caucus of the senate. The sugar schedule as reported by the majority members of the finance committee and practically as it passed the house was approved by a vote of 40 to 6. Free raw wool as submitted by the majority and just as it passed the house swept the senate caucus by a vote of 41 to 6.

This ratification of President Wilson's tariff policy, he having insisted upon the wool and sugar propositions before the ways and means committee in the beginning, came after a long series of developments since the tariff bill passed the house in which the president had an active participation.

When the fight of the anti-free sugar and anti-free wool Democrats was getting hot the president issued a public statement declaring that any suggestion of compromise on the wool and sugar schedule ideas was absolutely out of the question and later he stirred all administration leaders to action when he made his charge about the existence in Washington of an "insidious lobby" investigation, of which has brought results regarded as favorable to the tariff bill.

The six Democratic senators who voted against free sugar on the final vote approving the schedule were Hitchcock, Nebraska; Newlands, Nevada; Ransdell and Thornton, Louisiana; Shafroth, Colorado; Walsh, Montana.

The six who opposed free raw wool to the end were Chamberlain of Oregon; Newlands, Nevada; Ransdell and Thornton, Louisiana; Chafroth and Walsh.

BUDGET PLAN IS DEFEATED

Hardwick Leads Fight Against Reform in Senate Caucus.

Washington.—House Democrats, in caucus, agreed upon the abolition of the commerce court as a party policy and, turning deaf ears to pleas from their leaders, rejected a plan for the creation of a budget committee to control all appropriations.

Representaitve Broussard of Louisiana, champion of the commerce court, precipitated caucus action on the mooted question by offering a resolution to authorize hearings on the Sims bill to abolish the court. Speaker Clark denounced the tribunal as useless and expensive and Representative Adamson of Georgia, chairman of the interstate commerce committee, offered a resolution declaring it to be the sense of the caucus that the court be abolished during the present session, due care being taken to protect and provide for jurisdiction over pending and future litigation.

Pigeon Flies From Brazil 4,200 Miles.

Johnnette, Pa.—The record flight of a homing pigeon from Rio Janeiro, Brazil, is reported by Stephen Krupa, a local fancier. Last April he shipped "Sunny Jim" and two other racing pigeons to a Rio Janeiro fancier, who liberated them on May 8. "Sunny Jim" got to an appointed place near Johnnette about April. Krupa declares that a pigeon never before "jumped" from a point below the equator. The air line distance from Rio Janeiro to this city is about 4,200 miles, nearly half of the distance being over water.

BROKE HORSE OF BAD HABIT

Boy at Least Succeeding Like a "Pounding Bag," Did the Business Quite Simply.

Noah Spears, a Bay Shore farmer, has discovered a way to break a horse of kicking, according to a Milford letter to the Wilmington (Del.) News. Spears tells the following story: "I filled a stout gunny sack with sand and suspended it from the ceiling in the rear of the stall by a rope in such a position behind the horse that its heels could have good play upon it. This large pendulum, needing only a strong power to start it, would swing with clocklike precision as soon as the horse began to play its acrobatic stunts upon it. At the first kick the bag swung away, only to return with more force, giving the animal much more than it had sent. This unexpected return on the part of the bag caused the horse to kick harder, but each time the bag returned harder and paid the animal with interest. Finally the horse, realizing that further kicking would be fruitless, stopped kicking. The bag was allowed to hang in the same position for an entire week, but no more use for it was seen."

FACE DISFIGURED WITH SKIN TROUBLE

8107 Foster Ave., Baltimore, Md.—"About five months ago little blisters appeared on my face. They looked like blisters from fire burns. They itched and burned something terrible, which caused me to rub them and they burst, then sores appeared which disfigured my face. My face was all full of sores. The disease spread from my face to my neck and back. When anything touched them they would burn and stick to my clothes, which kept me from sleeping and made me suffer terribly.

"I used home remedies and I used a salve but it did no good. I suffered about three months then I saw the Cuticura Soap and Ointment advertised and I thought I would send and get a sample and try them. I used the sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and they helped me a great deal, so I bought some and used them about two months and they completely cured me." (Signed) Edward V. Logical.

Little Robbie had been refused a second dish of ice cream. His grandma had told him that it would cause him a pain in the stomach.

While out walking with his uncle one afternoon they chanced to see a horse that had been taken sick. Robbie was informed by his uncle that the horse had a pain in the stomach.

Gazing at the helpless animal, the boy asked: "Uncle, did the horse have two plates of ice cream?"

Gilt Frames.

"His mind a blank, eh?" said George Ade of an elderly millionaire who, after a month's absence, had turned up pleading total loss of memory.

"His mind a blank!" Mr. Ade continued. "What a hackneyed old excuse that is! Why don't they get up, these wanderers, something new in the excuse line?

"They'd be all alike, these excuses, though; in substance. For the average man, in framing an excuse, always does it in gilt."

Bound to Bargain.

"What's the price of this silk?" asked a deaf old lady of a young shopman.

"Seven shillings," was the reply.

"Seventeen shillings!" she exclaimed. "I'll give you thirteen."

"Only seven shillings, ma'am, is the price of the silk," replied the honest shopman.

"Oh, seven shillings!" replied the lady, sharply. "Well, I'll give you five."—Youth's Companion.

Studying the Game.

On a certain southern golf course the sand pits are famous for their difficulty. A New York man played into one of the pits, and then cursed none the less malevolently, if silently, while he took six ineffectual strokes, raising only clouds of sand and fairly burying the ball. Presently he was aware of an interested and formidable darky watching him.

"What you see dat snake-pen's tryin' to kill, man?" he demanded.

Anticipating.

"Say, Lawson, let me use your phone, will you?"

"Certainly. What's the matter with yours?"

"It's all right. I want to telephone to my wife that I'm going to bring a chap to dinner. He's an old college pal and I want to have some enough ice cream for the occasion."

Wise Precaution.

"Please always make insurance against an enemy sure."

REAL MERIT WAS MADE BOND'S LIVER PILLS

A household word throughout the South. We have gained neither time nor money in proclaiming BOND'S PILLS for the cure of Headaches, Biliousness, Constipation, Malaria, and disorders. MERIT was our chief object. Not how "cheap" but how good we could make them.

The extraordinary success of BOND'S PILLS is due solely to their MERIT, not to loud and misleading claims of CURING EVERYTHING.—Adv.

Very Unusual.

"You newspaper fellows are ordinarily hard pressed for funds, are you not?" asked the genial stranger.

Our natural pride forbade us to agree with this outsider's conclusion. So we said:

"Why—er—not necessarily. What makes you think so?"

"I'll tell you. I am acquainted with a member of your profession—and a fine chap he is too. The other day I wanted to talk to him, so I called him up on the phone and asked him if he would lunch with me. He accepted, and at the appointed hour we sat at the table. I opened the conversation thus:

"'Well, what's the news? Anything unusual in your line?'

"'Yes,' answered the reporter, 'this.'"

And Then He Left.

"I wish I was a star," the dude sighed, smiling at his own poetic fancy.

"I would rather you were a comet," she said, dreamily.

His heart beat tumultuously.

"And why?" he asked, tenderly, at the same time taking her unresisting little hand in his own. "And why?" he repeated, imperiously.

"Oh," she said, with a brooding earnestness that fell freezing upon his soul, "because then you would come around only once in fifteen years."

And he took his hat and went out into the shimmering moonlight.

Donald's Opinion.

Donald was an old Scotch beadle who officiated in a Highland kirk where the minister, never a bright star at any time, believed in giving full value for the money, as it were, in his discourses. A stranger once asked him his opinion of the sermons.

"Ah, weel," replied Donald, "you'll no get me to say onything against them, for they're a' verry guid, but I'll just remark this much:

"The beginning's aye over far frae the end, an' it would greatly improve the force o' it if he left oot a' that cam' in atween."

Willing to Oblige.

"While," says a New Yorker, "the Gotham car conductor is generally rude, sometimes he is witty.

"Not long ago, on a Broadway car, a woman said to the conductor in a voice of command:

"'You will let me off at 93d.'

"The conductor regarded her curiously for a moment, while the other passengers grinned; then, quite submissively, he answered:

"'Yes, ma'am; what floor, please, ma'am?'"—Judge.

Returning from business one evening last spring I slipped on the ice before my home and turned my ankle. In consequence I could not stand on my foot for several minutes. QUEER OCCUPATION FOR POET

Walt Whitman Not Being Able to Make Both Ends Meet With His Poetry, Went Into Commerce.

"Walt Whitman wasn't as successful as the English poet, Alfred Noyes, in making both ends meet with his poetry," said a Philadelphia editor. "Walt's muse had nothing like the shallow, commonplace, commercial quality of the young Englishman's.

"I used to visit Walt Whitman in his old age in his little two-story wooden house in Mickle street, Camden. One day—it's a pleasant souvenir this, of old-time Philadelphia—one day in December I said to him:

"'Well, Walt, how are things going this winter? Any Christmas subscriptions needed?'

"'No,' said the old poet. 'No, indeed. I'm working now. I'm working for George W. Childs. He pays me $50 a month.'

"'Good!' said I. 'And what's your job with Childs?'

"'Riding in the horse cars,' said Walt. 'I ride about the city, I talk to the drivers and conductors. I find out which of them need winter overcoats, and, guessing their size, I notify Childs, who fits them out forthwith. It's easy, pleasant work, and it saves Childs a lot of trouble over measurements and so forth.'"

Why They Came.

Willie, aged four, had been invited out to tea with his mother, and, while he was being dressed for the occasion, the delights in store for him had been depicted in glowing terms.

While his mother chatted with their hostess, Willie sat in solemn silence, and at last the lady of the house remarked:

"Now I must bring in tea," she announced, then added: "Would Willie like some tea?"

The child eyed her in astonishment, and, in a deeply injured tone, responded: "Why, that's what we came for!"

Small Patient's Status.

The nurse on duty in a hospital was giving the little ones their last meal for the day. All save one were patiently awaiting their turn to be served; the one in question being a rosy cheeked convalescent who was lustily calling for her portion. SOME IDEAS ABOUT MARRIAGE

Undoubtedly Written by a Pessimist. They May Not Meet With Universal Popular Approval.

When a man walks down the aisle of a church stepping on flowers which little girls have scattered before him, he must look like a fool, but no one has ever looked at him close enough to see.

A man and woman going on a wedding tour try hard not to look happy, and on their return they try just as hard to look happy.

At a church wedding the girl at the altar in white looks as if she had won the head prize, and every woman present who has been married as long as a year looks as if she had won the consolation.

When it is said of a bridegroom that he has money, every woman present remarks: "And you bet she knows how to spend it for him."

There isn't as much honey in the honeymoon as reported, much of it being lost in the ordeal of wiping on new towels after they have gone to housekeeping, and breaking in new shoes.

They long during their engagement to go somewhere after they are married where they will be all alone. On the second day after they have been all alone, the bride says: "Wouldn't it be nice if some friend should come along?" And the bridegroom sighs: "Yes, or even an enemy!"

About three months after a bride has left her old home with her nose turned up scornfully at the suggestion that she take her old clothes with her, she comes hurrying back for them, and is mad if one garment is missing. —Pittsburgh Dispatch.

SAFETY IN LIGHTNING STORM

Shelter in Collection of Trees Is Better Than Under Any One Standing Alone.

Every year quite a large number of people are killed by lightning because they did not know what to do in a thunder storm.

First of all, it is safer to be indoors than out. Most people get killed when out in the open. If you are caught in a thunder storm, then don't be afraid of sheltering under a tree just because you have heard that it is dangerous.

It is dangerous to shelter under a solitary tree, because lightning likes to strike the highest point, and a solitary tree is the highest point as a rule for some distance around. But you are pretty safe if you take shelter in a wood. A tree in a wood is seldom struck.

Certain trees are more dangerous than others. If you have a choice between an oak and a beech tree, then take the beech tree all the time. A far greater number of oak trees are struck than beech trees. Elm trees are nearly as dangerous as oak trees.

Avoid big crowds and collections of animals. For some reason—probably because of the warmth that rises from their bodies—crowds of animals and persons are liable to be struck by lightning.

Mouse as a Family Pet.

"Heavens!" shrieked a well-known Boise woman a few days ago as she discovered a mouse playing about the leg of the dining-room table. She was visiting at the house of a friend on North Eighth street. "Won't some one please kill that beast!"

The hostess laughed. "We couldn't think of killing the little mouse," she exclaimed. "It's a family pet."

The visitor, still badly frightened, demanded an explanation.

"Well," said the hostess, "my husband found a mouse one morning. It was so tiny and seemed so fearless that my husband brought a small piece of cheese and the mouse marched right up and ate out of his hand. It was several days before I could get used to it, but it will eat from my hand now. It plays around with no fear of any one and after it has been so trusting toward us we simply cannot bring ourselves to kill it."

Origin of Beer Is Ancient.

Beer was brewed and drank by the Egyptians, the exact date of its origin being lost in the remote ages. But that it was enjoyed in the flourishing times of Egypt is settled beyond controversy. So far as can be learned the materials from which beer was then made were substantially the same as today. Beer appeared in Greece several centuries before the Christian era and was probably much the same in character as that brewed by the Egyptians; the Greeks, in all likelihood, acquiring a knowledge of its manufacture through commerce with that land. They, in turn, handed it on to the Romans, and by those hardy empire-builders it was spread broadcast over the civilized world.

Sleeping Sins.

The evildoer who sleeps is regarded when the sun peeps over the hills. One hour of sleep and dreamless slumber is worth three of fearful visions of that which falls to the lot of most people, the transgressors, restless, discontented souls.

Too many hours of sleep is almost as bad as not enough. Some people require eight hours, others only six, while many think, without any study of the fact, that they require ten. The healthy, wise man takes out more of it per centum during the cold days of winter than he does in the summer. If one requires more than eight hours' sleep a night, he is probably sleeping his life away.

CHEMIST HAD NO DIFFICULTY

Man of Drugs Able to Understand Physician's Writing, at Least to His Own Advantage.

A story makes its appearance in Paris which will probably interest those who have tried to decipher doctors' handwriting, both on bills and prescriptions. It concerns a gentleman who had suffered from chronic gout for some time and finally went to a doctor who appeared to understand the case so well that he expected a cure. The patient, in the excess of his gratitude, wrote to the medico, asking him to dinner. In due course the reply came, but in such undecipherable handwriting that the recipient could not make head nor tail of it. Was the doctor coming, or was he not?

The housekeeper, used to the doubtful caligraphy of tradesmen's bills, was called in to assist, but could make nothing of the letter. She had a bright idea, however. "I must go shopping today," she said, "and I will take the letter to a chemist, who will be used to doctor's writing." The idea was adopted, and the housekeeper took it to the chemist.

"Can you make this out, please?" she asked the apothecary.

"Certainly, madame," he replied, and disappeared with the letter.

In five minutes he returned—with a package in white paper, which he handed over the counter. "That will be five francs, please, with the bottle," he said politely.

The housekeeper, it is said, regarded him silently for a moment, and then fainted away. She received medical attention in the presence of a large crowd, which suspected a motor-bus accident.

KILLED BY A TIN BUCKET

Apache Basket Weaving Is Becoming a Lost Art, Due to Modern Changes.

Apache basket weaving is a dying art. Succumbing to the unequal struggle against the ubiquitous tinpail and five-gallon oil can, the quaint and beautiful Indian basket is rapidly disappearing. It is woven now only for sale to tourists and collectors, and as the demand from these sources always exceeds the supply the quality of the workmanship has suffered. No longer does the thrifty "squaw," with an eye to the "main chance," spend months over one basket that it may hold water without leaking. Now it makes little difference in the market price whether the basket will hold anything or serve any useful purpose, or whether the decorations have any significance or not.

Facing bravely against the modern tendency to commercialize their honorable calling stand a few ancient dames—perhaps a dozen in all Apacheland—whose memory goes back to the days before the corroding civilization of the white man sapped the vitality and ambitions of the redman. These old women work away winter and summer in the mountain villages, usually beside some stream where the willows grow, and the baskets produced by them are fully equal to the older work.

These baskets command the highest prices and are eagerly sought after by agents of curio dealers and wealthy collectors. When this band of venerable weavers pass out the genuine basket of the ancient days will be but a memory indeed.

Rah! Rah! Rah!

Harold's father is a college man and Harold has come to understand, despite the fact that he is only six, that his father regards "a college man" as far superior to the average mortal. But Harold's father doesn't like dogs, and has on numerous occasions frowned upon his small son's desire to own a pup. One day recently a neighbor called Harold over to see him and offered to give him a dog if his father would let him have it. "Go ask your father if you can have it," said the neighbor, "and tell him it is a thoroughbred collie pup."

"Oh, dad," said Harold when he reached his father, "Mr. Blaine wants to give me one of his dogs, if you will let me have it. You will let me have it, won't you, dad? Because, you see, it is a thoroughbred college pup." Harold got the dog.—Woman's Home Companion.

Minstrels of the Balkans.

In Servia and Montenegro alike many blind, lame, or crippled minstrels eke out a comfortable existence in traveling from town to town with the ancient one-stringed lute and singing to the peasants the deeds of their fathers and the ancient glory of Servia. From the fourteenth century to the present day every national hero has been immortalized in verse by humble versifiers. The authors of this wealth of epic poetry must forever remain unknown, but the verses themselves have been preserved, not in the books or upon paper, but in the memories of the people.

HUMAN SYSTEM NEEDS ONION

Odorous Vegetable Has Value Far Beyond That of Drugs That Are in Common Use.

Many people imagine that to express a liking for onions denotes a vulgar taste, but this much despised vegetable has many excellent qualities. It contains a large quantity of nitrogenous matter and uncrystallizable sugar with a pungent sulphuric oil. If children were encouraged to eat onions, many an illness might be prevented, and many a doctor's bill saved. If baby has a cold, or seems croupy, frequent doses of onion syrup will give wonderful relief. The syrup is obtained by cutting the onion into slices, and covering each with brown sugar, and putting one on the top of another in a basin.

In a sick room you cannot have a better disinfectant than the onion. It has a wonderful capacity for absorbing germs; a dish of sliced onions placed in a sick room will draw away the disease; they must be removed as soon as they lose their odor and become discolored, and be replaced by fresh ones. For those who can take them, a raw onion eaten just before retiring is very beneficial—it acts as a tonic to the nervous system, purifies the blood, helps digestion, and very often prevents insomnia.—Family Doctor.

AFFECTIONS OF THE NERVES

Forms of Neurasthenia Are Many, But All Curable When Attended To in Time.

Neurasthenia, or nervous prostration, has so many forms and so many causes that it is one of the most puzzling diseases a physician can be called upon to treat. No general rules can be given, each case having to be handled on its own merits. It calls for a psychologist rather than a physician.

Some of the many well defined forms that neurasthenia takes have received names of their own. Among these are agoraphobia, which shows itself in fright when in crowded places; monophobia, or dread of being alone; claustraphobia, or fear of confined places; anthrophobia, or horror of society; batophobia, or dread of things falling from above; siderodromophobia, or fright at traveling on a railroad train. Then there are the forms of mental rumination in which there is a ceaseless flow of ideas. The brain is so abnormally active that it produces insomnia. Arithmomania is the form in which the sufferer counts incessantly and cannot stop.

All are curable if taken in time.

Mr. and Mrs Ed Smitherman returned Saturday from a visit of some days to the mother of the latter at Lawley.

Girls at the Age of Womanhood

When girls arrive at the age when nature must assert itself the general health of the body must be good or there is grave danger that disease will appear which will disastrously affect their entire lives. It is called the critical time in a girl's life, and it is the duty of every mother to see that the conditions are right. Where there is any departure from health the trouble should be given immediate attention. The symptoms usually are; languidness, a pale, colorless complexion, dull eyes, bad breath, poor appetite, constipation and a weakened state of the nerves. At such times the remedy needed is

VOL 4. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY JULY 10, 1913 NO. 14

KILLING IN THE NAME OF THE LAW

"A deputy sheriff of Tallapoosa County shot and killed a young man who was suspected of some trival offense; a special officer at Calera shot in the back and killed a young man whose offense was stealing a ride on a train. These are recent crimes committed by men carrying a gun and dressed in a little brief authority. Many more such instances in the past few years could be recalled in Alabama.

It is time for the people of Alabama to rise up and demand that that the killing of men by officers of the law except in self-defense shall stop and to say that the slaying of a man by a peace officer in a wanton and reckless manner is no less murder because the man who did the shooting was an officer. There is no class in Alabama privileged to murder. A man may be a peace officer, but it is none the less a crime for him to whip out a pistol and shoot down an unarmed man. Let us call murder, murder, and let us punish crime, even if the slayer carries a badge along with his pistol."

The Tallapoosa crime and the one at Calera are enough to give us cause; and they are enough to wake us to the fact that men have been wantonly slain in Alabama in the name of the law."

The above clipping taken from the editorial columns of The Advertiser states a fact that is woefully true. It might have gone further and said that officers of the law have no more authority under the law to carry weapons concealed than have private citizens. In many cases, however, this privilege is accorded them because of the danger which they incur in the execution of their duties.

In good old Chilton, however, our officers manage to discharge their duty without forever presenting a deadly firearm in the face of the prisoner whom they wish to arrest. Last week when a man was wanted for assault with intent to murder (having shot a citizen of the county with murderous intention) the officers went into the home where they knew their prisoner was in hiding, his mind inflamed with Fourth of July whiskey, and his ever ready pistol close at hand, and arrested him without so much as presenting a weapon of any kind. It takes bravery to do these things but it is much better than the way pursued by some officials; take several shots at their prisoners and then arrest them after they have fallen to the ground.

COUNTY COURT NEWS

HEAVY DOCKET. MANY FINES

The July term of the County Court was heavier than ordinary at this season of the year.

The following cases were disposed of Monday by Judge Deason:

Jno. Adams, Sunday gaming; pleads not guilty; fined $10 and costs.

Ben Mitchell, Sunday gaming; pleads not guilty; fined $10 and costs.

Louis Hunter, Sunday gaming; pleads not guilty; fined $10 and costs.

Henry Morris, V. P. L.; continued by state till next term.

Jas. Bruno, V. P. L.; pleads guilty; fined $50 and costs.

Jas. Bruno, C. C. W.; pleads guilty; fined $50 and costs.

W. A. Williams, practicing medicine without license; waived to Grand Jury; bond fixed at $300.

W. D. Ricks, C. C. W.; nol prossed.

Jim Woodford, riding trains; pleads guilty; fined $10 and costs.

Lum Rasberry, failure to work roads; pleads not guilty; fined $1 and costs.

Jerry Johnson, V. P. L.; pleads guilty; fined $50 and costs.

T. D. Little, V. P. L.; pleads not guilty; discharged.

Jerry Johnson, P. D.; pleads guilty; fined $5.00 and costs.

Richard Wilson (3 cases) V. P. L.; pleads guilty in one case and consents to a fine of $100.00 and costs, other cases nol prossed.

Silvie Mason, C. C. W.; pleads guilty; fined $50.00 and costs.

Jake Burnstein, destroying fence; waived to Grand Jury; bond fixed at $200.00.

C. Claud Armstrong, false pretenses; nol prossed.

L. O. Oden, V. P. L.; continued to next term.

Floyd Gardner. V. P. L.; continued to next term.

Jim Simmons, C. C. W.; pleads guilty; fined $50.00 and costs.

OTHER CASES.

Case of Jim Simmons, charged with assault to murder, has been set for preliminary trial before Judge Deason on next Monday.

The case of Isaiah Latham, charged with murder, was continued from Monday till Tuesday and on preliminary trial the court bound him over in sum of $2500.

Frank Moseley's case, in which he was charged with burglary, was also continued from Monday till Tuesday of next week.

WILD RUMOR.

Some little comment was caused upon the streets Monday afternoon, adversely to the court officials, about a certain young man who had arose in court, plead guilty to the charge of violating the prohibition law and then immediately left the court room, taking the train for his home in the northern part of the county.

This rumor not only does the court an injustice, but all connected with the case, judge, sheriff, deputies, attorney and the young man.

As a matter of fact the young man did plead guilty and immediately left the court room, but he went into the Judge's office to have the costs in the case figured and paid the total amount assessed against him into the court; he was then at liberty to go and did go, as would any other man have done under similar circumstances. Not many offenders escape the eagle eye of the Sheriff and his deputies.

MR. FLOYD POWELL

Mr. Floyd Powell of Montgomery was here last Tuesday and during his visit spoke entertainingly, as well as enthusiastically, of the candidacy of Hon. Wm. P. Cobb of Tuskegee, for Secretary of State. Mr. Powell's former home was at Tuskegee, the home town of Mr. Cobb, and it is but natural that he should consider his friend a sure winner; he travels extensively throughout the State and this enables him to gather considerable information as to the political status of each candidate.

The Press has not yet interviewed which of the several candidates for Secretary of State it will support, but we are perfectly willing to give each of them full credit for what they have already obtained.

FOURTH OF JULY SHOOTING

Jim Simmons Takes Shot at Obbie Smith.

Last Friday while inflamed with Fourth of July whiskey, Jim Simmons, living near Cooper, put a bullet in the leg af Obbie Smith with murderous intent. Simmons is now resting in jail awaiting trial for assault with intent to murder.

It appears that there was ill feeling between the two men and that both were out driving on this particular day, each going in different directions; Simmons was tanked up on bug juice and his ill feeling toward Smith was in no way allayed by the use of liquor. After having passed each other several times, something was said about one attempting to drive over the other. Smith was driving along with his leg hanging out of the buggy; Simmons, it seems, alighted from his buggy and, aiming directly at Smith, fired, the bullet taking effect in the back of the leg, showing that the shot was fired from the rear. The shooting took place near Bethel church, in the neighborhood of Cooper. Just at midnight Deputies Fallon and Smitherman found Simmons at the home of his father, sleeping off the effects of his day's enjoyment, and brought him to Clanton where he was lodged in the county jail.

DISAGREEABLE SUNDAY

No Cooling Breezes, No Cooling Ice; No Cooling Fans.

Clanton was made to swelter and sweat last Sunday, as, perhaps, our citizens well remember; three causes, combined and working in perfect unison, were responsible for this unfortunate state of affairs.

In the first place old Sol was on the rampage and determined to show just what he could do in the heating line; unfortunately, Clanton has no day current and consequently fans could not be operated during the day (when they are most needed) and last but not least, because of a fiat which went out from the ice-man a few days previous. Those who did not supply themselves plentifully during the early hours of Sunday morning either had to "sponge" on friends who were more thoughtful or else they had to drink water which had never made acquaintance with ice. Gee, but it was a hummer.

Mr. Ice man, please Sir, change your rule and let us have a little chunk of ice in the afternoon.

"GOT HIS GOAT"

Those who think Chief Hayes is "all in" because he was one of the old veterans who passed successfully through a terrific struggle which closed more than fifty years ago reckon entirely without their host. At least Dr. Gowan thinks so, for Chief Hayes on the Fourth of July, got his goat good and proper, to be altogether accurate he got the genial doctor's goat nine times over on that day—his billy goat, his nanny goat and all his little goats. Yes, he trimmed Dr. Gowan about right on the goat getting question. However, it wasn't the Doctor's fault, the goats came out of the pasture to "celebrate" and Chief Hayes took them under arrest. Next Fourth those goats will be put in a closed pen—screays "somebody."

$5,000,000 MORTGAGE FILED IN TUSCALOOSA

TIDEWATER WILL ALSO FILE APPLICATION TO INCREASE STOCK FROM $3,000 TO $3,500,000

In order to complete its line to Tuscaloosa, its gas and electric plants in the latter city and to carry on other improvements, the Tidewater will file in Tuscaloosa county tomorrow a mortgage for $5,000,000 made in favor of the Fidelity Trust company of Philadelphia as trustee. In addition to that, for which a tax of $7,500 will be paid, the Tidewater will file an application of stock increase in Jefferson county from $3,000, the nominal capitalization of the Birmingham-Tuscaloosa Railway and Utilities company, to $3,500,000. All of that stock is common.

The company in return executes a collateral mortgage to the Girard Trust company of Philadelphia for $3,500,000 to secure three year construction notes for which the bonds of the company will be collateral. The legal formalities in connection with the mortgages and the stock increase were announced yesterday by Forney Johnston, attorney for the company, after the rumor had reached him that the affair was in the hands of many persons.

It was stated by those connected closely with the Tidewater operations that the money to be realized by these transactions will be used to build at once the line between Birmingham and Tuscaloosa, announcement to which effect was made some time ago by Fred Morris. The fact that the company officers complied with the legal formalities at this time, and this early after the announcement of Mr. Morris, is taken to indicate that active efforts are not to be delayed in getting the project under way. It is generally known that the company will use a part of the money in the electrification of the Tuscaloosa terminals, the construction of the gas and electric plants there and the construction of the line from this city to the Warrior river.

The Birmingham News of Sunday carries the above announcement which will, perhaps, be startling reading to many of Chilton's citizens. A $5,000,000 mortgage for building roads! Geehosiphat and others; what does it mean? Merely that those interested in the building of a road from Birmingham to the Warrior, near Tuscaloosa, and making other improvements on their property have gone to Philadelphia and negotiated a loan for $5,000,000 which they propose to use in the building of that road and in making other needed improvements. And they paid five per cent for their money—not more. They put up their BONDS to secure this loan and the Philadelphia company was SATISFIED! The $7,500 tax paid by the Tidewater people would not be collected of a county issuing bonds as from a private corporation, so that this amount is not to be taken into consideration, THAT'S ALL.

ENTIRELY SAFE AND ALTOGETHER SANE

If a national holiday was ever observed in a manner called safe and sane that holiday was the glorious Fourth of July, 1913, and the glorious Fourth took place in Clanton. While other cities and towns were busy with fire works, fire engines, fire hose hall, hurricane [illegible]

The town was almost depopulated; more than two hundred grown persons going from here to Thorsby to enjoy the day; the stores, with one or two exceptions, were all closed and the day given over to rest, sweet rest.

One lone pistol shot was heard during the early part of the morning; no drunks were observed during the entire day; there was no evidence of any unfriendly discussions; the only thing which gave signs of life or excitement was Chief Hayes chasing a flock of goats which had broken from a nearby pasture and had come to town to celebrate the day.

With this one exception, the day was as quiet as the night before Christmas.

TEACHERS EXAMINATION

The next State examination for teachers of Chilton county will be held in the court house at Clanton, on the third Monday in July, 1913.

All applicants should be present by 8:30 or 9 o'clock a.m. on Monday, July 21, 1913.

MRS. JOHNSON HOSTESS TO "42" CLUB

On last Wednesday afternoon, the beautiful home of Mrs. Sam Johnson was thrown open to the Forty-two Club.

Mrs. Johnson, in her usua charming manner, assisted by her sister, Miss Harper, was never more gracious than on this particular occasion.

The Fourth of July idea was beautifully carried out in the decorations and refreshments.

As the guests entered they were ushered to a cozy corner of the porch, where they were served punch by three dainty little girls, Misses Sarah Adams, Warrene Spigener and Annie Mae Harper. The punch bowl was artistically decorated with flags and other Fourth of July ideas.

The invited guests were:

Mesdames Nix, White, Lucky, Duncan, Hayes and Harper; Misss-es Ruth Kate Mullins, Bessie Van-Derveer, Rosa Thornton and Sallie Mac Robertson.

After a number of warmly contested games of "42," every one of which were thoroughly enjoyed, the guests thanked their charming hostess for an afternoon of rare pleasure and social entertainment.

Mrs Johnson is one of Clanton's most gracious entertainers and her many friends always hail with pleasure an invitation to be present at any entertainment which she may provide.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Crysell and son, of Pensacola, Florida, who have been on an extended visit to relatives in Alabama and Indiana, passed through Clanton last Saturday on their return home. They were accompanied home by their daughter, Mrs. A. R. Cooper.

SOCIAL AND ECONOMIC SURVEY

Dr. C. W. Thompson and Mr. J. Sterling Moran, from the Bureau of Rural Organization, co-operating with the Agricultural Department at Washington, in the study of rural conditions, have begun at Thorsby and Jemison and the country tributary to these towns, the first in the South, a government investigation of Rural, Social and Economic conditions. Mr. Moran with his family will make his home in Thorsby while conducting this work under the direction of Dr. Thompson who has had wide experience in such matters under Government auspices in other parts of the country.

This field has been selected as typical of a large section of the South, and through Mr. B. L. Moss, State agent, and Mr. W. H. Conway, County agent of demonstration work, the government officials were convinced that they would find intelligent and hearty co-operation on the part of all the people of this section in carrying on this great work for the public welfare.

Mr. Moran expects to remain in this field for several months or long enough to visit every home in the territory assigned and become acquainted with the men, women and children and their living conditions. He is a man well equipped for this work, a big hearted social fellow whom it does one good to know.

ROCKY MOUNT

There will be a public match spelling at Rocky mount school house Friday night, July 11; every body is cordially invited. Ice cream and lemonade will be served. Prize for last one on the floor.

F. B. Williams.

MOUNT NEBO

The Woman's Missionary Society of Mt. Nebo will serve ice cream at Fairview on Saturday, the 12th inst., from one till eight p.m. Come and bring your best girl to ball game and enjoy the refreshments.

Committee.

Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Jones left Wednesday morning for a visit to relatives in South Alabama.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Callen delightfully entertained the young people at a masquerade party Tuesday night. A number of interest games were indulged in and delicious refreshments were served.

Miss Mary Curry returned Wednesday morning from an extended visit to friendes and relatives at Livingston. She was accompanied home by Miss Margaret Curry, of Livingston, who will spend some time here.

Miss Annie Spann of Montgomery is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Curry.

Unity - Chilton Baptist High School

TARIFF TO TAKE EFFECT AT ONCE

EXCEPTIONS, HOWEVER, MADE IN WOOL AND SUGAR SCHEDULES BY COMMITTEE.

MORE REVENUE PROVIDED

Tax on Spurious Wines Was Provided for by Levying 25 Per Cent. Ad Valorem Tax.

Washington.—Majority members of the senate finance committee decided that all schedules of the new tariff bill except sugar and wool should become effective immediately after the enactment of the measure into law.

Sugar, with the approval of the Democratic caucus, will be subject to the Payne-Aldrich rates until March 1, 1914. The committee tentatively agreed upon a date for the wool schedule, but did not announce it, because of a promise to confer with Senators Walsh and Thomas, who could not be reached. The committee will confer with them before the final session of the caucus.

Additional revenue was provided for by the committee when it decided, in view of the revenue tax on brandies used in fortifying sweet wines, to levy a revenue tax of 25 per cent. ad valorem on what are known as "spurious wines," wines made from pummis and fortified with chemicals.

Containers of such wines must bear a label, showing what materials enter into the product. Just how much revenue will be derived from this the committee could not estimate, because the tax probably will curtail the present output considerably.

Another change proposed relates to the clause prohibiting importation of convict goods. It was amended so as to read that such goods be excluded from countries which do not "prohibit" convict labor. Originally the clause read from countries which did "restrict" convict labor.

Chairman Simmons said that he expected general debate on the bill to begin soon. He will report the measure soon, and it is his opinion that the debate will be limited to five weeks.

WAVED THE AMERICAN FLAG

Riot Ensued and Americans Trampled and Others Injured.

Winnipeg, Man.—The waving of the American flag here while thousands of provincial soldiers were parading, precipitated a riot during which the flag was trampled and a number of persons received minor injuries.

In the fight which followed a number of civilians were hurt, but none seriously. The American whose name could not be ascertained escaped without serious harm, and with the aid of the police eluded the crowd. The soldiers took no part in the demonstration.

The incident occurred when thousands of soldiers from Winnipeg and Manitoba were marching through the city on their return from annual camp at Sowell, where they had been maneuvering under Sir Ian Hamilton, famous British South African war general.

When the One Hundredth regiment was passing a local bank, an American appeared on the curbing, waving an American flag and shouting "Hurrah for the American flag." J. B. Mitchell, colonel in command of the regiment, ordered one of his men to request the American to put away the flag, but before the soldier could reach the American angry civilians pounced upon him, tore the flag from his grasp and hurled it into the street. Before it could be reached the flag was torn.

Two Killed in Auto Race.

Columbus, Ohio.—Harry C. Knight, known as the "Hero of the Indianapolis Speedway," was almost instantly killed and his mechanician, Milton Michaelis, both of Atlanta, was fatally injured here when Knight's front wheel drive car blew a right tire and turned turtle on the 110th lap of the 200-mile automobile race contested under the auspices of the Columbus Automobile association. He was said to have been running at 75 miles an hour when the accident occurred.

Fierce Fighting in Macedonia.

London. — Evidence that serious fighting is occurring in Macedonia is found in the arrival of large numbers of wounded and prisoners at the various Balkan capitals, but, owing to silence at Sofia and to the conflicting and probably biased stories from Servia and Greek sources, it is impossible to form an accurate idea of the struggle. There has been no formal declaration of war and although it is reported the Bulgarian minister to Greece has been recalled, he has not departed from Athens.

Angry Mothers Mob Chauffeur.

Pittsburg.—Angered mothers who said soon an uncontrolled automobile plunge through a throng of several hundred children preparing for a parade on the streets of West Pittsburg, almost tore the clothes from the chauffeur, Abe Yuengling, before he was turned over to the police. One of the children in the throng was killed and twelve others were hurt. Yuengling declared brakes on his automobile refused to work while he was coming down a steep grade.

AHEAD OVER $40,000,000

$40,083,229 SURPLUS FOR THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT REPORTED.

New Fiscal Year Begins With a Very Large Balance on the Right Side of Ledger.

Washington.—Uncle Sam closed the fiscal year 1193 with a surplus of $40,083,229, representing the excess of receipts over expenditures, exclusive of Panama canal and public debt transactions. This exceeds last year's surplus by $3,750,000. The Panama canal expenditures and public debt transactions, however, wiped out the surplus of ordinary receipts over ordinary expenditures and created a deficit for the year of $2,149,000.

Total receipts for the fiscal year amounted to $725,782,921, while the ordinary disbursements were $683699,,692.

Corporation taxes yielded the government $34,948,870, or $5,365,766 more than during the fiscal year 1912. Custom receipts for the fiscal year reached $318,142,000, an increase of nearly $7,000,000 over the previous year.

The record drinking and smoking of the American people in the past twelve months brought the federal government the enormous total of $309,478,000 in internal revenue receipts, which was $16,500,000 greater than in 1912.

Under the first year's operation of the new pension law the government paid veterans and widows $175,134,000, an increase of $21,537,000.

The fiscal year closed with $164,704,000 in the general fund of the treasury as compared with $167,152,000 a year ago. The cash drawer of the treasury contains $65,253,000 as the working balance of the government. The trust funds of the treasury include $1,0ºº6,727,000 in gold coin and bullion.

The government spent $41,741,000 on construction of the Panama canal in the past year, making a total of $318,229,000 spent on the canal to date. The mints coined during the year $37,147,000, of which $30,058,000 was in gold. The 7,492 national banks now in existence have a total outstanding circulation of national bank notes of $737,065,050.

Tax on Futures Opposed.

New Orleans.—The proposition contained in the Clarke amendment to the Underwood tariff bill to tax one-tenth of a cent a pound all cotton futures contracts has aroused aggressive opposition on the part of members of the New Orleans Cotton Exchange and many others interested heavily in cotton trade throughout the South. Hundreds of telegrams from cotton dealers in a dozen states have been received at the exchange asking that its officers make every effort to prevent the enactment of the amendment into law.

Flies Across Lake Michigan.

Chicago.—Logan A. Vilas, an amateur aviator of Chicago, made the first aeroplane flight across Lake Michigan. His trip, made in a hydro-aeroplane from St. Joseph, Mich., to Chicago, consumed one hour and 44 minutes. Vilas was accompanied by William Bastar of Benton Harbor, Mich., and followed the steamship Lane from St. Joseph to Chicago, the distance being about 55 miles. He said shifting air currents compelled him frequently to change the level on which he was flying.

Land Grant Taken by Government.

Portland, Ore.—Federal Judge Charles S. Wolverton signed the decree in the Oregon and California railroad grant case which forfeits to the government 2,076,619 acres of land in the Willamette valley held by the Southern Pacific. The decree is based on the failure and refusal of the Oregon and California Railroad company and the successor, the Southern Pacific company, to sell at $2.50 per acre granted by congress to aid in the construction of the road.

TOLD LIES ON CONGRESSMEN

DAVID LAMAR ADMITS USING NAMES OF LEGISLATORS TO WALL STREET PEOPLE.

Organized Effort to Influence Wall Street Financiers Is Admitted on Stand.

Washington.—A story of misrepresentation, impersonation of public men and organized effort to influence Wall street financiers probably without parallel in the history of congressional investigation was unfolded before the senate lobby committee.

A prosperous-looking, self-possessed individual, calling himself David Lamar of New York, self-described as an "operator in stocks" and admittedly the bearer of several assumed names, was the principal in the remarkable session.

With entire abandon, arousing the committee to laughter at times by his naive admissions, he told of his impersonations, his participation in attempts to influence Wall street operations, and his association with Edward Lauterbach, a New York lawyer, in efforts to have Lauterbach retained by the Morgan firm, the Union Pacific and other great interests to head off congressional activity in Washington.

He telephoned to financial men and lawyers in the names of Representative Palmer and Representative Riordan. He assumed the guise of Chairman McCombs, of the Democratic national committee, to telephone to Chairman Hilles, of the Republican national committee.

BRAVERY SAVES THE SHIP

Men Stick to Post When Accident Happened to Ship.

Newport, R. I.—Bravery of the engine room crew of the battleship Louisiana helped the vessel out of a dangerous predicament when a valve bonnet blew off, flooding the starboard engine room. Incidentally the accident gave Capt. Templin M. Potts, who was dismissed by the naval "plucking board," and retires, a memorable experience at the close of his service.

The rush of water through the passage opened by the displacement of the bonnet carried men off their feet and forced them against the machinery, but they stuck to their work.

Captain Potts sounded the call for collision drill, bringing men to quarters, and automatically closing the bulkhead doors. A collision mat was put overboard, mattresses and blankets were brought into use, and waste was jammed into the hole, but to no avail. Finally the pump began gaining on the water, and the battling engine room force was able to cram into the hole a waste can. This was jacked securely, and the flow of the threatening water was stopped.

When the accident occurred the battleship was without steam, only one boiler being in use for minor purposes.

North Carolina Lawyers.

Asheville, N. C.—With about 150 judges and lawyers present the fifteenth annual convention of the North Carolina Bar association met here in a three days' session. The principal address of the first session was that of Judge James S. Manning, of Raleigh, the president of the association, which was in form of a message to the lawyers of the state. Reference was made by him to the legislative issues pending in North Carolina at this time, but no recommendations were offered.

Old Lady With Gun Runs Off Officers.

Griffin, Ga.—A fifty gallon still was captured eight miles south of Griffin by Deputy Collector Emmett Hinton and deputy. The still was located about fifty yards from the home of Mrs. Sarah Baugh, an old lady of 83 years, who gave two of the officers a lively race for a short time. Believing the officers to be robbers Mrs. Baugh drew a gun on them and made them leave the place and would have nothing to do with them until Deputy Collector Hinton showed her of their business.

FORMER ALLIES ARE FIGHTING EACH OTHER FIERCER THAN THEY DID THE TURKS.

BULGARS REPORT VICTORY

Servians Have Lost Heavily and News of a Disaster Is Expected From Belgrade.

London, England.—After ten days of fighting more severe than anything in the last Balkan war, a little light begins to break upon the obscure operations. The Servians have lost more men than in the whole previous campaign, and semi-official statements from Belgrade have the appearance of preparing the public for news of a disaster.

Desperate fighting, with fluctuating fortunes, is proceeding along the Vardar and Bregalinitz river, apparently to Bulgaria's advantage. News has been received of the Bulgarian invasion of Servia through Belogradchky. The Bulgarians claim to have defeated the Servians and captured five guns and a quantity of other material, and by the occupation of the passes, to have opened the road to Nish, Servia's most important fortified town.

There is heavy fighting between the Servians and Bulgarians south of Istip and in the neighborhood of Ketchana. About two hundred thousand men are engaged and the losess on both sides appear heavy.

Bulgaria's strategy appears to be to hold the Greeks in check, probably with comparatively small forecs, while she deals with Servia.

Unconfirmed reports credit the Bulgarians with victories near Koprill, giving them the key to Usup, and with an outflanking movement from the south of Lahynos Lake, which would cut off the Greek retreat. Saloniki dispatches report that the Greeks have captured sixteen guns at Peiran. Evidence of desperate fighting is found in the arrival of 8,000 wounded at Saloniki.

A conservative estimate of the killed or disabled in the fighting is from thirty to forty thousand. Thousands of destitute refugees from the scene of fighting are pouring into Saloniki.

TERROR CAUSED BY MOB

Trouble in South African Gold Mine District Breaks Out Afresh.

Johannesburg.—The settlement of the strike among the gold miners in the Rand district, which the government arranged with a committee of strikers, has proved ineffective, although comparative order was preserved.

Casualties resulting from the fighting are now estimated at 110. Two officers, three soldiers and several policemen were wounded.

Strike leaders apparently were trying to get the men to accept the terms, but on all sides dissatisfaction is expressed. A spirit of anarchy has been aroused which is difficult to control. A great crowd of strikers wearing red badges surrounded the Carlton hotel, while the terms of settlement were being arranged. When the leaders announced from the balcony that a settlement had been reached they were greeted with shouts of "What about the dead?" "You've been bought!"

Except at the time of the Jameson raid in 1896 and the outbreak of the war in 1899, this city has not experienced such a day of toryism. The mobs in the business section caused less fear than the desperadoes who were threatening to dynamite the homes of the wealthy.

German Shot as Spy.

Eagle Pass, Texas.—Gustave Hanson, said to have been a German mining engineer, was shot as a spy by Mexican federals at Torreon and Francisco Martinez, an American citizen, has been arrested by the rebels at Colombia, Coahuila, where he is manager of an American-owned ranch, charged with giving information to the federals, according to reports reaching Pieras Morgan.

350 Animals Burned in Nashville.

Nashville, Tenn.—Three hundred and fifty animals—300 hogs and fifty head of cattle—were cremated when the big stock yards of Bolling & Powers burned to the ground within 30 minutes after the alarm was turned in. The fire was discovered shortly after noon, and burned so fiercely that the tanks of the Nashville Gas company, across the street, were expected to explode. Three streams of water saved the gas plant, while a cordon of police forced the big crowd that had colelcted out of danger.

Cyclone Destroys Waycross Homes.

Waycross, Ga.—A small cyclone swept this section. At Hebardville, a suburb of Waycross, the Methodist church was blown down. Between Hebardville and Waycross, five frame houses were taken off of their foundations and two blown over. Two negro churches, both on the north side, were completely demolished and it is thought will be found to be so badly twisted that it will have to be rebuilt. Large plate glass show windows and numerous windows in residences and large buildings in the city were smashed.

BANK FORCED TO CLOSE ITS DOORS

NATIONAL BANK OF PITTSBURG AND FIRST NATIONAL OF McKEESPORT CLOSE.

STATEMENT BY DIRECTOR

Stirring Scenes in Pittsburg Following Financial Disturbance—No Further Trouble Expected.

Pittsburg.—The First-Second National bank of Pittsburg, the First National bank of McKeesport, a neighboring city, the American Waterworks and Guarantee company, and the banking house of J. S. and W. S. Kuhn, Inc., of this city, were forced into the hands of receivers through the failure of the first named institution to open its doors.

The closing of the First-Second National bank was ordered by the deputy comptroller of the currency, D. P. Kane, after every effort had been made to meet the government requirements as to the legal reserve.

The Kuhn banking house has extensive interests in irrigation projects throughout the west and in mines and street traction systems throughout western Pennsylvania, besides being a dominant factor in the American Waterworks and Guarantee company.

W. S. Kuhn was president of the First-Second National bank, vice president and director in the banking house and vice president and director of the American Waterworks and Guarantee company, besides being a director of the McKeesport bank.

J. S. Kuhn was a director of the First-Second National bank, president and director of the American Waterworks and Guarantee company, president and director of the McKeesport bank and chairman of the board of directors of the banking house.

When it was learned that the bank would have to suspend business steps were taken to protect the American Waterworks and Guarantee company and the Kuhn's banking house and application was made in the federal court for receivers for both institutions. Throughout the day a statement of the banks and affected companies' affairs was awaited with feverish anxiety but none was forthcoming when Mr. Kane made a formal statement. No statement of the condition of the bank was obtainable subsequent to the one issued June 6 on the last bank call of the comptroller.

Failures of the banks caused intense excitement in the downtown districts. A run was made on the Pittsburg Bank for savings, another Kuhn institution, because of the climax in the affairs of the First-Second National. All demands up to $50 were paid without question and notices for larger amounts were asked, running 30, 60 and 90 days, according to the amount demanded by the depositor. This institution also made a statement that it had $5,000,000 in cash and quick assets and was prepared any emergency. The run was over before the closing of banking hours and it is not thought any anxiety over this institution need be felt.

Kuhn Issues Statement.

Mr. Kuhn issued the following statement:

"At a meeting of the directors of the First-Second National bank held on Sunday, the condition of the bank and the results of the recent investigation of the bank examiners were discussed. After full consideration, the directors declared their inability to make good the bank's impaired capital and without dissent decided that it would be best for the protection of depositors and all other interests to have the comptroller of the currency take charge and to arrange for the liquidation of the bank.

"The Pittsburg clearing house committee which has been engaged in going over the affairs of the bank with the examiners and in making a careful investigation as to its condition, refused to furnish funds sufficient to justify the bank in keeping its doors open and agreed under the circumstances there was no alternative to the course recommended by the bank's directors.

"The officers of the bank have expressed to the department the belief that there will ultimately be but little if any loss to the bank's depositors. The liquidation of the bank and the distribution of its assets will proceed as expediently as possible."

Burman Makes Record.

Tacoma, Wash.—Bob Burman, in a 300-horsepower car, was declared to day to have driven a mile in a race on the Tacoma speedway in 32 seconds.

Says He Killed Pearl Bryan.

Los Angeles, Cal.—Arrested, accused of having passed a bad check, Simon P. Heffinstine, in jail here startled officials with a purported confession of eight murders in Ohio. These include slaying of Pearl Bryan for whose death medical students Jackson and Walling were executed. Pearl Bryan was supposed to have been killed in Cincinnati but Heffinstine asserts he murdered the girl in Toledo and shipped the body to Jackson and Walling in Cincinnati.

HOLD CONFERENCE

Institute Workers Meet in Birmingham July 8, 9 and 10.

ADDRESS BY WILLINGHAM

Meeting Attended by Various Institute Conductors and Instructors of State.

Birmingham.—The conference for institute workers was held at the high school here July 8, 9 and 10. The meeting was attended by the various institute conductors and instructors who have been assigned work for the summer, and also by those who have been placed on the list of eligible institute instructors.

Superintendent Willingham opened the conference July 8 with an address on the subject of "Vitalizing Institute Work," and three other speakers completed the programme for the afternoon. On July 9 and 10 both a morning and an afternoon session of the conference was held. The chairman and director of the conference was Prof. C. A. Brown.

The following is the programme as previously announced for the three days' conference for institute conductors:

July 8.—"Vitalizing Institute Work," H. J. Willingham.

"Suggestive Schedule for Institute Work," Spright Dowell.

"Reaching Reading," C. B. Glenn.

"Daily Programme," N. R. Baker.

July 9.—"Language," Miss Rosa Strickland.

"Standardizing Rural Schools," N. R. Baker.

"Arithmetic," C. A. Brown.

"Drawing," R. L. Dimmitt.

"Geography," Spright Dowell.

"Grading the Schools," N. R. Baker.

"Spelling," C. B. Glenn.

"Play Activities," T. S. Settle.

July 10.—"Grammar," Miss Rosa Strickland.

"History," Spright Dowell.

"Reading Circle," C. B. Glenn.

"School and Home Sanitation," N. R. Baker.

"Agriculture," J. B. Hobdy or L. N. Duncan.

"Socializing the School," C. A. Brown.

"Use of the State Normal," C. B. Glenn.

O'NEAL'S SON SUCCEEDS TROY.

Kirkman O'Neal Becomes Secretary to Governor on Resignation of Daniel W. Troy.

Montgomery.—Daniel W. Troy, Secretary to Governor O'Neal, has resigned, and Kirkman O'Neal, son of Governor O'Neal, has been appointed to fill Mr. Troy's place, according to an announcement male by the Governor.

Mr. Troy had only served as Secretary to the Governor for a few weeks. He succeeded John D. McNeel in the position, three months ago. Mr. Troy turned over his affairs July 7 to Kirkman O'Neal, his successor. Prior to his appointment to succeed Mr. McNeel, Mr. Troy was special counsel for the State in foreign corporation cases and he will be employed in this connection in the future.

Kirkman O'Neal recently graduated from the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis. Immediately after his graduation he resigned, because of defective eyesight.

The resignation of Mr. Troy was submitted to Governor O'Neal June 18, and accepted June 25, but did not become known until July 6. The private secretary gave his other position as his reason for leaving the executive office.

NEW CANDIDATES.

Len F. Greer, Judge W. H. Thomas and Fitzhugh Lee.

Montgomery.—Names of three new candidates for State offices were "mentioned" during the past week, although none of the men discussed have made any declaration or definite announcement that they will actively enter the political field. Those spoken of for State offices were Len F. Greer, for Commissioner of Agriculture and Industries; Judge W. H. Thomas of Montgomery, for Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, and Fitzhugh Lee, for State Treasurer.

EIGHT CASES ON DOCKET.

Session Opened July 7—Scottsboro Has Petition.

Montgomery.—Eight cases were heard by the State Railroad Commission at its regular July session, which was held in the court room of the Commission. One new case on the docket is the petition of the citizens of Scottsboro for improved train facilities between Scottsboro, Stevenson and Huntsville, on the Southern Railway.

Following is the docket for July:

N. L. Wilson, et al vs. Southern Railway; passenger train facilities from Blocton, Ala.

E. Wilkinson vs. Southern Railway; Birmingham.

Railroad Commission vs. Alabama Great Southern Railroad et al; citation to show why uniform requirements for re-weighing carload shipments should not be promulgated.

Citizens of Abbeville et al vs. Atlantic Coast Line Railroad; petition for double daily train service Abbeville branch.

HOURS OF WORK REGULATED

Convicts Must Be Examined and Must Not Be Required to Do More Than He Is Physically Able.

Montgomery.—Rules and regulations for the government of county and municipal convicts of Alabama, adopted by the Board of Inspectors of Convicts and the State Prison Inspector and approved by Governor O'Neal, have been printed and are now ready for distribution. These rules require the convicts of counties and municipalities to receive the same treatment as is given state convicts to as great extent as possible.

No convict of any city shall be let out for hire outside of the county in which the city is located, according to the rules. If this rule is not observed the convicts can be paroled or pardoned by the Governor.

Concerning shackles and chains Rule 6 declares that no shackles or chains shall be placed on municipal, county or state convicts except by the written consent of the Board of Inspectors or State Physician Inspector. If such permission is given the reasons therefor must be filed with the president of the Board of Convict Inspectors.

Convicts sentenced to hard labor and convicts sentenced for misdemeanors shall not be worked together according to the rules. Whenever twenty or more convicts are worked together they shall be provided with an adequate hospital and a physician to be selected by the Board of Health and approved by the physician inspector.

Convicts must be examined before they are leased out and no convict must be required to do more work than he is physically able to perform. Not less than twenty convicts can be leased to any one person. When convicts are worked in the county in which they are convicted, however, less than twenty may be worked in one place. Sanitary conditions must be provided for all convicts in camps and prisons.

Convicts cannot be worked more than ten hours a day under the new rules. Physicians in charge of a convict camp shall select and have absolute control over the hospital force. Disinfectants must be used in all camps of municipal or county convicts. Each convict must bathe at least twice each week but facilities must be provided for daily baths.

No convict must be made to sleep in the clothing worn by him during the day and he must be provided with a clean change of clothing for sleeping purposes at least once each week.

If the rules are violated anywhere within the state, upon notice to the Governor of such violation, he will annul at his discretion whatever contracts he desires connected with the violations.

KENNEDY TO DIRECT CAMPAIGN.

Henderson One of the First to Announce Campaign Managers.

Montgomery.—Charles Henderson, of Troy, candidate for Governor, has stated that Sam P. Kennedy will have general direction of his campaign for the office of Governor.

Only one other candidate, Captain R. F. Kolb, has announced his campaign manager. Walter S. Richardson, a young Montgomery lawyer, will have charge of this work for Captain Kolb. Mr. Comer has not selected a campaign manager, but there are many who believe that John D. McNeel, former Secretary to Governor O'Neal, will direct the fight for the former Governor.

Neither John H. Wallace, Jr., nor Walter D. Seed, has named a campaign manager, but it is likely that both will announce their selections shortly.

MUCH INTEREST IN CORN CLUBS.

Special Agent I. B. Kerlin Gratified By Results.

Montgomery.—I. B. Kerlin, special agent of the United States Department of Agriculture, connected with the Agricultural Extension Department at Auburn, is in Montgomery for a few days. In speaking of the work of the Extension Department, Mr. Kerlin says: "A greater interest is being manifested in the Corn Club work and in the Tomato Club than at any other time since the work was begun, and as a result of the demonstration work with the clubs, scientific and better farming is more extensive than ever before."

WALLACE ENTERS RACE.

Outlines His Platform and Scores Public Record of Ex-Governor Comer.

Spruce Pine.—John H. Wallace, Jr., fish and game commissioner, in a speech delivered here, in which he announced his platform and scored the record of ex-Governor B. B. Comer, he included the official announcement of his candidacy for Governor of Alabama.

Legal Examinations Held.

Montgomery.—Applicants for license to practice law in Alabama were examined at the Capitol July 8 by the State Board of Legal Examiners. Because all of the law schools have finished their sessions for the summer the number of students to take the examination at this time was unusually large. These examinations are held twice each year, in February and in July. All the State Board of Examiners are Thomas L. Knight (Greensboro), J. M. Sheridan, Montgomery, and W. H. [illegible]

Wonder if O'Neal wouldn't be willing for Lacy to be shackeled IF he could but catch him?

If Mr. Comer is as weak as all of his opponents seem to think he is, why in the nation do they all continue to peck upon him?

The war among the Balkan states seems to be a war of extermination, and other European nations seem to have agreed to permit it.

What's Carnegie's "Peace Temple" and Bryan's "Universal Peace" proposition amount to anyway when nations determine to fight?

Now let some one step forth and charge the Wilson administration with precipitating a money panic by the closing of the First-Second National Bank of Pittsburg. From all accounts it would seem that the bank should have been closed long ago, under Taft's administration, but he left that as a legacy to Mr. Wilson, who promptly did his duty, and possibly averted the beginning of a panic by his prompt action.

Congressman Blackmon has been signally honored by having been chosen Vice-Chairman of the Pneumatic Tube Investigation Committee of the House and Senate; the Chairman being a member of the Senate who cannot attend the meetings of the committee, places the entire responsibility upon Alabama's congressman and involves the expenditure of many hundreds of thousand of dollars. Mr. Blackmon and his committee are now busily engaged in making investigations as to the cost, workings and desirability of the pneumatic tubes for postal service in the larger cities of the nation.

The reported sale of the Union and Banner does not come altogether as a surprise to those who have kept their weather eyes open. However, none except those closely connected with the management could speak authoritatively. It now comes from what we consider authoritative sources that the paper has actually been transferred from its present owners to parties living in Shelby county, who will assume active control in the early Fall. While differing widely with the politics of the Union and Banner, we wish the new comers success in their new field.

In this issue of the Press there appears the card of a new law firm recently formed here—that of Middleton, Denson and Reynolds. Mr. Denson having been taken in as the new addition to the old firm of Middleton & Reynolds. Mr. W. A. Denson needs no introduction to the practitioner at the bar; he has appeared before the courts of this county frequently and has always given good account of himself; neither does he require any introduction to the attendants upon the courts or the evil doers of the county. He is known of them all and is feared by them when he appears as opposing counsel. Mr. Denson's especially strong practice is in cases involving damage suits where he is reckoned as one of the most brilliant attorneys of the state.

His association with the firm of Middleton & Reynolds adds considerable strength to this already strong firm of attorneys.

Some of our friends have taken us to task for having espoused the cause of Capt. R. P. Hobson after having written, some weeks since, an article about too frequent changes in our federal officers. We were entirely sincere in that article and even now believe that in the South we too frequently change our federal office holders; one man, sent either to the House or Senate, scarcely warms his seat before some other aspirant announces in opposition to him; the officer scarcely becomes acquainted with the duties of his office and makes himself proficient ere another thinks he has been there a sufficiently long time and feels that to retain him longer would be a reflection upon the intelligence of other men who aspire to the office. This is not the true light in which to view such matters, as we see it. The fact is that in the olden days, in the days of Calhoun, Toombs, Stephens, Bayard, Lamar, George and other distinguished Southerners, our statesmen took front rank among those with whom they associated. Not so much because they were more intellectual than other men, perhaps, but because their worth was recognized and they were retained in office; because they were permitted to remain in office till their real worth was recognized by their co-laborers and they were, for this reason assigned to positions of honor, trust and responsibility. In the present day we make changes so frequently that one man has but little time to force himself to the front before he is retired by some other who has to go through the same school of training, and then, he, too, is retired in order that another may ride on the crest of the popular wave for a few brief months. This is why the great north and east has wrested from the South what was formerly hers—the leadership in the councils of the nation. We are again coming back into our heritage and it would seem unwise to make a change, but there are conditions which must be met, changes should be made and we should not be bound altogether by custom, or even expediency. The expedient thing is not always the correct, or even the wise thing to do. Circumstances frequently alter cases and in this particular case circumstances have much to do with the wisdom of a change.

After all it will not be a great change should Hobson be elevated to the Senate; he has already won distinction in the House; his ability and his moral worth have long since been recognized; they cannot be hid under a bushel even though one tried to do so. If elevated to the Senate he will at once press forward as a leader in that greatest of all legislative bodies. He is a man of world-wide experience, a native Alabamian, who has lived in almost every civilized country on the globe—giving him an experience which few men possess. He is a scholar who could and would hold his own in any assembly of men; he stands well with the "powers that be" and is in every way qualified to fill the position which he seeks.

This is no reflection upon our present able Senator whom he opposes; every one knows that Jos. F. Johnston is a man of more than ordinary ability and that he has served his State well in every capacity. However, his own physicians state that he is not a well man by any means, so we are informed; he is getting along in age and is liable to drop off at any moment. To be sure we all hope no such thing will happen for many years to come, but should it come, as come it must some day, it would leave a vacancy for the Governor to fill. This contingency, under the present administration, no one desires to see come about; who will be at the head of the next administration is problematical: besides it is much better for all the people to make a wise choice rather than leave it to the individual wisdom or choice of one man. There is nothing that can be said against the able Senator who we now have, he has been faithful, efficient and loyal in the discharge of his duties, but Hobson is a much younger man, equally as capable, as widely known, as highly esteemed, as largely experienced and is altogether in line with the present trend of events and affairs. Some oppose him because of his ultra prohibition views; that's one reason we are for him; others oppose him because he is for woman's suffrage, under certain conditions; that's another reason why we are for him; he has explained his position on that question fully and it seems to be perfectly sound so far as we are able to judge. He does not advocate woman's suffrage as a national issue, nor is he striving to bring it about as a State, but is willing for it to come as a State issue, in which event he will side with the women of the State and demand that the State safeguard the purity of the ballot, and the cleanliness thereof, just as it did in the days when the new constitution was adopted.

There are other things of importance in his platform with which our people should become thoroughly acquainted before they pledge their support to others, for after a careful study of the issues and the stand he taken with regard to them we are firmly convinced that he is the logical man upon whom to bestow the senatorial honor.

But, aside from all these considerations, there is a personal reason which actuates us. We were class mates at college with Rich Hobson; recited readin,' ritin' and 'rithmetic with him; played baseball and foot ball with him; went fishing and chincapin hunting with him, gathered Cherokee roses and chestnuts with him; played marbles and flew kites with him; damned creeks and went in swimming with him, and in all these days of school-boy trials and perplexities, these hours of defeat and triumph, these occasions of gladness and sorrow, we failed to see him act anything other than the man's part. Generous to a degree, loyal to the limit, chivalrous as a Knight of old, considerate of his fellow man, obliging and warm hearted, he left college the friend of every student and with the lasting friendship of his associates. We know him, that's why we are for him; we love him, that's why we are going to vote for him; we remember old school days, that's why we are going to work for him.

It is with us as long ago it was with Brutus: Not that we love John ston less, but that we love Hobson more.

We are printing this week the advertisement of the Baptist High School soon to be established at Thorsby; last week we gave the names of those who are to compose the faculty, which appears especially strong. The school offers especial facilities for young students who wish to obtain the advantages of a high school. Read their advertisement which appears elsewhere.

Read also the advertisement of the Clanton Mercantile company which we present in another column. This enterprising firm has added to its already large stock of general merchandise a complete line of furniture. Home makers would do well to read carefully the inducements which they are offerin .

Subscribers who are in arrears must forward subscription price in order to keep their subscriptions alive. The Post Office department requires this of us and we request it of our patrons.

Subscribers who wish their address changed MUST furnish the old address together with the new; this is absolutely necessary and unless the old address is given no attention will be paid to requests for change.

Unsigned articles invariably go to the waste basket. If you do not wish your name published we will not do so, but we must have it as a guarantee of good faith. Select a nom-de-plume and stick to it, but always give your proper name in the margin of your communication.

On and after this date all newspaper subscriptions are invariably payable strictly in advance. There will be no variations from this rule. It is the rule of all other newspapers and we have decided to adopt it and adhere to it. Please be governed accordingly.

Articles riduculing or reflecting upon others either in a social or political way—or otherwise—will not be published except when paid for at regular rates (cash to accompany communication) and signed by the writer with proper name. Even then we reserve the right to reject such articles if in our opinion they are objectionable.

We have heretofore charged nothing for publishing obituaries, but our columns cannot be used as grave stones without we receive something for the service. Three hundred words will be published absolutely free, but all in excess of that number must be paid for at the rate of one cent per word—cash to accompany.

What We Believe

The officials of the L. & N. do not, can not believe, that any considerable number of the good people of Alabama share the feeling of bitterness expressed against the L. & N. by certain individuals and newspapers.

The L. & N. supplies unexcelled service at reasonable rates.

The L. & N. has contributed, and continues to contribute, to the development and upbuilding of every enterprise in the State.

From the resorts along the gulf coast, through the fertile fields and farms, to the mountains rich in coal and iron, men of expert ability in the employ of the L. & N. have left the imprint of their constructive efforts.

The L. & N. is more dependent upon the territory through which its lines operate than that territory is dependent upon the L. & N. Consequently the L. & N. exerts its best efforts to conserve and promote the welfare of its territory.

The very life blood of the L. & N. comes from the farms, the mines and the manufacturing enterprises. The L. & N. is anxious to replenish as generously as lies in its power the resources it requires, to the end that a healthy circulation may be maintained to nourish growing industry.

We call upon the thoughtful citizens of Alabama to give careful consideration to the issues involved.

Insofar as the L. & N. injures the territory through which it operates, to the same extent will the L. & N. be injured.

Insofar as the territory through which it operates inflicts injury on the L. & N., to the same extent will the territory be injured.

This is a law of business.

The L. & N. seeks to be regarded as a co-worker for the general good. It will go to any reasonable, even generous ends, to promote the welfare of all the people.

But we submit that we know far better than can any individual or newspaper to what extent we can go in our work of development and sound rate making, and yet remain within the domain of good business. The operation of a railroad is our life work.

MR. AND MRS. CALLEN ENTERTAIN

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Callen were at home to the younger set on Tuesday evening, July 8, at a masquerade party in honor of their charming house guest, Miss Oakley. The out of town guests were: Miss Nellie May Porter, Miss Winnie Kelly and Miss Jewel Campbell.

This affair was one of the prettiest and most unique of the Summer season and was most enjoyably entered into by the young masqueraders whose costumes were carried out to perfection by their unusual quaintness and originality.

Dainty and cooling fruit beverages was served by "Little Red Riding Hood," and later in the evening delicious ices and cakes were enjoyed to the fullest extent.

Mrs. Callen, always a most gracious hostess, made this affair so informal and pleasant that the young people pronounced it the best occasion of their lives.

Mrs. Hugh Jones assisted Mrs. Callen in receiving her guests.

Miss Oakley is a cousin of the host, from Starksville, Miss., and brings with her a charm of the old South which enables her to number her friends by the score. Some of the older residents remember with pleasure her mother who visited Mrs. Mary Callen Simpson.

FOR PERSONS 75 YEARS OLD

If You Have Reached Three Score and Ten You Have Eaten 1,300 Times Your Weight.

If you should live to be seventy-five years old, have you any idea how much food you would have consumed in the course of the years, taking it for granted that you are a person of average height, weight and appetite?

In both solids and liquids you will have consumed something like 1,300 times your own weight in both solids and liquids, or 54 tons of solid food and 53 tons of liquid.

Probably if your desires were normal you would have eaten some 76 tons of bread, which if they were all piled together would equal in size a small family hotel. On that bread you would have spread about a ton and a fourth of butter. If you had been fond of bacon and were to stretch it out in a long single slice it would stretch about four miles. You would have managed to eat about five tons of fish and some 12,000 eggs, while if you were at all a lover of cheese you could easily get outside of 400 pounds of it.

It is interesting to imagine how, if you were to see all the vegetables you had consumed pass before you in review, they would make a train of cars at least three and one-half miles long. Also on that train you could add 10,000 pounds of sugar and 1,500 pounds of salt.

If you were a smoker you would have used some half ton of tobacco in pipes or one-half million cigarettes.

Oil Stored With Water.

A new hydraulic method of storing petrol or gasoline is credited with important advantages. The unused space in the storage tank is kept always filled with water, and a simple pumping mechanism causes the water to force the oil out as required.

In refilling the tank the water is displaced anew. The inventors do not say that their oil always floats on water, there is no mention of emulsion, nor claim to do away with evaporation.

ROGERS CHOSEN AS HOLDER

Football Warrior Chosen to Lead Chippewa Nation in Fight for $15,000,000.

St. Paul, Minn.—More than a century has elapsed since the Chippewa tribe has been recognized as a nation. More than seventy-five years had elapsed on May 6, 1913, since all the Chippewa tribe of Minnesota met in one general council. Indians who were present during the general council which began in Cass Lake on May 6, 1913, all seemed pleased to think that after many years they had finally arrived at a point where the entire Minnesota tribe would have one organization through which it would find what it wanted and, having found out, speak as one man.

It was easy for them to see that a man of their own who had matched his wits politically against the white man's best and received from the white men the verdict that they recognized him as of at least their equal in legal ability was their natural choice for leader.

Edward L. Rogers, at present county attorney of Cass county, Minnesota, physicially a giant and the superior of most white men, as has been demonstrated by his feats in the Carlisle and Minnesota university football teams, was selected unanimously.

The council had as spectators many men who have been more or less prominent politically, for Cass Lake has many of them. There was not a man among them who did not concede that Rogers in the chair did splendid work in cementing the Chippewas into one body. There are approximately 10,000 Chippewas in Minnesota, and if they get all that is coming to them of right every man, woman and child of them will be worth approximately $2,500.

It is no small task that has been set for Rogers. The total of claims that he will have to start on their way to adjudication is more than $15,000,000.

MUTE GIRL RESUMES TALKING

Peculiar Case of Hysteria Brought on by Overstudy at a Summer School.

St. Louis.—Irene Burnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Burnes of Hillyard, who for the last seven and a half months has been confined at the Sacred Heart hospital on account of a most serious and peculiar case of hysteria, which baffled local physicians for several months on account of her refusal to talk, is improving.

In about a month she will be able to leave the hospital, at which time she will be taken for a visit to Lewiston, Ill.

Miss Burnes was at her home for a few hours recently, the first time since October 2, when she was taken to the hospital. Although she has not entirely recovered her power of speech, she will at times, especially in the mornings when rested, talk for a little while. She understands all said to her, but under no condition can she talk unless she be thoroughly rested.

Miss Bailey, her nurse, takes her for a walk each day. Miss Burnes since March has been under the care of Dr. W. T. Phy.

The illness was brought on last summer as the result of overstudy at a summer school and following the excitement of the final examination.

WOMAN RIDES ON PORPOISE

Miss Violet Nathan of Minneapolis Has Startling Experience While Bathing on Coast.

Venice, Cal.—A ride on the back of a huge playful porpoise caused Miss Violet Nathan of Minneapolis to have hysterics while in bathing.

While a large number of bathers were enjoying the surf near Maier Pier avenue a school of porpoises suddenly appeared and began to frolic with the bathers. All except Miss Nathan fled to the beach. When she observed the monsters she started to flee, but a big porpoise, in a playful mood, swam up and rubbed against the young woman. She screamed and jumped.

The porpoise then spunk directly under Miss Nathan and she was carried several feet outside of the surf-guard boat.

HEAT OVERCOMES GETTYSBURG VETERAN

A pitiful sight indeed is this, of a member of the G. A. R. who came unscathed through the three days' fighting of the greatest battle of the Civil war, overcome by the heat at the reunion of Gettysburg survivors, and being led off the field to medical aid by a couple of young guardsmen.

WITH BLUE AND GRAY AT GETTYSBURG

Many were the stories told and innumerable were the incidents, both pathetic and humorous, which marked the great reunion of the Union and Confederate veterans on the Gettysburg battlefield. Commemorating the fiftieth anniversary of the most stubbornly contested battle of the Civil war, fragments of the hosts which faced each other in that conflict gathered to renew old acquaintances and to recount the deeds of other days.

Here is a story which was told by A. T. Dice, vice-president of the Reading railway:

Once upon a time there were a veteran in gray and a veteran in blue. They came to Gettysburg and in the course of events and visits to hotels they happened to meet. They looked over the sights of Gettysburg and the monuments of the field. But they found they must part.

The one in blue lived in Oregon; the one in gray in New Orleans. They went weeping together to their station and passed by train after train, deferring the parting that must come. Just what they said, just how they reached the final grand idea of the meeting, Mr. Dice did not know.

But, however, yesterday they finally decided that the time for parting had come. The one from Oregon could not figure how to reach home via New Orleans and his gray comrade, while willing to see the west, didn't have the money for a ticket.

They lined upon on the platform as their trains stood waiting and then before the crowd, they slowly stripped off their uniforms and exchanged them there while the curious flocked to see them.

The Oregonian who came proudly to town with a coat of blue, went as proudly away with one of gray and the veteran from Louisiana who boasted the gray of the south sat with swelling chest in his new uniform of blue.

James H. Lansberry of St. Louis, Mo., who enlisted in the Third Indiana cavalry from Madison, Ind., recited to his comrades the details of his capture in the town of Gettysburg by Confederates 50 years ago. Following the skirmish just outside of town which marked the opening of what was to be a world-famed engagement, he had been detailed to assist in carrying a wounded officer to the old seminary in Gettysburg. While in town frantic women flocked about him and begged that he tell of the battle. He remained to tell the story, with the result that he had to spend several days in following the Confederate army as a prisoner. After tramping 50 miles over rough country without shoes he succeeded in escaping and finally made his way back to Gettysburg, where he remained till August in assisting in the care of the wounded, which were housed in the seminary, churches, barns and public buildings.

Harry K. Thaw has come to the financial rescue of Gen. Daniel E. Sickles from his cell in Matteawan. He sent a letter to Chairman Schoonmaker, having charge of the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary o fthe battle of Gettysburg, in which $1,000 in cash was inclosed. In the letter Thaw wrote that he felt the deepest sympathy for General Sickles because of the misfortunes that had come to him in his old age. This sympathy the writer declared, was heightened by the fact that Thaw had been misled in the Union army.

The camp is full of unexpected meetings. Every day brings forth numerous meetings between men who have not seen one another for many years. Many are commonplace, but some are extraordinary. For instance, here is one:

I. D. Munsee of Erie county, Pennsylvania, a soldier in the 111th Pennsylvania, was captured by the confederates at Peachtree Creek, Ga., when he was one of Sherman's army on the celebrated march to the sea. He was being conveyed to the rear by a confederate soldier when the union batteries opened fire upon the party among whom he was a prisoner. The man who was guarding Munsee was hit and fell, knocking Munsee down and lying on top of him.

Seeing his chance of escape, Munsee lay very still under the unconscious confederate while the battle raged around them. That night he slipped from under the body and escaped to the union lines.

"I thought that fellow was dead," said Munsee, "but I saw him today. Poor fellow, his mind's bad, and he didn't recognize me, but I was sure of him. I couldn't even get his name, but I'm goin over later to the Georgia camp and try to find out who he is."

One of the most interesting places in camp was the lost and found bureau, located under the benches in the big tent. Everything found on the grounds was brought there and thousands applied every day for missing articles.

There were at least 100 crutches piled up in the bureau, dozen or so applicants having called for them. Those who come to redeem their lost crutches seldom can recognize them and most of them go away with somebody else's.

There was one wooden leg also lying unclaimed. It was brought in by a Boy Scout, who had found it under a tree.

Several sets of false teeth were found.

A grandson of Francis Scott Key, composer of "The Star-Spangled Banner," is here. He is John Francis Key, aged eighty-two, of Pikeville, Md., and he is a veteran of the Second Maryland infantry of the confederate army.

Wearing a suit of gray, Key came into town, weak and almost dropping. He has been in failing health, but declared he was "going to see Gettysburg on this occasion or die."

One of the oldest veterans in the big camp is Captain W. H. Fleig of Houston, Texas, who was ninety years of age on his last birthday, February 23. During the war he served with distinction in the marine department of the confederate navy. Captain Fleig is one of the best preserved men in camp and is more active than many of the other veterans a score of years less advanced.

Wearing a tattered uniform of gray, Alexander Hunt of Virginia was the central point of interest on the streets of the town. Mr. Hunter was wearing the identical suit and hat which he wore at Gettysburg fifty years ago.

The suit was in rags and has a bullet hole through one of the sleeves. He carried all his accoutrements used at Gettysburg and wore a union hat taken from a foe here. Mr. Hunter was a member of the Black Horse cavalry.

One of the unadvertised sensations of the celebration occured in the confederate section of the camp. A fife and drum corps of men in blue tramped up and down the streets of the confederate part of the city of tents.

They stopped before the tents, played such a fanfare as only drums and fifes can make, summoned forth the occupants and shook hands, threw their arms about the gray shoulders and in a dozen other ways showed their feelings of friendship.

They kept it up for hours and visited practically every "reb" tent. Their reception was as warm as their greeting.

A remarkable coincidence of the camp was the meeting of two men of exactly the same name, coming from towns of the same name, but in different states. One fought on the union side in the battle of Gettysburg, and the other with the confederates.

These two men are John Carson of Burlington, N. J., and John Carson of Burlington, N. C.

They met by the merest chance. The Jersey Carson was walking along one of the streets, and saw a man in gray. Just to be friendly, the Jersey man stopped him and gave him a greeting. It was not until they had talked for several minutes that they discovered their names were identical.

One bearded veteran of an Illinois regiment told of an incident that happened 50 years ago.

"As we rode through Gettysburg that last time," he said, "I remember a little girl stopped my horse and said she wanted to give me a bouquet. I got down and she pinned a ribbon—a little purple ribbon to my coat. 'Wear that in the next battle you go into,' she said.

"'We're not going to have any more battles around here,' I told her.

"'Yes, you are,' she insisted. 'Those hills back there are full of rebels.'

"'I wore that purple ribbon through the battle. I never saw the girl afterward, but I've kept that ribbon, and it's back at home in Illinois today."

A striking contrast is seen in the menu provided for the soldiers fifty years ago and what they enjoyed this year:

1863—Breakfast—Hardtack, bacon, beans and coffee.

Dinner—Bacon, beans, hardtack and coffee.

Supper—Beans, hardtack, bacon and coffee.

1913—Breakfast—Puffed rice, fried eggs, fried bacon, cream potatoes, fresh bread, hard bread, butter and coffee.

Dinner—Fricassee chicken, peas, corn, ice cream, cake, cigars, fresh bread, hard bread, butter, coffee, iced tea.

Supper—Salmon salad, macaroni and cheese, fresh bread, butter and coffee.

When the house of representatives recently undertook to name a committee of its members to represent it at the reunion of the blue and gray at Gettysburg it was found that not a veteran of the Civil war sat on the Republican side of that body. The only Union veterans in the house, three in number, are all Democrats, and six veterans of the Confederate army also sit on that side. In the senate, however, there are six Confederate veterans on the Democratic side and six Union veterans on the Republican side. As indicating the passage of time, it today in congress more veterans of the Spanish-American war than of the Civil war. Nineteen members of the senate are veterans of the war with Spain. One member of the house, who has not seen war service at all, served five years in the signal corps of the army as a private, and Delegate Quezon of the Philippines was a staff officer under Aguinaldo during the Philippine rebellion.

My heart beats faster tonight, said Gen. Daniel E. Sickles. The thronging hordes who have motored and walked and trolleyed to my camp today have swept their hats off and hailed it as "Sickles Day."

And so I have always regarded July 2.

It was on this day a half century ago that God gave me strength to serve my country and my maker better than I ever had been able to serve them before.

It was upon this day in '63 that I lost my leg and did my little part by the mercy of God to preserve the Union.

July 2, 1863, broke hot and clear. Just as in the early hours today a molten sun poured out of a sky but a trifle overclouded. I had retired shortly after midnight the previous evening and slept the quiet, dreamless sleep that is generally attributed to babes.

Last night I enjoyed just the same kind of sleep. But that is to be expected of a young fellow who at ninety-three is still able to read without his glasses, eh?

Many men who came today to shake my hand told me they were too busy to do so 50 years ago—that their whole hearts and minds were wrapped up in the conflict to come.

"I hid in a barn when I discovered that Confederates had arrived in town, but I left it when it was peppered by infantry fire and concealed myself at the mouth of an alley," said Lansberry. "While I remained in the alley two of my comrades attempted to dart across the street to another alley with a hope of escaping from town. They got to the middle of the street when guns of Confederate sharpshooters at street intersections rang out and they fell in a heap. I was then found and disarmed."

NO SPLIT IN SIGHT

Democrats to Be Congratulated on Cohesion and Ability.

Statesmanlike Handling of the Tariff and Currency Questions Seems to Have Astonished and Disgusted Republican Opposition.

It was inevitable that the senate should make many changes in the tariff bill. Generally they are improvements. It is a matter of course that there should be sharp controversies between the branches over some of the differences. The house and senate were deadlocked for ten days over the reciprocity provision in the McKinley tariff. There were serious divisions between the two branches over the Payne-Aldrich bill.

Nor is it probable that the administration currency bill will go through without a dissenting Democratic vote. It goes too far for some and not far enough for others. But at no point is there the slightest evidence of a break in the Democratic party over either of these matters.

Of course, this is a surprise and a disappointment to the Republicans, and they are not concealing their pain and their disgust. They thought the tariff was likely, and the currency bill certain, to break the party in two. Congress has been in session about three months, and the tariff bill has got through the house and the senate finance committee, and a currency bill has been produced which realizes none of the Republicans predictions, which provides a safe and sane circulation, and introduces the element of elasticity and means of re-discounting commercial paper which the financial and commercial community had been demanding of the Republican party for 20 years and did not get. All it got was the temporary Aldrich-Vreeland law, which in five years has never been set in operation, and the report of the monetary commission, which the Republicans never made an effort to enact.

This display of constructive statesmanship by a Democratic administration, this manifestation of cohesion by the Democratic party in congress, and out of it, too, are a bitter disappointment to the Republicans. The "Democratic blunders," on which they depended for their party's rehabilitation, have not appeared The delicate problem of the currency has been handled with a boldness and yet a conservatism of which the Republican party showed no capacity, and there is little hope in even a Republican mind now that in 1916 the country will be begging the Republicans to save it.

Currency and Banking Problem.

Democracy can not continue to exist unless it stands for what is right and true. It means, not simply that the people shall rule, but that they shall rule wisely. We seek, not government by prejudice or whim, but government by principle. No one understood this better than Thomas Jefferson, the representative American Democrat. He never accepted the theory—which is today in such high favor—that the judgment of the people on a technical question was right simply because it was their decision. On the contrary, he trusted the people because he believed that they were wise enough to decide certain questions for themselves, and wise enough to accept the judgment on other questions of those who were well informed. A majority vote on a question that is purely or largely scientific would settle nothing unless those who cast it were informed in regard to it. We ought to approach this currency and banking problem in this spirit. There are, it is true, many bankers who know little about it, but even these know more about banking than those who have never been in the business, or never studied it from the scientific point of view. What we all need is light, and from the most authoritative source. Democracy is not exempted from the duty of reaching its results by a rational process.

Mr. Perkins Becomes Humorous.

Who do you suppose is lifting his voice against the evil of spending money at elections! Who But George W. Perkins! Here are his present views set forth in an address to the City club of New York:

"This thing of raising campaign funds to get out the vote—and I speak feelingly—is a disgrace to our day and to our form of government. I know nothing which goes to the root of so many of our problems as this question of an honest ballot."

People who remember political history will take notice that Mr. Perkins has availed himself of the privilege of changing his mind. If ever there was a more reckless use of money in elections than when Perkins and his intimates were whooping 'er up for Roosevelt even as late as the primary campaign in New York a year ago, it will not be readily recalled.

Natural Supposition.

A Washington dispatch says that the sugar lobby "even tried to swing Taft." Inasmuch as the sugar lobby was on the wrong side of a public question, it had every reason to suppose that Mr. Taft was already with them.

SHOWERS IMPROVE THE CROP OUTLOOK

Winter Wheat Harvesting Progresses Demand for Pig Iron.

New York.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly trade review says:

High temperatures throughout the country curtailed retail distribution somewhat while the holiday accentuated slightly prevailing dullness in most lines of wholesale. Needed rains in the agricultural regions have improved the crop outlook and harvesting of winter wheat is progressing under ideal circumstances.

Private estimates indicate some gain in cotton prospects while the government report on Thursday placed the condition at 81.8 per cent against 80.4 a year ago. The submission of a practical plan for separating the interests of the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific railroads was on the whole a favorable factor in investment markets, although renewed war in the Balkans renders the European monetary situation further unsettled.

The lull in the iron and steel trade continues as to finished lines, but a larger demand for pig iron appeared during the week than for several months past. Buying of equipment by the railroads has been restricted of late, but a fair volume of new business in coming forward in finished products. Stocks of the leading textile distributers and retailers at the end of the first half year are abnormally low, but replenishment is being confined to immediate needs until the tariff bill has been passed. Business in leather shows an improvement with a steadier demand for all grades, although contracts for spring are below expectations. Railroad gross earnings so far for June show an increase of 7.8 per cent as compared with the same month a year ago.

Total bank exchanges at 128 leading centers during June made a gain of 0.4 per cent over the same month last year, but a loss of 0.8 per cent as compared with the corresponding month in 1911.

Commercial failures this week in the United States were 230 against 197 the corresponding week last year. Failures in Canada numbered 26 against 23 last year.

New York.—Bradstreet's weekly review of trade says:

The widespread hot wave and approach of the midyear holidays have stimulated retail trade in light summer fabrics and furnishings, but made for quietness in most wholesale and industrial lines, the latter in most cases arranging for a three day suspension of operations. The result is a somewhat irregular week, closing a half year which while not fulfilling sanguine expectations has proved better than fears, bred of tariff revision and world-wide tight money.

Most observers had predicted for these conditions. Most measures of trade volume and progress make satisfactory comparisons with a year ago a period of comparative quietness. Bank clearings for June and the six months show fractional gains of last year.

There were fewer failures in June than in any month for two years past and the six months total is below that of 1912, although a few large failures have swelled liabilities above last year.

The really new features of the week are mainly favorable chief to these being the breaking of an extremely hot wave which destroyed life and imperilled crops; the resumption of pig iron buying on a scale not witnessed for months past; albeit at the expense of prices; the largest sales of raw wool reported for a long time past, low quotations also; the advent of much needed moisture in the corn and spring wheat areas, the assurance of a record winter wheat crop and the planting of a record area in cotton.

The unfavorable features are the practical realization that yields of oats and hay next to corn, the chief animal foods, will be heavily short of last year; the shading of estimates of spring wheat yield; the slowing down of building following a period of gains for six months at a majority of a year ago and the projection into the dim future of some new labor disturbances or lockouts involving large numbers of men at Chicago and Cincinnati.

Wheat, including flour exports from the United States and for the week ending July 2, aggregate 3,501,323 bushels against 4,201,859 bushels last week and 2,993,538 bushels this week last year. For the 53 weeks ending July 2, all exports are 246,112,518 bushels against 173,389,587 bushels in the corresponding period last year. Corn exports for the week are 139,534 bushels against 32,351 bushels last week and 58,272 bushels in 1912. For the 53 weeks ending July 2, corn exports are 39,366,554 bushels against 33,464,511 bushels last year.

June failures were the smallest in number in any month for the two years and liabilities were the lightest since November.

Astonishing Coiffures.

Coiffures are to be high again, but not so high as in the past. Formerly doorways had to be heightened to accommodate the eighteenth century woman of fashion. Marie Antoinette's hairdresser had to mount a stool in order to get above his work. Women of that time had to kneel in their coaches to get their head covering at side, or drive with their heads out of the windows. Mme. de Genlis was caught by her hair while hastening to greet Voltaire at Ferny, but escaped Absalom's fate, her hair remaining on the bough. And the Duchess de Chartres had room on her head one evening for a miniature man-of-war in full sail, on another for a representation of her little son, Louis Philippe, sleeping in the lap of a nurse.

Bees Addicted to "Dope."

Just add this one to all the other things that have happened in the year of grace 1913 and believe it's true because W. E. Baker, deputy auditor of the state of Ohio, says he can prove it.

The honey bees near Fostoria, which is Baker's home town, have contracted the opium habit. Like the Chinese they get theirs from the poppy. Baker and many other residents of Fostoria grow oriental poppies.

The bees have found this out, and of late they are leaving acres of clover blossoms to hunt out the poppy beds. They work very vigorously for an hour or so and then fall to the ground apparently as stupefied as old opium smokers after "hitting the pipe."—Fostoria (Ohio) dispatch to New York Sun.

CUBS' FOOD

They Thrive on Grape-Nuts.

Healthy babies don't cry and the well-nourished baby that is fed on Grape-Nuts is never a crying baby. Many babies who cannot take any other food relish the perfect food Grape-Nuts, and get well.

"My baby was given up by the doctors who said that the condensed milk on which I had fed her had ruined the child's stomach. One of the doctors told me that the best thing to do would be to try Grape-Nuts, so I got some and prepared it as follows: I soaked 1½ tablespoonfuls in one pint of cold water for half an hour, then I strained off the liquid and mixed 12 teaspoonfuls of this strained Grape-Nuts juice with six teaspoonfuls of rich milk, put in a pinch of salt and a little sugar, warmed it and gave it to baby every two hours.

"In this simple, easy way I saved baby's life and have built her up into a strong, healthy child, rosy and happy and thriving. The food must certainly be perfect to have such a wonderful effect as this. I can truthfully say I believe it is the best food in the world to raise delicate babies on and is a most delicious healthful food for grown folks as we have discovered in our family.

Grape-Nuts is equally valuable to the strong, healthy man or woman. It stands for the true theory of health. "There's a reason," and it is explained in the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Are we content to lie still? Does our union mean sympathy, our peace contentment, our vigor right action, our maturity self-comprehension and a clear confidence in choosing what we shall do? War fitted us for action, and action never ceases.

Our Laws the Orders of the Day.

I have been chosen the leader of the Nation. I cannot justify the choice by any qualities of my own, but so it has come about, and here I stand. Whom do I command? The ghostly hosts who fought upon these battlefields long ago and are gone? These gallant gentlemen stricken in years whose fighting days are over, their glory won? What are the orders for them, who rallies them? I have in my mind another host, whom these set free of civil strife in order that they might work out in days of peace and settled order the life of a great nation. That host is the people themselves, the great and the small, without class or difference of kind or race or origin; and undivided in interest, if we have but the vision to guide and direct them and order their lives aright in what we do. Our constitutions are their articles of enlistment. The orders of the day are the laws upon our statute books. What we strive for is their freedom, their right to lift themselves from day to day and behold the things they have hoped for, and so make way for still better days for those whom they love who are to come after them. The recruits are the little children crowding in. The quartermaster's stores are in the mines and forests and fields, in the shops and factories. Every day something must be done to push the campaign forward; and it must be done by plan and with an eye to some great destiny.

How shall we hold such thoughts in our hearts and not be moved? I would not have you live even today wholly in the past, but would wish to stand with you in the light that streams upon us now out of that great day gone by. Here is the nation God has builded by our hands. What shall we do with it? Who stands ready to act again and always in the spirit of this day of reunion and hope and patriotic fervor? The day of our country's life has but broadened into morning. Do not put uniforms by. Put the harness of the present on. Lift your eyes to the great tracts of life yet to be conquered in the interest of righteous peace, of that prosperity which lies in a people's hearts and outlasts all wars and errors of men. Come, let us be comrades and soldiers yet to serve our fellow men in quiet counsel, where the blare of trumpets is neither heard nor heeded and where the things are done which make blessed the nations of the world in peace and righteousness and love

Properly Rebuked.

An excursion party from a prominent woman's club in Chicago had gone to a rural part of the state, and in default of sufficient hotel accommodations, some of the members were obliged to seek quarters in a nearby farmhouse.

Everything was simplicity itself, although, scrupulously clean and homelike. But as would be expected, there was a natural abscence of some of the luxuries of high-priced city hotels.

Retiring time came and some of the ladies discovered that there were no keys in the locks of their rooms, and consulted the farmer's wife.

That good woman was undisguisedly surprised.

"Why," she said, "we don't usually lock our doors here, and there's no one here but you. But then," scrutinizing the ladies carefully. "I suppose you know your own party best."—Harper's Magazine.

Recipe for Making Jokes.

There is nothing any easier than writing jokes. Simply jot down your ideas for the jokes, say two or three hundred, on a slip of paper; then seat yourself before a typewriter. Feed blank paper into the typewriter and inject the ideas through your finger tips into the keys. Continue to do this until all of the ideas on the slip are exhausted, then gather up the jokes, which have piled themselves into a heap on the opposite side of the typewriter, send them to editors and receive your checks. A couple of hours a day spent in this manner should bring you in revenue enough to support a wife and nine children, run a six-cylinder touring car and buy bonds as for a soul-mate. Try it.

Let Them Wear Them!

It is observed that one or two tasteful advocates of embellishment of the male dress are writing to the papers declaring that men should be allowed by custom to wear not only bracelets, but earrings, too, if they desire. Well, who prevents them? They can wear both if they wish. They can also do better and wear nose rings, which would be a more truly American adornment, inherited from the real natives of this country.—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Imitating Her Elders.

Sister and brother, neither of whom has reached the mathematical age, were playing the other day on the lawn at their home in Twelfth street, says the Indianapolis News. The brother had great respect for his sister's knowledge, for she went to school. He looked forward to the day when he should become a pupil and grow wise.

"I think," he said, "when June is gone it will be cooler."

Then suddenly:

"When will June be gone?"

The little sister attempted to answer, but, evidently fearing to lose her brother's admiration, she placed her hand on his shoulder, and with a tone of mild surprise she said:

"Why, David, you ought to know that."

CAPTAIN KNEW HIS VISITOR

Also Realized That Even Superdreadnaugh Would Be Imperiled by Presence of Idiot.

The brand-new battleship of the superdreadnought type had been thrown open to visitors. Her captain stood at the gangway receiving his guests, pride and delight in his magnificent vessel shining in every lineament. Suddenly his gaze concentrated upon an approaching figure. His face grew pale to the lips; he shook in every fiber. Controlling his terror by a mighty effort, he turned hastily to his executive officer.

"Clear for action, Mr. Bloodlet," he cried. "Beat to quarters. Load with grape. Order the marines to concentrate behind me, prepared to repel boarders."

"Aye, aye, sir," responded the officer promptly, although thoroughly bewildered.

The blood returned to the captain's face and he regained his composure as he remarked how quickly his order were carried out, and how they were prepared to meet their formidable foe successfully. Then his eyes again sought the object of his fears. He was close aboard. "Hello, cap'n!" he cried, a vacuous smile playing about his weak mouth.

"Back!" shouted the captain sternly. "Back, or I'll blow you up!"

"Say, cap'n, that's what you seem to be doin'," responded the enemy, giggling.

"Don't you try to set foot on board my ship," continued the captain vehemently. "I'm not going to jeopardize boat, crew and visitors for your pleasure."

"Oh, say, cap'n," remonstrated the enemy with another silly grin, "don't you know me?"

"You bet I do. You're the idiot that rocks the boat, and you shall not come on board mine."

ECZEMA ITCHED AND BURNED

R. F. D. No. 8, Maryville, Tenn.—"My baby, when three months old, took eczema on his face and head. His head and one side of his face were almost in a solid sore. Plans to Live as Savage.

To prove that the people of the twentieth century need not be slaves to civilized convention, Joseph Knowles, a Boston painter of outdoor life, plans to plunge into the wilderness of northern Maine this month without clothing, food, matches, firearms or ammunition.

He promises to stay there until October 1, to subsist on fish, game, berries and wild vegetables and to come out fully clothed. He will live 50 or 60 miles away from any settlement, and will accept no help from the outside world.

Knowles will make his own fire by friction; will build a log cabin from material he finds in the woods, and will make traps out of what he discovers in the practically unexplored northern part of the Pine Tree state.

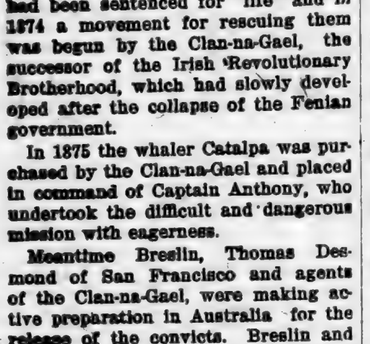
CATALPA TO RESCUE

Death of Captain Anthony Recalls Famous Event.



Thrilling Story of Release of Six Fenian Prisoners From British Penal Colony in Australia Many Years Ago.

New Bedford, Mass.—There died recently at New Bedford, Mass., an old skipper, Capt. George S. Anthony, whose name is indissolubly linked with a famous exploit and whose memory will long be treasured by Irishmen. He commanded the Catalpa in its daring rescue of six Irish political prisoners from the convict station of Freemantle, western Australia, under the frowning guns of a British cruiser, and landed them safely in this country. The men were former soldiers in the English service, who like many others of their kind had been won over to the cause of Irish nationalism during the Fenian agitation of the '60's. Fifteen of these soldiers were arrested and convicted of treason and sentenced to various terms of imprisonment at Freemantle. Among the number was John Boyle O'Reilly, who, soon after reaching Freemantle, effected his escape and, coming to this country, became noted as a writer, lecturer and poet. Others among the 15, with the exception of six, served out their terms. The six who remained had been sentenced for life and in 1874 a movement for rescuing them was begun by the Clan-na-Gael, the successor of the Irish Revolutionary Brotherhood, which had slowly developed after the collapse of the Fenian government.

In 1875 the whaler Catalpa was purchased by the Clan-na-Gael and placed in command of Captain Anthony, who undertook the difficult and dangerous mission with eagerness.

Meantime Breslin, Thomas Desmond of San Francisco and agents of the Clan-na-Gael, were making active preparation in Australia for the release of the convicts. Breslin and Desmond, under assumed names, posed as men seeking profitable investments and made friends with the governor of the colony. They were permitted to visit the prison frequently and enter into communication with the six Fenian prisoners. They explored the country about and fixed upon Rockingham, 23 miles from Freemantle, as the place where the boat of the Catalpa should land and take off the convicts.

After the Catalpa had put in at Bunbury, Breslin hastened from Freemantle to meet Captain Anthony and was quickly "introduced" to him in the hotel. Confidences were exchanged and plans of release discussed. While Breslin returned to Freemantle, Captain Anthony put out to sea, ostensibly to hunt whales. On Easter Sunday, April 16, 1876, a whaleboat from the Catalpa, carrying Captain Anthony and a crew of six men, landed at Rockingham and next morning had considerable difficulty in accounting for themselves to a customs officer.

Meantime, at Freemantle, the work of rescue had begun. The prisoners were allowed a great deal of liberty and were assigned various kinds of work outside the prison walls. Two traps, made ready by Desmond and Breslin, awaited them on the Rockingham road, within five minutes run of the prison, and when the prisoners, wearing fetters, left the prison for their assigned duties they were taken and conducted by Breslin and Desmond. The race for Rockingham was then begun and that place was nearly reached before the police learned of the escape and mounted their horses in pursuit. When the police reached Rockingham the prisoners were out at sea in the whaleboat.

But the exciting part of the rescue had only begun. The whaleboat had a difficult time in reaching the Catalpa, which had been out of sight below the horizon line when the smaller boat had left Rockingham beach. A storm struck the whaleboat and carried away both mast and sail, while water poured over the stern of the boat, keeping several of the men busy bailing it out. Night fell while the storm still raged and in this plight they remained till morning.

In the morning they vainly tried to attract the attention of the Catalpa, which they could see; and to their consternation they beheld the government steamer Georgette steam toward the Catalpa, which it spoke. The Georgette made a wide circuit around the whaleboat without seeing it and then steamed in toward the shore.

NEW SWEET POTATO

Last week we received through the mail from W. A. Sanders, of Stanton, a sweet potato of the vintage of 1913; it was not uncommonly large, and yet it was extra large for this season of the year; well filled, smooth and sound in all respects.

Mr. Sanders did not say what amount of potatoes he expected to raise this year or the extent of his planting, but we take it that, being thus early in the market, he has a plentiful supply.

PAINFULLY HURT

Saturday night, in that section of town just east of the jail, occupied by the colored population, occured a melee, in which John, the cook at the Clanton Cafe, came near losing his life. It seems, from the best information obtainable, that he had incurred the wrath of his mate by his too intimate associations with others and during the night she struck him over the head with some instrument, which has put John out of the running for several days.

The case will come up before His Honor, the Mayor, on Friday, at which time the facts will be brought to evidence.

FOURTH OF JULY AT SOLDIERS HOME

A large crowd of visitors and veterans celebrated the Fourth in a most appropriate manner. Major C. A. Gunn had charge of the details of the entertainment, which proved to be complete and entering.

Mrs. Carrie McMasters looked after the arrangements for comfort of veterans and visitors alike.

The Rev. O. W. Greer delivered an eloquent and timely address. Miss Lucy Simpson recited and Veteran Andress read a poem written by Father Brannon. Mrs. F. J. Snyder acted as organist and several old ladies of the Home sung some old-time selections.

The young people of the Baptist church favored the audience with good and suitable selections.

There were several hundred visitors present.

General John B. Fuller came up from Montgomery and mingled with the old veterans. Miss Katie Lasseter entertained a few visitors at dinner.

The day was fittingly observed and enjoyed by all present.

This Machine is guaranteed to give as good satisfaction as any hand power machine on the market regardless of price. Delivered at your door for $2.27. Parcel postage prepaid.

This cut shows the washer complete ready to be attached to any tub or wash boiler. It is beyond all question the greatest success of any invention in the form of washing machines. With this washer the work is done by vacuum waterforce—the water and suds being forced through the goods by compressed air and suction.

Any Woman, or Even a Child Can Operate This Washer.

This machine does the work in less time than the most expensive machine on the market—is easier operated and costs but one-fourth that of average machines. The Vacuum Washer can be attached to any tub or wash boiler in an instant—no screws to tighten—nothing to adjust—a child can operate it.

as the improved lever attachment reduces the operating power required to a minimum.

This machine is simple in construction, but mighty in effect. Lace curtains or the finest and most delicate woven fabrics may be washed without the slightest damage, and this is absolutely the only process by which such goods can be washed without wearing the fabric or breaking the stitches.

This cut shows how it is operated. Detached from lever and used in a pail or other small vessel for washing fine articles. Weighs but four pounds, and it can be easily folded up and put out of the way in an instant.

CATALPA TO RESCUE

Death of Captain Anthony Recalls Famous Event.

Thrilling Story of Release of Six Fenian Prisoners From British Penal Colony in Australia Many Years Ago.

New Bedford, Mass.—There died recently at New Bedford, Mass., an old skipper, Capt. George S. Anthony, whose name is indissolubly linked with a famous exploit and whose memory will long be treasured by Irishmen. He commanded the Catalpa in its daring rescue of six Irish political prisoners from the convict station of Freemantle, western Australia, under the frowning guns of a British cruiser, and landed them safely in this country. The men were former soldiers in the English service, who like many others of their kind had been won over to the cause of Irish nationalism during the Fenian agitation of the '60's. Fifteen of these soldiers were arrested and convicted of treason and sentenced to various terms of imprisonment at Freemantle. Among the number was John Boyle O'Reilly, who, soon after reaching Freemantle, effected his escape and, coming to this country, became noted as a writer, lecturer and poet. Others among the 15, with the exception of six, served out their terms. The six who remained had been sentenced for life and in 1874 a movement for rescuing them was begun by the Clan-na-Gael, the successor of the Irish Revolutionary Brotherhood, which had slowly developed after the collapse of the Fenian government.

In 1875 the whaler Catalpa was purchased by the Clan-na-Gael and placed in command of Captain Anthony, who undertook the difficult and dangerous mission with eagerness.

Meantime Breslin, Thomas Desmond of San Francisco and agents of the Clan-na-Gael, were making active preparation in Australia for the release of the convicts. Breslin and Desmond, under assumed names, posed as men seeking profitable investments and made friends with the governor of the colony. They were permitted to visit the prison frequently and enter into communication with the six Fenian prisoners. They explored the country about and fixed upon Rockingham, 23 miles from Freemantle, as the place where the boat of the Catalpa should land and take off the convicts.

After the Catalpa had put in at Bunbury, Breslin hastened from Freemantle to meet Captain Anthony and was quickly "introduced" to him in the hotel. Confidences were exchanged and plans of release discussed. While Breslin returned to Freemantle, Captain Anthony put out to sea, ostensibly to hunt whales. On Easter Sunday, April 16, 1876, a whaleboat from the Catalpa, carrying Captain Anthony and a crew of six men, landed at Rockingham and next morning had considerable difficulty in accounting for themselves to a customs officer.

Meantime, at Freemantle, the work of rescue had begun. The prisoners were allowed a great deal of liberty and were assigned various kinds of work outside the prison walls. Two traps, made ready by Desmond and Breslin, awaited them on the Rockingham road, within five minutes run of the prison, and when the prisoners, wearing fetters, left the prison for their assigned duties they were taken and conducted by Breslin and Desmond. The race for Rockingham was then begun and that place was nearly reached before the police learned of the escape and mounted their horses in pursuit. When the police reached Rockingham the prisoners were out at sea in the whaleboat.

But the exciting part of the rescue had only begun. The whaleboat had a difficult time in reaching the Catalpa, which had been out of sight below the horizon line when the smaller boat had left Rockingham beach. A storm struck the whaleboat and carried away both mast and sail, while water poured over the stern of the boat, keeping several of the men busy bailing it out. Night fell while the storm still raged and in this plight they remained till morning.

In the morning they vainly tried to attract the attention of the Catalpa, which they could see; and to their consternation they beheld the government steamer Georgette steam toward the Catalpa, which it spoke. The Georgette made a wide circuit around the whaleboat without seeing it and then steamed in toward the shore.

CLANTON PRESS

PUBLISHED IN THE INTEREST OF CHILTON COUNTY AND HER PEOPLE.

VOL. 4. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY JULY 17, 1913 NO. 15

First In The South

Why The Social And Economic Survey Is An Enterprise Of The Government.

Just as the good business man, whether farmer or merchant, finds it necessary to make use of the inventory to measure income against outlay, in any particular part of his business, it is also necessary, when we turn to rural life problems, to apply the same business methods.

There is conducted in this country a decennial inventory, to show increase or decrease in population, agricultural production, value of farm lands, live stock, buildings and a great many other things for the whole country.

No one questions the value or necessity of such an accounting. It is good business.

As a supplement to these general surveys, it in necessary to make more intensive study of certain communities that are typical of large stretches of territory.

It is only by such methods that the social, political and educational activities can be compared and their efficiency determined. A section of country nine miles wide and twenty miles long, including the villages of Jemison and Thorsby in Chilton county, Alabama, has been selected in which to make such a government survey, for the following reasons:

1st. Because it is typical of that large stretch of territory extending from northeastern Mississippi and the southern end of the Appalachian mountains, through the Carolinas and into Virginia, and from the Appalachian mountains on the north to the Great Cotton Belt on the south.

2nd. Because, it is geologically typical of all the above territory.

3rd. Because in this section all the elements of population, with people from many sections and countries, are in process of amalgamation.

4th. Because Chilton county has responded as, perhaps no other county has to the government experts in their efforts to co-operate with the agencies already at work, to bring in scientific methods.

The farm demonstration work of Mr. W. H. Conway, and the recent campaign for better sanitation under Dr. C. A. Grote, have had the effect of making the people of Chilton particularly responsive to the government, looking toward a betterment of conditions.

The Department of Agriculture at Washington in all its varied activities, is a great clearing house for all experimental work of the country and the whole world at large, and it is making available to everyone, through its bulletins, the knowledge thus acquired.

The survey just beginning is the first in the south; there having been one completed and another now under headway in the state of Minnesota, therefore, Alabama and Chilton county, in particular, to be congratulated upon having the first of the southern surveys within its borders.

Mr. J. Sterling Moran, a Virginian, but more recently residing in the state of Vermont, is now located at Thorsby, and will make a house to house canvass, asking what will seem innumerable and needless questions, about distribution of time, between work, eating, shopping and recreation; the educational statues of the different members of the family, the business relations as regards buying and selling, the organizations to which the people belong, such as fraternals, civic, political, religious educational and economical this is the attitude of the people toward roads, schools, recreation etc. In fact he will seek to get, as nearly as possible, a replica of the life of the people.

The uses of such a survey are many, among the most important of which are:

1st. To give other communities the benefit of the things that are efficient here, and to bring in from other communities the things that have been of service elsewhere.

2nd To determine what the social and economic needs are with a view to applying the remedy later.

It is hoped and believed that Mr. Moran's work will be facilitated by the willingness of everyone to answer his questions, knowing that any information imparted to him will be treated as strictly confidential. The value of the survey depends entirely upon the ability of the investigator to get at the facts.

Some months since when the government sent out soil survey experts into our county, they were looked upon as spies, as the emisaries of the great cotton pools of the north and were treated with scant courtesy, till it was discovered that they had come among us to do us good; incalculable good has resulted from these soil surveys and the people of Chilton are now grateful to Messrs Cantrell and Wilkinson for their efforts. Do not repeat the treatment accorded to these gentlemen when Mr. Moran comes to

MISS CORITA WILSON.

ELECTED ASSISTANT PRINCIPAL

The Trustees of Clanton Academy at a recent meeting elected Miss Corita Wilson, of Clarkesville, Tenn. as assistant principal of the academy and teacher of the first High School grade, who takes the place occupied by Miss Annie Stallworth last year.

Miss Wilson comes to Clanton highly recommended as a teacher and disciplinarian; she after graduation, attended the University of Virginia where she took a two year's post graduate course.

Miss Wilson will be a valuable acquisition to the teaching staffof Clanton academy and will without doubt receive a warm welcome from the people here.

FAMILY REUNION

Rev. and Mrs. L. H. S. Chappelle are enjoying a family reunion at their parsonage home this week. For the first time in several years the children of this much beloved couple are gathered under the old family tree enjoying a reunion season. No, not all the children are here either for one son, residing in Pensacola, found it impossible to leave his work, he being a newspaper man and therefore hedged in so that he cannot get away from the constant grind. However, the eldest son, John, now practicing law in Guthrie, Oklahoma, Rev. L. H. S. Chappelle, Jr., stationed at Bay Minette, Frank and Miss Margurite are gathered with their parents around the old hearthstone and a most enjoyable occasion it has proven to be.

Unity - Chilton Baptist High School

THORSBY, ALA.

This school offers the full four years high school course, and for the benefit of those pupils from rural districts who are not prepared to take up high school work, we have arranged for a sub-freshman class, which will do practically the regular seventh grade public school work.

Tuition rates: For sub-freshman class, $1.50 per month high school department, $2.25 per month. Board and room rent $10 to $12 per month.

Concrete Highway

Hundreds Of Thousands Of Dollars Spent In Concrete Highways In United States

Hundreds of thousands of dollars spent in concrete roadways throughout the United States, has demonstrated, by actual wear of time and traffic, that concrete is absolutely the best, most durable and economical form of road construction known to the world's best engineers. The Chattanooga-Knoxville permanent highway will be but the nucleus of a highway whose terminals will eventually reach far beyond the bounds of this state, and it will be of incalculable benefit to every farm, hamlet, village and city within miles of its trend.

The farmer, merchant and manufacturer will have an every ready means of quick, easy and low cost transportion at his command not to be excelled even by steam or trolley roads. The economy of time of transit cannot be overestimated.

This highway will be a most important artery of commerce, manufacturing and agriculture, and every precaution should be exercised at the very start so that the greatest item of its ultimate cost be reduced to a minimum. By this "greatest item" we mean the cost of maintenance and repair.

It is an officially recorded fact that Wayne County, Michigan, has spent less than $5.00 per mile per year for the maintenance of concrete roads.

It is also an officially recorded fact that the states of New York and New Jersey have been compelled to spend over $900 per mile per year for the maintenance of other kinds of roadways (not concrete).

Here are the Wayne County figures and the traffic record as stated by Edward N. Hines, chairman of the Wayne County Board, in an address to architects, engineers and constructors, delivered in Pittsburgh last December:

"With more than 60 miles of concrete road in Wayne County some of it in its fourth year, we have spent less than $300 on its surface for maintenance and this is what makes this type of road the cheapest of all good roads.

"Woodward avenue road, now in its fourth year, shows little or no signs of wear, and it is not built nearly so well as our lately constructed concrete roads. An estimate of traffic on this road is that over 1300000 vehicles (more traffic than would go over an ordinary country road in twenty years) have passed a given point, without the development of ruts, holes or bumps and with the expenditure of next to nothing for surface maintenance."

According to this statement, we have maintenance costs of less than $5 per mile per year.

The durable, dustless and practically everlasting roads of Wayne County are costing less than common dirt roads.

Consider these figure for amoment as they relate to several miles of road. The difference is amazing. For example, let it be assumed that five hundred miles are to be built during the period of five years at the rate of 100 miles per year, and that repairs would not be required on either type of road for two years. Beginning then at the third year, and estimating maintenance costs for concrete at $25 per mile per year, which it will be safe to say is five times more [illegible]

MISS JONES ELECTED

TO THORSBY PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Miss Kate Jones of Clanton has been elected as one of the teachers in the public schools of Thorsby. This is a distinct recognition on the part of the Thorsby school officials of real merit. Miss Jones though quite a young lady has made her impress upon the students of Clanton and her selection for so important a post at Thorsby doubtless comes from the fact that she has in every way measured up to the high standard of school ethics and school proficiency expected in those who are to "teach the young idea how to shooot". That she will prove a marked success in this her new field of labor none who know her doubt.

THAT DAM ROAD

Picturesque, Progressive And Prosperity Producing.

By courtesy of Dr. V. J. Gragg, the Press man was enabled to view the work being done on the much talked of Dam road, better known as the Clanton and Coosa River road. At the time of the Press man's visit, work had just begun on the eastern outskirts of the city and extending several miles to the eastward. The proposed road covers an almost entirely new route to the river, avoiding many of the old hills, washouts and other obstructions. It is about forty feet in width and as straight, in stretches of a mile or more at a time, as one can stretch a string. In fact, the new road will prove an object lesson to the people of Chilton county. It is a beauty and is going to prove a joy forever.

One thing is needed; not enough funds have been subscribed to gravel the road; that will prove a serious draw back, but, in time it may be graveled by the county, and, if so, those controling the purse strings of the county who vote for the graveling of the road will be accorded a place in the annals of Chilton county history along with those who have accomplished great things for the upbuilding of the county. It would be a great pity to allow the excellent work already accomplished by individual effort and individual contribution to go to waste for want of a few dollars to make the road a permanent institution and a mile-stone in the progressive march of Chilton county events.

A beginning must be made somewhere. Chilton county must keep abreast of the other progressive counties of the state, and now that the work on this road has been undertaken in such good faith and so much has been accomplished, let the Commissioners vote a sufficient sum out of the county treasury to properly gravel this road and make it one of Chilton's treasures.

Surely no one will have the nerve or selfishness to kick because the Commissioners make a start at some place. Your road may be the next one, therefore do not throw obstructions in the way.

Bear in mind that this particular road is bringing more cash trade to Clanton, and to Chilton county, [illegible]

BULGARS ARE NOW ANXIOUS FOR PEACE

BELIEVED HOSTILITIES ARE VIRTUALLY AT AN END—ARMISTICE NOT ARRANGED.

RUSSIA TO STOP THE WAR

Demands of Servia and Greece for Possession of Occupied Territory to Cause Trouble.

London.—Having failed in her hazardous coup, Bulgaria is now showing herself anxious for peace. No formal armistice has yet been arranged, but it is believed hostilities are virtually ended. It is feared, however, that the settlement of peace conditions will prove a long task, many new elements having entered to complicate matters.

Bulgaria's decision not to oppose Roumania's occupation of Silistria and the strip of territory she desires, removes one difficulty. But other developments, such as the Greek occupation of Kavala, to which Bulgaria is expected to offer bitter resistance, are calculated to lead to troublesome negotiations, especially as both Servia and Greece, on the outcome of their campaign, will be certain to demand possession of the territory they occupied previous to the war.

Russia is already taking steps in the Balkan capitals to arrange for a cessation of hostilities.

The British chancellor of the exchequer, David Lloyd George, addressing the bankers at a dinner at the mansion house, refererd to Balkan affairs. He said the first trouble was over, and he was hopeful all the powers, which had started, so well together, would be able to effect a lasting settlement among these hapless provinces.

As long as the Balkan states did nothing to upset the decisions already agreed to among the powers, continued the chancellor, it was to be hoped that no power would find it necessary to take any action likely to give rise to difficulty among the great powers themselves.

U. S. DEMANDS RELEASE

Five Are Held and Their Property Seized at Hidalgo, Mexico.

Washington.—Secretary Garrison ordered Col. Edwin P. Brewer of the Fourteenth cavalry, at Fort McIntosh, Texas, to demand the release of five Americans, together with 350 cattle and thirty horses, held by Mexican revolutionists at Hidalgo, Mexico. Secretary Bryan requested the action.

The attention of the state department was called to the imprisonment of the Americans and the seizure of their property by Consul Garrett at Nuevo Laredo, Mexico. When Consul Garrett demanded the release of his countrymen the revolutionists told him they must await orders from Piedras Negras.

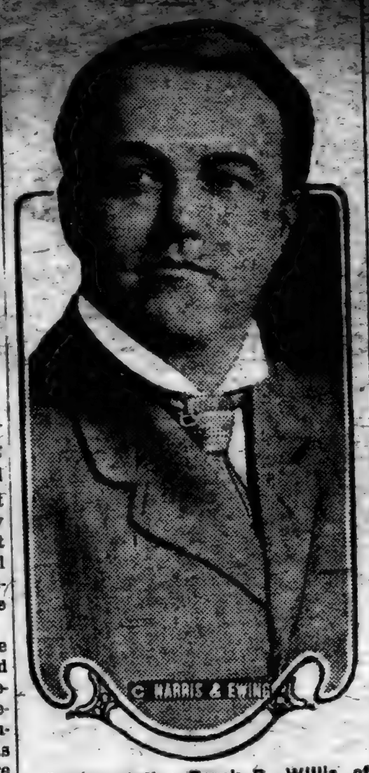
So great is the lawlessness around Tampico that the better class of Mexicans have joined Americans in organizing vigilantes under commission of the federal military governor of San Luis Potosi. Already fourteen bandits have been hanged. It is expected a military governor will take charge of the state of Tamaulipas, as has been done in Vera Cruz and San Luis Potosi.

Wilson Names Gerard and Willard.

Washington.—President Wilson has sent the following nominations to the senate: Ambassador to Germany, J. W. Gerard of New York; minister to Spain, Joseph E. Willard of Virginia; deputy commissioner of pensions, Edward E. Tieman of Missouri. President Wilson's intention to nominate Justice Gerard and Mr. Willard to their respective posts was unofficially announced some time ago. Justice Gerard originally was slated for Spain.

Six People Killed in Auto.

Los Angeles, Cal.—Carl Huffman, his wife and three children and his aunt, Miss Missouri Huffman, were killed almost in front of the old San Gabriel mission when their automobile was struck by a locomotive. A fourth child, a little girl, leaped from the motor car just before the crash and escaped with minor injuries.



Immigrant Governor Helping Lad.

St. Paul, Minn.—Thirty-three years ago Adolph Olson, nine years old, was detained at Ellis Island, N. Adolph Eberhart, is striving in New York to aid Alois Lormer, 15 years old, a German lad, who is detained at Ellis Island. The lad was on his way to the home here of his uncle, Thomas Neuman, when detained for lack of funds.

ANOTHER LOBBY PROBE

HAIR-RAISING STORY OF BATTLE OF U. S. TROOPS WITH SPEAR-HURLING MOROS.

No Quarter Given or Expected—The Stronghold of Moros Was Captured and Many Killed.

Washington.—A hair-raising story of hand-to-hand conflict with spear-hurling Moro savages in a battle to the death on an isolated mountain top, with no quarter given or expected, was cabled to the war department from the Philippines by Major General Bell. It was the commanding general's report on the campaign of Gen. John J. Pershing, which resulted in the extermination of the last considerable band of rebellious Moros.

Long ago most of the Moros gave up their arms peacefully, but the fierce tribesmen of Lati Ward, embracing about twenty square miles on the northern coast of the island of Jolo, made ready for war whenever there was a suggestion of depriving them of their weapons. Recently nearly ten thousand of them stampeded to Mount Bagsak, a wild peak which they believed impregnable. Many conferences and patient diplomacy drew most of them away and sent them to their homes, but three or four hundred of the most desperate fortified their stronghold and prepared to fight it out with the American nation.

ARMY AIRMAN MEETS DEATH

Lieut. Call of U. S. Army Aviation Corps Crushed to Death.

Houston, Texas.—Lieut. Loren H. Call of the United States army aviation corp was killed instantly by the fall of his aeroplane just north of Texas City. He had started his flight from the aviation field in the Second army division mobilization camp.

His machine was at an altitude of about five hundred feet, plainly visible to several soldiers, who say that it seemed to be running smoothly, and that without warning, it suddenly turned its nose downward and plunged almost straight to the earth.

Shooting at Neighbor, Kills Wife.

Anadarko, Okla.—During the progress of a dispute near Carnegie, Okla., in relation to his title to a six-foot row of beans, D.-A. Dodginton shot at A. S. Jones, his neighbor. The bullet went wide and struck and killed Mrs. Dodgington, thirty feet away. Unaware of the result of his first shot, Dodgington emptied his pistol at Jones, this time seriously wounding Benjamin Robinson, a bystander. Dodgington fled when a posse of farmers gathered and surrendered to the sheriff at Anadarko.

3,640,000,000 Fish Eggs.

Washington.—The year just closed established a record for the United States bureau of fisheries in the number of eggs taken and later planted. It ran to the enormous total of 3,640,000,000, which broke the record made in the previous year by 173,000,000. The largest number of any one kind was in flat fish, of which 300,000,000 eggs were planted. To increase the supply of lobsters along the New England coast, the bureau is considering the establishment in Rhode Island of a lobster plant.

Central, S. C.—John Dobson, a farmer, aged 50, residing near here, died from wounds received in a pistol duel with his 17-year-old son. It is said that the boy attempted to aid his mother, whom Dobson is alleged to have been mistreating. Dobson, recovering the fire, mortally wounded his

PLOT TO MURDER HUERTA AND DIAZ

GENERAL BLANQUET, MEXICAN WAR MINISTER, ALSO MARKED FOR DEATH.

MANY ARRESTS ARE MADE

Mexico City.—A plot to assassinate President Huerta, General Felix Diaz and General Blanquet, the war minister, has been frustrated by the arrest of one deputy and ten others of prominence. It is said the intention was to use bombs at some opportune moment when these officials were driving through the streets.

Documents were found on the prisoners identifying them as supporters of Zapata and setting forth an outline of the plot. Several of the prisoners have confessed. In a building somewhat remotely located they had practiced the throwing of bombs, studying the effect.

The American ambassador's note of protest to the foreign office against permitting an anti-American demonstration here had certain indirect results, although the government did not absolutely forbid the holding of what officials style "a popular manifestation of patriotism."

A demonstration took place in the capital, but not more than 400 persons participated. There were no speeches and few cries against Americans. The line of march was through the principal streets, and the manifestants halted in front of a big Japanese store, crying "Vivas" for Japan. Small silk Japanese flags were carried with the Mexican colors.

A detachment of police accompanied the procession and the minister of war, General Blanquet, followed in an automobile. Brigadier General Samuel Garcia Cuellar, governor of the federal district, refused permission for a demonstration, and ordered the police to disperse it if it was formed. The students later applied to the minister of the interior. Dr. Aureliano Urrutia, who told them that he sympathized with them and would overrule the governor's order on condition that they created no disturbance.

LECTURES FOR EXPENSES

Says That His Salary as Secretary of State Is Not Sufficient.

Asheville, N. C.—During the delivery of a lecture at Hendersonville, near here, Secretary of State William Jennigs Bryan paused in the course of his lecture to state that he is compelled to deliver chautauqua lectures in order to supplement his government salary, which, he declares, is not sufficient to meet his expenses.

"As this is my first chautauqua lecture since becoming a member of the cabinet," said Secretary Bryan, "it may not be out of place to say that I find it necessary to lecture in order to supplement the salary which I receive from the government. As I have lectured for eighteen years, this method of adding to my income is the most natural one to which to turn, and I regard it as extremely legitimate. I did not think it improper to go from the chautauqua platform into a presidential race, and if I had been elected I would have thought it no stepping down to return to the lecture platform. These meetings enable me to keep in touch with the people."

Plans to Beautify Canal.

Washington.—The report of the Fine Arts commission, which is charged with the preparation of plans for the beautification of the Panama canal, has been completed and probably will be transmitted to congress through President Wilson about August 1. The plans embody landscape effects to make artistic the approaches of the canal, as well as the locks and the country through which the great waterway has been cut. As far as possible the commission proposes to preserve existing beautiful landscapes and to supplement them by the planting of additional trees.

12 Persons Killed; 50 Injured.

Los Angeles, Cal.—Twelve persons were killed and about fifty others were injured when a Pacific electric interurban train ran into another electric train at Vineyard station, a junction on the outskirts of Los Angeles. As nearly as could be learned, both trains were inbound from Venice, an ocean beach town, 16 miles from Los Angeles. They were crowded with homeward bound residents of Los Angeles who had spent the day at the beaches, and it is reported that many of the injured were severly hurt.

DEADLY FIGHT ON MOUNTAIN

DEEP LOBBY PROBING TO BE DONE BY HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Investigation Ordered of the Charges Made by Mulhall Against Congressman.

Washington.—A lobby investigation of extraordinary scope was authorized by the house to supplement the senate probe already under way. With the adoption of the Henry investigation resolution a special committee of seven members was appointed by Speaker Clark, with Representative Garrett of Tennessee, as chairman.

While the house investigation was prompted largely by the allegations of Col. M. M. Mulhall regarding the legislative activities of the National Association of Manufacturers, the resolution as finally adopted so enlarged the scope of the inquiry that all efforts to control members of the house or to influence legislation by any person or organization will be subject to the inquisitorial power of the committee.

MOUNT TAMALPAIS ON FIRE

Playground of Cities About San Francisco Bay Is Being Devastated.

San Francisco.—Forest fires are blazing fiercely on three sides of Mount Tamalpais, a landmark of California, and playground and park of all the cities clustered about San Francisco bay. Three villages are threatened. The mountain was cloaked by a mantle of white smoke, which streamed across the bay like a wind blown scarf, but as darkness fell the mountain blazed above the bay and ocean like an enormous beacon, illuminating the sky for miles.

The fires are believed to have resulted from carelessness of campers.

Three thousand soldiers, sailors, naval apprentices, forest rangers, militiamen and volunteer fire fighters are fighting the flames, and the women in the threatened terirtory are working as hard as the men.

Italian Agents After Charlton.

New York.—The Italian consulate is advised that two agents of the Italian government are leaving Italy for this country to get Porter Charlton and take him back to Italy to stand trial there for the murder of his wife on their honeymoon at Lake Como on June 7, 1910. The authorities of the Hudson county jail in Jersey City have been directed to turn the alleged murderer over to the Italian agents in accordance with the recent mandate of the United States Supreme court.

Surgeons Use Knife on McCombs.

Paris, France.—The condition of William F. McCombs, chairman of the Democratic national committee, is declared most satisfactory by the surgeon in attendance. His progress toward recovery from the operation for appendicitis he underwent here was said to be normal, but in view of his delicate constitution, it was stated he would require several days of complete rest. Mr. McCombs came to Paris lately, knowing that he was suffering from appendicitis, but hopeful that a rest abroad would cure him.

DANIELS IN FAVOR OWN ARMOR PLANT

REPORT SUBMITTED TO CONGRESS SHOWS OVER MILLION WOULD BE SAVED.

3 COUNTRIES ADOPT PLAN

Explains France, Italy and Russia Have Found Relief From High Cost of Plate.

Washington.—Naval experts' figures show that a government armor plate factory, costing $8,466,000 would save $140 a ton on armor, or more than $1,000,000 net a year, were submitted to Congress by Secretary Daniels. The secretary's report was sent in response to a Senate resolution, and supplemented previous statements issued by him advocating a government owned armor plant.

Millions can be saved either by operating a government plant, or by compelling competition among the private manufacturers, Mr. Daniels declared. Therefore, he asked Congress to make a "full, thorough and early investigation of the cost of an armor plate factory, and the cost of manufacturing armor plate in factories owned by concerns dependent upon government patronage."

Reviewing the situation in his report, the secretary said the accepted plan had been that the Bethlehem, Carnegie and Midvale plants should be given the armor work at practically their own prices.

"This step having been taken," he said, "it clearly follows that the manufacturers themselves, convinced that one-third of the work is coming to them without much reference to the price they may bid, have not overlooked the advantage of putting in bids practically of the same figure and at the same rate. They have argued that should one of them put in a bid much lower than the others, the only result would be that the other two firms would have to come down in their price to that of the lowest bidder in the eventual distribution of the work."

He explained that three European countries, France, Italy and Russia, have sought relief from the high cost of armor plate by the operation of government owned plants, while Japan has built two government factories. He found the same subject agitated in England, where many charges of monopolistic agreements and extortionate prices have been made. "The foreign manufacturers appear to have been able to keep up a higher price for armor than those in the United States," he added.

Although money for an armor plant was provided in an appropriation bill passed at the beginning of the second Roosevelt administration, after an investigation, the plant was never constructed. In consequence, according to Secretary Daniels, "the armor plate manufacturers were allowed to jump their prices from $346 a ton in 1906 to $420 a ton in 1907, and to keep at that figure till last year when they were advanced, under an excuse of increased expenses caused by the eight hour law to $454 a ton."

As to the expense of a government plant and the saving to be thus accomplished, Mr. Daniels said:

"The cost of a plant capable of turning out 10,000 tons a year, which is about half the armor needed on a two battleship programme, is estimated by the chief of the bureau of ordnance at $8,466,000 and the cost of the armor at $314 a ton. The estimate of this officer is considerably in excess of the figures given the government by the last board which investigated the subject. But even at this estimated cost of the plant and the cost of $314 a ton of armor plate there would be effected a saving of $140 a ton over the price now paid, that is $454 a ton.

"On 10,000 tons the government would save $1,460,000 per annum. Deducting 4 per cent as the interest on the money used in building the plant there still remains a net saving to the government of $1,061,360. In the case of the 20,000 ton plant, which it is estimated can produce armor at $279 a ton the net saving is $3,048,462. Surely this is, on the face of it, an economy well worth the serious consideration of Congress. If a committee, with expert assistance, is given the authority to get at the exact cost of constructing a factory and of making armor plate, it is believed the estimates of both will be reduced. Experience has demonstrated the wisdom and economy of manufacturing guns and powder in government factories."

When Ex-President Taft Was Married.

It was formerly a pleasant custom of society reporters to indulge in predictions as to the glorious future of the happy pair. A journalistic prophet of the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette, in writing of the wedding of Miss Helen L. Herron, daughter of John W. Herron to William Howard Taft, which occurred twenty-seven years ago, had this to say:

"William H. Taft is one of the young men of the city who may be depended upon in public affairs. He is one of the highest standing of the graduates of Yale, and his original powers, perfect integrity and courage and correct instincts, as well as thorough information, have made him useful, won for him the friendships and enmities most complimentary, and opened for him a career that has the highest promise of great distinction."

Tales of GOTHAM and other CITIES

Big Steamer Was Held for Little Canary Bird

NEW YORK.—Before the steamship Vestris sailed for South America the other day from near the old Martin Stores, Brooklyn, Mrs. G. F. Green of No. 59 West Fifty-third street rushed up to Harry S. Davidge, the passenger traffic manager, and exclaimed:

"Oh, what am I going to do? I have forgotten to bring Rickey. How am I going to get him to the ship?"

"Who is Rickey?" inquired Mr. Davidge.

"He's a canary bird, a beautiful singer," replied Mrs. Green. "My husband insists that I must bring Rickey to Buenos Ayres."

"Well, it is now 4:30 o'clock," said Mr. Davidge, looking at his watch, "and the ship sails at five. I don't think there is time to get Rickey. However, I will telephone for him if you wish."

Accompanied by the traffic manager and four friends, one man and three women, Mrs. Green went to the foot of the pier and called up a taxicab station near her home.

"I have a charge account with you," said Mrs. Green, "and I want you to bring my canary."

"Who's going with the canary in the taxi?" asked the man.

"Nobody," said Mrs. Green. "You will have to go up to my apartment and tell my Finnish maid, who doesn't speak English, that I want the bird."

The taxicab manager laughed scornfully.

"We don't carry canaries in our taxis without escorts. Besides, the driver is not allowed to go into a house. Good-by."

Then Mrs. Green called up another taxicab station and told them what she wanted. The manager said he would get the bird. Captain Davis of the Vestris said he would hold the ship ten minutes.

Then Mrs. Green called up her Lena and said: "Canary, taxi." "Yah," said Lena.

She went aboard and stood on the deck forward. The Vestris began to back out at 5:10. She was almost free of the pier, when there was a roar of excitement at the foot of the pier, a cloud of dust arose, cheers echoed through the pier shed, and a man came rushing to the head of the pier, holding high above his head a gilded cage, within which was Rickey, trying hard to keep his perch.

Dinner Bell Saves Chicago Sleuth From Dog

CHICAGO.—There was a perfectly good reason why William Kayes, a uniformed policeman of the South Chicago station, and Matt McNamara, a plain clothes detective, took a shotgun with them the other day when they went to serve a warrant on John Dents, a truck farmer at 106th street and Bensley avenue. This is the reason:

Dents owns an enormous Newfoundland dog which has all the traits of a bulldog, a bloodhound and a mastiff rolled into one. Dents had never purchased a license for the animal, and the dog catchers ventured no closer than the echo of its bark. Accordingly Capt. Morgan Collins of the South Chicago station handed McNamara a warrant to serve on the owner.

The detective arrived at the farmhouse and found nobody home, except the dog, which was chained in the front yard. Objecting to the intruder, the canine snapped its chain and started for McNamara. The closest thing in sight—next to the dog—was a high pole, on the top of which hung the farm bell. McNamara reached the foot of the pole in six jumps and the top in six seconds.

While the dog leaped about the foot of the pole, barking and snapping perilously close to the detective's updrawn heels, McNamara perspired and scanned the horizon for a human being. For more than an hour he clung there.

Finally McNamara thought of the bell and gave the rope a jerk. The farm hands out in the fields thought it was mighty early for supper, but still they came. When they discovered the house locked and supper was yet uncooked, they were in no humor to be disturbed by the frantic shrieks of a man clinging to a pole in the hot sun.

At last, however, they were convinced, called off the dog and permitted McNamara to take his unserved warrant back to the Chicago avenue station.

The next day he armed himself with a shotgun, and took Kayes along for further protection, and went back to the farm. As soon as the dog saw the uniformed policeman it ran behind the house, and it had to be coaxed out.

The warrant was served.

No More Official Garments for Ohio Judiciary

CINCINNATI, O.—Periwigs and official garments of clergymen are counted out. No more shall they adorn the judiciary. Rather, as Ohio's newest and most modish law has it, "All officials shall have engraved thereon the coat-of-arms of the state."

There is no restriction as to where the adornment shall be placed.

Many are the plans. One learned jurist, for instance, may have a landscape gardener assist him, and in a sunken aperture on his left cheek have the whiskers trained to grow in variegated colors to bring out the design.

Others, more foppish, will go one better than the faddists who wear watches buckled on their wrists, and display the coat-of-arms of the great state of Ohio. Old sailors, who, on sojourns to the orient, learned the secret of tattooing, are certain to be in demand. Tattooing will be one of the most common forms of the new decoration. Probate and common pleas judges are expected to adopt this form.

Supreme court officials my decide upon a distinguishing and uniform method of having the coat-of-arms engraved upon them.

City authorities are said to be displaying considerable jealousy at not being included in the new court order.

It is, of course, possible that some ill-natured person, who dislikes things beautiful, may insist that the law is entirely unintentional. In fact, it has already been rumored that the word "seals" should be inserted between the words "officials" and "shall," which would make the measure read: "All officials' seals shall have engraved thereon the coat of arms of the state."

Hobo Runs Successful Blind Pig Right in Jail

GUTHRIE, Okla.—A clever tramp has set the town of Cushing laughing at its city marshal. The marshal arrested the tramp for loitering and locked him securely in the city calaboose. The tramp was searched, and as no money was found on his person, the marshal was positive the tramp was flat broke.

Shortly after the tramp was locked up the city marshal raided a joint and confiscated a case of whisky in half-pint flasks. He carried the whisky to the calaboose and stored it in a strong wooden chest secured by a padlock.

The tramp was the only lodger in the calaboose. He was a man of wit, even business enterprise. He found a rusty nail and began tinkering with the padlock. The padlock flew open and the whisky lay before him.

The tramp opened a bottle, took a strong pull and felt refreshed. Shortly after nightfall a citizen who was taking the short cut past the calaboose, heard a voice in the darkness

"Say, pal, how would you like a bottle of real red booze—the kind your grandfather used to make back in the mountains of Kentucky?"

The citizen for a moment was unable to locate his interrogator.

Approaching the calaboose window, the man outside saw and was convinced. He paid his money and got the whisky.

"If you have any discreet friends, send 'em around," whispered the tramp.

HAD PREMONITION OF DEATH

New Jersey Man's Fear of Coming Disaster Laughed at by Comrades. But It Was Verified.

John Hueselmans, superintendent of a lumber yard in Harrison, N. J., started home after a day of intense worry through fear of impending disaster. His premonition caused several of the workmen to deride him. John Bissell of Newark led in the scoffing.

As Hueselmans was passing a 40-foot-high pile of heavy timbers Bissell, who was at work on top, uttered a warning cry and leaped to the ground. As he did so the great bulk of lumber swayed and toppled over. Hueselmans was buried beneath the mass and was instantly killed. Bissell, by his leap, avoided the crumbling pile and landed just beyond the timbers. The fall, however, resulted in his receiving numerous fractures and he was removed in a critical condition to St. Michael's hospital.

A crowded trolley car was passing the lumber yard at the time. The passengers, many of them workmen on their way home, rushed to the spot and began moving the timbers. It was half an hour before Hueselmans' mangled body was extricated.

Tired of Bossing.

When Mary went home to Ireland for a visit to the old farm, after a four years' course in general housework in America, she found a new baby brother. "And he was thot spoiled you couldn't live in the same house with him," recounted Mary to her old mistress. "Such a raisin' as he had had! I towld me mother 'twas different altogether from the bringin' up of us older children. 'Twas do this, an' we done it—or get a whippin'. But with the little wan now—if she says to him 'do this,' he says, 'No, I don't want to,' an' never a budge does he make. But my mother was not set back by my scoldin'. She just sayed, 'Oh, well, wait until you've lived as long and as much as I have, and you will get tired of bossin', too.'"

FACE FULL OF PIMPLES

Ruffin, N. C.—"My face became full of pimples and blackheads, and would itch, burn and smart. The skin was rough and red. I was really ashamed of my face. My arms and back were affected almost as badly. The pimples would fester and there would come a dry scab on top. The trouble caused my face to be disfigured badly and the itching would bother me so I could not sleep well nights, especially during warm weather.

"The trouble lasted me three long years without anything doing me any good until a friend told me about Cuticura Soap and Ointment and then I decided to try them. After the first application I could see some improvement. After using Cuticura Soap and Ointment two weeks I did not look like the same person; most of the pimples had disappeared. At the end of four weeks I was completely cured." (Signed) Miss Mamie Mitchell, Jan. 9, 1913.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address postcard "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston."—Adv.

The McTavish family was dining, and each member eagerly watched Mr. McTavish carving the fowl, none so eagerly, however, as the dog, for that intelligent animal never took his eyes off the bird. Suddenly the knife slipped and sent a fragment of poultry rolling on the floor.

"Michty me," cried McTavish, "the leg, my own favorite bit. The dog'l get it."

"No, it won't, father," said the youngest McTavish. "He'll not get it. I've got my foot on it."—Young's Magazine.

Horrible Thought.

Senator Borah, of Idaho tells this story of how a psychologist and mediumistic professor was received in a small town in his state:

The professor was talking to a young society bud about the possibilities of the journeyings of one's soul. "Why, my dear young lady," he declared, "it is possible for you in your sleep to travel to other planets in the middle of the night."

"Oh, professor!" she cried in evident alarm. "Not in my nightgown!"—The Sunday Magazine.

Foreman of Jury Now Claimed They Had One Mind, But Losing Lawyer Wanted to Be Shown.

Counsel for the prisoner looked hopefully at the faces of the jurors as they filed into their seats, and listened hopefully as the foreman announced that they had agreed. His client had enjoyed ample provocation for the assault upon the person of Tobias Jones; but the jurors were uniformly Tobias' friends and not unbiased.

"The jury is all of one mind, your honor," the foreman said. "We find the prisoner guilty."

"You hear the verdict, counsel," remarked the judge. "The jury is all of one mind. Have you anything to ask of the court before sentence is pronounced?"

"Yes, your honor," replied counsel, still hopefully; "for the purposes of the appeal which my client will take, it would be of material assistance to learn which one of the twelve men who have reached this verdict is possessed of the one mind you are so careful to mention."—New York Evening Post.

His Need of the Moment.

An old darky was encountered by the expedition sent by Uncle Sam for the relief of sufferers by the Mississippo floods. Uncle Eph was in a dilapidated looking skiff or dugout, which he was having considerable trouble to keep afloat. He was busy paddling with one hand and bailing out his craft with the other when the relief boat came within hailing distance of him:

"Hello there, uncle! What do you want?"

"Nothing but wings, boss," was the answer.

Death Lurks in A Weak Heart

BULGARS ARE NOW ANXIOUS FOR PEACE

BELIEVED HOSTILITIES ARE VIRTUALLY AT AN END—ARMISTICE NOT ARRANGED.

RUSSIA TO STOP THE WAR

Demands of Servia and Greece for Possession of Occupied Territory to Cause Trouble.

London.—Having failed in her hazardous coup, Bulgaria is now showing herself anxious for peace. No formal armistice has yet been arranged, but it is believed hostilities are virtually ended. It is feared, however, that the settlement of peace conditions will prove a long task, many new elements having entered to complicate matters.

Bulgaria's decision not to oppose Roumania's occupation of Silistrie and the strip of territory she desires, removes one difficulty. But other developments, such as the Greek occupation of Kavala, to which Bulgaria is expected to offer bitter resistance, are calculated to lead to troublesome negotiations, especially as both Servia and Greece, on the outcome of their campaign, will be certain to demand possession of the territory they occupied previous to the war.

Russia is already taking steps in the Balkan capitals to arrange for a cessation of hostilities.

The British chancellor of the exchequer, David Lloyd-George, addressing the bankers at a dinner at the mansion house, refererd to Balkan affairs. He said the first trouble was over, and he was hopeful all the powers, which had started, so well together, would be able to effect a lasting settlement among these hapless provinces.

As long as the Balkan states did nothing to upset the decisions already agreed to among the powers, continued the chancellor, it was to be hoped that no power would find it necessary to take any action likely to give rise to difficulty among the great powers themselves.

U. S. DEMANDS RELEASE

Five Are Held and Their Property Seized at Hidalgo, Mexico.

Washington.—Secretary Garirson ordered Col. Edwin P. Brewer of the Fourteenth cavalry, at Fort McIntosh, Texas, to demand the release of five Americans, together with 350 cattle and thirty horses, held by Mexican revolutionists at Hidalgo, Mexico. Secretary Bryan requested the action.

The attention of the state department was called to the imprisonment of the Americans and the seizure of their property by Consul Garrett at Nuevo Laredo, Mexico. When Consul Garrett demanded the release of his countrymen the revolutionists told him they must await orders from Piedras Negras.

So great is the lawlessness around Tampico that the better class of Mexicans have joined Americans in organizing vigilantes under commission of the federal military governor of San Luis Potosi. Already fourteen bandits have been hanged. It is expected a military governor will take charge of the state of Tamaulipas, as has been done in Vera Cruz and San Luis Potosi.

Wilson Names Gerard and Willard.

Washington.—President Wilson has sent the following nominations to the senate: Ambassador to Germany, J. W. Gerard of New York; minister to Spain, Joseph E. Willard of Virginia; deputy commissioner of pensions, Edward E. Tieman of Missouri. President Wilson's intention to nominate Justice Gerard and Mr. Willard to their respective posts was unofficially announced some time ago. Justice Gerard originally was slated for Spain.

Six People Killed in Auto.

Los Angeles, Cal.—Carl Huffman, his wife and three children and his aunt, Miss Missouri Huffman, were killed almost in front of the old San Gabriel mission when their automobile was struck by a locomotive. A fourth child, a little girl, leaped from the motor car just before the crash and escaped with minor injuries.

Immigrant Governor Helping Lad.

St. Paul, Minn.—Thirty-three years ago Adolph Olson, nine years old, was detained at Ellis Island, N. Y., while the immigration authorities made sure that his parents were in Nebraska, and that he had a home to which he might go. Now this same Aloph Olson, now Gov. Adolph Everhaft, is striving in New York to aid Alois Lormer, 15 years old, a German lad, who is detained at Ellis Island. The lad was on his way to the home here of his uncle, Thomas Neuman, when detained for lack of funds.

Edwards Loses His Job.

Macon, Ga.—Harry Stillwell Edwards' resignation as postmaster at Macon has been called for by the post-office department, and Curtis Nottingham will be nominated as his successor. Senator Bacon was notified of the action of the department, and promptly communicated to President Wilson his desire that Mr. Nottingham should be named. This is the home town of Senator Bacon, and, according to established senate precedent, he is entitled to fill this office. Senator Smith will select the Atlanta postmaster.

ANOTHER LOBBY PROBE

HAIR-RAISING STORY OF BATTLE OF U. S. TROOPS WITH SPEAR-HURLING MOROS.

No Quarter Given or Expected—The Stronghold of Moros Was Captured and Many Killed.

Washington.—A hair-raising story of hand-to-hand conflict with spear-hurling Moro savages in a battle to the death on an isolated mountain top, with no quarter given or expected, was cabled to the war department from the Philippines by Major General Bell. It was the commanding general's report on the campaign of Gen. John J. Pershing, which resulted in the extermination of the last considerable band of rebellious Moros.

Long ago most of the Moros gave up their arms peacefully, but the fierce tribesmen of Lati Ward, embracing about twenty square miles on the northern coast of the island of Jolo, made ready for war whenever there was a suggestion of depriving them of their weapons. Recently nearly ten thousand of them stampeded to Mount Bagsak, a wild peak which they believed impregnable. Many conferences and patient diplomacy drew most of them away and sent them to their homes, but three or four hundred of the most desperate fortified their stronghold and prepared to fight it out with the American nation.

ARMY AIRMAN MEETS DEATH

Lieut. Call of U. S. Army Aviation Corps Crushed to Death.

Houston, Texas.—Lieut. Loren H. Call of the United States army aviation corp was killed instantly by the fall of his aeroplane just north of Texas City. He had started his flight from the aviation field in the Second army division mobilization camp.

His machine was at an altitude of about five hundred feet, plainly visible to several soldiers, who say that it seemed to be running smoothly, and that without warning, it suddenly turned its nose downward and plunged almost straight to the earth.

Shooting at Neighbor, Kills Wife.

Anadarko, Okla.—During the progress of a dispute near Carnegie, Okla., in relation to his title to a six-foot row of beans, D. A. Dodginton shot at A. S. Jones, his neighbor. The bullet went wide and struck and killed Mrs. Dodginton, thirty feet away. Unaware of the result of his first shot, Dodgington emptied his pistol at Jones, this time seriously wounding Benjamin Robinson, a bystander. Dodgington fled when a posse of farmers gathered and surrendered to the sheriff at Anadarko.

3,640,000,000 Fish Eggs.

Washington.—The year just closed established a record for the United States bureau of fisheries in the number of eggs taken and later planted. It ran to the enormous total of 3,640,000,000, which borke the record made in the previous year by 173,000,000. The largest number of any one kind was in flat fish, of which 900,000,000 eggs were planted. To increase the supply of lobsters along the New England coast, the bureau is considering the establishment in Rhode Island of a lobster plant.

Kills Father to Protect Mother.

Central, S. C.—John Dobbins, a farmer, aged 56, residing near here, died from wounds received in a pistol duel with his 17-year-old son. It is said that the boy attempted to aid his mother, whom Dobbins is charged to have been mistreating. Dobbins, recognizing the fire, mortally wounded another son who had taken no part in the difficulty. After the shooting the elder boy escaped and surrendered to the sheriff. Dobbins died four times.

PLOT TO MURDER HUERTA AND DIAZ

GENERAL BLANQUET, MEXICAN WAR MINISTER, ALSO MARKED FOR DEATH.

MANY ARRESTS ARE MADE

Mexico City.—A plot to assassinate President Huerta, General Felix Diaz and General Blanquet, the war minister, has been frustrated by the arrest of one deputy and ten others of prominence. It is said the intention was to use bombs at some opportune moment when these officials were driving through the streets.

Documents were found on the prisoners identifying them as supporters of Zapata and setting forth an outline of the plot. Several of the prisoners have confessed. In a building somewhat remotely located they had practiced the throwing of bombs, studying the effect.

The American ambassador's note of protest to the foreign office against permitting an anti-American demonstration here had certain indirect results, although the government did not absolutely forbid the holding of what officials style "a popular manifestation of patriotism."

A demonstration took place in the capital, but not more than 400 persons participated. There were no speeches and few cries against Americans. The line of march was through the principal streets, and the manifestants halted in front of a big Japanese store, crying "Vivas" for Japan. Small silk Japanese flags were carried with the Mexican colors.

A detachment of police accompanied the procession and the minister of war, General Blanquet, followed in an automobile. Brigadier General Samuel Garcia Cuellar, governor of the federal district, refused permission for a demonstration, and ordered the police to disperse it if it was formed. The students later applied to the minister of the interior. Dr. Aureliano Urrutia, who told them that he sympathized with them and would overrule the governor's order on condition that they created no disturbance.

LECTURES FOR EXPENSES

Says That His Salary as Secretary of State Is Not Sufficient.

Asheville, N. C.—During the delivery of a lecture at Hendersonville, near here, Secretary of State William Jennigs Bryan paused in the course of his lecture to state that he is compelled to deliver chautauqua lectures in order to supplement his government salary, which, he declares, is not sufficient to meet his expenses.

"As this is my first chautauqua lecture since becoming a member of the cabinet," said Secretary Bryan, "it may not be out of place to say that I find it necessary to lecture in order to supplement the salary which I receive from the government. As I have lectured for eighteen years, this method of adding to my income is the most natural one to which to turn, and I regard it as extremely legitimate. I did not think it improper to go from the chautauqua platform into a presidential race, and if I had been elected I would have thought it no stepping down to return to the lecture platform. These meetings enable me to keep in touch with the people."

Plans to Beautify Canal.

Washington.—The report of the Fine Arts commission, which is charged with the preparation of plans for the beautification of the Panama canal, has been completed and probably will be transmitted to congress through President Wilson about August 1. The plans embody landscape effects to make artistic the approaches ot the canal, as well as the locks and the country through which the great waterway has been cut. As far as possible the commission proposes to preserve existing beautiful landscapes and to supplement them by the planting of additional trees.

12 Persons Killed; 50 Injured.

Los Angeles, Cal.—Twelve persons were killed and about fifty others were injured when a Pacific electric interurban train ran into another electric train at Vineyard station, a junction on the outskirts of Los Angeles. As nearly as could be learned, both trains were inbound from Venice, an ocean beach town, 16 miles from Los Angeles. They were crowded with homeward bound residents of Los Angeles who had spent the day at the beaches, and it is reported that many of the injured were severly hurt.

Four Negroes to Die for Murder.

DEADLY FIGHT ON MOUNTAIN

DEEP LOBBY PROBING TO BE DONE BY HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Investigation Ordered of the Charges Made by Mulhall Against Congressman.

Washington.—A lobby investigation of extraordinary scope was authorized by the house to supplement the senate probe already under way. With the adoption of the Henry investigation resolution a special committee of seven members was appointed by Speaker Clark, with Representative Garrett of Tennessee, as chairman.

While the house investigation was prompted largely by the allegations of Col. M. M. Mulhall regarding the legislative activities of the National Association of Manufacturers, the resolution as finally adopted so enlarged the scope of the inquiry that all efforts to control members of the house or to influence legislation by any person or organization will be subject to the inquisitorial power of the committee.

MOUNT TAMALPAIS ON FIRE

Playground of Cities About San Francisco Bay Is Being Devastated.

San Francisco.—Forest fires are blazing fiercely on three sides of Mount Tamalpais, a landmark of California, and playground and park of all the cities clustered about San Francisco bay. Three villages are threatened. The mountain was cloaked by a mantle of white smoke, which streamed across the bay like a wind blown scarf, but as darkness fell the mountain blazed above the bay and ocean like an enormous beacon, illuminating the sky for miles.

The fires are believed to have resulted from carelessness of campers.

Three thousand soldiers, sailors, naval apprentices, forest rangers, militiamen and volunteer fire fighters are fighting the flames, and the women in the threatened terirtory are working as hard as the men.

Italian Agents After Charlton.

New York.—The Italian consulate is advised that two agents of the Italian government are leaving Italy for this country to get Porter Charlton and take him back to Italy to stand trial there for the murder of his wife on their honeymoon at Lake Como on June 7, 1910. The authorities of the Hudson county jail in Jersey City have been directed to turn the alleged murderer over to the Italian agents in accordance with the recent mandate of the United States Supreme court.

Surgeons Use Knife on McCombs.

Paris, France.—The condition of William M. McCombs, chairman of the Democratic national committee, is declared most satisfactory by the surgeon in attendance. His progress toward recovery from the operation for appendicitis he underwent here was said to be normal, but in view of his delicate constitution, it was stated he would require several days of complete rest. Mr. McCombs came to Paris lately, knowing that he was suffering from appendicitis, but hopeful that a rest abroad would cure him.

Tales of GOTHAM and other CITIES

Big Steamer Was Held for Little Canary Bird

NEW YORK.—Before the steamship Vestris sailed for South America the other day from near the old Martin Stores, Brooklyn, Mrs. G. F. Green of No. 59 West Fifty-third street rushed up to Harry S. Davidge, the passenger traffic manager, and exclaimed:

"Oh, what am I going to do? I have forgotten to bring Rickey. How am I going to get him to the ship?"

"Who is Rickey?" inquired Mr. Davidge.

"He's a canary bird, a beautiful singer," replied Mrs. Green. "My husband insists that I must bring Rickey to Buenos Ayres."

"Well, it is now 4:30 o'clock," said Mr. Davidge, looking at his watch, "and the ship sails at five. I don't think there is time to get Rickey. However, I will telephone for him if you wish."

Accompanied by the traffic manager and four friends, one man and three women, Mrs. Green went to the foot of the pier and called up a taxicab station near her home.

"I have a charge account with you," said Mrs. Green, "and I want you to bring my canary."

"Who's going with the canary in the taxi?" asked the man.

"Nobody," said Mrs. Green. "You will have to go up to my apartment and tell my Finnish maid, who doesn't speak English, that I want the bird."

The taxicab manager laughed scornfully.

"We don't carry canaries in our taxis without escorts. Besides, the driver is not allowed to go into a house. Good-by."

Then Mrs. Green called up another taxicab station and told them what she wanted. The manager said he would get the bird. Captain Davis of the Vestris said he would hold the ship ten minutes.

Then Mrs. Green called up her Lena and said: "Canary, taxi." "Yah," said Lena.

She went aboard and stood on the deck forward. The Vestris began to back out at 5:10. She was almost free of the pier, when there was a roar of excitement at the foot of the pier, a cloud of dust arose, cheers echoed through the pier shed, and a man came rushing to the head of the pier, holding high above his head a gilded cage, within which was Rickey, trying hard to keep his perch.

Dinner Bell Saves Chicago Sleuth From Dog

CHICAGO.—There was a perfectly good reason why William Kayes, a uniformed policeman of the South Chicago station, and Matt McNamara, a plain clothes detective, took a shotgun with them the other day when they went to serve a warrant on John Dents, a truck farmer at 106th street and Benzley avenue. This is the reason:

Dents owns an enormous Newfoundland dog which has all the traits of a bulldog, a bloodhound and a mastiff rolled into one. Dents had never purchased a license for the animal, and the dog catchers ventured no closer than the echo of its bark. According to Capt. Morgan Collins of the South Chicago station handed McNamara a warrant to serve on the owner.

The detective arrived at the farmhouse and found nobody home, except the dog, which was chained in the front yard. Objecting to the intruder, the canine snapped its chain and started for McNamara. The closest thing in sight—next to the dog—was a high pole, on the top of which hung the farm bell. McNamara reached the foot of the pole in six jumps and the top in six seconds.

While the dog leaped about the foot of the pole, barking and snapping perilously close to the detective's upturned heels, McNamara perspired and scanned the horizon for a human being. For more than an hour he clung there.

Finally McNamara thought of the bell and gave the rope a jerk. The farm hands out in the fields thought it was mighty early for supper, but still they came. When they discovered the house locked and supper was yet uncooked, they were in no humor to be disturbed by the frantic shrieks of a man clinging to a pole in the hot sun.

At last, however, they were convinced, called off the dog and permitted McNamara to take his unserved warrant back to the Chicago avenue station.

The next day he armed himself with a shotgun, and took Kayes along for further protection, and went back to the farm. As soon as the dog saw the uniformed policeman it ran behind the house, and it had to be coaxed out.

The warrant was served.

No More Official Garments for Ohio Judiciary

CINCINNATI, O.—Periwigs and official garments of clergymen are counted out. No more shall they adorn the judiciary. Rather, as Ohio's newest and most modish law has it, "All officials shall have engraved thereon the coat-of-arms of the state."

There is no restriction as to where the adornment shall be placed.

Many are the plans. One learned jurist, for instance, may have a landscape gardener assist him, and in a sunken aperture on his left cheek have the whiskers trained to grow in variegated colors to bring out the design.

Others, more foppish, will go one better than the faddists who wear watches buckled on their wrists, and display the coat-of-arms of the great state of Ohio. Old sailors, who, on sojourns to the orient, learned the secret of tattooing, are certain to be in demand. Tattooing will be one of the most common forms of the new decoration. Probate and common pleas judges are expected to adopt this form.

Supreme court officials my decide upon a distinguishing and uniform method of having the coat-of-arms engraved upon them.

City authorities are said to be displaying considerable jealousy at not being included in the new court order.

It is, of course, possible that some ill-natured person, who dislikes things beautiful, may insist that the law is entirely unintentional. In fact, it has already been rumored that the word "seals" should be inserted between the words "officials" and "shall," which would make the measure read: "All officials' seals shall have engraved thereon the coat of arms of the state."

Hobo Runs Successful Blind Pig Right in Jail

GUTHRIE, Okla.—A clever tramp has set the town of Cushing laughing at its city marshal. The marshal arrested the tramp for loitering and locked him securely in the city calaboose. The tramp was searched, and as no money was found on his person, the marshal was positive the tramp was flat broke.

Shortly after the tramp was locked up the city marshal raided a joint and confiscated a case of whisky in half-pint flasks. He carried the whisky to the calaboose and stored it in a strong wooden chest secured by a padlock.

The tramp was the only lodger in the calaboose. He was a man of wit, even business enterprise. He found a rusty nail and began tinkering with the padlock. The padlock flew open and the whisky lay before him.

The tramp opened a bottle, took a long pull and felt refreshed. Shortly after nightfall a citizen who was taking the short cut past the calaboose, heard a voice in the darkness:

"Say, pal, how would you like a bottle of real red booze—the kind your grandfather used to make back in the mountains of Kentucky?"

The citizen for a moment was unable to locate his interrogator.

Approaching the calaboose window, the man outside saw and was convinced. He paid his money and got the whisky.

"If you have any dewrops left, send 'em around," whispered the tramp.

The supply of [illegible] is said to have been exhausted [illegible] hours.

HAD PREMONITION OF DEATH

New Jersey Man's Fear of Coming Disaster Laughed at by Comrades, But It Was Verified.

John Hueselmans, superintendent of a lumber yard in Harrison, N. J., started home after a day of intense worry through fear of impending disaster. His premonition caused several of the workmen to deride him. John Bissell of Newark led in the scoffing.

As Hueselmans was passing a 40-foot-high pile of heavy timbers Bissell, who was at work on top, uttered a warning cry and leaped to the ground. As he did so the great bulk of lumber swayed and toppled over. Hueselmans was buried beneath the mass and was instantly killed. Bissell, by his leap, avoided the crumbling pile and landed just beyond the timbers. The fall, however, resulted in his receiving numerous fractures and he was removed in a critical condition to St. Michael's hospital.

A crowded trolley car was passing the lumber yard at the time. The passengers, many of them workmen on their way home, rushed to the spot and began moving the timbers. It was half an hour before Hueselmans' mangled body was extricated.

Tired of Bossing.

When Mary went home to Ireland for a visit to the old farm, after a four years' course in general housework in America, she found a new baby brother. "And he was thot spoiled you couldn't live in the same house with him," recounted Mary to her old mistress. "Such a raisin' as he had had! I towld me mother 'twas different altogether from the bringin' up of us older children. 'Twas do this, an' we done it—or get a whippin'. But with the little wan now—if she says to him 'do this,' he says, 'No, I don't want to,' an' never a budge does he make. But my mother was not set back by my scoldin'. She just sayed, 'Oh, well, wait until you've lived as long and as much as I have, and you will get tired of bossin', too."

FACE FULL OF PIMPLES

Ruffin, N. C.—"My face became full of pimples and blackheads, and would itch, burn and smart. The skin was rough and red. I was really ashamed of my face. My arms and back were affected almost as badly. The pimples would fester and there would come a dry scab on top. The trouble caused my face to be disfigured badly and the itching would bother me so I could not sleep well nights, especially during warm weather.

"The trouble lasted me three long years without anything doing me any good until a friend told me about Cuticura Soap and Ointment and then I decided to try them. After the first application I could see some improvement. After using Cuticura Soap and Ointment two weeks I did not look like the same person; most of the pimples had disappeared. At the end of four weeks I was completely cured." (Signed) Miss Mamie Mitchell, Jan. 9, 1913.

The McTavish family was dining, and each member eagerly watched Mr. McTavish carving the fowl, none so eagerly, however, as the dog, for that intelligent animal never took his eyes off the bird. Suddenly the knife slipped and sent a fragment of poultry rolling on the floor.

"Mighty me," cried McTavish, "the leg, my own favorite bit. The dog'l get it."

"No, it won't, father," said the youngest McTavish. "He'll not get it. I've got my foot on it."—Young's Magazine.

Horrible Thought.

Senator Borah of Idaho tells this story of how a psychologist and mediumistic professor was received in a small town in his state:

The professor was talking to a young society bud about the possibilities of the journeyings of one's soul. "Why, my dear young lady," he declared, "it is possible for you in your sleep to travel to other planets in the middle of the night."

"Oh, professor!" she cried in evident alarm. "Not in my nightgown!"—The Sunday Magazine.

NO EVIDENCE OF STATEMENT

Foreman of Jury Had Claimed They Had One Mind, But Losing Lawyer Wanted to Be Shown.

Counsel for the prisoner looked hopefully at the faces of the jurors as they filed into their seats, and listened hopefully as the foreman announced that they had agreed. His client had enjoyed ample provocation for the assault upon the person of Tobias Jones; but the jurors were uniformly Tobias' friends and not unbiased.

"The jury is all of one mind, your honor," the foreman said. "We find the prisoner guilty."

"You hear the verdict, counsel," remarked the judge. "The jury is all of one mind. Have you anything to ask of the court before sentence is pronounced?"

"Yes, your honor," replied counsel, still hopefully; "for the purposes of the appeal which my client will take, it would be of material assistance to learn which one of the twelve men who have reached this verdict is possessed of the one mind you are so careful to mention."—New York Evening Post.

His Need of the Moment.

An old darky was encountered by the expedition sent by Uncle Sam for the relief of sufferers by the Mississippo floods. Uncle Eph was in a dilapidated looking skiff or dugout, which he was having considerable trouble to keep afloat. "Hello there, uncle! What do you want?"

"Nothing but wings, boss," was the answer.

O, for the rarity
Of Christian charity
Under the sun!

Weep not, you showed your sympathy too late!

Express no regrets, the time for regrets is now closed.

Suppose he had been rich, influential! What then?

Isn't it time for the Council to bestir itself about that electric light contract? When will they move? After its too late?

A day current will be obtainable only when the city has a contract of its own; you need not expect otherwise.

What's the City Council for anyway? Just to have a name or in reality to act for and in behalf of the citizens? If the latter then why not get busy before the opportunity fades away?

Will Clanton continue to show disrespect to the dead by permitting her citizens, men and women and children alike to be hauled to the last lowly bed in fertilizer wagons, brick carts and the like?

Mr. Sanitary officer: Do you recall that typhoid fever is caused by the common house fly? Did you know Clanton has had two deaths, if not more, from typhoid fever within the past few weeks? Do you know that house flies seek unsanitary places to breed their millions of children? Of course you are doing the best you can under the circumstances, but can you not arrange to get help and lets have a genuine "CLEAN UP DAY?

Some weeks since, the Alabama Good Roads Assoclation set apart August 14, 15, and 16 as annual good roads days, on which, it is earnestly requested that all interested in the building of good roads will contribute in labor and material to the upbuilding of the public highways. The purpose is to have each community organize, select leaders, plan and work together on certain stretches of road till the entire county, or community is threaded with a net-work of good roads. This can be accomplished by proper management, by all working as one man, by each one doing his personal part.

Gov. O'Neal, catching the spirit of the Good Roads Association, has issued his proclamation calling upon the citizens of the state to observe these days and asking them to contribute that much toward the upbuilding of their own communities and the state generally.

Elsewhere will be found Judge Deason's proclamation along similar lines. It is to be hoped sincerely that every citizen of Chilton county will respond willingly and gladly to these calls. By this method much expense can be saved, much good work accomplished and many miles of good road established that will be a thing of beauty and a joy forever. Arrange with the leaders in your community to observe August 14, 15, and 16. You will be the gainer thereby.

Some of the state papers are inquiring whether or not Collier's charge that the L. & N. railroad maintains "an insidious lobby" at the state house will bring about a reply from Governor O'Neal. Why should it? Why should O'Neal reply to it more than ex-Gov. Jones, or Oates or Johnston or Jelks or Cobb? It is a well known fact that the L. & N. railroad has almost continually maintained or at least kept, a number of lobbvists at Montgomery. In fact President Smith had the audacity some years ago to admit the fact, practically, and to say that the measures which he and his road advocated and worked for secretly were benificial to the the people of the entire state. Of course every one knows the L. & N. railroad is out lobbying for the the good of the common people, just in the same manner as it supplies winter tourist cars to the south in the summer for the common good. No, O'Neal has no more say coming to him about the lobby proposition than has any of the other living governors of the state for the lobby has existed, lo, these many years.

Elsewhere we are printing a lengthy article from the Chattanooga Times of recent date showing some of the facts and figures with reference to road building. The article has especial reference to the materials used in the construction of roads and the manner of applying them; it also compares the cost of a road once well built with those built on an economy plan to serve half a generation.

It shows conclusively that there is no such thing as "putting a debt" upon our children if we will but do our work well in this present generation. The hue and cry of the people of Chilton—or at least a large per centage of them—has been "If we issue bonds for building roads we will place a tremendous debt upon our children to pay in the future." Of course no well thinking man will listen to such reasoning for it is, at best, the silly utterances of one who, through prejudice, wishes to arouse the prejudice of others and thereby prevent the issuance of bonds for sinister reasons. The increased value of farm lands, the facilities in time saving, in actual money expenditures and the pleasures derived from good roads would more than thribble any debt which future generations would have to pay; this is a well known fact, the experience of all communities which have tried bonds for road building. It is strange that some people are unwilling to be guided by the experience of others; and yet they will not. It is more than strange that these same people will stand up and hear the largest tax payer, or the smallest, in a community which has issued bonds say that they would not, if they could, go back to the old way but would gladly vote for additional bonds if the opportunity were presented to them. It is strange they will hear these things and then go off and say "IT ISN'T SO" "they are telling untruths." Why should they tell an untruth about it? Why should they give as an actual experience something that is altogether at variance with the truth? Everywhere else people are guided by the experience of others, act upon the experience of others. Here we listen to the voice of experience and turn a deaf ear to her utterances. Isn't that strange? Where does the fault lie, you ask?

It lies in the fact that those who know better, busy themselves in deceiving those who do not know better; in the fact that there are some men who would deliberately, gladly forestall any progressive movement looking to the betterment of general conditions until they can work themselves into the leadership to gain the credit; in the fact that some men are unwilling to trust anyone except themselves; in the fact that they gloat over their ability to play upon the prejudices and work upon the ignorance of their friends; in the fact that they take advantage of these things to undermine any forward movement by the utterance of things which they know are at variance with the truth and experience.

But, the article printed answers all these quibbles to perfection; it shows (by statistics) that whereas it costs usually about $900 per mile to keep up the average road a concrete road, properly built, a road such as the Knoxville-Chattanooga road, costs the insignificant sum of $5 per mile per annum to maintain! Geeminychristmas Kerlickernick and all these ancient tribes of the interior regions! Isn't that "heeping" a debt upon the children? Saving them $895 per mile per annum on public road! Saving them money, giving them roads, giving ourselves roads, time speed, comfort, pleasure and increasing the value of property! What will the "debt objectors" say to the Chattanooga Times' article? Is it lying too?

But, WHAT'S THE USE?

We are pleased to hear some favoable remarks concerning the High school proposition. As the child is both cause and effect of government, and as the public school is the only institution that lays the helping hand on the shoulder of every child, it is evident that whatever strengthens the public school is a stay and support to the future citizenship.

Ours is the greatest government the world ever saw. The Federal constitution is the most liberal ever written; our natural resources are valuable beyond computation, and the children are our greatest natural asset. Yet, with all these advantages, poverty and crime are increasing on every hand. But, do you say: "Why concern myself with the other man's child? Don't you know that the founding of each government that ever existed was for the best good of the whole people? As soon as selfishness and greed crept in, the powerful ursurped the rights of the masses and moral decay readily set in.

Consider well this statement; the collectivity cannot think; while each individual can reason, the thoughts of the whole are as grains of sand. The people as an entirety never painted a picture, never saw in the rough marble a beautiful statue, nor ever conceived a steamboat or other useful invention. On the other hand, the whole people have never committed perjury, bribed a jury nor corrupted a legislative body.

The power to think is in each individual head. If the citizens of Clanton succeed in any public enterprise, each of her individuals must think and favor said move.

Clanton needs, and will finally have the High school, but, it will be the result of a majority of the citizens thinking favorably on the subject.

Are YOU thinking right yourself?

Our friends are invited and requested to send us in all the neighborhood news; we will appreciate it and so will our readers.

Subscribers who do not receive their paper regularly and on time are requested to notify the editor of the Press, giving date and post office address.

Articles containing advertising matter of any character will not be published as news unless paid for in advance and are marked as advertising.

Notices of all-day singings and kindred subjects are invited as news articles, but they will not be published more than one time except as advertising matter at regular rates.

We wish to cater to our friends and patrons, but dislike to publish articles signed "Somebody's Sweetheart" or "Nobody's Darling" or with other kindred pet names; get something more classical.

Subscribers who are in arrears must forward subscription price in order to keep their subscriptions alive. The Post Office department requires this of us and we request it of our patrous.

Subscribers who wish their address changed MUST furnish the old address together with the new; this is absolutely necessary and unless the old address is given no attention will be paid to requests for change.

Unsigned articles invariably go to the waste basket. If you do not wish your name published we will not do so, but we must have it as a guarantee of good faith. Select a nom-de-plume and stick to it, but always give your proper name in the margin of your communication.

On and after this date all newspaper subscriptions are invariably payable strictly in advance. There will be no variations from this rule. It is the rule of all other newspapers and we have decided to adopt it and adhere to it. Please be governed accordingly.

Articles riduculing or reflecting upon others ither in a social or political way—or otherwise—will not be published except when paid for at regular rates (cash to accompany communication) and signed by the writer with proper name. Even then we reserve the right to reject such articles if in our opinion they are objectionable.

We have heretofore charged nothing for publishing obituaries, but our columns cannot be used as grave stones without we receive something for the service. Three hundred words will be published absolutely free, but all in excess of that number must be paid for at the rate of one cent per word—cash to accompany.

ONE FOURTH OF JULY

I am wondering how I can condense the "day's" happiness and pleasures to fit the space allowed to amateurs of the pen. Maybe you can.

In response to special invitations by phone, we left the city at 7 a.m. and at 9 o'clock we drove in the shade of a widespreading mulberry tree, that once stood guard at a gate, but fences having given place to lawns, it is still retained for its shade comfort. Our destination was a fine farm, well managed by a woman, widow of a Confederate veteran, in her 78th year and worked by her daughter.

We were met by faces wearing "O!-so-glad-to-see-you" look, and as we were going to the door, we saw a well and asked for a drink of cool water. The well could not be moved like the fence so it stands in front, in the old time hospitable way—with the invitation come, take a drink written all over it.

After a rest and social hours over our knitting (lace) we were invited into the dining room to eat some of every kind of vegetable that is grown; they were cooked in every conceivable manner now known; pies, made of all the fruits; honey made by real bees; jellies, jams and preserves made by the folks at home; and we did eat.

I will mention the chickens, eggs and butter, all farm made, and that by women that are not considered capable of voting. How about it? There came the after dinner coffee (ante bellum custom) luxury.

Now a tramp over the farm; fields green with cotton, corn, and cane, but neither weeds nor grass to mar their beauty or promise. In a round-about way we were returning to the shade of the mulberry tree that guards the bungalow house, we came upon a vine which furnished us a peck of cucumbers, along with the other good things already bagged and bucketed for our folks at home.

In this hot, dry time a house ornamented and perfumed with wild flowers of every hue and description, that grow and bloom in profusion on a littte mountain stream that flows back of the house.

We were again treated ice cream and cake, after which we started for home with light hearts but heavy bodies.

They are happy and know it for they told me so. I forgot the watermelons, ripe and red, grown on the same farm and by women.

Give me farm life always.

A SCHOOL OF CHARACTER

THE COLLEGE

1. The EDUCATIONAL STANDARDS meet the college requirements of the National Association of State Universities, of the Southern Association of Schools and Colleges, and of the Alabama Association of Colleges of which the institution is a member. The curriculum is high and varied, and the instruction is careful personal and thorough.

2. The IDEAL of the institution is the development of CHRISTIAN CHARACTER. It believes the studies are more impartant than athletics, and that righteousness is more important than all. And this belief determines its whole attitude and policy.

3. The COST per year is very low. Tuition, fees and board amount to only $200 for the full nine months session,—$150 for the sons of ministers and ministerial students.

THE FITTING SCHOOL.

For the benefit of students who are not yet prepered to enter college, but who desire the advantages of a high grade preparatory school, the Southern University has established and maintains its FITTING SCHOOL. This school offers a standard high school course under peculiarly attractive coditions. Students of the Fitting School enjoy the privileges of a college gymnasiun, library, Y. M. C. A., and all public lectures and entertainments given by the college. At the same time, they have their own dormitory, where they live together with the principal and his family and the Matron, and so have the advantage of close association with their teachers, and constant supervision by them. The cost is the same as in the college.

FALL TERM OPENS SEPT. 10, 1913.

The agonizing discomfort and sense of suffocation that accompany hay fever and asthma may be greatly alleviated by the use of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. It has a soothing effect on the mucus linings, and relieves the gasping and tickling sensation in the throat and bronchial tubes. Alred Drug Co.

If a substitute is offered you for Foley Kidney Pills it means a cheaper medicine is pressed upon you for the dealer's profit, not for yours. Foley Kidney Pills may cost the dealer more than a cheap substitute, but they give better results than any other kidney and bladder medicine. Ask for Foley Kidney Pills. Alred Drug Co.

LOCAL & PERSONAL

Miss Glennie Evans left Thursday of last week for an extended visit to relatives and friends at Sylacauga, Anniston and Talladega Springs.

Mr. W. Y. Atkinson, of Maplesville; was circulating among his numerous friends here Monday.

Obey That Impulse!

Instead of enduring the daily tormen, of weak back, backache, sore kidneyst swollen joints and rhematism, obey that impulse to take Foley Kidney Pills. They co-operate with nature, which accounts for their success in all kidney and bladder disorders. They are healing, strengthening and tonic. Obey that impulse to-day and give them a chance to help you. Alred Drug Co.

Judge L. H. Reynolds and wife left Tuesday for an automobile tour of North Carolina and other points of interest.

Mr. Jos. P. Vanderveer, Jr., left Saturday night for a business trip to Chicago. He will be gone for several days before returning to his home.

Misses Willie and Winnie Reynolds left Tuesday morning for an extended visit to friends in South Carolina.

The difference between "The Summer Girl" and the "Summer Woman."

While the former is having a "good time" the latter is too often dragging around nervous, run down, tired out, with aching back and weary limbs, sleepless and wretched. Often it is kidney trouble not female trouble and Foley Kidney Pills are a direct and positive help for the condition. Alred Drug Co.

Messrs. Clyde J. Davis and G. C. Harris went down to Eclectic Monday night to attend an Odd Fellows' convention as reresentatives of the Clanton ladge.

FOR SALE—60 acres of land; 35 acres open, 4 room dwelling and one tenant house. Will sell at a bargain, if sold within 60 days. Three miles southwest of Clanton.

Prof. J. J. Pickens leaves tomorrow night for his home at Mount Hope, Lawrence Connty, where he will spend some days with his parents before returning to Clanton to resume his school duties.

Miss Boshie McKee, who has been spending the past three weeks with relatives in Birmingham, returned home Monday.

Rev. L. H. S. Chappelle, Jr., who is in Clanton attending a family reunion, occupied the pulpit at the Methodist church last Sunday night and delivered a most forceful sermon, which was enjoyed by his congregation. He is assisting his father in a revival service at Mount Nebo this week.

DON'T use a cough medicine containing opium or morphine. They constipate the bowels and do not cure, only stifle the cough. Examine the label and if the medicine contains these harmful opiates refuse it. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound contains no opiates, is healing and soothing. Alred Drug Co.

Miss Marie Steele of Selma, who has been the charming guest of Misses Winnie and Willie Reynolds, during which time she received much social attention, returned to her home Monday morning, leaving behind several bruised and bleeding hearts.

Rheumatism and the Heart.

Don't overlook the grave fact that rheumatism easily "settles in the heart," and disturbs the valvular action. The cure consists in removing the cause. Foley Kidney Pills so tone up and strengthen the kidneys that they keep the blood free of poisons and uric acid crystals, that cause rheumatism, swollen joints, backache, urinary irregularities, and disturbed heart action. Try them. Alred Drug Co.

Mr. E. M. Pinckard returned last Friday from an extended visit to Chicago and points in Michigan. He reports having had a most excellent time.

TEACHERS EXAMINATION

The next State examination for teachers of Chilton county will be held in the court house at Clanton, on the third Monday in July, 1913.

All applicants should be present by 8:30 or 9 o'clock a.m. on Monday, July 21, 1913.

Mr. Clyde Davis of the Press force is spending a few days resticating and otherwise enjoying the warm weather.

A letter received by the editor last Sunday from Miss Annie Werness now living in Mohall, North Dakota, states that Mr. Abe Kanter has been located in Toledo, Ohio, where he is clerking in a dry goods establishment. It will be recalled that our Abe Kanter was drowned here some months ago and was buried in Birmingham so that it is not probable the Abe found in Toledo is our genial Abe of other days.

Commissioners Court was in sesseon during the early part of the week looking into tax matters and otherwise attending to county affairs.

Mr. L. Cantrell, who with Mr. Wilkinson, was engaged some months ago in making a soil survey of Chilton county, but who has since been stationed in the states of Texas and South Carolina, was on a visit to old friends here the early part of the week. He leaves in a few days for Wisconsin where he will be engaged for some months in soil survey work for the government.

Mr. Jean Wyatt is honoring the Press office this week with his presence, having taken the place of Mr. Clyde Davis who is on a vacation to see his best girl.

Dr Amzi Gowoan is all smiles these days, and why shouldn't he be? Two beautiful, cherry faced, lusty lunged youngsters made their appearance at his home last week to gladden his heart and to make music for him. Miss Mildred and Mr. Amzi, Jr. are entirely satisfied with all their surroundings and have decided to remain in Clanton for some time to come. Congratulations Doctor!

Miss Dovie Roper who has been on an extended visit to relatives in Birmingham returned home Sunday afternoon. She has just accepted a position with Tax Commissioner VanDerveer.

Mr. J. P. Vanderveer, who was confined to his bed several days with fever is now circulating among his friends again. After all it turned out not to be typhoid fever as was at first suspected.

Mr. F. A. Gulledge returned Sunday afternoon to Verbena from an extended trip to the Gettysburg reunion, after which he visited various points of interest in the north and east.

CONDITION OF CROPS

As a Whole Cotton is Looking Well for This Time of Year.

OLD CORN WORRYING FARMER

Prospects for Large Yield in Southern Section of the State is Brilliant.

Montgomery.—As a whole, there is no reason for the farmers of Alabama to be discouraged over cotton conditions this year despite the long drought, judging from reports received. Taken as a whole the crop in Alabama looks well. There are some sections reporting a lack of rain and that the plant is beginning to suffer. Other sections report the lack of rain, but state that the plant has not been injured by the drought. Still other sections report that fine drizzling rains have materially helped all crops, particularly corn.

Old corn seems to be worrying the farmer more than cotton or other crops. The long period of hot dry weather seems to have damaged this crop considerably. There are reports stating that the old corn has withered in the field.

But where there has been rainfall, and there has been rain over the greater portion of the state, cotton is reported in excellent condition, although the plant is reported late and much behind the growth expected for this time of the year. However, in South Alabama cross the state, the prospect, with the exception of the boll weevil infested counties, seems to be for a large yield.

In the immediate vicinity of Montgomery reports are somewhat conflicting, although excellent on the whole. Montgomery county itself has been visited by good rains recently, and the plant has improved wonderfully.

In Autauga county the prolonged drought has caused the farmers to take a rather pessimistic view of the situation, and numerous complaints are to be heard. Particularly is this true of corn. Cotton is said to be standing the drought well, although the plant is beginning to look a little wilted during the middle of the day and early afternoon when the heat is at its fiercest.

In Baldwin county, in Southern Alabama, ideal weather conditions for the growth of the plant at first encouraged the farmers, but later it was noticed that the weather was also ideal for the growth and spread of the boll weevil. The farmers have had little opportunity to work their fields because of the almost daily showers.

In Butler county, just south of Montgomery, conditions are said to be better at this time than two weeks ago.

In Southeast Alabama conditions are most excellent. In Covington county the crop has made material advancement, while in Houston, Dale and Henry counties the weather has been almost ideal for the growth of the plant. Rain is needed in several sections, but the plant is said to be in excellent shape. Some of the older cotton is shading the replants, causing them to shoot straight up in long stalks with almost no blooms.

In the Black Belt, Dallas, Marengo, Hale, etc., counties, reports continue to be favorable, although rain is needed in many sections.

In North Alabama conditions are even better than in South and Middle Alabama. The cotton has improved under the heat and rains have been of sufficient area to cover the planting as a whole. Corn is also reported to be in excellent condition.

MAKING FIGHT AGAINST WEEVIL.

Dropped Squares Being Picked Up and Burned.

Montgomery.—The farmers of Southwest Alabama, embracing the counties of Conecuh, Marengo, Choctaw and Escambia, are making every effort known to scientific methods to check the advance of the boll weevil, according to reports from the county demonstrators received by State Demonstrator B. L. Moss. The weevil is doing some damage all over the state, but many of the farmers are keeping all of the dropped squares picked up and are burning them.

STATE BAPTISTS RAISE $100,000.

Debt Raising Campaign Will Start on October 1.

Birmingham.—A thousand dollar a day campaign for 100 days, to net a total of $100,000 will be inaugurated by the Baptists of this state, says Dr. W. B. Crumpton. Dr. Crumpton has notified the state Baptist convention by whom he was memorialized to head the campaign, of his acceptance. The campaign will be known as the "Debt Raising Campaign," and will start October 1.

Old Land Grants.

Birmingham.—Three old land grants bearing the name of Abraham Lincoln were filed for record in the probate court Saturday. A fourth grant bore the name of James Buchanan. Two of the documents which were issued during the presidency of Lincoln bore the date of July 1, 1861, and the third August 1, 1861. The grants were to the following: George M. Goodwin, about 40 acres; Daniel Turner, 160 acres. The entire consideration of the land was $1.25 per acre.

POLITICAL GOSSIP.

Montgomery.—Only one move in the state political game during the past week seems to have been effective in the probable result. That was the retirement of W. T. Brown, of Ragland, as a candidate for lieutenant governor. Brown's withdrawal leaves Thomas E. Kilby, of Anniston, as the sole candidate for that office to date.

The race for governor was without particular incident. Mr. Comer remained at his office engaged in business affairs. Charles Henderson was busy with business in connection with the Alabama railroad commission, of which he is president. Captain Kolb made trips to different sections of the state to attend farmers' institutes. He will make his first political speech early in September.

Walter Seed and John H. Wallace, Jr., are both busy and will be heard from in due season.

* * *

A political feature of the week was the announcement by Watt T. Brown, of Ragland, that he would not be a candidate for lieutenant governor, and that he would support Thomas E. Kilby, of Anniston, for the place. It is believed by Mr. Kilby's friends that this eliminates all probability of opposition to his candidacy. Mr. Kilby will make a vigorous campaign over the entire state. He is prepared to make such a campaign in the event of opposition and has expressed a determination to follow it up in any event. Mr. Brown is a member of the state senate. His retirement from the race for lieutenant governor does not mean that he will retire from active politics.

* * *

While in Birmingham attending the Conference of Institute Directors, Wm. F. Feagin, chief clerk in the office of the state superintendent of education, announced he would make an active campaign for state superintendent. So far, he is the only announced candidate.

* * *

An interesting rumor connects W. L. Pitts, of Uniontown, with the race for lieutenant governor. No word has come direct from Mr. Pitts, who is a well known attorney of the Alfalfa Belt, but some of his friends are authority for the statement he has not been entirely indifferent to a suggestion that he enter this contest.

* * *

Samuel Kennedy, state manager for Charles Henderson, candidate for governor, has opened headquarters at Montgomery and has begun a quiet but systematic campaign. Mr. Kennedy is said to be very busy laying his lines for a long and vigorous campaign.

* * *

Announcement has been made that Woodford Mabry, of Camden, has been selected to assist in the management of R. F. Kolb's campaign for governor. W. S. Richardson, of Montgomery, is to be the state manager. Mr. Mabry is a prominent young attorney of Camden. He has many friends over South Alabama.

* * *

Captain Kolb announced during the week he was in the race to the end and to win. He denies emphatically he will retire for any cause before the final contest at the polls. He expresses confidence in his success.

* * *

John H. Wallace made a big opening at Spruce Pine, Franklin county, the early part of this month and has seemed to rest on the accomplishment of that first campaign slogan. He is giving it time to soak in. In this speech he laid down some well defined policies.

ALL BILLS MET PROMPTLY

First Quarterly Report of Douglass Most Creditable in Bureau's History.

Montgomery.—Alabama's Convict Department has just ended the most successful quarter in its history its gross earnings being $300,000, according to the quarterly report of Hartwell Douglass, president of the department, which has been submitted to Governor O'Neal. This is the first quarter, Mr. Douglass has served as president of the department and his report is of unusual interest because of this fact.

RECEIPTS SHOW INCREASE

More Than $12,000 Collected by Motor Vehicle Department.

Montgomery.—Receipts of the state motor vehicle department are greater by more than $5,000 during the present quarter than during the same quarter last year, according to figures given out by Thomas Bradford, head of this department. The receipts for the third quarter this year were more than $12,000, while for the same quarter in 1912 the receipts were less than $8,000.

Recover $100,000 Worth of Property.

Montgomery.—More than $100,000 worth of Government property has been recovered within the last four months by Lieut. Albert G. Gardner, Sergts. Bert Moore and Burnett Shipp, all of the United States Army, and Charles P. Terrell, Examiner of Public Accounts. This property, like that recovered some few years ago, was found in the possession of officials where the county work.

WASHINGTON GOSSIP

Unending Procession of Many Strange Gifts

ASHINGTON. — Thousands of gifts, from millionaire and laborer man, constantly remind President on that, though he is constitutionally precluded from receiving ents from prince, potentate or eign power, the people of his own ntry do not forget him. In unending procession the gifts have come. The stream of gifts to the new sident started on the day of his uction into office. It will continue th more or less intermittence until e day he ceases to be president of United States. The gifts are marked by a catholicity of choice that is ly amazing.

Those unknown friends of the chief cutive do not confine the mediums which the gifts are sent to any one rrier; in fact, the methods chosen send them, large and small, are most as varied as is possible.

A favorite method is the old and ed "personal messenger" plan, ereby strenuous efforts are made deliver the gift in person. The posed donor, or his agent, will rch the very heavens as well as the earth to find a plausible excuse to get by the watchdogs of the secret service and Secretary Tumulty and take the "little token of affection and esteem" to the president in person.

If the distance is too great for the giver to reach Washington—or if he has no acquaintance here—or if he cannot prevail upon his congressman to present the gift for him—it will be reluctantly trusted to the tender mercy of the express companies or the mails. During the present administration the favorite method of sending the smaller articles to the White House has been by parcel post. Larger packages from unknown senders are always opened at a safe distance from the executive rooms, to provide against unpleasant possibilities.

The nature of the gifts varies in such a way that the president might possess a good start toward collecting a museum of curiosities or even establishing a zoological park. Pamphlets and books enough to furnish a good-sized library accumulate every few weeks. Just for the sake of variety a mud turtle, sent by admirers on the eastern shore of Maryland, was found, carefully wrapped, in the morning's mail one day not long ago. The reptile had not been harmed in any way and was immediately turned loose in the expanse of the White House grounds, where he may thrive for many years.

Grave and Logical Treatise on Reformed Sea Talk

"Friend Jones, are you awake?"

"Yes, indeed, sir."

"Well, then, will you be kind enough to tell me in what direction you see that light?"

"The line of its direction, sir, is about thirty feet to the right of the flag pole on the front end of the ship."

And when the lookout first sees the light, instead of dropping the brusque exclamation, "Light, ho!" down on the deck like an anarchist's bomb, why shouldn't he mellifluously ejaculate, "I beg your pardon, sir, but I see a light."

More power to Josephus Daniels and his policy. With a little diligence and patience such terms as "slush bucket," "squeegee," "handy-billy," "Johnny Legs" and "gangway" may be translated into English that any landlubber in the navy or outside it can understand.

? has been gravely and logically urged that the substitution of ight" and "left" for "starboard" and rt" in the navy makes it much er for inexperienced men to learn steer. How many other changes ld be made with a similar end in w!

For instance it surely must rasp e nerves of the green landsman on warship to hear an officer during drill snap out the command "Si-ce." How much better it would for the officer to say in a bland soothing voice, "Gentlemen, will be kind enough to come to or-?"

The next command has always been t loose and provide." This has a twang. How much prettier it ld be to say, "Friends, prepare piece of artillery for use against enemy and bring up the ammuni-n from downstairs."

During the silent watches of the t one hears on the warships now dialogues as this:

"Masthead there!"

"Aye, aye, sir."

"How does that light bear now?"

"Two points and a quarter off the board bow, sir."

Wouldn't it be better if it were ething like this:

Only One Who Could See All That Was Going On

SOCIAL atmosphere was given to n Avenue car by the majority of passengers, who were obviously for an early evening ride.

e one serious person aboard was motorman, who kept a firm grip his lever and looked ahead with watchful eye.

ach time the car stopped for a ute to let passengers get on or people scuttled across the track out the least apparent fear of be-run over, and even when the big was whizzing along women who only a few yards ahead would in front of it as if they rev-in the risk—not counting an oc-al man who looked as if he might be sensible enough to realize the disadvantages of injury or sudden death. This reckless flirtation with danger surprised at least one passenger who sat on a front seat and could see what was going on.

"Say, motorman, I'm a stranger in this burg. What's the matter with the people here; taking chances as if the car couldn't hurt 'em if it tried? First thing you know, you're going to be stopped by an inhabitant or two under the wheel. Do you folks go on like this as a regular thing? And don't you ever have to make use of your coroner?"

"Habit, I guess. I suppose they know we are keeping a sharp lookout all the time. When I've come near an accident I can't sleep well for nights thinking of it—hi there!"

The motorman stopped his just-started car with a mighty wrench that jerked it to a standstill.

Otherwise a young person in white ratine, with high-heeled slippers and a floppy Panama, would have had her name in the papers next day—

In the death notices.

Family of 13 Triumphs Over Civil Service Law

HIS is a story of how a meritorious case and a family of thirteen ge over the civil service com-on. After six years of waiting, rd T. Underwood of Pennsyl-has almost reached the goal he through an examination.

bookbinder, Mr. Underwood pass-in 1907 an examination that en-him to appointment in the gov-ment printing office at $4 a day. e was no vacancy, but his fam-consisting of a wife and ten chil-required support, so he accept-the place of laborer in the post-department at $660 a year.

erwood was promoted Feb. 1, to an assistant messenger's po-at $720 a year.

was discovered that before he e promoted to a higher salary, he deserved, in Mr. Hitch-opinion, it would be necessary him to pass another civil service nation. Lack of education its made this impossible, so Mr. Hitchcock wrote the facts to the president, urging that Underwood be exempted from the requirement because of his value to the department and the eleven other reasons, the wife and ten children. July 27, 1912, Mr. Taft directed the promotion without examination.

Governor Dockery recommended Underwood's promotion to $1,000 a year, effective July 1. Postmaster General Burleson has made the necessary order. Meanwhile a dauntless hope has persistently tormented Underwood's family of thirteen.

PECULIAR CHARACTERISTICS OF PITCHERS

George Pierce, Star Southpaw Cub Twirler.

Ball players in the National and American leagues are not as courageous as most fans imagine. Most followers of the game carry the idea that the men who pitch and who stand up at the place and allow a pitcher to throw the ball at their heads have a lion's heart. Such is not always the case.

There is a twirler on the Brooklyn team who would be a wonderful slab artist if he were not inclined to be timid. It is not the intention to convey the idea that he is "yellow," but only to point out how a player deprives himself of being a top-notcher in the ranks through fear of what he imagines is a disgrace and the lack of an abundance of nerve.

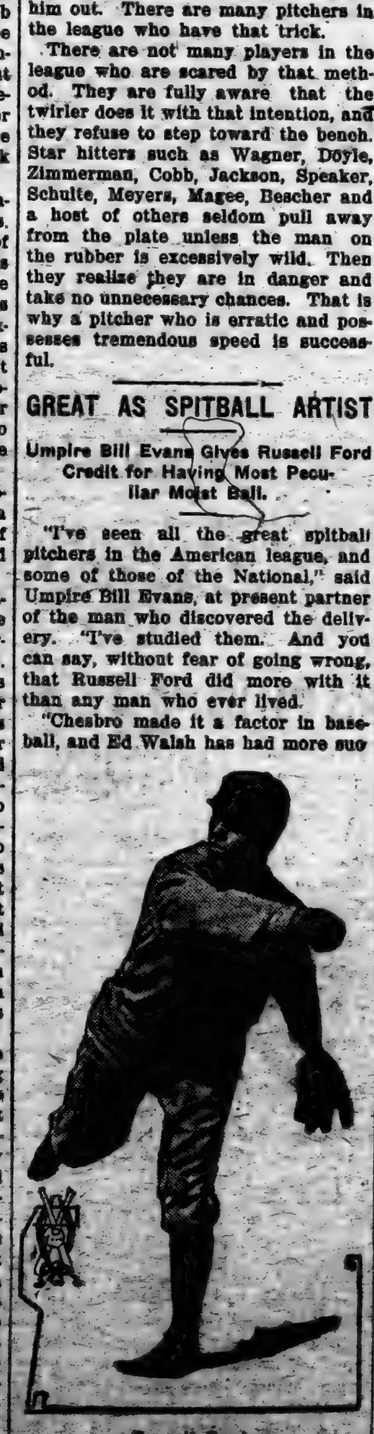
The individual in question is Pitcher F. L. Allen of the Trolley Dodgers. He is a southpaw and the possessor of as great an assortment of twisters as any left hander in the National league today. Manager Dahlen thinks as much of him as he does of Nap Rucker, and depends upon him almost as much. But Allen has that one fault of becoming intimidated when he observes from the rubber that another man is being sent out to warm up to be in readiness should his services be required.

Brooklyn secured Allen from Mobile, Ala., last spring, and it was a member of the board of directors of the Southern league team who told of the peculiarity of the southpaw.

"Allen was on our team in the season of 1911 and as I saw every game he twirled at home I studied him thoroughly," said the Mobile baseball man. "One of the first faults I detected was his tendendy to ascend when another twirler was sent out to loosen his arm. It seemed as soon as the pitcher walked from the bench Allen would lose all his nerve. I can easily realize it, for you will often find men who will quit when they discover that another is being sent preparing to take their place. It seems to impress upon them their efforts are not what they should be. This is the way it affected Allen. If he were handled properly I believe he would be a wonder of the league. By that I mean if Dahlen in sending a man to warm up would keep him out of Allen's sight he would get better results."

Sending pitchers out to warm up when the man on the slab is weakening and threatening to toss away the game affects some twirlers, and most of them, differently than it does Allen. Rube Marquard of the New York Giants is one who is inclined to lose his nerve when McGraw orders another man to get ready. Christy Mathewson of the same club is just the opposite. He is a great twirler and it hurts him to be taken out and, therefore, when he notices two or three men at the club house warming up, he braces and pitches harder than ever. Seaton of the Philadelphias is of much the same temperament, as is Suggs of the Cincinnati club.

When Manager Evers of the Cubs wants George Pierce to tighten and pitch his "head off" he stops the game and picks a man from the bench and sends him to the club house accompanied by a catcher. The effect this has on the left hander is more than perceptible. His action shows it. He walks around the rubber with a quick, snappy stride, nervously calls for Archer to give him the sign, and shoots the ball in the direction of the plate with terrific sped. He is one of the twirlers who consider it disgraceful to be yanked from the slab and he would rather miss his meals for two days than have that happen. Pierce has a sort of fiery temper while pitching and when a club makes a run or a few hits off him he gets his teeth and strains himself all the more.



Every big several men on the coast on the order of Pierce. They are Smith, Cheney, Overall and Steele. They are often scored on after they get on the base, but they usually deliver by putting everything they have on their curves when men are on third and second bases.

GREAT AS SPITBALL ARTIST

Umpire Bill Evans Gives Russell Ford Credit for Having Most Peculiar Moist Ball.

"I've seen all the great spitball pitchers in the American league, and some of those of the National," said Umpire Bill Evans, at present partner of the man who discovered the delivery. "I've studied them. And you can say, without fear of going wrong, that Russell Ford did more with it than any man who ever lived.

"Chesbro made it a factor in baseball, and Ed Walsh has had more success, in the way of winning with it, than anyone else. But Ford's spitball had more break, and more peculiar break, than that of either of these two great masters. Russell had only one great year with it. But I never expect to see anyone get the breaks that he did."

SPLENDID PROMISE FOR WINTER WHEAT

Indicates Good Year for Agricultural Community—Failures Decrease

New York.—Dun's review of trade says:

While business generally reflects the quietness usual at this period, commercial tendencies are mainly in the direction of improvement and confidence in the future has strengthened. Financial sentiment was affected somewhat by the failures in the Pittsburg district the resumption of gold exports and the threatened railway strike; yet securities values were well maintained in view of these developments. A new low record of prices, however, was reached on United States bonds and also on British consols, the markets abroad being depressed early by fears of complications in the Balkan situation.

Included among the important events of the week was the government grain report, which, while showing a large deterioration in spring wheat, revealed a splendid promise for winter wheat and corn, indicating another prosperous year for the agricultural community as a whole. This augurs well for the business outlook, but the spirit of conservatism is still manifest in small quarters, owing chiefly to the restrictive influence of tariff legislation.

Consumption of dry goods is sustained and there is no accumulation of stocks, but new business is limited to well defined needs. In the iron and steel industry two features stand out prominently, namely: The fact that curtailment of pig iron output during June was less than anticipated and that the current lull in demand will be followed by a revival of activity in the fall.

New York.—Bradstreet's weekly review of trade says:

Seasonable quiet prevails in the larger lines of trade and salesmen are off the road for vacations. On the other hand, however, brilliant weather and holiday demands, plus clearance sales, have greatly stimulated retail distribution. What is practically more significant, is the fact that sentiment as to the future appears to be more encouraging. There is less timidity and the major note is one of confident, conservative optimism.

Buyers are beginning to appear in the various wholesale departments, and it is apparent that more business has been done and especially in dry goods and shoes on future account than was earlier the keynote. Next week should produce additional impetus.

And yet the west, northwest and southwest reflect greatest activity in future operations and in those territories buyers have taken hold in a large way. The result has been that in various lines trade exceeds that of last season. There is less apprehension regarding tariff matters and staple crops which latterly promise good yields. This combined with actual wants and the scarcity of many kinds of goods tend to more cheerful views.

It is felt that many effect of tariff changes will be postponed until well into next season.

Business failures for the week ending July 10 were 210, which compares with 250 in the corresponding week of 1912.

Wheat, including flour exports, from the United States and Canada for the week ending July 10 totalled 176,622 bushels, against 3,501,323 bushels last week, and 2,495,407 this week last year.

Corn exports for the week are 31,993 bushels, against 139,434 bushels last week, and 128,189 bushels in 1912.

Thirsty Man Had Not Thought of Possibilities When He Made Contract With Guide.

After North Carolina voted to be a dry state its citizens became very suspicious of strangers.

One day a commercial traveler went up to an old negro in a little town in the eastern part of the state and said to him:

"Say, uncle, if you will lead me to some place where I can get a drink I'll give you two dollars."

The old darkey looked him carefully over, accepted the two plunks, and said: "All right, boss, just foller me."

He led the thirsty one through the town, on through the suburbs, into the country, and then started due west. After they had traversed about five miles in silence and still nothing in sight, the man asked:

"Look here, Mose! Where are we going after this drink?"

Little Lola's mother had sent her to the corner drug store for a stamped envelope, giving her three pennies with which to pay for it.

FOUND A WAY

To Be Clear of Coffee Troubles.

"Husband and myself both had the coffee habit, and finally his stomach and kidneys got in such a bad condition that he was compelled to give up a good position that he had held for years. He was too sick to work. His skin was yellow, and there didn't seem to be an organ in his body that was not affected.

"I told him I felt sure his sickness was due to coffee and after some discussion he decided to give it up.

"It was a struggle, because of the powerful habit. One day we heard about Postum and concluded to try it and then it was easy to leave off coffee.

"His fearful headaches grew less frequent, his complexion began to clear, kidneys grew better until at last he was a new man altogether, as a result of leaving off coffee and taking on Postum. Then I began to drink it too.

"Although I was never as bad off as my husband, I was always very nervous and never at any time very strong, only weighing 95 lbs. before I began to use Postum. Now I weigh 115 lbs. and can do as much work as anyone my size, I think."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Write for booklet, "The Road to Wellville."

Postum comes in two forms:

Regular Postum (must be boiled.)

Instant Postum doesn't require boiling, but is prepared instantly by stirring a level teaspoonful in an ordinary cup of hot water, which makes it right for most persons.

A 30c tin requires more and some people who like strong things put two heaping spoonfuls and a pinch of it with a generous cup of cream.

Experiment until you know the amount that pleases your palate and then order that way in the future.

Plain, every-day common sense will explain the seemingly remarkable achievement of Wayne County. We never lay up brick and stone walls with clay, rock-dust and dirt as a binder. We use tenacious mortar. The same principle applies to road construction. The more tenacious the binder the more durable the road.

Wayne County used Portland cement mortar as a binder, the thing that goes into masonry construction.

CHEER UP!

BETTER DAYS ARE COMING

In conversation with the ice man several days since, he stated that the reason he had to shut down on Sundays was because of poor collections.

People, said he, would come to my place on Sundays and ask for ice and, after I had gone to the trouble of sawing a small block of ice for them, they would walk off without even so much as saying thank you, and I would never see them again till the following Sunday, when the same performance would be repeated.

Now, of course, the ice costs the ice man cash money; there is much waste in ice, and on hot Summer days if he is deprived of the few nickels and dimes that come his way on Sundays it makes a considerable hole in his cash account.

Let's treat the ice man fairly and then we will be in position to expect something of him. Ice these days, is not a luxury, it is a necessity and absolute necessity and a few "tight wads" can cause many others to suffer. No one can blame the ice man for not wishing to keep open on Sundays for credit customers who never pay.

Hereafter bring the cash and you will not only receive prompt service but full weight.

No credit customers need apply on Sundays. Ice house open till Nine on Sunday mornings and from Four till Six on Sunday afternoons. (adv)

STEWARDS' MEETING

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Stewards of the Methodist church, was held Monday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Stanfield; all the members of the board being present except two.

After an hour spent in pleasant conversation, a most sumptuous repast was served by the gracious hostess, which, it is needless to say, was thoroughly enjoyed by all fortunate enough to be present.

The regular business of the church was then discussed and disposed of; among the many things transacted by the Board was the election of Mrs. Jas. H. Middleton as organist to take the place of Miss Harper, who has but recently resigned. Miss Marguerite Chappelle was unanimously chosen as assistant organist.

When the business meeting was concluded the host invited his guests to an old time watermelon cutting which was greatly enjoyed, the melons being the largest seen in Clanton this season.

Bidden

The Ladies Aid Society will serve ice cream, lemonade and cake at Jemison on Saturday and Sunday, July 19th and 20th, the proceeds to be devoted to the purchase of seats for the church. Every one is invited to come and help a good cause. Mrs. B. E. Collins, Mrs. E. Latham and Mrs. Middleton.

Begged Borrowed and Stolen

A few good roads chips chipped at random from various sources and renished by readers of the Press. All are good, some better. Read them all, do your own thinking and then ACT.

A good road brings the hand of the producer and the mouth of the consumer into neighborly relation.

A good road is a connecting link between demand and supply.

The back-to-the-farm movements have a good road in front of the procession.

Throughout the entire nation the cry is going up for the improvement of the highways and for permanent main market roads.

A few more floods and we will need a system of miltary roads over which to transport troops for the protection of the people.

It is the opinion of the editor that there is not a mortal living who would not like to "get out of the mud" but there are a lot of kickers who confuse the people as to how to get the money, and defeat every plan proposed.

The whole problem of rural life is a problem of roads, but with bad roads the trend will continue to the city.

Hello, neighbor. How deep was the water in your front yard?

A "close-fisted" minority of the people are holding back road improvement.

The people are frittering away their opportunity by arguing and quarreling over immaterial points.

If we ever get anywhere with the general road movement, it will be by a united effort of the majority over the objections of a mud-headed minority.

The farmer needs more social life more civic centers, clubs and granges, but they cannot have them with any assurance of regular attendance until they can drive in safety and with some degree of comfort and speed.

The old idea that the road should be constructed and paid for by the farmer and abutting land owner is a thing of the past, and the city folks are now ready to help.

Improved roads mean a saving o, time and time is what most people have to sell.

A good road is a money saver all the time, and in floods it is a life saver.

Prejudices and misunderstandings are being wiped out as the campaign progresses.

NOTICE

Whereas, the Alabama Good Roads Association has designated Aug. 14, 15, and 16th as annual Good Roads days, and whereas, Governor O, Neal has issued his proclamation naming said days as "Good Roads Days" to be observed in every county in Alabama.

Therefore, I, E. B. Deason, as Judge of Probate of Chilton County desire to join in this movement by calling upon the people of our county irrespective of age and location to observe these days by assisting in working the roads of our county.

Hoping much good may come of this movement, I am

Respectfully,
E. B. Deason, Judge of Probate.

LADIES AID ELECT OFFICERS.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Mehodist church held their regular monthly meeting at the residence of Mrs. J. H. Middleton Monday afternoon when the following officers were elected:

Mrs. J. C. Jones, President,
Mrs. Chappelle, Vice-President,
Mrs. E. A. Matthews, Secretary,
Mrs. M. L. White, Treasurer.

After delicious refreshments the meeting adjourned to meet with Mrs. J. M. Potts in August.

A SAD, SAD DEATH

After a lingering illness of more than six weeks with typhoid fever Mr. Ulysses DeLoach closed his eyes in endless sleep on Tuesday morning at his apartments in the home of Mrs. Georgia Teel. While his death was looked for at any minute (for he had been in a dying condition for some days) it was none the less a severe blow to his loved ones, who all the while hoped and prayed that he might be spared to them yet many years.

Mr. DeLoach was born twenty years ago in Coosa county, removing to this county when quite a youth where he had since made his home. In December 1910 he was, at the age of eighteen, happily married to Miss Sarah Olive Hendrix, who with a little son survive him. For the past few years Mr. DeLoach has been with various merchants in Clanton in the capacity of a clerk and was in all respects a model young man and Chilton county has just cause to regret his departure.

He was a member of the Modern Maccebees, in which lodge he held a policy of insurance which will provide for the bereaved wife and fatherless son. The body was carried on Wednesday morning to Wadsworth and transported to Liberty Church for burial beside his brother who died about one year ago.

The corpse was attended by a number of the members of Clanton chapter of Maccabees who went along to pay their last tribute of respect and love to a brother in whom neither they, or the world, could find guile.

Peace to his ashes!

DEATH OF MRS. W. M. MCDANIEL

At her home in Clanton on last Thursday about noon Mrs. Margaret A. McDaniel the beloved wife of Mr. Wm. M. McDaniel breathed her last. While Mrs. McDaniel had been complaining for some days and her loved ones were giving her constant attention, it was not thought that she was so near death's door as was proven to be the case. In fact the husband had but a few minutes before left her bedside and come up town to attend to his regular duties; he knew nothing of her death till the faithful wife had breathed her last and her spirit had returned to Him who gave it.

Mrs. McDowell was born in Georgia in 1855, removing to Clanton when but a child where she had since made her residence. In 1871 she was happily married to Mr. William M. McDaniel to whom she bore two children, Mrs. H. M. Simpson of Clanton and Mr. Russel McDaniel of Montgomery, who with the grief bowed husband, survive her.

Mrs. McDaniel's death was quite sudden, casting a pall of gloom over the entire town. She was a member of the Methodist church since early young womanhood. The funeral services occurred on Friday morning at which time tender hands and loving hearts placed her in the grave to await the resurrection morning, Rev. L. H. S. Chappelle officiating.

MISS MATTHEWS ENTERTAINS

On Tuesday evening Miss Sallie Mack Robinson and the Messrs Chappelle were the guests of honor at an informal tea in the spacious home of Miss Emmett Matthews.

The table was laid for twelve. The handsome center piece composed of luscious fresh grapes was one of the most attractive features of the table. The charming hostess was at her best on this occasion.

Mr. John Chappelle, who was at one time, a member of the Alabama Glee Club, sang several numbers during the evening which were greatly enjoyed. Miss Matthews, who is an accomplished violinist, by special request furnished several selections accompanied on the piano by Miss Elna Sartor. Later in the evening the moonlight and the thought of water melon hearts lured the guests to the pergola where a delightful hour was spent.

Miss Matthew's guests were: Misses Sallie M. Robinson, Ruth Kate Mullins, Bessie VanDerveer, Marguerite Chappelle and Elna Sartor; Messrs. John, Henry and Frank Chappelle, V. J. Heard, Barney Roberts and C. P. Jones.

Warrants of arrest are out for several parties charging crimes of a grave nature, but as the parties wanted, have not yet been apprehended by the Sheriff, their names are withheld.

COUNTY COURT MONDAY.

The following cases have been disposed of by Judge Deason since the last regular term of County court:

Ellion Smith—A.W.W., fined $5 and costs. Jim Simmons (preliminary)—A. to M. Bond fixed at $500, which was made and the prisoner discharged. Frank Mosely—Burrlary, bond fixed at $300. Sam Abercrombie—Incest, Not prossed. Finney Huckabee—Seduction, continued till Tuesday, July 22nd.

Dr. P. I. Hopkins has brought into service an improvised ambulance for the purpose of conveying patients from the Dam, and for other purposes of like nature. While it is not of the latest design or equipped with all modern conveniences, it is a decided improvement upon the old way of handling patients, and a vast improvement (should the comparison be made?) upon the manner we now have of conveying the dead bodies of our loved ones to their last resting place.

Mr. W. Hop Killingsworth of Jemison spent several days in Clanton during the early port of the week on business.

Messrs Albert Pyron and Jim Ramsey went down to Cooper Wednesday to join the Cooper baseball team which plays the Marbury team three games of ball this week.

Don't be surprised to see a new newspaper whose home is in Thorsby, come to your mail box this week. We have no more to say just now. Watch!

A Note received from Miss Annie Williams by Prof. Pickens this morning brings the regretful information that she will be unable to return to Clanton to teach next year, she having accepted a more lucrative position in Montgomery county.

Miss Williams was one of the most loved teachers who has ever been in Clanton and this information will come to them as a great disappointment for it was confidently expected that she would be among the Clanton teachers next session.

Mr. W. Y. Atkinson on Tuesday received a commission from the Governor as Commissioner from the Second district to succeed the late E. J. Hayes. A most excellent appointment, for which the governor is to be congratulated.

Rev. S. M. Adams left Saturday to spend some days at his home in Florida, he will return to Clanton shortly, however.

No marriage licenses this week; Cupid is off on his vacation with Clerk Davis.

Mrs. J. T. Calloway, wife of Dr. J. T. Calloway, who has been visiting relatives here this week returned to her home in Birmingham Saturday.

T HIS COMMISSION

Monday the telephone wires were kept busy between Clanton and the home of Cotton Census Enumerator, J. D. Sims, out near Verview; incidentally the editor of this paper went home with tired feet Monday night, caused by a ceaseless endeavor to locate the said J. D. Sims on the streets of Clanton. Mr. A. W. Carr, representing the National Government, arrived in Clanton Monday morning for the purpose of instructing Mr. Sims in the duties required of him. Mr. Carr had anxions to impart his information to Mr. Sims and begone; Mr. Sims was in town but, strange to say, he could not be located. He is like the late Frank Pettus' leather-winged bats. Pettus used to enjoy an occasional shot at bats but could never hit one; someone undertook to instruct Pettus as to how to aim at the bats, saying that they flew somewhat zig-zag. "Yes, replied Pettus, I know that about as well as you do; I've noticed its habit with bats to fly zig-zag and have tried to overcome that difficulty, but, the trouble is, whenever I shoot zig the durned bat flies zag and therefore I miss."

It was so with J. D. Sims; whereas the courier for Mr Carr went to search for him he had just zigged out and zagged somewhere else. The entire day was spent in an effort to locate him; this was finally accomplished; he was discovered out near Mr. Fonza Pool's on his way home. A telephone message brought him to halt with instructions to report back in Clanton instanter. Sims, not knowing the exact meaning of this term, started at daylight Tuesday and received his lesson and is now the proud possessor of a government badge entitling him to the title Cotton Census Enumerator.

Incidentally, again, Frank Pettus named leather-winged bats call-them "do-abouts." Sims has been dubbed "blue bird," because of certain little incident with which a familiar blue bird was connected, but since Sims in no way resembles one of those beautiful little creations of bird life, and as nimble as a "do-about," we rather suspect that the latter will be a more appropriate name for him. Anyway, it can be said much more quickly than "Cotton Census Enumerator Sims."

Wait and see. "Cotton Census Enumerator Sims"—"Do-about." Which do you like the best?
